Jensen And Stuart Chambers May Co-sponsor Powerboats Racing At Jensen Causeway

Actions leading to the possible establishment of Jensen Beach as a regular stop on the "Grapefruit Circuit" of the American Powerboat Association began to be taken this week as the Jensen Beach and Stuart Chambers of Commerce began negotiations to consider a cooperative sponsorship of races at Jensen Beach Causeway.

Monday night, at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce meeting the board of directors heard a report by Ernest Standish, who was appointed by president Dick Campbell to meet with Stuart Chamber official Herman Potts to persue the racing project.

Standish said that the races would be the "real stuff", or boats that would compete at speeds up to 100 miles per hour. He said that the power circuit of the boats and their owners called the "Grapefruit Circuit".

would be open for dates in February and urged the Chamber to plan for a late date in February, if it was interested, for the boats head back north in March.

The "Grapefruit Circuit" covers such boat racing towns as St. Petersburg, Orlando, Miami, Clearwater and Lake Worth. The American Powerboat Association members come from all over the east to participate in the season racing.

Officials of APA have inspected the waters around the Jensen Causeway, and reported that they are ideal for racing, as in the case of the Labor Day outboard marathon, when winds on the north side of the Causeway forced the boats to move to the south side. The mobility of the course in case of bad weather on either side of the causeway rated high with APA officials.

Slowest speeds in the races would be 55 miles per hour, according to Standish. About 60 to 100 boats would participate.

The Stuart Chamber of Commerce meets Thursday night, at which time they will hear the proposal of joint cooperation on sponsoring the event here. At that time, if the Stuart Chamber decides to co-sponsor the project, Standish will ask for a special board meeting of the Jensen Chamber to present the project.

Herman Potts, who operates Stuart Tackle and Marine, is a member of both Chambers of Commerce and is an active member of APA. His firm had seven boats in the Labor Day races at Jensen Beach, and at that time he became interested in using the causeway for powerboats.

United Fund Kickoff Will Be Monday; Breakfast Meet Will Hear Oughterson

The Kick-off Breakfast for the 1965 Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund Drive will be held next Monday morning at 8 a.m. at Poor Bob's Restaurant, according to UF president Dick Campbell. Martin County prosecuting attorney William A. Oughterson, substituting for Lyle B. Wilson who is recuperating from a heart attack, will be the speaker.

Mrs. Helen Richardson, program chairman and in charge of the breakfast, announced that Campbell will emcee the program.

The area chairmen, volunteer workers and invited guests will attend the breakfast, which will be the beginning of the eighth annual drive. The breakfast is held every year, and the drive, in which every home in the Jensen Beach-Rio, Walton and Palm areas will be called on by workers soliciting funds, will last a week.

Campaign materials will be handed out after the breakfast. The drive will end January 18, the following Monday, when campaign workers will turn in their solicited funds for the eleven agencies in the United Fund at 8 p.m. at the Community Center.

The program at the breakfast includes the invocation by Rev. Donald K. Shroder, Redeemer Lutheran Church; introduction of guests, a talk by drive chairman Al Palmer and benediction by Rev. Norman B. Feaster, All Saints Episcopal Church.

The goal for 1965 is $7,500 in the "all for one, one for all" drive.

NEW GOVERNOR—Florida got a new governor in popular reelection of Farris Bryant Burns last Tuesday. The inauguration was held at Tallahassee.

Wacha Re-elected Commission Chairman

Frank A. Wacha was elected to serve another year as the chairman of the county commission, which re-organized for the year Tuesday, in a 3-2 split decision.

FRANK A. WACHA

Wacha has served as chairman since his first election four years ago. Jack Saunderson was re-elected vice-chairman.

Amove was made by newly-elected commissioner Timer Powers to resume a rotation system of chairman, in effect prior to 1961, but his attempt, made as an amendment to the motion nominating Wacha, failed.

Commissioner Ed Miller, who seconded the amendment, voted against it, then joined Powers in opposing the chairmanship motion.

All oppointed county officials were re-named.

Firecrackers Are Hurled

Complaints that firecrackers are being hurled from cars driving down A-1-A in Jensen Beach were received by the Mirror this week. A report has been made to Sheriff Jon Baker on the matter by local residents.

It is a violation of the law in Florida to set off firecrackers, unless approved by the local law enforcement department.

Fire Drills Pay At Jensen School

The Jensen Beach Elementary School fire drills paid off Tuesday morning as the children were part of a real fire drill when an overheated oil burner stovepipe caught fire. Unable to turn off the stove, Ernest Varvil called the fire department and pulled the fire drill bell. Fire Chief Randolph Spinney reported that the students reacted favorably and were out fast. Three Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department trucks answered the call with six men, and the blaze was extinguished.

Give Enough To The UF

The United Fund of Jensen Beach and Rio will kick off its drive on Monday, January 11. Volunteer workers from every phase of life in the community will spread throughout the town, going door to door, to raise funds for eleven participating charities.

We urge all citizens to respond with their hearts. And that response should be by giving to all eleven charities...all deserve support.

Too often the people think of the United Fund as one charity drive. In one respect, it is just one drive. But it is one drive for all participating charities, and donations to the fund should be on the basis of eleven different drives wrapped into one.

The United Fund was organized to rid the community of many drives, and the continual solicitation of our local citizens. By grouping all drives into one the citizen can give to all with just one check. Or he can select his favorite charities and donate to just those.

The gift of one dollar, though it will not be turned down by any worker, means that that person is donating less than ten cents to each charity on the United Fund list. When it is kept in mind that the drive is held once a year, and the citizen is donating just once each year to all the charities in the drive, one dollar seems a small gift.

When the workers come to the door, they should be met with appreciation, for they are volunteer, and are interested in their community.

We hope that the outpouring of human love and kindness pushes the United Fund drive over its goal in the first day of the campaign. We salute all who take part in the drive.

New Church Sanctuary

The new Jensen Beach Interdenominational Community Church sanctuary is a credit to the community. It adds, as so many have in the past few years, new emphasis to the movement of religious fervor in the Jensen Beach.

So many have taken part in the building of the new plant on Skyline Drive in Jensen Beach, it would be difficult to assess the praise, or place the honors, on those who deserve such.

The community is indeed privileged to have such a fine church plant in its midst. While the fund raising campaign has not yet reached its goal, we are certain that the good citizens of this community who age members will see the quality of bonds and the excellent investment in the future moral fiber of our community in helping the building committee complete the job of building a new church.

LETTERS To The Editor

To The Editor:

Please accept my heartfelt thanks for publishing the story, my late wife Lucy wrote. I know she would be very happy to know that the area she loved were the first to read her story that she had devoted so much of her time to write.

Sincerely,

To The Editor,

Enclosed is a copy of "Lodging in Martin County." As of now, we have mailed out, approximately, 5500 of these to both individuals and the Welcome Stations operated by the Florida Development Commission.

At this season of the year one is apt to look back on the happenings of the year just ending to find out if one had navigated the economic channels in a good manner. The past year has been a good one, economically, for Martin County, and while this Committee does not claim applause for any single-handed accomplishment, we have been helping and pushing to aid many of the worthwhile accomplishments in the county during the year, such as the U.S. 1 beautification which was spearheaded by the Men's and Women's Garden Clubs...also the campaign to have a state park on upper Jupiter Island and Long Island, which has been ably promoted by our County Commission.

During the year just past your Martin County Committee of 100 has also worked with local industry to help them broaden their sales field. It has also ...tin County to trade

Chamber To Donate To United Fund

The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce voted to donate $50 to the Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund at the board of directors meeting last Monday night. The gift was an increase over the gift of last year, from $30 to $50.

John R. Wanamaker, head of the famous Wanamaker Department Stores in Philadelphia and the surrounding area there, had words of high praise for the Jensen Beach Mirror in a letter to his former executive assistant, Albert E. Palmer, now owner of Palmer's Variety Store in Jensen Beach.

Palmer has been sending him the Mirror, and the comments made by Wanamaker were received during the Christmas holiday rush. The letter follows:

"Many thanks for the two copies of the Jensen Beach Mirror, and I enjoyed the picture of Santa Claus at your store and also the editorial.

"The Mirror is a nice paper and I notice gives the tides, and is an all around news paper. The pictures of the parade certainly looked pretty good to me.

Sincerely,

Live and Love It.... By DICK CAMPBELL

Shot In The Water Closet

Lowell Thomas came to town several weeks ago. He pulled his car into Amity Buick-Pontiac in Stuart and made an appointment to have his signal lights fixed. This was on Monday. The appointment was made for Tuesday, and when he waited to get the job done, he used the small, wood paneled office of John Santarsiero, owner of Amity, to do some writing.

He liked the town and the office so much he came back the next day, Wednesday, December 23rd, to do some more work.

John called me, thinking I might like to interview Thomas. For those who do not know the name (and there might be a few in Old Gomez, or in Port Mayaca) Lowell Thomas is a world famous explorer, traveler, and is one of the top newsmen on television and radio.

I was out of town those two days, and I missed seeing an old friend. I would have liked to have seen him, for he and I have a common bond, and only the two of us, and two others, know what I call the saga of "Shot in the Water Closet".

When I was managing editor of the Juneau Independent, a weekly newspaper in the capital city of Alaska, I think it was back in 1956 or 1957, Lowell Thomas and his son, Lowell, Jr. came to Juneau to do some exploring of the famed Juneau Ice Cap. The ice cap is the largest of its kind in the world, and is thousands of feet deep...a mass of ice that holds the secrets of ages deep in its multi-layered body.

The Thomas party was drilling in the ice to seek those stories that only fossils and preserved forms of life in a different age might tell.

One morning I was interviewing Lowell, Sr. in the coffee shop of the Baranof Hotel. As we talked I could hear a commotion out in the lobby. Excited hunters had just returned from bagging a big brown bear on Admiralty Island, just south of Juneau.

A very close friend named Jim Lenz was a guide and bush pilot. He had taken a party of New York businessmen out to hunt the big browns that prowl the spruce and hemlock-laden forests of big Admiralty Island. They had shot and skinned their first bear, and were as excited as any cheechako might be.

Lowell Thomas and I walked out into the lobby to hear their story. One of the men was waving his .375 magnum around as he yelled and laughed wi... ...ry as victory.

I turned to my friend, and said, "Jim, you had better take that gun away from that guy before..."

At that moment the hunter hit the .375 magnum against the lobby floor, and with a resounding "kaablamm!" the rifle fired a bullet into the ceiling.

The lobby of the large hotel was quiet as the echos faded into the great hall, up the stairs and passageways, and into the lounge.

Everyone thought the same thing. Was there anyone above where that bullet went through the ceiling?

Desk clerks and tourists raced wildly up the stairs. They began knocking on doors of rooms near the area where they thought the bullet would have gone through the ceiling. No one could be found to be injured.

The room finally settled down. Jim Lenz led an embarrassed hunter up to his room, holding firmly to the man's rifle. Lowell Thomas and I went back into the coffee shop to continue our interview.

About fifteen minutes later the saga of "Shot in the Water Closet" was born.

Thomas was chuckling about the great town we had, where "things certainly aren't exceptionally quiet", when into the coffee shop came an elderly couple. The man was obviously embarrassed. His wife obviously had a sense of humor. We introduced ourselves, and the lady told us the story.

Her husband was completing his bathroom duties in the early morning when the shot rang out. He was sitting on the water closet. The bullet, almost spent, going through a concrete and tile roof of the lobby, hit the bowl of the water closet. The shock knocked him off the seat.

With tears of laughter running out of his eyes, Thomas said, "I must do a program on this. It is wonderful."

"But I can't say that he was knocked off the water closet, not on nationwide radio.....no, I can't say he was in the bath tub.

And so, a week later, the nation, coast to coast, heard the story of the man who was shot in the bath tub.

And here, a full nine years later, the story comes back to me. Only the man, his wife, Lowell Thomas and I knew the story...the saga of "Shot in the Water Closet".

It is a shame that I cannot keep seeing him, for what good is a secret, if you can't talk about it once in awhile.

Hutchinson Will Exhibit At Elliott Museum

An exhibit of "Interpretive Drawings of a Fishing Community" by Jim Hutchinson will be displayed Jan. 5th through January 24th at the Elliott Museum.

Mr. Hutchinson, well known for his paints of the Seminole Indians, has selected and skillfully illustrated with pen, brush and ink, many scenes indicative of a local fishing community. His technique in these sketches shows a new facet in his ability as Painter, Sculpture and Cartoonist.

Currently, Mr. Hutchinson is working on a large mural, depicting many of Martin County's Industries, for the First Federal Savings & Loan Assoc. of Stuart. The canvases will be placed in the bank at the end of February.

Another project on Jim's agenda is to paint some scenes of Morocco for Mr. Owen K. Murphy. It was Mr. Murphy who commissioned Jim to do a Collection illustrating the everyday life of the Florida Seminoles. This exhibit was completed last summer and will be shown at the World's Fair next year.

Hutchinson will accompany the Murphys on a trip to Morocco, which includes (Curacao, Lisbon and Madrid) during January, in order to make preliminary sketches for the Moroccan collection.

Your Social Security

By R. C. Gehrken, Jr.
District Manager, West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. Every summer when I go to Reserve camp, the Army takes social security taxes out of my pay. In civilian life, I earn the maximum amount under social security. How can I stop the Army from taking out tax?
A. You can't. The law requires each employer to deduct the social security tax from wages paid to their employees. Since you overpay your social security tax each year, you can claim a refund or a credit on the excess tax when you file your income tax return after the end of the year.
Q. I work as a cleaning woman in several homes. Some of these people don't report my pay for social security because I work only half a day each week for them. Are they doing the right thing?
A. Any employer who pays you $50 or more in cash wages in a calendar quarter must report your wages. As little as four dollars paid regularly every week should be reported. If you made this much, you should get our pamphlet No. 21 to give your employers. Also see us about getting your past work for these employers reported.

Women's Ass'n Christmas Party

The Jensen Beach Women's Association recently held their annual Christmas Party at the clubhouse. Members provided a lavish buffet with their covered dishes.
Mrs. Bassie Heppe was in charge and with her assistant hostesses provided the decorations and several door prizes as well as part of the food.
Instead of exchanging gifts, the members each gave a donation, which made up a Christmas gift to the Samaritans of Jensen Beach.

John Pennecamp To Speak Jan. 9

The Martin County Historical Society has an interesting program scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday, January 9th at the Elliott Museum.
John D. Pennecamp, Associate Editor of the Miami Herald Newspaper, is an accomplished newsman and well known for his many National and Statewide activities, will be the guest speaker.
Mr. Pennecamp proposed to tell us his impression of the immediate need for action on beach erosion and public recreation places. Instances will be cited of our failure to get important episodes in Florida's past history, placed in their deserved National prominence. His treatment will be light and perhaps pleasantly humorous, in spots.

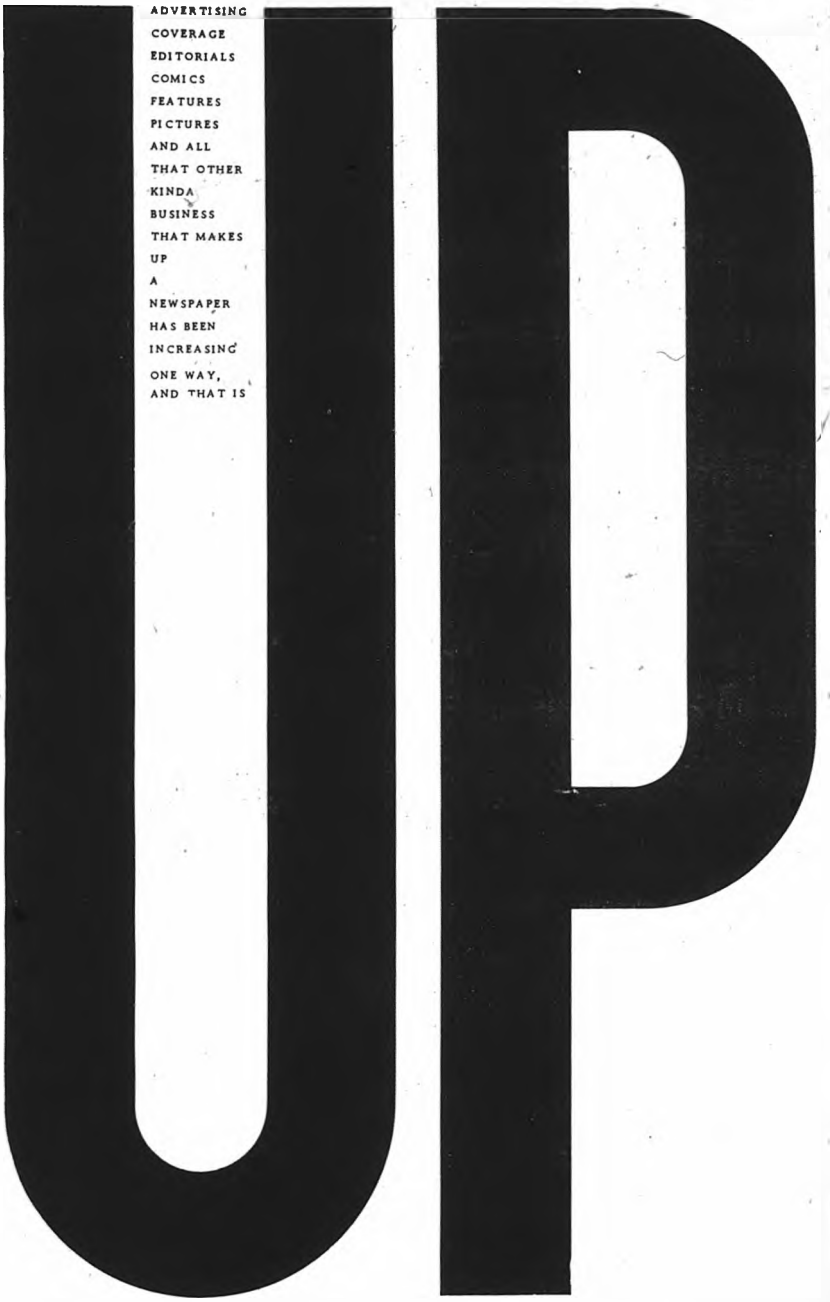
FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT COMPANY
HELPING BUILD FLORIDA



Why do so many millions of people read Time Magazine, U. S. News and World Report, or Newsweek Magazine???? We think it is because of their compact nature. They feature the latest news, boil it down to just what is necessary, cut out all the fol-de-rol, and put out a capsule account of the one thing they are selling... the world today. We are trying to do that at the Mirror. The measure of all our success is the people of Martin County. As one man said this week, "I don't always agree with a stand of the Mirror, but at least I know where they stand." Well, we will continue our project, with the hope that our circulation continues to go up and up and up. We meet more interesting people, too. Our news, features, pictures and editorials will continue to be short... but to the point.

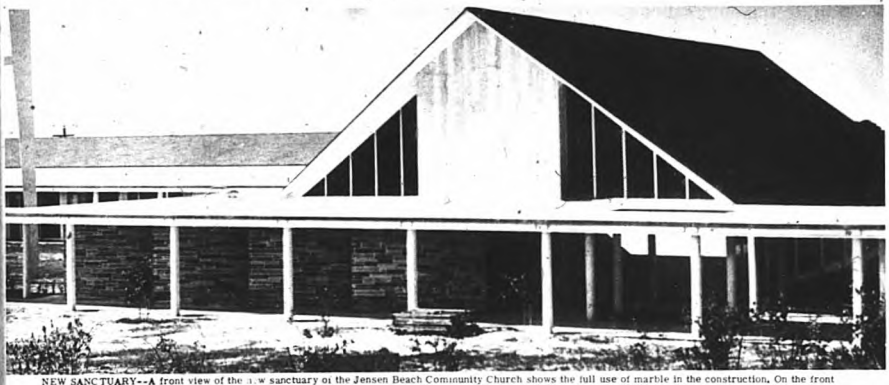
USHERS PAUSE--The ushers for the second service at the new sanctuary of the Jensen Beach Community Church last Sunday paused before taking up the collection, so that the Mirror could get a picture of the moment. At rear is Rev. Newton Tweedy, pastor.



NEW SANCTUARY--A front view of the new sanctuary of the Jensen Beach Community Church shows the full use of marble in the construction. On the front of the 27' high sanctuary, reaching to the top is Travertine marble, guarded on either side by blue stained plastic glass. The staggared walls below covered walks are split-faced Tennessee marble.

SPACIOUS SANCTUARY--Showing its size in this picture taken at the second service of the new sanctuary, the laminated pine arches, in natural finish, accent the high ceiling of natural cedar. Wide aisles are carpeted in blue nylon and acrilon carpeting. Travertine marble in the chancel of the sanctuary makes simplicity the motif of the marble altar holding a Bible and memorial flowers.

SCENIC DRIVE--The roads and bridges leading to Martin County beaches are unsurpassed in their scenic beauty. The causeways have been developed as recreational areas for picnickers, boaters and swimmers, as well as for fishermen.

Leighton, all of whom plan to take parties of friends with them to the Ball.

Episcopal Diocese Sponsors Weekly TV Program

A half-hour television program, "Your Life in the World Today", sponsored by the Episcopal Diocese of South Florida made its 1965 debut over WPTV, Channel 5 last Sunday and will continue at 11 a.m. each Sunday during the weeks to come. The program, now in its third year, sponsored in cooperation with Channel 6, WDBO, Orlando, has been developed by the Rev. Canon A. Rees Hay. It stresses the work of the church in the world, giving emphasis to the ministry of the laity. The format is a large library and Canon Hay brings to the program lay people who are playing vital roles in today's world, his guests being persons of international, national, state and local reputation. Recent guests have been such persons as Pearl Buck, famous writer; Sir Harold Mitchell, chairman of the Conservative party of England; Jack Vaughn, U.S. Ambassador to Panama; the President of Costa Rica, the President of Florida Presbyterian College and a host of other vital personalities interested in urban renewal, junior achievement and similar programs as well as people from the business and political worlds.

Canon Hay interviews his guests regarding the area of their activities and concludes the program by relating the Christian faith to the subject under discussion. The program has wide appeal, the purpose of which is to present the Episcopal Church as a church concerned with the world and its problems.

It is presented as a public service feature, a fact that makes its presentation possible since otherwise it would cost more than $600 weekly or a total of $15,000.

A HOT STORY WITH A COOL END-- Once upon a time there was a beautiful young girl named July Roman. Judy was a model at Florida's Sunken Gardens in St. Petersburg. She found the weather extremely warm for January, so she decided to do something about it. The moral of our story is that Florida is fortunate to have three exceptionally fine assets----oranges, pretty girls and sunny weather. The ending of our story is a cool one thanks to the 300 lbs. of ice and a very cool model.

Jensen-Rio United Fund Kickoff Gets $1,300 Towards $7,500

By Zola Swarthout

A total of $1,300 was raised at the eighth annual Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund Kick-Off Breakfast, held Jan. 11 at 8 a.m. at Poor Bob's Restaurant. The 1965 goal is $7,500.

Fifty UF workers, officials and special guests heard Martin County Prosecuting Attorney, William A. Oughterson, laud the volunteers as "the type of person who makes things happen."

Oughterson said that there were three type of people...those who make things happen; the many who watch things happen; and the big majority who have no idea what has happened.

"As volunteers in this great United Fund effort", Oughterson said, you accomplish three things."

"The money you raise does so much good; you set an example that is so dearly needed today.. you are doing something...not for what you can get out of it, but what you put into it for others, and you receive a very pleasant sense of personal satisfaction."

Oughterson replaced the scheduled speaker, Lyle B. Wilson, who is ill. He said, "I don't mind being a substitute, at least I know I was second choice."

Mrs. Helen Richardson, chairman of the breakfast, called on the Rev. Newton D. Tweedy for the invocation, who replaced Rev. Donald Schroeder who is ill. UF President Richard Campbell announced the program.

Special guests were Mrs. Dorothy Pierce, Clerk of the Circuit Court; Ross Philbrick, of the Committee of 100; Col. A. H. Davisson, of the American Red Cross; Mrs. Rosaleen Murray, of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce.

Other groups recognized included Mrs. Ed Miller, president of the Jensen Beach Women's Association; Phil Baker, Jensen Beach Area Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Harry Spencer, president of the Rio Civic Club; and Miss Marion Tschischeck, representing the Martin County Health Dept., various agencies, and chairman of the Hutchinson Island area.

Campbell introduced Al Palmer, who is serving his second year as drive chairman. Palmer is owner of Palmer's Variety Store, and was formerly executive vice-president of Wannamaker's and executive secretary of Florida's Hotel and Restaurant Association.

Palmer introduced his chairman and co-chairman drive captains, called for advance checks and pledges, and instructed all workers.

The group sang "Happy Birthday" to Campbell. Mrs. Gus Fredrichs was named "Victory Dance" chairman.

Letters regarding the "All For One and One For All" drive were distributed by the Youth Group of the Jensen Beach Community Church this past week end. Canvassers will report daily to Palmer. The drive ends Jan. 18, when all captains will bring collections to the Community Center.

The Rev. Norman Feaster gave the benediction.

Wednesday Morning Report Shows Fund Workers Collected $3,500 to date

James Rand Is Hit With $35 Million Tax Lien

Federal income tax liens totaling $35,055,260.56 were filed at the courthouse Tuesday against James H. Rand, 84-year old industrialist, philanthropist and developer, and two corporations in which he has been the principal.

Specified in the liens, one of which was against Rand and his 78-year old ex-wife, Mrs. Evelyn (Rand) Heerman, of Palm Beach, was an alleged personal income tax liability of $10,911,521.10.

Another cited Falmouth, Ltd., one of Rand's holding companies, for which W.C. Hoyt, 308 Cardinal Way, Stuart, is listed as "agent," had liens of $1,959,615.35 filed against it.

The third was a lien totaling $22,184,122.13 against Public Health Foundations for Cancer and Blood Pressure Research, Inc. the corporation which now owns most of the Rand properties in this area.

Rand's interests here were assessed at $1,237,820 on the 1964 rolls of the county tax assessor, not all of it in the names of the foundations against which the liens were filed.

This was discounted at the courthouse, however, in view of wholesale transfers of Rand properties recorded in the past year.

As listed, Middlesex Corp. held property assessed at $519,280, Falmouth, Ltd., had two parcels assessed at a total of $71,420; Public Health Laboratories, $59,780 and Tuscbay Properties, Inc., $587,340.

Since then, Falmouth, Ltd. holdings have been deeded to Middlesex, and Middlesex Corp. holdings have been deeded to Public Health. Tuscbay holdings also appear to be held by Public Health, but Public Health also has transferred holdings to a new foundation, chartered only in July, 1964, Florida Oceanographic Society, Inc.

Rand has had stormy going in Martin County in recent years.

In 1959, the county and W.B. Tilton, Sr. took him into Federal District Court at Miami, later in the Federal Appeals Court at New Orleans, in a fight to retain for the public, the right of way the county claimed to the southern tip of Hutchinson Island.

The county lost the suit, and the big gates at Semonole Shores were closed, locked at night, and chained to all who refuse to pay a toll.

One of those who refused to pay the 25¢ fee in force at that time, was Ransom Tilton, who, in August 1959, was locked inside in a jeep. He rammed the gates in an effort to get out, and was hailed into justice of the peace court by Rand's representative, Capt. Harold Shelton. The case later was dropped.

The tolls remain in effect to this date, however.

The right-of-way fight in which the county became involved in 1959 was solved at the close of 1964, but not for the public's benefit.

Rand and his companies joined with the big Bradshaw Trust of Fort Lauderdale in a joint move to develop Sailfish Point, including Seminole Shores, the cabanas, the pool, the ocean pier and the buildings owned by the Rand interest.

The soil were tip of the point, owned by Bradshaw Trust, gained the right-of-way it had sought for years, and a $20 million country club-yacht club development was called "an early project."

Sidewalk

The proposed sidewalk from Jensen Beach Elementary School to Commercial Street along busy Hy. 707-AIA, which was won on bid by Joe Moseley, has been dropped by the Martin County Commission.

The action was taken Tuesday when it was discovered that the rights-of-way could not be obtained from the Town of Ocean Breeze Park.

Gene Hoke, alderman, told the Mirror that the park plans to construct its own sidewalk, and that the matter will be brought before the council at its next meeting.

Inlet Dredging Gets Under Way

Work got under way on Monday to dredge a funnel-shaped channel from the inner reaches of the inlet to the ocean end by J. B. Fraser & Sons, holders of the contract with the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Pumping operations were started on Monday. Spoil was pumped to the sand flats south of the channel in pontooned pipes.

The project will widen the channel in a funnel shape varying 100 feet to 200 feet wide. Depth will be six feet in the 100-ft. wide stretch of 400 feet, and 10 feet over a distance of 600 feet in the wider portion. The contract was estimated at $34,800.

GRAND MARCH--The happiness of the Governor and his party is captured by the mirror camera during the grand march, opening the Governor's Inauguration Ball in Miami last Saturday. HELPING HANDS---Getting ready for the Inauguration Ball of Governor Haydon Burns, held Saturday in Miami, takes the magic hands of women helping one another. Mrs. Don Ward handles the comb and Mrs. Jack Saunderson triggers the snaps as Mrs. Frank Wacha pats an earring on, as the finishing touches are added to make the ball everything that a woman can make it. For the men's side of the story, read Live and Love It, on this page.

EDITORIAL

UF Goal Is $7,500

The people of the Jensen Beach-Rio area have been asked again to support their United Fund for 1965. The goal is $7,500.

Workers are going out on this once-a-year drive, asking each and every home to give its fair share of the buck.

Eleven agencies, all worthy of support as a single agency, are banded together in this fund raising effort. This eliminates ten drives during the year.

We can remember how many times people would come by the store asking for donations for this and that and the other thing. And we can remember that each cause was a good one. But how far can any house of business go on this crusade for donations by 1,001 different groups.

That is why the United Fund was formed, to rid the community of countless drives each year. That is why the United Fund of Jensen Beach and Rio deserves the full support of the citizens.

And when each home gives to the United Fund, one thing should be kept in mind; eleven agencies are lumped in one donation.

Each charity deserves full consideration, and a reasonable donation from every citizen in the Jensen Beach-Rio area.

Burns Is Our Governor

The press of the state of Florida gave excellent coverage to the inauguration of Haydon Burns as the governor of Florida. The pictures were excellent.

But the various newspapers of South Florida that we read devoted their editorial pages to another subject, usually of selfish and personal interest.

Very few newspapers printed words that, in effect, said "Good Luck, old buddy. Get in there and do a job. We are behind you, good old buddy."

No, instead, the newspapers, mostly large city dailies, editorialized on "since we got one man on the cabinet, we may be able to get something out of Tallahassee", or, "we hope that Burns will be good to South Florida, and he better, because he is only elected for two years and has to run again in 1966."

This skimmer attitude is one reason why the lower east coast of Florida can look for so little. The constant griping and fighting over patronage, and tax dollars, broods nothing but contempt from the state capitol.

The Mirror salutes our new governor, Haydon Burns. We wish him well in office, and we hope that he brings great progress to our state. We hope that our big city neighbors learn a little down country manners and stop kicking at the man until he either does or doesn't do something.

See The Variety Show

Local talent, and local performers will have a chance to entertain this Friday at the annual Retarded Children's Variety Show. Friday and Saturday nights, in the Martin County High School, the show will go on, and should delight entertainment seekers.

The record of the variety show as a part of the bill-of-fare of our county's showmanship has been steady and increasing in popularity, each year. Beginning in the old high school gymnasium, which seated about 250 persons, the show was moved to the Lyric Theatre, which could seat close to 1,000. Now the gigantic gymnasium of Martin County High School will be used.

Talent of a local nature is never great, professionally. But seeing someone you know, in a setting that is not compatible with his or her position in life, doing a job of entertaining, makes this a must on the social calendar.

We urge everyone in Martin County to see the big show. It is well worth the admission price...and the charity it supports is well worth everything we can offer.

Live and Love It....

Frank Wacha stuck his head out of the bathroom and said, "C'mon in, Don. You can shave in here. There is plenty of room". The shaving cream-lathered half his face, but Don Ward just shook his head, "No," he said, "I've got to figure those buttons out first."

Jack Saunderson pulled on his trousers and said, "I wear bowties all the time, so this doesn't mean a thing to me." Jerry Smith was standing in the middle of the crowded del-Mo Hotel room, in Miami Beach, wearing only a tuxedo shirt. "How do you get these buttons on, Dick," he said to me. Roscoe Rollins, [illegible] standing in the middle of a room filled with men in various states

Men's Tuxedos...And A Ball

[illegible] of dress, wearing only a tuxedo shirt, shoes and socks, struck me as funny.

We were getting ready for the Inauguration Ball of Governor Haydon Burns. The wives were in the other room, dressing for the ball. That was "the-man's land", and their husbands were told just that in no uncertain terms.

I got up and started trying to take the studs back in the shirt. Jack Saunderson came over and tried to figure it out. For a full five minutes we stood there, monkeying with those buttons. Finally, Frank came over and made new work. Jerry got the buttons in, and headed for his pants.

"Hey, can I ever be a dude", Jerry said as he looked at himself in the mirror. "Talk about country boys coming to the city..."

Jack started fixing everyone's ties, while the daughter of Senator [illegible] Jerry had his pants on and picked up his suspenders. "I should have put these on first. My wife does things like this for me, how do I know?" He hooked the suspenders with a little help, and, grabbing them with his thumbs, said, "By golly, look at me. I'm a South Florida Cracker." He hooked the suspenders.

Don Ward put his coat on. "That does it", he said, "Somebody go see if the girls are ready", said Jerry. Frank started down the hotel corridor. He came back with a frown on his face. "They're not...they told me so...and they are not going to hurry."

"I knew it, I left my cummerbund at home. I knew it." Jerry looked lost. "I'll go without it." He picked up a plastic bag. "Here it is," he said, "now, how do I put this thing on?"

Frank headed back down the hall. Don sat down, uncomfortably, in a chair. "What do you do with these things if you have to go to the bathroom", he asked plaintively.

"You wouldn't dare!" someone exclaimed.

Suddenly everyone was ready. Frank came back down the hall. "They are still fiddling around down there," he said. "Wow, it's already eight-fifty. [illegible] them to get on the ball", said Jack.

"You tell them," Frank said fearfully.

Finally, at long last, and the prerogative of all ladies, the dresses were fitted, shaved, and the makeup finished, Frank started turning back down the hall from his sentry duty at the ladies' bedroom door.

"They're ready... we're ready", he said, "Let us see a picture of them." I said, [illegible] down the hall. I could hear a disgusted comment behind me, "We're already fifteen minutes late."

As we walked the four blocks to Miami Beach Convention Hall, I thought to myself, after the circus hotel room before us, this event, the ball itself, will be pretty good to top it for entertainment.

It was.

Variety Show Set For Friday, Saturday

Preparations for the 1965 Variety Show reach their peak at the final dress rehearsal on Thursday, January 14th, when dozens of Martin and St. Lucie County citizens will gather to put the final polish on a very entertaining show. Performances on Friday and Saturday, Jan 15 and 16, at 8:00 p.m. will be given to benefit the Occupational Center at Port Salerno. All Civic Organizations and individuals engaged in selling tickets are urged to offer their tickets so that everyone may have an opportunity to attend this show and support the Occupational Center.

From an idea to reality, the Occupational Center has grown as a project of the Martin County Ass'n. for Retarded Children, and now offers services to every type of handicapped person. Funds to carry on this important community service come from various sources, but the Variety Show provides one of the principal means of support.

The Show will be held in the new Martin County High School auditorium on Indiantown Road. Members of the Acacia Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will serve as ushers.

The Junior Conservation Club will operate a refreshment stand. The Martin County Sheriff's Department will assist in parking and traffic direction. A special stage bank composed of school band members under the direction of Mr. LeMoyne Roll will provide introductory music. Master of Ceremonies will be Jack Williamson; Director, Mr. Jim Hopkins; lighting and sound, Pete Rand. All have been assisted by a large committee which has been working on details for several months.

Archers will have additional opportunity to hunt big game animals with the opening of the special wild hog hunts on the Fisheating Creek and Guano River Wildlife Management Areas. A total of eight special week-end hunts are scheduled for the two areas, according to A. D. Aldrich, Director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

The season on the Fisheating Creek area will be January 16-17; 23-24; and 30-31. The Guano River area will be open January 23-24; 30-31; February 6-7; 13-14; and 20-21. A special $5.00 seasonal archery hog hunting permit is required for each of the management areas.

In pointing out the special regulations for the archery hog hunts, Aldrich said, "archers will be required to possess their regular hunting licenses in addition to the special permit. No firearms or crossbows will be permitted during the special archery hunts. Archers may take only wild hogs and must abide by the daily bag limit of one and a season's bag limit of two. Hunters will be required to check at the check station when entering and leaving the area. Camping will be permitted only at designated camping sites".

The Fisheating Creek area is located in Glades County near Palmdale. The Guano Creek area is located in St. Johns County near Ponte Vedra. Special seasonal archery hog hunting permits, maps, and special regulations may be obtained at the check stations located on each wildlife management area.

Governor's Ball Sees 40 Martin Countyites

by Dick Campbell

Martin County was well represented at the Inaugural Ball of Governor Haydon Burns, held Saturday night at the Miami Convention Hall on Miami Beach. Over forty from this county were present.

With a table located in the near-center-front of the gigantic hall, Martin County was in a good position to all that went on, among the 7,000 estimated who attended.

The highlight of the ball was the grand march, in which the people of South Florida saw their governor and his family parade.

Guy Lombardo played for the dance, as he has for all six of the governor's balls throughout Florida. On the show were entertainers Anita Bryant and Johnny Desmond. During the show, the master of ceremonies had to continually call for quiet as the audience interrupted the program with chatter. Miami is noted as being a "rough town" on entertainers.

Burns talked for a minute, dedicating the years ahead to education. He also introduced Attorney General Earl Faircloth, who spoke to his home town audience.

The Martin County group was dressed to the hilt for the formal event. Gowns kept hidden until the last moment were worn in full style by the ladies as the men took to tuxedos and suits.

The event was one of the most pleasant political gatherings ever held, and everyone took advantage of the music of Lombardo to dance every tempo in the book.

Following the ball, many Martin Countites took to the club circuit of famed Miami Beach. Most stayed overnight as some headed home following the ball. As one person so rightly quoted, "It was a ball".

Mars Hill Has Kick-Off Coffee For UF Drive

"The Importance of Giving", was the subject of a talk given by Rev. Newton D. Tweedy, pastor of Jensen Beach Community Church, at the eighth annual "Kick-Off-Coffee", given by Mars Hill community Jan. 11 at 8 p.m. at Louise's Place for the Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund Drive.

"When you give, you buy into the community", said Rev. Tweedy. He told the 40 members present that, "Where your gift is, there your heart will be also". Advance gifts totaled $30 at the meeting.

Rev. Tweedy's talk was preceded by his entertaining the group with tricks of magic. He was assisted by his daughter, Joy Tweedy.

The program was conducted by Mrs. Frankie Silas and Mrs. Jane Watson, drive chairmen of Mars Hill, assisted by Mrs. Helen Richardson, second vice-president of the UF.

Children of Mars Hill presented a program of songs. Participating were Diane Beverly, Henrietta McKinney, O'Hara Mackey, Theodore Delance, Patrick, Debra Ann and Septimus Silas.

State Outdoor Recreation Promising

"The year 1965 can be a year of great progress in the field of outdoor recreation", said A. D. Aldrich, Director of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, "provided the counties of Florida take prompt action to set aside open spaces while increasingly scarce open, undeveloped land is still available. This is the time for rural counties to identify and protect lands and waters of highest values for outdoor recreation while costs are within reach and natural qualities remain unspoiled".

According to Aldrich, the new Land and Water Conservation Fund program provides up to 50 percent of cost for county acquisition and development projects. It is important that counties move quickly in outdoor recreation planning and action programs as counties have a critical part to play in the comprehensive Florida outdoor recreation plan.

Aldrich said, "counties interested in outdoor recreation programs should surely obtain a copy of the new 52 page illustrated guide to "County Action for Outdoor Recreation" published by the National Association of Counties and the Citizens Committee for the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission Report".

Grumman Aircraft To Hold Open House

Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corporation will hold an open house program at Witham Field, Sunday afternoon, January 17th from 2:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. to officially dedicate its new assembly plant. The public is invited.

Grumman started its new assembly operations at the county airport in March 1964 and now has 130 employees engaged in assembling fuselages and components for the United States Army OV-1 Mohawk, an all weather, twin turbo-prop, observation and surveillance aircraft.

Grumman president, E. Clinton Towl who will preside at the ceremonies, said that the Mohawk will be on static display and will also give a flight demonstration of its remarkable short take-off and landing techniques which makes the aircraft ideal for its Army role of operating from small, unimproved fields.

In addition to inviting Grumman employees and their families, Mr. Towl has extended invitations to all residents of Martin County, the Army and Navy officials and local, state and national elected officials. An attendance of over 2000 persons is anticipated. Accompanying Mr. Towl from Grumman will be Senior Vice-President, George F. Titterton and Vice-President, John B. Pettallaza.

The program will include a tour of the new assembly plant, the Martin County High School Band, the official dedication program and display and flight demonstration of aircraft.

Grumman has been operating and maintaining Witham Field for Martin County since 1950 and conducts various flight test programs here, such as the Mohawk.

With headquarters at Bethpage, Long Island, New York, Grumman is one of the nations top aerospace companies, employing 22,500 people, mostly in the Long Island area. In addition to the Mohawk, the company has six other military aircraft under development or in production, two commercial aircraft in production, two major space programs and markets aluminum and fibreglass sports boats and van type truck bodies.

The military aircraft are the A-6A Intruder, an all weather attack Navy Weapons System, the EA-6A, an Electronic Countermeasures aircraft, the E-2A Hawkeye, an Early-Warning-of-Attack and Interceptor Control aircraft, the C-2A Carrier-on-board Delivery Logistical aircraft, the F-111B, Bi-service Tactical fighter, and the S-2E, Anti-Submarine Warfare aircraft.

The commercial aircraft are the Gulfstream corporate aircraft, which will also be on display here Sunday and the Ag-Cat agriculture aircraft.

Grumman's two space programs are the Lunar Excursion Module, known more familiarly as LEM, or the Moon Bug, which is scheduled to put two men on the moon by 1970 and the Orbiting Astronomical Observatory Satellite.

The program is as follows:

2 P.M. Gates open

Tour of the new plant where fuselages for the Army's Mohawk aircraft are being assembled.

Static display of aircraft.

2:45 p.m. Martin County High School Band

3:00 p.m. Dedication ceremonies.

All Saints To Hold Supper Annual Parish Meeting

The All Saints Episcopal Church will hold its annual parish meeting next Monday evening at 6:30 p.m. at the parish hall.

Highlight of the meeting will be the election of three vestrymen, presentation and explanation of the 1965 budget and reports by the rector, the vestry, guilds and various groups including the building committee.

Preceeding the meeting a covered dish supper will be held. Reports will all be in mimeographed form with brief explanations by the speakers so that the business meeting promises to be interesting but brief. The rector, the Rev. Norman D. Fessler, will report on the spiritual growth of the parish and representatives of the vestry will answer questions concerning the budget. The nominating committee will offer a slate of nominees for three positions on the vestry and nominations will also be permitted from the floor.

An added feature will be the presentation of a sound moving picture taken in Gyamboland, in the Episcopal Diocese of Damaraland, South West Africa, where the Anglican Church conducts about 60 bush schools which are taught under trees by teachers who frequently have had no more than a second or third grade education themselves. It is here, however, that these African youngsters receive their introduction to, and training in Christianity. Because the film depicts South West Africa as it is today, with its weird heathen rites, it offers a clear picture of the problems that confront the church in helping the people and winning them to Christianity.

Stuart Plans Underground Reservoir

City Manager, Joe N. Crowder, has announced that a million gallon underground storage reservoir will be the next project undertaken by the City of Stuart.

Crowder said, "We will soon have a plant capacity to supply two millions of treated water a day, but we have storage capacity of only 250,000 gallons in the downtown overhead tank."

The project to double the treatment capacity of the East 10th St. water pumping station would be completed soon, Crowder said. The cost of the improvement program was $46,000.

The city added mains for new customers outside the city on St. Lucie Blvd., Port Sewall and is giving water service there.

The Flagler Avenue plant, was put out of commission as the overall plant expanded and is now used as the county's Civil Defense headquarters.

New Newspaper Is Started For Jensen Beach Area

A new newspaper hit the streets in Jensen Beach last Tuesday, beating the deadline of the Mirror by one day.

The newspaper is called "THE JEnSEn GlobE". The first issue, released Tuesday, was dated Sunday, January 10, 1965. It sells for five cents.

The first issue was one page, handwritten, and duplicated. From all indications, it will be in direct competition with the Mirror, for the editors said, "We will get the newspaper longer next week".

Six members of the staff include Gary Shipes, Jean Sprott, Jim Shipes, Morgan Sprott, Skip Shipes and Chuck Yankovich.

The text of the first issue of The Jensen Globe, a classic, follows:

THE JEnSEn GlobE 5¢

Alice Avenue Suit Decision Is Due

The decision in the Florida East Coast vs Martin County Alice Avenue grade crossing case may be expected in another 30 days according to County Attorney Dean Tooker.

The case involves the county's rights vs the railroad's rights to take land for a grade crossing at Alice Avenue in Rio by eminent domain. A loss by the railroad would open every railroad in the country to direction from municipalities and counties as to the location of grade crossings and the levying of the costs involved.

FEC attorneys have said that they would go to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary to search for a ruling in their favor.

The circuit court in Martin County ruled for the county in the original suit.

Junior High Parent Faculty Meets Tonight

The second Stuart Junior High Parent-Faculty Meeting will be held Thursday, January 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria at the school. At that time there will be a panel discussion on questions placed in the "Question Box" at the October meeting. Inasmuch as most of the questions asked concerned the physical education department, the panel will consist of four teachers from that department and four parents, with R. V. Johnson as moderator.

The first meeting in October served as a 'get acquainted' time with parents following the same schedule as their children follow. They had an opportunity to meet teachers and get an insight on grading, study habits etc. there was a good turnout for that meeting, and it is hoped that the other three meetings of the year will be as well attended.

The "Question Box" will be available for those who wish to ask questions for discussion at the March meeting -- a definite date to be announced later.

UF Passes $7,500 In One Week

By Zola Swarthout

It was a smashing victory, and if you see resident of Jensen Beach-Rio-Mars Hill going around with stars in their eyes and an extra proud lift of their shoulders...its justified.

For the first time, in the history of Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund Association's drive, the workers in one week's time, met and surpassed the drive goal.

A total of $7,685 was raised during Jan. 11-18. The goal of $7,500 (which was $500 more than last year's), was made and then passed by some $185. And the end is not over, as six of the 16 zone chairmen said, "More to come"!

The Rio area, Zone 11, headed by Mrs. Charlie Hall and Alex Wilson topped all zones with a $1,172. contribution. Second was Zone 6, headed by Mrs. Orleana Brown, which included the area from Sunny Acres Rd. to Ocean Breeze Park, with a total of $592.

Said Al Palmer, who is serving his second year as Fund Drive Chairman, "Our outstanding victory is due to the wonderful people who got out and worked so hard, despite the cold weather of the last two days."

VP President, Dick Campbell, said, "Without the full cooperation of the residents of Jensen, Rio and Mars Hill we could not have done so well."

The 1965 drive started Jan. 11 with a kick-off breakfast at Poor Boys, and a coffee at Louise's Place that night. It ended with drive chairman bringing in checks, and cash on Jan. 18 at the Chamber of Commerce office.

As chairmen turned over monies to Palmer, Reg Walker, kept a running total on a large blackboard. We were drinking hot coffee, made by Walker, and eating cake, furnished by Martin Wahl.

The tension mounted as each chairman appeared...no one left, it resembled a political returns headquarters.

At one point, we were within $225 of the $7,500 goal.

Drive chairmen Anita Wacha, Mike Friedrichs and Marie Miller took off...to round up possible contributions. They returned, with checks, and...we were "over the top"!

Happiness because "We made it". Joy, because the accomplishment was real and rewarding. Pride, because the communities stood shoulder-to-shoulder in the "One For All and All For One Drive."

Drive chairmen were unanimous in praising residents. "It was so easy this year...more than any other year...so many had their checks ready for us when we called."

So, this, the eighth annual drive of Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund becomes history...and a dream fulfilled for the three who started the organization eight years ago and remain officers in the UF today...Anita Wacha, Zola Swarthout and Martin Wahl.

This year, too the UF group and all the communities will celebrate a real Victory Dance. It will be free to all residents and will be held Feb. 5 at Seymour's Inn, with Mike Friedrichs and Zola Swarthout in charge.

Agencies which will receive allocations from the UF drive include the Jensen Samaritan's Ambulance, Jensen Community Center, Langford Park Association, Rio and Jensen Scouting Groups, Animal Rescue League, Red Cross, Mental Health Association, Crippled Children and

UF Drive Over The Top

The people of Jensen Beach and Rio have again opened their hearts and bank accounts in the annual "one for all-all for one" United Fund Drive.

For the first time in the eight year history of the drive, the goal was reached in the one week solicitation. It is certainly a time to be proud. Everyone can take pride in every phase of the drive.

Certainly Al Palmer, drive chairman, deserves great heapings of praise for his concentration upon the organization that made this drive successful. His area captains, and their workers deserve all the credit in the world of their complete solicitation of the area. And the people, for supporting this drive, win our praise.

Reaching the goal is not the most important thing in the world. All charities need more and more money. We urge all who have not given to send their contributions to the United Fund in Jensen Beach, or drop checks off to the Chamber of Commerce, or to Palmer's Variety Store in South Jensen Beach. Every dollar will further swell the budgets of the needy charities.

And a great big "Thank You" to all, from the Mirror. We can be very proud of our town.

Chambers Unite For Powerboat Racing

Cooperation between the Jensen Beach Area Chamber of Commerce and the Stuart Chamber of Commerce was assured last Tuesday afternoon as a special meeting of the Jensen Beach meeting of the Jensen board of directors approved a cooperative venture that will bring major powerboat racing to the Indian River's Jensen Beach Causeway.

Underwriting the cost of the races, the Chambers plan to bring the American Powerboat Association's Grapefruit League Circuit to the area. Boats with speeds up to 100 miles per hour will take part in six races, with twelve heats. The tentative date set is February 28.

Seventy to one hundred boats will probably take part in the race, according to Herman Reitz, who will represent both the Stuart and Jensen Chambers. Assisting will be, Ernest Standish of the Jensen Chamber.

The closed circuit races will be held off the Jensen Beach Causeway, considered an ideal site by the APA.

'We Can't Afford It'

According to County Engineer Fred L. Bell, Martin County will say, "sorry, can't afford it," to the U. S. Corps of Engineers offer to restore some of the county's eroded beaches.

The estimated cost of the initial restoration and 10 year maintenance of one mile of beach north of the St. Lucie Inlet is at $1 million.

Maj. George Harman, acting district engineer, estimated the cost of a project providing restoration and periodic nourishment on a six-mile stretch of ocean beach at $5 million for the same 10 years.

Harman's report to the county commissioners was made Dec. 21 following receipt of a preliminary survey report made by a West Palm Beach engineering firm under contract to the Corps, which undertook the survey

On Preserving Man

(from the Jupiter Courier-Highlights)

For the third time, Gautier, Dawes, et al. are attempting to break down the status quo on Jupiter Island. It seems they are now bringing a quo warranto (by what authority) proceedings in the Martin County courts in a further effort to become free to build multiple dwelling buildings and or motels on a water-to-water strip of land at the south edge of the Town of Jupiter Island. Twice they have figured an angle to litigate, and twice the appellate courthas had to defeat them.

Surely the status of Jupiter Island, unique in all th world, has been long within the awareness of these complaining land holders. We do not know, but we do suspect, that the complainants are trying to cash-in on this unique quality.

A little intrusion into a closed area is like pregnancy..... there just isn't any such thing as a "little".

Man sets aside areas for preserving primitive forests, for protecting birds and wildlife and security. It seems that man ought to be able to set aside an area of so preserved for rare specimens of man.

How About It, Stuart?

Again and again we hear that the people of Stuart want a United Fund. Again and again, the business leaders ask why there can't be a 24 United Fund in Stuart. Everyone wants a United Fund for Stuart. All agree.

The tiresome chore of organizing and running fund drive after fund drive has the public spirited citizens groggy. The many calls of the various agencies has the businessmen and homes frozen. All want it, but no one wants to do anything about it. No one will take the lead. The project must be started before it can be realized.

Jensen and Hobe are proud of the area's United Fund. We have one because someone started it. They had no mass meetings. Three persons just started it.

It kinda reminds us of the classic recipe for chicken stew in Hungary. The recipe starts with, "First you steal a chicken."

How about it, Stuart?

15 Garden Years

Fifteen years of service to a community is something that can give credit to any organization. This week the Jensen Beach Garden Club celebrates that anniversary.

Reputation usually attached to such as garden clubs depicts little old ladies in tennis shoes gabbing wildly about the pollen of an azalea. Our garden club has had a different existance.

Service has been its main goal, and beautification has been the result. The garden club deserves every plaudit, for it does the job assigned by its nature. Service and beautification.

We salute Mrs. Calvin Wilbur, president and all the members of the Jensen Beach Garden Club on their fifteenth anniversary. We hope they have many, many more.

Yurillo Gets Station Bid

The contract to build an addition to the Jensen Beach Fire station was awarded to William Yurillo by the county commission in special session Wednesday afternoon.

Yurillo's bid had originally been set aside because a bid bond had not been submitted. His bid was the only bid received for the project and was in the amount of $3,749.

County Engineer Fred L. Bell said that after the meeting it was discovered that the bid bond requirement had not been given out with the bid specifications for the job. Yurillo, therefore, was in his rights in seeking the contract.

Commissioners attending the special meeting, were Frank A. Wacha, Jack Saunderson, J. H. Bruner and Ed Miller.

Live and Love It...! BY DICK CAMPBELL

Oh, Say, Can You See O.J.

I was served canned orange juice in a local restaurant the other day.

This is sorta like going to Washington during apple picking season and ordering apple sauce.

This is like going to Japan during cherry blossom time and buying artificial flowers.

This is like going to Silver Springs and seeing a movie.

This is like going to the Playboy Club and bringing your wife.

Florida is the land of orange juice. It is famous for fresh oranges, year around. We have the oranges.

Why should any restaurant serve orange juice?

People came here to be entertained. They expect many things. They expect to be hustled for real estate. They expect to be sold fishing gear and tackle and bait.

And they expect fresh orange juice.

It is the little nice-nice that keep people coming back to our town. It is taking the time with customers, and making them happy so that they return again.

It is serving the best orange juice to customers.

Noland, has to come to Florida. It is hard enough for them to find Jensen Beach.

Once they do both, come to Florida and find Jensen Beach, we don't want to send them away shaking their heads.

This is not the north. They don't send CARE packages of oranges down here. They assume since we do all the shipping up north, that we have oranges. We do have oranges. Let's use them....for orange juice.

Not only the best home up north, too.

The real stuff...only from Florida.

People drink it.

Excess Fees Are Filed By Officials

Three Martin County officials have filed the 1964 excess fees required of their departments. Others will file in the next few days, according to courthouse officials.

$43,365.07 in excess fees were reported by County Tax Assessor, Alvin N. Andrews, a net from total receipts of $80,126.06.

Expenditures totaled $27,760.99, the collector's salary, $9,000. The total exceeded excess fees of 1963 by about $12,000.

County Prosecutor William A. Oughterson reported excess fees of $3,131.03, out of receipts of $13,086.50. Expenditures were $2,455.47, salary, $7,500.

Clerk of the Circuit Court Dorothy Pierce reported excess fees $7,921.50 from a total receipt from fees of $67,238.12. Expenditures were $50,316.62 salary, $9,000.

Excess receipts in the office of clerk's office were less than in 1963 by about $3,600.

The county prosecutor's was about the same as last year.

Increases in the county valuations accounted partially for the large jump in the tax collector's account. It was pointed out at the county commission meeting. The figure was the highest on record for the department. The department is on a county budget.

The clerk's office is not budgeted, operates completely on the fee system.

Tax Assessor A.C. Course reported total receipts were $56,188.49; expenses, $32,948.51 for a net of $23,239.98, from which $9,000 in assessor's salary was deducted.

The total in excess was $14,239.98 of which $12,281.98 went to the county commission's budget, the balance, $1,958 to the school board budget.

Mass. Poet Visits Stuart

The Lodge on the Green motel on U.S. Highway #1 was host during the past week to Mr. and Mrs. David Thibault of Amherst, Massachusetts. Mrs. Thibault writes under the name of Marjalee G. David. She has recently had a book of poems published by the Golden Quill Press of Francestown, New Hampshire, called "Soliloquy's Virgin", the poems being untitled because "a title creates an immediate image to the reader which deters from the heart of the poem". Most of the material was written in the last two years when she ventured into a new world of independence after twenty-one years of marriage. Of French-Scotch-Irish-English heritage, Mrs. Thibault is the mother of three children residing in a small country home she designed. Her hobby of designing houses has led her into many adventures.

She loves the sea, the woods, the rain, people, old houses and modern architecture, airplanes and "being different". She dislikes "sameness" and despises pretentiousness. Mrs. Thibault feels that people do not care enough. "An open heart and loving stretches the heart to love still more". Her poems depict her unlimited capacity to love, her lively imagination and her sensitivity. She founded the Western Massachusetts Writer's Guild which has conducted two conferences at the University of Massachusetts.

Marjalee and her husband thoroughly enjoyed their first trip to Florida and she autographed a first edition copy of her poems for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Rice, noting thereon "Thank you for the pleasant atmosphere during our visit with you. Hope to be back for a longer vacation next year".

County Commission Awards Contracts

The Fort Pierce Fire Equipment Co. was awarded a contract to supply the county with Civil Defense alert system equipment at a meeting held last Tuesday by the county commissioners. The low bid price was $1,678.50, almost half of the next high bidder.

Gulfstream Electronics, Inc., was awarded a contract for two radio base stations, 14 mobile units at a price of $7,743.35.

Gulfstream was the only bidder.

CD Director Al Keaton said the equipment would be divided up among county fire departments, the CD Emergency Operating Center, the county garage and the county engineer's wagon.

The motion to accept the bid was made contingent on the fact that transfer of funds from district as well as county wide budgets had to be accomplished.

Both the alert system and the radio net costs are obtainble for Federal fund participation up to 50 per cent.

Two highway paving projects were let, both to the sole and low bidder, Dicerson, Inc., at prices County Engineer Fred L. Bell said was "in line."

In Palm City, Ninth Street, from Cornell to the east, will be paved at a cost of $3,152.90 for .3 mile; roads totaling 2.9 miles in Coral Gardens, Hobe Sound and Hibiscus Park will be paved for $8,750.76.

Square Deal Machinery Co., of Orlando was low and successful bidder on a small asphalt paving machine at the low net price of $2,176.45.

Bids for the paving of East 10th Street, Stuart, connecting link of .15 mile 30-feet wide between two state road projects, will be advertised for an early opening.

Small jacks are plentiful from the inlet to the far reaches of the canal mouths and the North Fork as far as Tarpon Bay, and on up into Port St. Lucie.

Freeze Hits Our County; In Low 30's

An hour after dawn on Monday, the official temperature at Stuart's weather reporting station reached a low of 30 degrees.

In Indiantown, the low at the official weather station was 28 degrees.

At dawn, the entire county was frosted. The response from the tomato growers and garden crop growers was, "We were hurt, we don't know how much."

Bill Taylor, who is located half way between Indiantown and Okeechobee, said that stake tomatoes were found to have some damage even though they were sprayed through the night. He said it was too early to appraise the amount of damage.

Rep. William E. Owens felt that his citrus at Indiantown had weathered the cold well.

Flower growers felt there was damage, but could not appraise it. One grower said, "Some of it will show up on open blooms, some won't show up for six weeks on half-frosted buds which will produce bad flowers."

JAYCEE PARK IMPROVED

FIND To Give Land

The Florida Inland Navigation District decided last Friday to "dedicate" some 325 acres of surplus land on Long Island to the trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund for 99 years.

County Commission Chairman Frank A. Wacha revealed for the first time that the St. Lucie Inlet State Park was number two on the priority list of the state's Outdoor Recreation Commission set up to recommend recreation facilities. FIND failed to even notify Martin County officials that the "dedication" vote would be taken Friday.

Wacha also revealed that the swap of beach from owned by St. Lucie-Jupiter Co. for land owned by the IIF trustees in the Glades area, was in some part contingent of getting the FIND land into IIF hands.

The FIND land involved in the dedication, bars access to the beach lands to be swapped. That tract fronts on the ocean for 7,300 feet. In the swap is a tract of 5,765 acres. Appraised value of the beach was $1,264,000, of the State owned farm lands, $1,360,000

The Outdoor Recreation Commission's report on its first year's activities refers to the state park here and notes: "efforts to negotiate the needed title transfers have so far been unproductive, but includes that "it is hoped that by donation or exchange, these lands can be blocked up into a potential park area."

The land involved in the dedication was waterfront on Great Pocket on the Intracoastal waterway, and runs northerly to the Crossroads

All Saints Annual Meeting Elects Four Vestrymen

Election of four vestrymen, presentation of reports on the progress made during the year just concluded and others outlining briefly some of the plans for 1965 featured the annual parish meeting and covered dish supper of All Saints Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach, Monday evening that was attended by approximately 70 members of the parish.

Those chosen to the vestry were Chester Martin, Robert B. Smith, Jack Ruelius and Robert Haire. They succeed outgoing Senior Warden Henry Leduc, Junior Warden Carl Houg, Ray Loreen and Col. John D. Barnwell. A new senior warden and junior warden will be named at the regular February meeting of the vestry.

The meeting, presided over by Mr. Leduc, was featured by reports by himself, the treasurer, chairman of the building committee, presidents and treasurers of the various guilds and the rector, the Rev. Norman B. Feaster, who reported on the spiritual growth of the parish.

The building committee report included a summary of accomplishments such as almost complete renovation of the rectory, re-roofing of the rectory, church and parish hall, partly to correct damage done by hurricane Cleo, and the construction of a retaining wall along the north side of the church property. It was also revealed that--initiated by a generous gift from a member of the parish--the church will be completely air-conditioned before the coming summer season.

The budget and treasurer's report revealed the parish to be in sound financial condition and membership growth was also disclosed dispite the fact that, because of the distance involved, seven families have left the parish to become part of the newly-established Episcopal mission at Port St. Lucie. Regret was expressed over the loss of these families, some of whom were among the most active in the parish.

Parish members gave a rising vote of thanks to the outgoing wardens, Henry Leduc and Carl Houg and to the feminine members of the parish who have contributed so greatly of their time and effort. A motion was also offered, and approved unanimously, to hold a dinner for the acolytes, who serve at the altar services.

At the conclusion of the business meeting and during the period that the ballots were being counted, an interesting colored, talking film was shown of the church's missionary activities in the Diocese of Damaraland, South West Africa, of which the Rt. Rev. Robert H. Mize, Jr., Bishop of the Diocese, acted as commentator.

Among those attending was Father Irwin, a schoolmate of Father Feaster during their seminary days and whom the Feasters visited last summer during their holiday in the north.

Junior High Has New Club

The announcement of a new Junior High School club at the Stuart Youth Center was made by Ernest Sabella.

Sabella said, "With the assistance of James McMahon, director of the SYC, and the adults of our city, the new Stuart Youth Center Club is getting under way."

"The youth center is a very important place in our city. The young citizens of today realize that they are the leaders of tomorrow, and must have the necessary education to qualify as such leaders," said Sabella.

Sabella added, "The school gives them the bulk of this education, but they must also have the knowledge of how to relax and enjoy themselves. The Youth Center provides such relaxation, clean fun and teaches responsibility to our young citizens."

The following officers were elected; Ernest, Sabella, president; Rufus Brown, vice-president; Steve Means, assistance vice president; Carol Raphel, treasurer; Helen Smith, Secretary; Sharon Baker, chaplain and Sergeants-at-arms, Karen Dailey, Dan Miblock and Carlos Hudson.

Your Social Security

By: R. C. Gehrken, Jr.
District Manager
West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. I will be 65 January 31, 1965. Can I get a check for January? Can I find out how much I'll get?

A. Yes, you can get paid for January if you have worked long enough. Since benefits can be paid anytime after 62, you should check with us to be sure you are not losing money for this year. We are always glad to give payment estimates at any time.

Q. I have been collecting social security disability payments two years. Now that I am 63, what would happen to my disability check if I made a claim for social security retirement payments?

A. You cannot get disability and retirement payments at the same time. If you continue to be disabled, you will receive disability payments until you are 65. At that time your social security checks will be changed to old-age insurance payments. You will continue to get the same amount each month after you are 65.

For further information on your social security problems, contact the Social Security office at 701 South Dixie Highway, West Palm Beach (open from 8:30 to 4:00, Monday through Friday), or their Field Representative at the County Welfare Office in Stuart, Mondays only, 9 to 12.

W.W.I VETS AUXILIARY Pres., Eleanor Diffendal, 1st & 3rd Friday 8:00 p.m., Comm Church.

Supreme Court Overturns Law, Trailers Must Pay Property Taxes If Not Mobile

Martin County mobile home owners were wondering what was going to happen next as the Florida Supreme Court overturned a law that allowed mobile homes in case the choice of paying personal property taxes or buying a trailer license.

Harry Hoke, mayor of the Town of Ocean Breeze Park, a town of over 600 mobile homes in Jensen Beach, told the Mirror Tuesday night that he knew nothing about the new ruling. He said he had been unable to get in touch with the state mobile home association, and that he would withhold comment until he was able to learn more.

"I don't see how they can do this," Hoke added. "It is like a tax on a tax."

When asked the reaction of the people of Ocean Breeze, Hoke said, "No one is shook up about it. They just want to know what is going on here."

Last year in Martin County there were 1,755 trailer tags issued. The cost of a tag is $16.75. Tax collector Andy Andrews said that tax income from trailer residents might jump to between $50 and $75 per unit for a new tax of between $100,000 to $150,000 compared to about $29,000 in this past year.

Andrews said he was awaiting word from Tallahassee before counting too much on the added income.

In the meantime, the residents of mobile homes, and there are over a thousand in the Jensen Beach area alone, waited for clarified word of the future.

The ruling covered mobile homes not used for transit, but primarily used for living in one spot, a common practice in this area.

LIFE MEMBER--Lorraine Middleton was awarded a life membership in the Jensen American Legion Auxiliary last Monday night as 12th District president Josephine Makal makes the presentation. A total of sixty members were awarded membership shields.

FEC Loses Appeal County Wins Suit

A copy of a decision which favored Martin County in the Florida East Coast Railway appeal to the State Supreme Court was received by County Attorney Dean Tooker on Monday.

The copy revealed that Chief Justice E. Harris Drew, Justices B. K. Roberts, Campbell Thornal, Stephen O'Connell and Richard W. Ervin held for the county while Justice Elwyn Thomas dissented "because the court is without jurisdiction."

No specific ruling was made on the appellate court ruling that the county had to wait until the Supreme Court suit was ended before it could move to open the Alice Ave. crossing which was the specific reason for the suit, Tooker said.

Tooker said, however, that the Supreme Court decision does not become final until time expires to file rehearing petitions and, if filed, their denials. He said he believed the FEC had 10 days in which to file for a rehearing.

The only costs awarded to the county under the court opinion were $200 for land taking at the crossing, $6,000 for railroad attorneys' fees and $102.25 for part of the cost of a transcript of the proceedings.

Asks Supreme Court To Act On FEC Taxes

In a short special meeting, following the regular meeting of the Martin County commission, the commission called on the State Supreme Court to expedite a decision which would permit the east coast counties to collect taxes from the Florida East Coast Railway.

The Railroad which has protested valuations set in the various counties by the State Railroad Assessment Board, has not paid taxes for the years 1962, 1963 and 1964. The county is owed $ 1,085,78, not considering interest and penalties which have accrued.

Go Fishing! It's Great!

Spanish mackeral seems to be quite plentiful all over the ocean to within about three miles off shore while Blues are good one day, and scarce the next.

Weakfish continue to be excellent fishing and also spotted sea trout. The Sails are quite plentiful off shore and Snook are better than usual for this time of year.

Sheepshead and Drum seem to be quite heavy catches from the bridges and Pompano is especially plentiful.

Powerboat Races Are Set For Feb. 28 World Champion Racers Will Compete

The Jensen Beach and Stuart Chambers of Commerce have set the date of February 28th for the American Power Boat Association races at the Jensen Beach causeway, according to Herman Reitz, chairman of the committee in charge.

World champion racers will be on hand in the six classes of stock hydros, outboard hydros and racing runabouts.

Between 60 and 100 boats are expected with speeds from 55 to 90 miles an hour. An oval course about a mile around will provide three laps to a heat with 12 boats in each heat as a maximum.

Ralph Evinrude has been named honorary chairman; Don Wilkie and Tonny Nelson, fund raising chairmen with Phil Baker assisting and Reg Walker as treasurer.

MIRROR MAIL AWAY

The 1965 edition of the Jensen Beach Mirror Third Annual Mail-Away will be released in late February or early March. Orders are now being taken at the Mirror office, and material for the gigantic newspaper, which will cost 20¢ this year, is being compiled.

Vandals Need A Lesson

The recent vandalism in all Saints Cemetary can be an important lesson to Jensen Beach, and the entire county. It is time to put a stop to this wanton destruction of public property.

The windows in the beach bath houses are broken. The light bulbs in the cabanas and beach pavilions have been shot out so often the courts has stopped putting them into sockets. New tourists must bring their own light bulbs for an evening on the cabanas.

The ropes on the chapelles in Jensen Cemetary and on the beach have been cut often. Signs are shot up along the road. Fire crackers are thrown into store windows, and then the streets in this part of the law.

People say "This can't happen in Jensen Beach", but it is happening here. It must be stopped.

We urge the Martin County Sheriff to station several deputies in proper places at times when the vandals are known to be at large, and that these deputies be friendly to quick trial when caught making an example of a few would be able to fix curfew such actions against be ridden.

Stopping vandals before they have the opportunity to make a farce of our laws of society will be a move applauded by all citizens.

Firemen Deserve Support

The annual fund drive of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department is under way. It deserves the support of all citizens.

It is a well known fact that the quality of the service and equipment of the local volunteer fire department has lowered fire insurance rates in the Jensen Beach area.

We heard a letter from Earl Morphees to the firemen. It included a donation of $15.00, and said "Thank you so much for the people who gave your services so wonderfully in the time of Hurricane Isbelle that destroyed the television set I had down, and for the way you fought to save the house and my home."

This is just one case of the good the fire department does. The list is miles long, and people do not forget the fire department and what they have done to protect property.

That Jensen Beach is blessed with such a fine department gives us a feeling of security.

We urge all citizens to support their local fire department in the annual fund raising effort.

Live and Love It.... BY DICK CAMPBELL

Behind The Sidewalks In Jensen

There has been quite a bit of misunderstanding about the sidewalks from the Jensen Beach Elementary School to Commercial Street, and on up the Indian River Drive. To stop the panic, and curb rumors the Mirror has searched the facts to get at the bottom of the story.

When Helen Mast was killed while walking down the highway, I talked with Harry Hoke that night. The ambulance had just left the hospital. Helen had passed away in the ambulance, on the way there.

It left deep scars in his eyes, for each and every citizen who lives in the park is a personal friend of all the Hokes.

The immediate concern was for Helen Mast. Then came the realization that spring from people who didn't know what else to talk about.

"We need more light on this street", Harry said. "We're going to put in three new lights, but we just can't do it on US 1 in Stuart".

Dick Hoke pointed to the speed of the cars. He said the Town of Ocean Breeze, Sewalls Point and Dick should get a radar unit and arrest some of the speeders since he is so fed up at the levels.

The following day Harry Hoke in conference with Florida Power and Light learned the necessary steps to put more lights up, and to locate bushes and trees that obscure motorists vision.

Hoke went to further with Frank Adams, County engineer, and finally, county engineer, Ransom Tilton and myself, and we talked sidewalks.

Bell and Wachs wanted to put the sidewalk 25 feet from the center line of the road. They wanted a grass strip to the sidewalk from the road, and some day would be able to widen the road when the money became available under secondary road funds.

Someday it will be necessary to four lane the road. This is something we must face, in Jensen Beach. If we are to keep 707 as a main road we must four lane it. If we don't, the state will put through a four lane road to handle traffic and let 707 die. This as one of the acts of life that the people of Jensen Beach, and especially the people on the beach way, must face.

The Hoke family was under the impression that the county wanted to put through a sidewalk, and were willing to give an easement for it. Here is the beginning of the misunderstanding. The county wanted to take, by quit-claim deed, the balance of right of way from the road to 25 feet from the centerline of that road.

This would amount to a loss in area of property along the waterfront.

The Hokes turned down the quit-claim deed, for they did not want to give up title to the property. They said it would be much cheaper to build their own sidewalks. And this the plan to do.

The Sidewalk will be built on the school to Commercial Street, and will be built where ever the Hokes want it built. They will pay for the sidewalk. Harry Hoke, mayor of the town, says that the sidewalk will probably be built this summer, during the slack season.

The job will get done, in the meantime, the people will really enjoy rapping up what one wants to do in the community are having a field day with rumors. There are the people who can find fault with anything, and should find pleasure in this delay.

There is an old saying of a calendar that hangs in my office. "A man could do nothing if he waited until he could do it well that no one would find fault with what he had done."

We must continue, using the power that we have available, and as many ideas we can muster to build our area. It can be done cooperatively.

West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. I am 60 years old. My husband died seven months ago. I understand I can't draw any of his social security until I'm 62. Should I have it all fixed up now or wait until I'm 62?

A. You should get in touch with us now and make an application for a lump-sum death payment if you have not done so. We will explain what proofs you will need when you make an application for monthly payments at 62.

Q. I am 57 years old and have no children. I am disabled and have never worked under social security. My husband passed away seven years ago. I'd like to know if I can draw his social security now.

A. You can't get widow's benefit payments until you are 62. Under present law you can't get paid simply because you are disabled.

For further information on your social security problems, contact the Social Security office at 701 South Dixie Highway, West Palm Beach (open from 8:30 to 4:00, Monday through Friday), or their Field Representative at the County Welfare Office in Stuart, Mondays only, 9 to 12.

Columnist Reports On Jensen Beach History

Wesley Stout, Fort Lauderdale News reporter, filed the following story on Jensen Beach in the Ft. Lauderdale News on January 3rd.

THE FLORIDA GOLD Coast from around 1880 past the century's turn was the pineapple country from Jupiter to Sebastian, when today's Gold Coast was a wilderness. The sand hill ridge behind the Indian River was nearly solidly pineapples; and not even the citrus counties prospered so.

Two who saw almost the start and the end of this boom are Mrs. Louise Schultz and her son, Harry, of White City. She was a Sorensen and a niece of John L. Jensen, founder of the pineapple capital. Her old Jensen home was razed only last fall to make way for an expansion of Jensen's Ocean Breeze trailer park.

The Danish-born Jensen reached the St. Lucie in 1879, plunged into the new pineapple industry, and 10 years later induced John Sorensen to bring his family from Birmingham.

They travelled by train to Titusville, by the sailing-yacht Robinson Crusoe to Jensen and were put ashore by rowboat. Mullet leaping into the small boat provided their first Jensen meal.

John Jensen built his three-story Al Fresco Hotel on new vacant land behind Jensen's new bank, a hotel filled with buyers in June, the big month, and well peopled with winter tourists in season. There was a bank, eventually moved to Ft. Pierce after two cashiers in succession absconded. It was a sub-port of entry, with long docks, the fruit moving by water to Titusville before the railroad came in 1893.

There was no gambling with commission houses, the buyers paying for the fruit on the dock, accepting the risk of spoilage and a falling market. Trainloads rolled north in such volume that the FEC had a separate freight station where young Harry found his first job.

Every grower had a houseboat and power boats and an annual pass on the FEC; and they mingled with Society at Flagler's Royal Poinciana Hotel. Their old homes still line the old Dixie almost continuously from Jensen to Ft. Pierce.

As the fruit approached ripeness, it had to be picked and shipped in ice at once, so however it might rain, the picking went on. Mrs. Schultz' father had the ice plant, also long gone.

No more had Flagler's rails reached Key West than he and the steamship companies fell into a rate war, which led to Cuba getting a lower rate than Florida fruit to U. S. markets. The only Jensen grower to evade this was T. V. Moore, who later founded Miami's pioneer furniture house. He loaded his pines on a barge and demanded and got the water rate. Mrs. Moore was Mrs. Schultz' sister.

Between the rate war and a blight which hit the fields about then, the industry was destroyed. John Jensen moved to the Isle of Pines. The Schultz' sold their land in the real estate boom and bought a grove at White City.

Harry retired in May, 1963, after 29 years as editor of the Vero Beach Press-Journal, to care for the grove, and his mother, now in her 80s. He tells us that Hutchinson Island, the beach strip opposite Jensen, where nothing has been grown in modern times, once was lush with winter bean patches. The opening of the Everglades muck lands, with their richer soil, to winter vegetable growing, turned Hutchinson Island back to the raccoons.

The number of U.S. ports of entry was a scandal down to 1911. At St. Marys, Ga., just across the Florida line, the cost of collecting a dollar in duties was more than $45. At Saco, Me., ports receipts for 1910 were $15, expenses $862. At Annapolis, the government paid $309. to collect $2.06.

Governor Burns Hon. Commodore

It was learned today that Florida Governor Haydon Burns has accepted the appointment as Honorary Commodore for the 1st Annual Greater Tampa Boat & Sportsman's Show to be held in Tampa on March 10 - 14, at the new Curtis Hixon Convention Hall.

Paul Rimmeir, dynamic President of Rimmeir Productions who heads the Tampa show, stated, "This endorsement of the Governor lends credence to the importance of boat shows and the boating industry as a whole. Support on the state level is an indication of the growth potential of boating."

Boating, Florida's year-around pleasure activity, will be well represented at the Tampa Show. Marine manufacturers, distributors and dealers will join together in a supermarket atmosphere of boats and equipment. Additional displays, designed for the sportsman and his family, will present camping, fishing, hunting and skin diving equipment.

Fish Dinner Successful

Ray Friel, President of the Men's Garden Club of Stuart, said the Fish Dinner put on by the club was most successful.

"The response of civic spirited citizens exceeded our fondest hopes," said Friel. He added, "We are extremely grateful to those fine people and particularly to those who donated some of the food, devoted their time to preparing and serving of what many said was the best meal they ever got any place for a dollar. The success of this project is an inspiration to all members of the Club and a splendid tribute to all those who rally around a worthy cause."

The Board of Directors of the Jensen Beach Area Chamber of Commerce will meet on Monday, February 1st at 8:00 p.m. at the Chamber office.

County Wins Fight With FEC For Grade Crossing In Rio

The State Supreme Court has ruled for Martin County against the Florida East Coast Railway, upheld circuit court Judge C. P. Trowbridge's contention that the county could take by eminent domain, the land needed for a grade crossing at Alice Ave., Rio.

The court also ruled that the cost of warning signals must be paid by the railroad, but it ruled that the local judge's awarding of witness fees was imperfect, held that only witnesses who testified in connection with the value of the easement sought need by paid.

The decision, which was announced by County Attorney Dean Tooker who fought the suit for the county for almost three years before winning it, was revealed in a telegram read at last Wednesday's special county commission meeting.

At stake in the suit was a tiny 50-foot wide plot containing only .114 acre worth about $50. It barred access to the local radio station when it was closed and forced the county to build a mile-long road and bridge to reach the station.

As tiny as it was, it was big enough to cause John B. L'Engle, senior counsel of the railroad, to say that its loss in circuit court would mean a fight all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court. After Judge Trowbridge's ruling, which on the fact of it put the railroad in a position in which it had to pay the cost of a 325,000 warning device at a crossing it didn't want, the condemation trial was heard before a jury.

Powers Urges Surplus Water Be Diverted To Everglades

At the public hearing held by the U. S. Corps of Engineers at West Palm Beach Thursday, Martin County spoke a show of strength through unanimity when discussing the water requirements of Everglades National Park.

Among those attending the hearing were County Engineer Fred L. Bell, Capt. Bruce Leighton, Mrs. Walter Fretwell, president of the Martin County Audubon Society, and vice-president of the Florida Audubon society, Robert T. Hall, president of the St. Lucie-Indian River Conservation Council, Hardy Acree, Levy St. Johnson, a Fortico Key, a state president of the Izaak Walton League, Edward Biggs, retired educator and active real estate man, and R. W. Swanson, chairman of the Town of Sewall's Point.

County Agent Levy St. Johnson presented information to show the actual water needs of citrus, cattle pasturing and farming in the area.

Projects which are presently underway are: supplying toys for the toy chest which we have provided for the Pediatrics Unit, gowns and pajamas for children in the hospital, "take home kits" for the children to use in the hospital and which they may take home with them. The kits contain toothbrush, toothpaste, coloring book and crayons and a comb. painted wall murals in one of the rooms in the Pediatrics Unit and plan to complete murals in the other room.

Florida Oceanographic Gets Revenoor Tax Lein

A Federal tax lien was placed against Florida Oceanographic Society, Inc., a corporation associated with James H. Rand in the Martin County Courthouse recently.

The lien, filed by the West Palm Beach district office of the Internal Revenue Service, was for $544,516.79 for the period from June 30,1955 through June 30, 1962.

Florida Oceanographic was incorporated under Florida laws on July 21, 1964.

Federal income tax liens totaling $35,055,260.58 had been filed against Rand, Public Health Foundation, and Falmouth, Ltd. earlier this month. Rand denied any association with Falmouth, Ltd. or Public Health Foundation.

Officers of Florida Oceanographic Society are Stephen Schmidt, former director of the Martin County museums, Clifton S. Perry, vice-president and treasurer, David B. Irons, J. H. Bruner and William P. Todt, secretary of the corporation. Perry manages many of Rand's interests in Martin County.

The society, which was formed for the stated purpose of establishing a marine laboratory and library here, became the recipient of the property previously held by Public Health Foundation on September 15, 1964 when a warranty deed was filed with stamps indicating the transfer value at $145,000.

Florida Oceanographic Society, listed as a non-profit corporation with the secretary of state, was the last of the corporations with any connection with Rand, whether direct or indirect, to come under the scrutiny and levy of the Internal Revenue Service.

Legal Action

Andy Zglinicki, president of the Palm City Civic Association, left the County Commission meeting on Tuesday saying he would institute legal action in an effort to "Determine the truth on what goes on at special meetings."

His action came after several commissioners argued over what happened at a special meeting of January 13 when a Jensen Beach contractor, William Yurillo, was awarded a contract which was thrown out at the regular meeting of January 12 for lack of a bid bond.

The meeting was held, according to County Commissioner Frank Wacha, when it was discovered that no bid bond was asked in the specifications for the Jensen Firehouse remodeling.

County Buys Ads In County

The Martin County Commission purchased advertising in three local media Tuesday. The commissioners voted to buy a color advertisement in the Jensen Beach Mirror 1965 mail-away edition, a full page advertisement in the Indiantown Press for the Circle T Rodeo edition, and a full page in the newly created Martin County Fair program.

The commission purchased the Mirror advertisement as presented by editor Dick Campbell, voting four to one for passage. County Commissioner Ed Miller voted against the advertising, pointing out that all other newspapers should be given the same thing. His motion to table died for a lack of a second.

All commissioners then voted unanimously to accept advertising presented by Ed Gluckler for the Indiantown Press and the new fair program.

MARTIN COUNTY BEAUTY--This scene of the surf breaking against the rocks on Hutchinson Island is an example of the excitement that awaits the readers of the Mirror when the 1965 Mirror Mail-Away edition hits the streets next month.

$50 Reward

Newspaper Racks Are Hacksawed By Vandal

Newspaper racks in front of the Lil General food store on Highway A-1-A were hacksawed Friday night, as coin boxes were stolen from the racks of the Miami News and Palm Beach Post. The Jensen Beach Mirror rack was partially sawed through, and it is assumed that the approach of a car or pedestrian prevented the theft of the coin box of the Mirror rack.

The theft was not the first, as Jensen Beach has been going through a round of newspaper rack thefts in the past few weeks.

A Mirror newspaper rack with a concrete base was stolen from in front of the post office last weekend. The previous week a rack was stolen from the same place, also a Mirror rack.

In Stuart, three Mirror racks have been stolen in the past two months, along with several of the other newspapers.

Mirror publisher Dick Campbell has offered a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the rack vandals. The sheriff's department is investigating.

Schools Desegrated As County Complies With Dictate

The Martin County school board moved to desegregate the county school system in a nine-minute special session.

The board unanimously adopted a resolution which will become effective as far as integration is concerned with the start of the fall term of school next August.

Frank DeStefano, Board Chairman, after reading the resolution prepared for the occasion, asked if any board member had a question regarding the matter. None did.

DeStefano then asked the 23 negroes and 14 whites attending the meeting if they had any question..

"What about the children who have not yet gone to school?", asked Nathaniel Green, a Negro. DeStefano said that the new pupil would be given a choice at the time of pre-school registration.

The motion, made by Mrs. T.R. Chambers, was seconded by Henry Gunn, Jensen Beach and Joseph Greenlees, Stuart. When polled, Mrs. Jeanette Odom and DeStefano responded.

om Adams Asking Pollution Controls

pport of measures to control rfect both air and water tion voiced by Sec. of State Adams in the official pub- ce of his department, ght immediate comment and ort from local conservation- ded leaders here.

ams cited examples of pollu- listed suggestions made by groups and organizations alled for the investment e necessary funds to develop enforce effective means of rolling pollution.

arles H. Kindred, president the Florida Division, Izaak n League of America, hailed stand as encouraging and ed to similarities in the Wal- ton League program and some portions of Adams' stand.

Some of the suggestions listed by Adams were:

Give the Board of Conservation jurisdiction over water quality as it relates to natural resources., this in no way would alter the jurisdiction of the State Board of Health over water pollution as it affects public health.

Prohibit the discharge of any material or substance into public waters that would impede navigation or adversely affect recreation.

Permit the state to establish salt water barrier lines in coastal counties and regulate canal construction within these areas.

Prohibit the sale of "hard" detergents in Florida.

Require licensing of well

drillers.

Permit the Board of Conservation to identify and label vulnerable low areas which are subject to periodic flooding.

Adams cited six examples of pollution needing correction. They included the following:

Many thousands of acres of submerged coastal lands possessing a great potential for shellfish production, closed because of municipal sewage pollution.

Florida could be the greatest oyster producing state in the nation but only 20 per cent of the growing areas escape off-shore pollutants.

Eastern coastal waters near the Georgia line once supported the greatest oyster and shrimp industry of the entire Atlantic Coast. That was before legally sanctioned pollution.

FEC Appeal Move Made

The Florida East Coast Railway moved Monday to counter the decision of the Florida Supreme Court won by Martin County on January 20.

The court had ruled that the county could take by eminent domain, the land needed for a grade crossing at Alice Avenue, Rio and that the railroad had to bear the cost of proper warning signals at the crossing.

The decision from the supreme court came after almost three years of court battling.

Angus Sumner, of Fort Pierce, who fought the case for the railroad, along with John B, L'Engle, has requested the State Supreme Court to permit a 15 day extension in which to file a petition for re-hearing.

The reason cited for the extension was that L'Engle had retired and that Sumner would be replaced by the firm of Parker, Jordan and Madigan of Tallahassee, specialists in appeals to high courts. Sumner said the new attorneys needed time to acquaint themselves with the case.

Dean Tooker, County Attorney, immediately filed a motion asking that the court deny the motion, charging that the railroad was following habitual delaying tactics. Tooker said, "If I referred to Sumner as a competent attorney, who was able to file the petition for the railroad and who was completely familiar with and able to handle the case for the road."

ronson And Owens all Legislative Meet

Sen. Irlo Bronson and Rep. William E. Owens will meet on March 12th at the courthouse to discuss any proposed legislation which might be introduced during the 1965 session of the Legislature.

The first two hours of the session, which begins at 10 a. m., will be devoted to the municipalities in the county. Stuart, Jupiter Island, Sewalls Point and Ocean Breeze Park are the county's only incorporated municipalities.

Legislation concerning the county will be discussed at 2 p. m.

Individuals and groups will be asked to discuss proposed legislation with elected officials before presentation to the legislative delegation.

At the close of the day, a Dutch treat dinner will be held at the Pink Pony for the elected county and municipal officials and the press.

Chamber Nomination Committee Is Named

Frank Forsberg will head the nominations committee of the Chamber of Commerce for 1965-66 officers. Forsberg was appointed by Chamber president Dick Campbell Monday night. Serving with him are Ruth Bowman and Don Wilkie. A prospective slate of officers will be brought back to the Chamber by the committee on March 1st.

In other actions by the Jensen Chamber, an endorsement of the Martin County Commission opposition to the U.S. Government plan for the disposition of water from Lake Okeechobee was passed unanimously by the directors.

The Chamber agreed to assist the Jensen Volunteer Firemen in their pig roast on February 14 at Jensen Beach Causeway. It was also announced that the Intracoastal Sailing Club would hold races that day at the Causeway.

The Chamber directors also began investigation of plans for solicitation control in the area.

Smilin' Jack Will Be In Mail-Away;

Artwork for a special greeting to visitors and persons receiving the 1965 Mail-Away edition of the Jensen Beach Mirror has been received from Zack Mosley, creator of Smilin' Jack, assuring the Mirror of another color cartoon of Smilin' Jack and his funnies family in the picture packed edition.

The Mirror takes pride in the original ideas and design of this edition, the first picture treatment of Martin County, using full color pictures.

The cartoon last year created a great deal of comment. This year Mosley has created another artistic achievement for the Mirror, in even greater proportions.

EDITORIALS

Tooker Deserves Praise

Dean Tooker, Martin County attorney, may have himself a real trophy in the near future. He also deserves great praise, not only from the people of this county, but also from the people of the United States.

The Florida Supreme Court recently supported the county position to take land for a railroad crossing at Alice Avenue, turning down the Florida East Coast Railroad appeal of a lower court decision required for the filing of a rehearing petition has not expired at the time of this editorial's writing, the FEC has sworn to take this case to the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

The reason for such worry is that this case is being watched throughout the United States by both railroads and public bodies. If Martin County wins, a precedent will be set for future railroad crossings, in the past dictated at the whim of the railroads.

At this point, however, it is fitting to offer the congratulations of a grateful county for a job well done to our county attorney, Dean Tooker.

Attend The Victory Ball

The Jensen Rio United Fund Victory Ball should be about as long as its name, if the events lined up for the Friday night event hold true to form. Entertainment, games and prizes will make the victory of the United Fund Drive a really big celebration.

The drive is "over the top" with the $7,501 goal surpassed by at least $1,000. The dance is free to all, and music and dancing will be coupled with a show at Seymour's Inn, traditional partyland of the victory ball.

We urge all local citizens who took part in the drive, those who worked, those who collected and those who gave, to attend the party. It is truly the best one of them all. The party starts at 8 p.m., and will be an all-Jensen Beach and Rio celebration for a community-wide effort that received the full support of a aroused citizenry.

We salute the officers, directors, workers and participants of the Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund. A good job...well done.

Forsberg Makes A Mark

One year ago this week, Frank Forsberg was appointed to district one member of the Martin County Planning and Zoning Board. In one year, Forsberg has moved up to chairman of the board, and his influence has been felt throughout the county.

Stepping into the job, Forsberg took a good look at what had to be done, and the one year record shows some important steps taken for the betterment of Martin County planning and zoning.

The work of the planning and zoning board has stirred many a controversy in this county. Where to draw a line as to restrictions on the development of the county, and what kind of development there should be, has been a difficult chore for the members of the board.

We think that the board has handled the planning and zoning chores with considerable intelligence. We believe that the county has a long way to go in developing a master plan, but at the same time we feel that planning is in competant hands.

We are proud of the district one member of the planning and zoning board. His selection is a credit to the county commission.

LETTERS To The Editor

To The Editor,

I enjoyed very much your piece in the January 21 issue, "Oh, Say, Can You See O.J."

One of my perennial problems here at the Citrus Commission is trying to persuade more Florida restaurants and other places serving food to put orange juice on their menus.

Of course I must say that the Commission is also very much interested in promoting the sale of our fine canned and concentrated products, as well as the fresh fruit, but obviously we are hopeful that visitors in Florida will find frest fruit available during the harvesting season.

Thanks again for your very witty and interesting comment.

Very truly yours,
Homer E. Hooks
General Manager
Florida Citrus Commission

To The Editor

Just a note to express my appreciation for your kind words regarding the recommendations of this office in the field of elections reform. I am very hopeful that the 1965 session of the Legislature will make substantial changes in our law so that elections in Florida will be conducted more fairly and efficiently.

Thanking you for your interest, and with warm personal regards, I remain

Sincerely,
Tom Adams
Secretary Of State

To The Editor:

The Jensen Beach Garden Club appreciates your taking pictures of our 15th anniversary party on last Wednesday and I personally wish to add my thanks for your kindness.

With appreciation,
Alice Wilber
President.

Gary Shipes, a 4th grade student at the Jensen Beach School made the honor roll for the last grading period, however, his name was erroneously omitted from the list published last week.

Live and Love It.... By DICK CAMPBELL

According to the book, a good newspaper must have three things on an editorial page. First, there must be an editorial praising someone or something. Then there must be one giving someone a jit about something. The third is one that views something in the future with alarm.

We notice this week that we have praised the dickens out of everyone connected with our three editorials. So we'll mention a few things to balance the score and let our readers know that we are not going soft.

We would like to give the people who sell motor bikes or motorcycles a fit for not giving the youngsters they sell bikes to the proper instruction on how to drive. And the parents of the youngsters who own bikes deserve the sam. fit for allowing the excessive speed and playful antics that cause accidents.

We view with alarm the possibility that the Florida Inland Navigation District might just be able to sweet-talk the Florida Legislature out of abolishing it. They sure have some high powered public relations outfits dirping our localized news releases for them, telling the world how wonderful they are.

We also view with alarm the possibility the Stuart and Jensen Beach Chambers of Commerce might just get together and wa this boat race thing into some thing bigger. By golly, it migh even get so that some of thes folks might get to liking on another. Then what would happen

Haid Named Fire Co-ordinator

Howard Haid of Port Salerno has been named county fire coordinator by Jack Saunderson, county commissioner in charge of Civil Defense fire services.

Mr. Haid will represent Mr. Saunderson and CD director Al Keaton at meetings with various community fire departments to advise them of the availability of surplus equipment, training schools and on other matters.

County Fire Chief John Filanowski and Haid discussed fire fighting at a seventh grade assembly at Murray High School recently.

FEC Requests Automatic Controls For Bridges

The Florida East Coast Railway has asked the U.S. Corps of Engineers for permission to operate the bascule spans on four bridges with automatic controls.

The bridges concerned are the St. Lucie River here, the St. Lucie Canal at Port Mayaca, the New River at Fort Lauderdale and the Loxahatchee at Jupiter. A dispatcher at New Smyrna Beach would have indication of a train approaching and channel clearance under the bridge transmitted by Centralized Traffic Control System.

Under this plan of operation, the bridge would normally be in open position, displaying flashing green signals to allow movement of water traffic.

When a train approaches the bridge, the navigation signals would flash red, the siren would blast four times, pause and continue four more blasts. After eight minutes, the bridge would lower and lock providing scanning equipment reveals nothing under the bridge.

After the train has passed, the bridge would return to its normal position.

Col. H. R. Parfitt, district engineer at Jacksonville, in a notice said it would be necessary for the secretary of the army to promulgate special regulations to cover the proposed method of operation. The notice was issued to inform navigational interests of the proposed changes. Navigational or other interests may comment to the U.S. Corps of Engineers at Jacksonville prior to Feb. 19.

Ocean Frontage Offered To County At $662,500

Martin County has been offered an opportunity to purchase 2,470 foot of ocean front on Hutchinson Island for $662,500, according to Fred L. Bell, County Engineer.

The property borders on the north, the southern end of county owned beach at the Jensen Beach pavilion.

The offer was made by M.P. Nelson, Stuart Realtor, in behalf of several owners, including Nelson.

The county already owns 1,448 feet north of the parcels now offered.

It is said that County Attorney Dean Tooker was to investigate Nelson's offer and to study methods of financing the purchase.

One-County Health Unit Suggested

Dr. Neill Miller, director of the five-county health unit, and a group of Hobe Sound residents headed by Dr. William G. Myers, have offered suggestions on a reconstituted one-county health unit should the county commission make such a move.

Fred L. Bell, County Engineer, recommended that Martin County be removed from the three-county unit, which includes Okeechobee and St. Lucie Counties and said that the Hobe Sound group had been requested to submit its suggestions.

Commission Chairman, Frank A. Wacha, named Bell, County Attorney Dean Tooker and J. H. Brauer to study the recommendations of Bell as a letter to the commission.

According to Bell, the Commissioners have been offered the services of a public health director who will work locally for $2,500 a year for half time work and another on a voluntary basis, full time.

Dr. Miller is paid $7,500, by the county with $1,000 extra in travel which goes to the director and the sanitarian.

Rogers Bill Ups Earnings For Aged

Congressman Paul G. Rogers of Florida's 6th District introduced legislation in the House of Representatives to allow Senior Citizens drawing Social Security to increase their outside earnings without losing Social Security benefits.

Rogers told the House, "This year some half million senior citizens in America will lose all or part of their Social Security benefits because they earned over $1200. This hardship seems unjust to me. At a time in life when a person needs some outside income to supplement his Social Security benefits, or may be physically able to work and enjoy working, the present Social Security system imposes financial difficulty on him by cutting his benefits because he earns more than $1200 on his own."

Congressman Rogers' bill would raise the present income limitation of $1200 for those eligible to draw Social Security to a maximum limit of $2400 as the ceiling for drawing full benefits.

The Florida Congressman emphasized that the existing program is contrary to the American system of encouraging people to support themselves.

"The Social Security program contributes a great deal to the well-being of millions of Americans" Congressman Rogers said.

Women's Ass'n Has Card Party

On February 1st, fifty-three members and eight guests of the Jensen Beach Women's Association met for a business meeting and card party.

Hostesses for the day were Florence Older, Polly Schaefer, Polly Gardiner and Ethel Black.

The door prize was won by Bernice Wetter.

The Jensen Beach Women's Association will hold a dessert-card party at the club house on Monday, February 15th at 2:30 p.m.

The party is for all members and guests but reservations are necessary. They may be made by calling Mrs. Miller at AT 7-4143 or Mrs. Frederichs at AT 7-3190.

Honey Creepers Cootiette Club Will Meet February 10th

The Honey Creepers Cootiette Club #640 will hold a benefit games party at the Walton Community Hall on Wednesday, February 10th at 8 p.m.

All proceeds will go towards helping the needy families in the community and the Veterans Hospital.

Refreshments will be served.

Arsonists Suspected In County Fires

Howard Hald, Martin County Fire Co-ordinator, said Monday that two of the brush fires over the weekend in the county were probably set by arsonists.

The two fires in the Golden Gate section were fought by both the Port Salerno and county departments.

Hald also reported that acreage in Jonathan Dickinson State Park and in the Indiantown area was also burned.

Hald advised that outside fires should be halted until a good rain wets some of the dry areas.

Republicans Plan Annual Dinner

Martin County Republicans are planning their annual Lincoln Day dinner to be held at the Sunrise Inn on February 11th.

Former U.S. Senator, Prescott Bush, of Connecticut, will be the key note speaker at the $10 a plate fund raising affair.

Operation Big Switch is the name given to the Republican campaign to encourage Republican registration.

In the last election, according to Mrs. Hugh Willoughby, 54 per cent of the Martin County voters supported the GOP national ticket; 51 per cent voted for GOP state candidates, yet only 17 per cent of the county's voters were registered Republicans.

The Stuart Jaycees will hold a bake sale on Saturday at 1 p.m. in front of Kwik Chek.

Ronny Nelson, Jaycee President, reports that the Jaycee wives will be baking the food for the bake sale.

Bill Christopher, Bake Sale Chairman, announced that all proceeds will go toward Jaycee Community Projects.

"My Three Angels" Set For March Presentation

According to Mrs. Virginia Wilson, director, most of the parts for "My Three Angels", a Ripidie Players production, have been filled. The play is set for March 5 and 6.

Miss Patricia Britton, who recently played a major role in a play at Palm Beach Junior College before transferring to Indian River Junior College will assist Mrs. Wilson.

Charles Matteson will play the part of Felix Ducotel; Mrs. Margaret Fuller, his wife, Emilie; Mrs. Florida Kegley, their daughter, Marie-Lou.

Ray Lister will play Paul and James Minter, a young lieutenant.

Frank DeStefano, Gordon Walsh and Al Woodbury will portray the Three Angels with Mrs. Aileen Kiele portraying Mme. Parolee.

Workers are being recruited to help in costuming, make-up, set construction and lighting, according to Mrs. William Britton, president of the Ripidie Players.

Snook Reports Boat Stolen

C.H. Snook has reported to the sheriff's department that his boat, a 14-foot gray-colored Bacchus plyboard, carrying a 10-HP 1960 model Johnson outboard motor had been stolen from a Hutchinson Island dock.

Snook said the boat, valued at $600., had been tied up Friday at Hutchinson Island and was gone on Monday when he returned to get it.

The Sheriff's Department is investigating.

Your Social Security

By: R. C. Gehrken, Jr.
District Manager
West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. Can I receive social security disability benefits starting with the month in which I became permanently disabled?

A. No. There is a waiting period of six full consecutive months before any benefits are paid. The payments can start for the first month after this waiting period.

Q. Is there any time limit on the filing of a disability claim? That is, could I file a claim as much as a year after I became disabled?

A. Yes, you could file one year later and still get all of your benefits. But disability payments, like social security retirement benefits, are only retroactive for one year. So you should file within one year after the six-months' waiting period. If you delay beyond those 18 months, you run the risk of losing some or all the benefits to which you are entitled.

Norris Tilton's Squadron Recovered Gemini Capsule

Helicopter Group Speed Lands Space Test Vehicle

Word has been received that the helicopter group of Commander Norris Tilton was the unit that recovered the first unmanned Gemini capsule shot from Cape Kennedy in January.

In an historic day of recovery, Tilton wrote, "We picked up the capsule about an hour ago with no problems. It landed about sixteen miles from the ship, and our helo's were there with the swimmers in a few minutes.

"Everything seemed to go fine, and we are headed for Roosevelt Roads now. We will be there on the 21st or 22nd. I doubt if we do any more flying until we leave Puerto Rico because we are in a rush to get the Gemini Capsule there for transfer to Cape Kennedy."

Tilton's helicopter group is aboard the U.S.S. Lake Champlain.

COMMEMORATIVE ENVELOPE---The envelope bearing the stamp of the recovery of the first Gemini Capsule bears a picture of the capsule, a picture of the ship and the postmark.

Andrews Advises Against Stationary Trailers Tags

Arvin N. Andrews, Tax Collector, said he would be guided by information received from Arch Livingston, motor vehicle commissioner, on the sale of trailer tags.

Livingston called attention to the Florida Supreme Court Ruling which cites that house trailers and trailer coaches must be taxed under personal property tax laws. House trailers and trailer coaches used primarily as motor vehicle units, may use license plate tags.

Andrews said it was his job to advise on the purchase of tags and that he would advise against such purchase unless trailers are to be moved about, in which case, they must have tags.

The determination of whether a house trailer or trailer coach is used primarily as a motor vehicle unit may only be made by a county tax assessor pursuant to reasonable rules and regulations prescribed by the state comptroller, Andrews said.

The tax collector pointed out that once a tag is purchased there is no refund permitted.

Andrews said, "If people want to buy MH tags, we'll sell them," but he said that 1964 tags are good until March 20 and hinted that a wait on the part of trailer owners might be better thinking.

MCHS PTA Meets Thursday

The Martin County High School PTA will hold it's third meeting of a scheduled four meetings this year, this Thursday night at 8 p.m. at the High School Science-Lecture Room. This meeting will be primarily given over to the discussion of whether or not to attempt to raise money for the Annual PTA Scholarship with the meager membership this year.

The scholarship has been considered the most worthy project the PTA has, therefore it is hoped that every interested parent, espacially parents of seniors will make every effort to be present.

Birthday cake and coffee will be served to honor Founders Day and especially pay honor to the original founders of PTA, Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst.

According to Mrs. Barbara Britton, President, a film entitled "Meeting the Needs of Your Adolescent" will also be shown.

The fourth and last meeting of the year will be held in April or May and will deal with the evaluation of our high school.

Pig Roast And Carnival Sunday

An old time community picn'c atmosphere will fill the social calendar of Jensen Beach this weekend, as the Jensen Beach Volunteer Firemen put on a pig roast and carnival on the Jensen Beach Causew.. Sunday.

Carnival rides for young and old will be erected on Saturday night by Deggler Amusements.

Rides will be available to the public on Saturday night and Sunday, according to the firemen.

It will be an interesting sight for tourists who have never seen an old fashioned pig roast, for the firemen begin cooking the pigs at about midnight. The cooking goes on through the night and on into the morning.

V. V. Wortham is chairman and head chef of the event. Wortham is an active fireman, and is well known for his culinary art with pigs.. or oysters for that matter.

Wortham told the Mirror that the event will become a regular Valentine's Day event on the calendar of Jensen Beach if the public responds as is expected.

VALENTINE QUEEN OF THE BALL--- Lucile (Mrs. Ron... Nelson will be crowned as Queen of the Valentine Charity Ball to be held a Sertoma Inn February 13th. The Ball is an annual event sponsored by the Xi Gamma Phi and Epsilon Zeta Chapters of Beta Sigma Phi and the proceeds being used for a college scholarship for a Martin County High School senior.

Jensen P.T.A. To Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Jensen Beach P.T.A. will be held on Monday, February 15, in the school cafeteria at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Peggy Bond will be guest speaker and will show the film, "If These Were Your Children."

All parents are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

CD Plans Exercise

County and City officials and their respective department heads will conduct a Civil Defense Test Exercise on February 12th from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

The test, which is required by the Department of Defense and the Office of Civil Defense, is given to develop plans and standard operating procedures for increasing the National disaster capability and readiness of all elements of government in the county and the several incorporated cities and towns within.

The exercise will be conducted at the Civil Defense emergency Operations Center at 448 Flagler Avenue, Stuart.

PIGS AND PIGS--These little piggies are going to the Jensen Beach Causeway this weekend for a pig roast. They are demonstrated by Sally Peters, who is herding them in the cooler for the firemen, to be cooked on Sunday.

Powerboats Race On Indian River Feb. 28

The U. S. Coast Guard has issued a permit for the Sail-Sea Powerboat Racing regatta on the Indian River at the Jensen Beach Causeway. The race is being sponsored jointly by the Jensen Beach and Stuart Chambers of Commerce.

Ernest Standish, chairman, and Bernie Reitz, racing chairman met last Monday night at the Jensen Chamber office with the committee to plan portions of the event, which will feature six classes of stock hydros, outboard runbouts and racing runabouts.

Ralph Evinrude is honorary chairman.

Registration of entrants in the American Powerboat Association sponsored event will be some of the top racing men in the world. They race every year on what is known as the Grapefruit Circuit.

Their boats are tops, featuring mostly foreign motors, and range in speed from 40 to 90 miles per hour.

Mrs. Ruth Bowman will register the boats on race day from 10 a.m., according to Standish.

Jensen's firemen will be on hand to handle the food for the big event. About 100 boats are expected to take part.

Oratorical Contest

The 12th district, American Legion oratorical contests began on Wednesday at Martin County High School, according to Jack Smouse, co-ordinator of the program.

The district contest will be held February 23 at 7:30 p. m. in Room 6 at Martin County High School with students from Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Brevard counties participating. A medal and $100 savings bond will go to the winner.

Polynesian Festival Tour To Be At Evinrude Estate

The Jensen Beach Women's Association will hold a festival, tour and fashion show at the Evinrude Estate on February 21 from 1 to 5 p. m.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to buy needed equipment for the Martin County Association of Retarded Children's rehabilitation center at Port Salerno and for the club's building fund.

Beginning at 1 p. m. there will be a tour of the estate and at 2:30 p. m. there will be a fashion show at the pool.

Refreshments will be served all afternoon at the Polynesian Hut.

Ed Clay will be master of ceremonies. A gift pavilion and flower and fruit bar will also be attractions at the festival.

Keddie's Bowling In 261 Game

Miss Colette 'Keddie' Dillon, who will marry county commissioner Timer Powers on May 1, bowled a 261 game at Coral Gardens Lanes last Monday.

The game is reported to be the highest game rolled by a woman in Martin County this year. Her set total was 641.

Paul Andrew Colberi, of Jensen Beach, and Evelyn Claire Dumich of Stuart, made the dean's list at the U. of F. for this fall.

A capacity crowd of United Fund workers, officers and donators took part in a Victory celebration last Friday night at Seymour's Inn. A floor show that lasted through most of the evening, door prizes, gifts, dances and general merriment made the event one that will be long remembered by the people of Jensen Beach.

The annual Victory Dance is a ritual of the United Fund, held when the fund drive goes over the top. This year the fund drive went over the top after the first week, passing the $7,500 goal by almost $1,000 at present. The drive chairman was Al Palmer.

Inlet Dredging Is Completed

According to the U.S. Corps of Engineers at Jacksonville, the St. Lucie Inlet dredging project has been completed and that hazards have been eliminated.

Col. H.R. Parfitt, district engineer, said, "The U. S. Coast Guard has been asked to mark the new channel as promptly as possible."

The dredge Two Brothers, left the area last Friday morning after completing the job at a contract price of $34,800.

Charter boat skippers have expressed criticism of the work done at the inlet and said they would go over the area with a fathometer to record the depths and widths of the project as it was left by the contractor.

The dredge is owned and operated by J.D. Fraser & Sons of Fort Lauderdale.

Largest Fair Art Exhibit Is Planned

The art exhibit at the county fair in March will be the largest and best Martin County has ever put on, according to Dorothy Stafford, Chairman of the Art Committee.

The space devoted to the exhibit is four times larger than the space provided in previous years. This has been made possible by the completion of a new exhibition hall at the fair.

Artists, both professional and amateur are invited to exhibit two paintings at the fair. No entry card or fee is required. For further information call any member of the committee; Dorothy Stafford, Lenore Bohner, Justina Pettit or C.A. Spencer.

Are Electric Rates High?

The recent attack on the power companies of Florida by members of the National Rural Electric Cooperatives brings into focus something that has been brewing since the establishment of the REA in the Great Depression.

It is said that once an agency of the Federal Government is established it is impossible to do away with it. The agency people keep finding ways to propogate themselves, enlarge their office and scope, and continue on into infinity. This is what has happened with REA, supposedly designed to make small loans to farmers is to modernize their life in the depression and provide jobs for out-of-work people.

The Great Depression ended with World War Two, and we have since seen unprecedented growth of the electric cooperatives in this nation, a by-product of the REA.

While the privately owned power companies are investing a dollar for the benefit of the people who have their dollars invested in stock, the REA uses low-interest loans of federal funds to grow. While the privately owned electric companies pay taxes, the REA-financed cooperatives do not pay, and are a drain, rather than an asset to the Federal income.

The wheel of progress moves on, and now the cooperatives have challenged the electric companies with the charge that they are "making too much money"! This means that the cooperatives feel absolutely secure in their bureaucratic existance, and are ready to further socialize this nation and make every effort to do away with private initiative, enterprise and investment.

The electric power companies, which includes Florida Power and Light Company, have been forced to defend their station in the state a defense which is not necessary. Regulated by the State of Florida, the Company has a record of which any state may be proud.

Florida Power and Light is owned by little people who buy stock. Men and women, from bellboys to bankers, own two thirs is of the stock. The remainder is in trust funds and joint holdings. The stock is good, and has a history of progress.

Florida Power and Light has kept up with the ever increasing demands of the public by providing four million kilowatts of power, eighteen times the capacity at the end of World War Two, for public use. The company has spent $47 million per year on capital improvements, building and improving facilities. The capital improvement program of FP&L is worth $864,000,000.

In the next five years the company will spend some $488 million on improvements. FP&L is even planning nuclear generating units in Miami which will bring the capacity of that plant to four million kilowatts, at a cost of $450,000,000.

While this goes on, and FP&L builds for the future, the cost of service to the consumer is well under the national average. Also, FP&L has reduced rates seven times in the past eight years.

As a manufacturing plant, the Mirror is well aware of electric costs. In comparison to other states, electric costs to operate a newspaper are lower. The power needed to utilize the full capacity of the presses of the Mirror, and the constant power surge necessary for operation of camera and arc-lamp equipment in the plant places an unusual demand upon the power lines feeding the plant. With the exception of one hurricane, when power was lost for one day throughout the county, the Mirror plant has received the best of power service, at a consistantly low rate, from Florida Power and Light.

As service is provided, Florida Power and Light has problems that do not exist in other areas. For example, the combined qualities of sea air and salt, humidity of the southern air, shipping of fuel from out of state, and the population explosion necessitating the replacement of equipment before the established equipment is amortized or used to its fullest extent, make problems for FP&L and other Florida companies that do not exist elsewhere.

And while this is going on, the customers pay less for power than they do in New York City, Boston, or Austin. And they are paying one half of what they paid for power twenty-five years ago.

Robert H. Fite, president of Florida Power and Light, did not answer the attack of the cooperatives with an attack on them. He gave the facts at a hearing in Miami on January 28. In his talk he said that the only thing the company needs in order to operate effectively is a rate that will return enough money to run the company, provide the services needed, allow the investors a piece of return on their money, and give the company operating capital to make future improvements to meet our growth problems.

What more could any privately owned company ask?

Fite gave the Florida Public Utilities Commission something to think about when he took the three major points of the cooperative attack and showed that they were wrong. His points of truth dealt with "excess earnings" wherein he proved that FP&L needed more than a 6% return on investment, and was still not receiving the maximum allowed; with a rate base used by cooperatives that did not include such major items as construction work in progress and working capital, and with improper depreciation and obsolescence figures that are not based on Florida working conditions.

We can see why the cooperatives, with Big Daddy sitting up in the REA with instant money available, would not consider the basic fundamentals of private enterprise as necessary. They know little about it.

We are certain that the members of the Public Utilities Commission will see the difference between public and private capital.

The rate hearings of the commission will do just really good thing...they will make information available that the public should know. Florida Power and Light, and its sister companies of Florida, has done an outstanding job of keeping abreast with the growth of Florida, with making public employees secure in long-term planning, and has every right to offer private investors a proper return on dollars invested.

Live and Love It.... By DICK CAMPBELL

The Reapportionment Answer

I have watched these so-called great heads of state in the Florida Legislature try to cope with the problem of reapportionment. I had thought to leave them to try to figure it all out. They have not done so.

For what it is worth, I would like to take the great men of Florida off the hook, gentlemen, and I am not hurt that they didn't ask me for my advice on how to settle this problem.

I now offer the Campbell plan for reapportionment of the Florida Legislature. Not only that, but also I offer several plans to choose for consideration.

In order to start with the proper frame of mind, an outline of what we are trying to do is necessary. Our objectives are as follows: First we must reapportion the Legislature of Florida. We do this because of the United States Supreme Court, the League of Women Voters, and because Robert King High wants it.

Recognizing that such prominent bodies necessitate immediate action, we re-organize our machine, and get on with the job.

The First Campbell Plan would make all counties equal. Representation would be based on an overall sixty-seven counties using the same number of representatives and senators, with everyone running on a state-wide ticket. This would, of course, mean a greater expense for the legislators, and we would have to raise their salaries. The increased cost would be borne by a special "Legislature's Tax", to be levied on the automobile speedometers of all metropolitan-driven automobiles. Credit for deduction would be given to car families, with the stipulation that one car must be used exclusively for driving on the big-city freeways. The funds raised, on a basis of perhaps one mill per thousand-miles-driven, would more than cover the cost of the election. Taxation would cut down unnecessary driving on the freeways, thus reducing the number of accidents, the insurance rates, the danger of air pollution, and the growing problem of the numbers of unwed mothers. One can see the possibility in which the girls would certainly represent all the people, running on a statewide ticket. The manifold problems created by Henry Ford in his hack stop can be half a century ago, would be lightened.

The Second Campbell Plan would perhaps be the most acceptable to both the big city and small county blocs. It is based upon the principle of one man one vote, as passed into law by the United States Supreme Court. No longer would the "pork-choppers" grin their evil grins as they wipe the greasy fatback off their lips after dipping into the sowbelly-hominy grits in the barrel. This would make all men equal...white, colored, Jew, Catholic, Methodist, members of the Jensen Beach Community Church, and Robert King High.

First we would use the 1960 census as a guide. The census of the United States Government is unimpeachable, and since they are running things around here now, we must use their figures and not the figures of estimated population of 1964.

Using the smallest county in the state as a guide, with 2,868 population in Gilchrist County, we will give each county one representative for every 2,868 in population. This would mean that Martin County would have five representatives, Dade County, with 935,047 people would have 340 representatives. The little thought of mention in the state constitution making it mandatory for all counties to have representation in the Legislature would make this a great blow for freedom, and for the equal representation all counties want. No longer would the small counties vote pine trees instead of people. Miami mayor Robert King High would get his gravy and would be able to run for governor, and probably be elected if all his legislators would vote for him in a bloc.

We could then call the Legislature of Florida in assembly in the Orange Bowl, thus cutting costs of government...no lights, no air-conditioning, and have everybody use the public rest rooms. It would be like to old Roman Forum. We could give the popcorn and orange juice concession to the Florida Development Commission.

I seriously think that we should give the big cities their representation. Follow that with new districts set up by Senatorial command, on the same level, with one senator for every congressional district, to run with the congressmen. Congressmen would run on a statewide basis, and senators would run on a district basis. We would then have a small, twelve man Senate.

I do not propose these two very serious plans without a small mental reservation. The possibility of grief on the part of the Florida Development Commission in the orange juice concession makes it imperative that all efforts be made to set up a board of orange juice concession control.

To placate the North Florida counties, who would lose so much, especially having to travel the turnpike to the Orange Bowl, we would give the concession for sales of pine trees, because they've got to sell them if they can't vote them.

And there you have it. Known as the Campbell Plan, these outstanding pieces of reapportionment outlined above offer a panacea to the troubled waters of our Legislature. No, don't hand me bouquets...I think of it as my contribution to the Great Society. Let no man in our land be denied the right to vote.

LETTERS To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

No sailor's fact can be truly controverted by weasel words of tricky lawyers. A homeowners domicile has long been regarded and recognized as real property. Since houses and trailers serve identical purposes both belong in the same category, real property, not personal property. To declare otherwise is a flagrant abuse of truth. The recent ruling by the Florida Supreme Court is a child of perdition born of greed and shorn of justice.

When laws enacted by our duly elected representatives can be abrogated, subverted and distorted by the very men sworn to uphold and interpret them, dictatorship is peeking around the corner. Law by decree is tyranny. It is high time to call a halt to usurpation by the judiciary of the powers and prerogatives that rightfully belong to other branches of government.

Yours truly,
Ralph A'well

TO THE EDITOR:

I am replying to your editorial of last week. I agree with everything you say, but I am only a minority. For a small restaurant, whose volume of business is erratic, it would be too big a loss and waste to have freshly squeezed orange juice, unless it is delivered every day. Now if you could only get the citrus growers to deliver freshly squeezed orange juice every day, I am sure it would benefit all concerned.

Sincerely yours,
Sma'l Restaurant Owner

Editor's Note: Freshly squeezed orange juice is available from Lentz Groves on US 1, or from most other citrus growers pere-ambouts. Lentz Groves even furnishes the containers. Proper display and promotion of fresh citrus products can bring about greater sales, too.

TO THE EDITOR:

How delighted I was when I received a marked copy of the Jensen Beach Mirror sent by Mr. Raymond Rice of The Lodge On The Green. Inside I found you had given my husband and I and my book attention in the form of an article. It was very nice of you--and so appreciated.

I have worked for newspapers and radio in the past and have several novels in various stages but could no longer work on them. I hope to get back to them--but in the meantime poetry "asserts itself".

If there are any persons reading your paper who are interested they can obtain autographed copies directly from me.

My husband and I hope to make a longer visit there next year. Perhaps even eventually own a piece of property and "winter" there.

Thank you again and may I please have four of the January 21 issue sent to me? Mr. Fisher would like a clipping as well as friends. (Enclosed is fifty cents.)

Sincerely,
Mirabelle C. Davis
(Mrs. David J. Tulbault)

Fresh Citrus Campaign Gets Underway

In State To Sell Florida First

A glass of orange juice and a grapefruit half may become new symbols of hospitality to millions of Florida's tourists.

That is the objective of the Florida Citrus Commission and of its "Sell Florida First" program, which is aimed at increased demand for and availability of citrus fruit and juices.

"The basic idea of the program is to supply visitors to the state with some of the citrus which they see growing in such abundance and with which they automatically associate any mention of the name of the state," said Hal Gardner of the Commission staff, who is directing the "Sell Florida First" program. "These people enter Florida looking for citrus trees and fruit and juice. The Commission, through this project, plans to have citrus available in all leading restaurants, hotels and motels."

The program was initiated in 1963 and was administered by a private publicity agency until last summer, when the Commission voted to assign the project to its own staff. One of the first moves, Gardner said, was to drop participation in a number of ingredient-promotional ideas, and to concentrate on "O.J." (orange juice)-and fresh fruit tie-ins with hotel and restaurant tourist promotions.

The primary aim of the program is to make orange juice--whether squeezed, chilled or concentrated--abundantly available at reasonable prices at all public food dispensing establishments, and to make a half of a grapefruit and citrus specialty dishes a daily feature on the menus of Florida hotels and restaurants during the winter tourist season. "In addition, we would like to see complimentary glasses of orange juice offered guests by all hotels and motels in creating a morning or afternoon 'O.J.' break. We hope that these many establishments, which are now featuring complimentary coffee in the mornings, will include 'O.J.' in this complimentary service."

The cooperation of the many news media in Florida will be sought in an effort to educate every tourist entering the state to expect to find real Florida orange juice and a half of a grapefruit ready for them at all leading restaurants, hotels and motels," Gardner declared. To do this, he said, the Commission hopes to enlist the aid of the lodging and food trades in making citrus fruit and juices readily available.

"We have mailed form letters to all officials of local and state restaurant, hotel and motel associations, in an effort to secure the fullest cooperation for our program. In addition, we have contacted representatives of airlines and railroads and their catering firms with the same plan."

Gardner said the mailings included a catalogue of merchandising materials which the Commission has prepared in support of the program. These include decals which can be placed on doors, announcing that fresh Florida citrus and "O.J." are served each day, back bar strips, menu riders, table tents, place mats, and plaques, which can be framed and placed on walls. Menu suggestions and recipes also will be mailed.

"The Commission also plans to present 'award' certificates to all participating organizations."

The current program calls for expanded promotions during the January-April and June-August periods when Florida normally enjoys the largest influx of tourists.

Gardner explained that the program also would include a Chef's Citrus Dish of the Week Competition, which is directed toward encouraging hotel and restaurant chefs in the creation of appealing and colorful new citrus fruit dishes. "We expect to receive entries from chefs in the leading restaurants, hotels and motels in this event and we are planning to place the winning recipes in a folder for complimentary distribution to tourists and residents."

"This is a worthwhile promotion which deserves the full support of all leading establishments in Florida," Gardner said. "Too long tourists have been coming into the state and ordering citrus drinks and juices, only to be informed that citrus wasn't on the menu. This program is aimed at putting citrus on the menu and at prices that everyone can afford. Chambers of commerce have heard too many complaints in the past about not being able to obtain citrus in an area where more citrus is grown than anywhere else in the world. It is this so-called image that we hope to erase, with the cooperation of the food dispensing establishments and the many news media interested in improving the picture of Florida which tourists take back home with them."

Tentative plans call for awards for wining recipes to be made during the annual convention of the Florida Restaurant Association April 11 at the Robert Meyer Motel in Orlando.

Among those recently registered at the Lodge on the Green were: Mr. & Mrs. G.F. Waples of Rehoboth Beach, Delaware; Mr. & Mrs. Leroy M. Sturges of Hartsdale, New York; Sara Jackson of Washington, D. C.; Mr. & Mrs. Leo Jungles of Aurora, Ill.; Mr. & Mrs. C.M. Mergott, Plainfield, New Jersey;

Costume Ball Feature Of Sandy Shoes

The ball, which is sponsored by the Fort Pierce Arts Club, will be held on February 27th at the U.S. Armory.

Highlight of the evening will be the crowning of Miss Sandy Shoes

Prizes in the form of oil paintings will be given away to the couples displaying the most unique costume or picturesque ones.

Red Cross Sewing Group To Meet

Mrs. William Vaught, director of the Volunteer Sewers of the American Red Cross has announced that a great deal of sewing was accomplished at the meeting on Thursday, February 4th and several new members joined the group.

Mrs. Vaught said there is still much to be done in order to meet this year's quota and those interested are invited on the 18th of this month at 10 a. m. at the Legion Home in Jensen Beach. Bring a sack lunch and a beverage will be served.

She is a student at Indian River Junior College in Fort Pierce at the present time.

Your Social Security

By: R. C. Gehrken, Jr.,
District Manager
West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. Is there any limit as to how many people in a family can draw from one social security account?

A. There is no limit on the number of people. However, there is a limit on the total amount which may be paid from any one account. This must be divided if there are several people who draw checks.

Q. Can a divorced wife ever draw from her deceased husband's social security account?

A. She can if he was supporting her under a court order or agreement when he died, and she is caring for a child who'll draw from her account.

Q. In arriving at the $1200 I may earn in a year before losing some of my social security checks, do I count only take-home pay, or the gross wages?

A. Count the gross! If you're self-employed, however, count the net profit from your business.

For further information on your social security problems, contact the Social Security office at 701 South Dixie Highway, West Palm Beach (open from 8:30 to 4:00, Monday through Friday), or their Field Representative at the County Welfare Office in Stuart, Mondays only, 9 to 12.

Rogers Bill Would Hit Red Cargos

Congressman Paul Rogers of Florida's 6th District introduced legislation to curb U.S. allies shipping to Cuba.

"Not only have our allies been sending their ships to Castro's island," Rogers said in a speech to the House, "but ships from Britain Greece, Lebanon, Norway), and the Netherlands have been supplying communist North Viet Nam."

The Florida Congressman, a member of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, the House panel which has jurisdiction over U.S. maritime activities, noted that the bulk of non-communist shipping to Red countries was carried on by British ships, some of which may sail direct from Red China to Cuba and Viet Nam.

"The world has just witnessed the passing of a great British statesman, Sir Winston Churchill," Rogers said. "Although it was Churchill who first warned of the dangers of world communism, the England he governed now aids the Reds. The British merchant marine, once under Churchill when he served as First Lord of the Admiralty, now serves communism by transporting their profitable cargos."

Congressman Rogers then recalled Churchill's pleas for the United States to aid Britain in the early days of World War II, and said that by contrast today's U.S. requests for an end to British shipping to Cuba have thus far gone unnoticed.

"In 1941, when Britain was enlisting U.S. help in the War, Churchill stated, '...the action of the United States will be dictated not by the methodical calculations of profit and loss, but by moral sentiment...'

"The Congress must incite the moral sentiments of Britain now to halt these ships aiding communism!" Rogers urged the House.

Feb. Is Roll Call Month For Florida Nurses Ass'n

Governor Haydon Burns has proclaimed the month of February as Florida Nurses' Association Roll Call month throughout the State of Florida. The goal of roll call is to enlist the interest and support of every professional registered nurse in order to strengthen the nursing profession, the professional membership organization and the individual member of the association.

During the period of roll call, February 1 through February 28, local nurses will work to contact all prospective members to tell them about the association and its objectives. The association now numbers over 5,000 of Florida's registered nurses.

The purpose of the Florida Nurses' Association is to provide a professional organization that will work to foster high standards of nursing practice and to improve the economic security of registered nurses to the end that all citizens and visitors to Florida may have the best nursing care.

Directing the roll call drive in Stuart will be Mrs. Eleanor Aekermann, R.N. Others who will be working on contact and information will be Mrs. Judy Rastrille, R.N., and Mrs. Sara Timon, R.N.

As added impetus to Governor Burns' proclaimation, Mayor William Todt had proclaimed the month of February as Florida Nurses' Association roll call month in Stuart.

J. Ed Straugh, Director of the Florida Revenue Commission, said that January sales and use tax collections were the highest for a single month in the history of the tax.

Straughn reported an increase of 13.59 per cent over the same month last year. "The record increase is due to an excellent tourist season

City Government Change Being Studied In Stuart

It was learned Thursday that officials of the City of Stuart are studying a possible change in the city government.

The change has been spoken of in the past but the new study is being made with the possible intent of asking Sen. Irlo Bronson and Rep. William C. Owens to introduce special local legislation this spring to permit the change in the city charter this year.

With the change, each seat on the commission would be named by number or other designation, and candidates would seek election to specific seats.

There would be 5 districts involved and candidates would run as they do now, on a city-wide basis.

Three seats would be open on any specified year, two the following, as now. Elections would be on a non-partisan basis.

However, candidates would not run in a mass with the highest vote getters as winners.

Under the proposed change, hopeful candidates would file directly for the seat of their choice. The seats, would class the contestants, not the entire commission. A proposed candidate wishing to challenge any of the incumbents seeking re-election would write so when filing papers for the position.

John Stoutenburgh Guest Speaker At Kiwanis Luncheon

John L. Stoutenburgh, new director of the local museum, spoke at the Kiwanis luncheon meeting held at the Sunrise Inn on Thursday.

Stoutenburgh said the museums needed to be "sold" to the public if they were to grow in the community.

He contended that museums "shouldn't be quiet, dark, stuffy places. They should be modern and have new things and still reflect the past eras."

He said he felt more publicity was needed so that the public would be informed as to what is going on at the museums. He added that the public should understand that attendance is not limited to paid members, but is open to everyone who may be interested.

Stoutenburgh said he felt his job was "a challenge" and plans to make some "changes for the good."

Jay H. Mans, bridge instructor at the Stuart Youth Center, announced that the first session of night time bridge instructions would be held on February 25. He urged early registration since only 12 students can be accepted. The course is for 12 weeks and a total of 25 hours.

Other high scorers were Mr. and Mr. T.D. Kelly, 104; Mrs. Geraldine Krueger and Mrs. Jackie Pritsel, 95 1/2; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathes, 76.

FEC Granted Extension To File For Re-Hearing

The Florida East Coast railway has been granted a 15 day extension to file a petition for a re-hearing of the grade crossing case won by Martin County by the Florida Supreme Court.

The railroad was also granted permission to change attorneys in the case. The law firm of Parker, Jordan and Madigan of Tallahassee will replace John B. L'Engle and A gus Sumner who have handled the case for the past three years.

The court ruled that Martin County could take by eminent domain the land needed for a grade crossing at Alice Avenue, in Rio and that the railroad had to bear the cost of proper warning signals at the crossing.

The FEC has said it would take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary and the petition for a re-hearing was indicative of plans to set up the appeal to Federal courts.

The Jensen Beach Square Club and Wimodisis meeting will be held on Friday night, February 12 at 8 p. m. at the Jensen Beach Community Center.

Mr. Gerald Grace will show pictures and refreshments will be served.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mrs. Lewis Dailey of Jensen Beach announces the engagement of her daughter, Betsy, to William C. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Smith of Panama City, Florida. Mr. Smith is presently employed at Andy Pittman's Gulf Service Station. No date has been set for the wedding.

City Government Change Being Studied In Stuart

It was learned Thursday that officials of the City of Stuart are studying a possible change in the city government.

The change has been spoken of in the past but the new study is being made with the possible intent of asking Sen. Irlo Bronson and Rep. William S. Owens to introduce special local legislation this spring to permit the change in the city charter this year.

With the change, each seat on the commission would be manned by member or other designated, and candidates would seek election to specific seats.

There would be two Districts involved and candidates would run as they do now, on a city-wide basis.

Three seats would be open on any specified year, two the following, as now. Elections would be on a non-partisan basis.

However, candidates would not run in a mass with the highest vote getters as winners.

Under the proposed change, hopeful candidates would file directly for the seat of their choice. The seats, would draw the constants, not the entire commission. A proposed candidate wishing to challenge any of the incumbents seeking re-election would state so when filing papers for deposition.

John Stoutenburgh Guest Speaker At Kiwanis Luncheon

John L. Stoutenburgh, new director of the local museum, spoke at the Kiwanis luncheon meeting held at the Sunrise Inn on Thursday.

Stoutenburgh said the museums needed to be "sold" to the public if they were to grow in the community.

He contended that museums "shouldn't be quiet, dark, stuffy places. They should be modern and have new things and still reflect the past eras."

He said he felt more publicity was needed so that the public would be informed as to what is going on at the museums. He added that the public should understand that attendance is not limited to paid members, but is open to everyone who may be interested.

Stoutenburgh said he felt his job was "a challenge" and plans to make some changes for the good."

Voter Registration Drive Underway

Mrs. Isabel Evans, supervisor of registration, in an unusual off election year move, has set up a complete registration drive in all parts of Martin County.

The scheduled days for registration will start Feb. 26th and 27th at Port Salerno fire station and will continue through March 31 in one part of the county after another until all precincts are covered.

Mrs. Evans said Monday she was putting in full days and sometimes weekends in an effort to correct, complete or otherwise bring registration records up to par.

In the month drive, which Mrs. Evans said she wanted to obtain 100 percent proper and correct registration throughout the county,

"If you are not a registered voter, now is your chance to register," said Mrs. Evans.

She will ask for correct precinct registration, address changes, name changes, registration of freeholders.

Old registration cards can be replaced if worn out and any questions about the eligibility to vote can be cleared up at that time and proper registration by anyone who would co-operate toward that end.

Mrs. Evans has been keeping her office at the court house annex open from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. on weekdays and has been making special appointments for those who have found it inconvenient to call between those hours.

Her schedule throughout the county includes the following, after the opening of the tour at Port Salerno: Mar. 2nd - 3rd, Palm City fire house; March 4th, Tropical Farms at Jack James' building; March 5th - 6th, West Stuart at the Stuart Tackle and Marine; March 12th - 13th, East Stuart at the fire station; Mar. 15th, Jensen Beach at the community center; March 16th, Rio, at the civic center; March 18th, Sewall's Point, Town Hall;

Tagged Bluefish Wasn't A Schlitz

For a while Tuesday, Henry Schetzel, of New Haven, Conn., thought he had caught a two pound bluefish with a Schlitz tag. Prizes in the contest run from $25 to $10,000.

He landed the fish from the Indian River Bridge. When he checked with the proper authorities, he found that the fish was tagged by the Sandy Hook Laboratory in Highland New Jersey. The firm tags fish to determine the habits and breeding of the blues.

The lab offered a return reward for the fish on that tag, but it will be worth about $1.50, rather than a fortune.

Schetzel is staying in Rio at George Curran's on Martin Blvd.

Hospital Staggers Under Indigent Patient Care

According to Evans Crary, Jr., chairman of the Martin Memorial Hospital Board, the hospital is staggering under the cost of caring for charity patients.

Crary said Wednesday that the hospital gave 1,808 days of hospital care to charity patients certified as emergencies at a total cost of $61,562 but absorbed a loss of $23,893 in doing it.

Crary said the hospital also took a $70,000 loss last year for bad debts in addition to the indigent loss.

St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach has notified the county it will accept no more patients from Martin County unless they are able to pay.

"Larger counties have county hospitals, completely supported by county taxes, to which charity patients are sent. Most counties pay the cost of charity patients in full," Crary said.

Martin Memorial, he said, operates solely on what it earns, plus some $20,000 a year in gifts and partial payments for its charity cases.

He said the county can levy up to four mills to pay for the hospital care of the poor, but levies only one-tenth mill, which last year amounted to $11,184.

The county refuses to pay for obstetrical cases, although such cases cost the hospital $7,710 last year.

"In the event county funds continue to be insufficient to meet needs, we will ask for permissive legislation setting up a hospital tax district in Martin County similar to those in Vero Beach, Pahokee and Okeechobee, so that we may levy millage sufficient to offset the hospital's cost of caring for the poor.

"If we could take only paying patients, we would be in good financial condition. If we could send the charity patients to a county hospital, for example, the taxpayers and not the hospital itself would bear the entire cost.

"But we are the community's only hospital. We must give care to all, and the best of care and that is what we intend to continue to do.

"We will continue as a voluntary, non-profit hospital as long as we can. We will...and do... strongly request the county to bear the full cost of charity patients who do not qualify under any existing charity program," said Crary.

"Exploring Books" Discussion Tonight

The Martin County Library Association is having the second of its "Exploring Books" discussion meetings, Thursday, February 18th at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs Harold O. Wooley as the moderator.

"The View of All the Russias" by Laurens Van der Post is being reviewed by Miss Helen L. Gundell. This is a very interesting and perceptive record of an extraordinary tour told most eloquently by the author who made the tour.

"The Great Auk" by Allan W. Eckert is an exciting narrative of the lives of these flightless birds, now extinct and is being reviewed by Mrs. W. Ira Williams.

Mrs. Stephen Schmidt is reviewing "This Rough Magic" by Mary Stewart. This is an exciting mystery story.

"The Long White Night" by Katherine Scherman is set in the Arctic telling of the difficulties of the older Eskimos to keep to their own ways. Mrs. Hugh L. Willoughby Jr., is reviewing this.

Everybody interested is invited to attend and to enter the discussion afterwards.

Newsome Resigns As Town Manager Of Sewalls Point

H.W. Newsome who has been serving as town manager of Sewalls Point for the past year has resigned.

Newsome, a former official in the Virginia Game and Fish Commission and a member of the Outdoor Writers Ass'n. of America, said there "just wasn't enough work to warrant keeping a manager."

Newsome, with no show of regret at losing the job said, "I didn't come down here to work anyway."

He also added, "The town just isn't big enough to warrant the position, and there's not enough to do."

Mayor J. A. Marquette said Thursday that the town had voted to build a $2,800 addition to the town hall with Charles Duryea as contractor.

FCD Hearings This Week

Boatsmen as well as everyone interested in the enhancement of outdoor recreation were urged to attend one of the three hearings set for this week by FCD according to William R. Scott, local member of the governing Board of Central and Southern Fla. Flood Control District.

The hearings will be concerned with a study of boat locks, lifts, to by-pass spillways and dams on canals in the FCD layout.

The hearings will be held at Cocoa, 10 a.m. today at the Brevard County agricultural center; at Kissimmee, 10 a.m. Wed., and at Fort Lauderdale, at the Broward County Commission chambers, at 9:30 a.m. Thurs.

Scott said Congress has appropriated $16,000 to start the small boat study, after years of urging by FCD.

Hundreds of miles of presently land-locked canals could be opened up for navigation to and from the Intracoastal Waterway if the Corps study proves favorable, he said.

T.R. (Tommy) Tomlinson, 45, Melbourne Beach, who was appointed last week to succeed Stan Koller of Melbourne on the FCD board, is expected to be on hand for the hearings.

Gov. Haydon Burns named Tomlinson, a Brevard County businessman with a strong background in real estate and industrial development, to serve three years.

In prestige of ownership in a private waterfront colony with a distinguished address.

In profit by buying land today at prices that prevailed 10 years ago.

In convenience of living within a few minutes of everything a modern city can offer.

The tremendous new growth in Martin County since 1960 has made us the third fastest growing county in the entire state. A nicely balances economy of industry, agriculture and tourism has brought thousands of highly paid engineers and technicians to our area, boosting our per capita income as well as our population.

U.S. 1 which has now been four-laned and beautified was one of the prime tasic improvements needed in paving the way for the phenomenal growth we are now experiencing. It gave Stuart a real face lifting as well as promoting more than a dozen new business and commercial enterprises.

A-1-A on Hutchinson Island which is now under construction will give us a scenic ocean boulevard, even now widely publicized as the Buccaneer Trail. It will certainly open Hutchinson Island to tourist attractions such as motels, restaurants and so forth. These facilities will play a tremendous role in attracting thousands to our beautiful beaches of which many will buy and eventually settle here in our emexcelled waterfront playground.

The central water system now being installed to the island also ties in with this newest of Martin County's assets.

You are viewing a blue print of progress with more positive growth factors existing at this moment than have ever been laid out prior to a population explosion in any of the gigantic growth cities of the lower east coast. They grew strictly due to the ideal Gold Coast climate which we also enjoy and their population was build on retirees, tourism and people to serve them. Here in Martin County we have a two way growth potential, that of industry as well as being the next logical step for tourism and retirees for the growth from the south has utilized all choice properties from Miami to the Palm Beaches.

You can readily see that you are in the right place and this is the right time!

NAACP Protests Integration Plan

A protest from the NAACP has caused the Martin County school board to wonder whether the U.S. Dept. of Health, Welfare and Education will accept the board's plan for desegregation as submitted through the State Dept. of Education.

Supt. of Schools, Thomas L. Crook, received the telegram of protest from Robert W. Sanders, field director of the NAACP at Tampa.

Seven counties have been ordered to integrate by the courts. Martin County was one of the four counties in Florida which moved quickly to submit a plan for desegregation shortly after the Civil Rights Law became effective January 3.

Wacha Defends Policies On Indigent Patient Pay

County Commission Chairman Frank A. Wacha charged local Republicans with releasing a "good deal of misinformation" when they petitioned for added funds for indigent care at Martin Memorial Hospital.

Wacha made these remarks after Tuesday's county commission meeting when David Meider submitted a petition from the Republican Executive Committee, the Young Republican Club and the Republican Woman's Club of Martin County to the commission requesting the commission to raise the millage designated for the hospital from .10 to .85 mills.

Meider said, "This would enable the hospital to remain a voluntary, non-profit humanitarian institution."

The hospital, and St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach have both complained that county payments for indigents fail to meet the bills submitted. St. Mary's has refused to accept patients from Martin County unless they are on a paying basis until new arrangements have been made.

Wacha said that the county does not assess .10 mill for the hospital, but instead raised funds on the basis of 50 cents per head of population under a state statute.

He charged that the state has failed in recent years to match the funds as required, but instead, now raised only about 25 cents per head.

Wacha, who is an accountant as well as a member of the hospital board said, "Four different methods of getting money to the hospital are used".

He said last year, $1,200 in monthly payments of $100 each went for the mental room at the hospital from the county; $248,70 from a special general welfare fund; $4,046.80 from the head tax, plus $3,183 from the state and $11,000 in the HB 1041 hospital account.

"All of this had to be spent for county residents alone," he said.

He pointed out that the HB 1041 account had been raised to $15,000 in the 1964-65 budget.

Wacha said, "Martin Memorial Hospital is guaranteed $18,000 this year".

Mobile Home Taxes Low

Taxes on mobile homes in Florida will still be lower than in many states if the new personal property tax is implemented, according to Freed Silvers, President of Jensen Trailer Sales, who spoke to the Lion's Club last Wednesday night at Seymours Inn.

Silvers pointed to taxes on the average $5,000 mobile home in several states. California has a tax of $200, New York a tax of $126.

At the present plan to assess mobile homes at $17 per thousand dollars value, and a $3,000 assessed value on a $5,000 mobile home, the tax would be only $51 a year, Silvers said. "That is still a low tax" he added.

Silvers said that the community area of Jensen Beach and Stuart owes much of its growth to mobile homes, either directly or indirectly. He pointed to the fact that many people came to this area in mobile homes, or bought them on arrival to stay. They later moved into larger mobile homes, and many into homes built here.

"One mobile home park in the area", said Silvers, "keeps more than $1,000 on hand to cash checks of the residents. $1,000 a day average is used to cash checks and money orders. That much money is spent in our area by visitors and winter residents and our full time mobile home residents."

Zoning Is On Junk

The Martin County commission adopted a new zoning use last Tuesday at its regular meeting and also set up a 10-acre salvage yard on application by Henry Grien of Port Salerno.

The county zoning and planning board recommended the new use district at its February 18 meeting to take care of a lapse in the county's zoning code, which made no provision for controlled junk yards.

Commissioner Jack Saunderson told the commission the new yard will be located between Cove and Salerno Roads and would be accessible from established roads.

There will be three ribbons for each group, blue for first place, red for second, and white for third. A rosette will be awarded for "Best of Show". A group of artists from Ft. TONY ROMANO

Tony Romano Of Hollywood To Appear At Outrigger Restaurant

By Zola Swarthout

One of this nation's top guitarist-singer, actor, composer and arranger, Tony Romano of Hollywood, will make guest appearances at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant.

Mr. Romano, a close friend of Miss Frances Langford, has also been associated with her and her career for 25 years.

He is actually on his honeymoon as he married Miss Lynne Collette of Hollywood on Feb. 8 in Las Vegas.

Tony Romano will start his personal appearances at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant Tuesday, February 23 at 9:30 p.m. He will do 3 shows nightly, at 9:30, 10:45 and Midnight. Frances and her husband, Ralph Evinrude will attend his opening.

His long and distinguished career started in 1932 at the age of 14 when he played with Al Pearce and Morey Amsterdam in San Francisco. He stayed with the radio show for eight years.

Romano with Mable Todd and Amsterdam did the first testing of TV shows in 1932 in Hollywood for KHJ a CBS affiliate.

His motion picture career started with Twentieth Century-Fox, then he made pictures with RKO where he sang and played the guitar. He starred with Katherine Hepburn and Herbert Marshall.

He next signed with Warner Brothers as a vocal arranger, sang and coached Ann Sheridan, Dennis Morgan, Jack Carson and Janice Paige.

Romano's ambition and first love was music. He wrote a song with Morey Amsterdam, "Plain Ole' Me", which was introduced on the Lucky Strike Hit Parade.

He has written 250 songs and has many #1it records to his credit.

Among the top is "If You Were My Girl", recorded by Perry Como; "While You're Young", recorded by Johnny Mathis.

Tony's biggest hit was, "Stars Fell On Alabama".

Recordings made with Frances Langford with his credits include "Some Day", "Hold Me In Your Arms", "Where Are You From", "The Dickersons", and Miss Langford's latest hit, "Frances Langford Sings Old Songs For Old Friends." Romano conducted, did the vocal arrangements, composed the background music and sang parts.

Other pictures Tony Romano appeared in include "Adventures of Don Juan" with Errol Flynn, Ida Lupino and Robert Aida; "Purple Heart Diary", "Radio Stars on Parade", and "Hollywood Hotel", all starring Miss Frances Langford.

Romano wrote the musical score, acted and played the guitar in the United Artist film, "Robbers Roost", with George Montgomery and Richard Boone.

Among the many TV appearances and shows he did included "Frances Langford Presents"; "Maverick", with James Garner; "Lawman", with John Russell, and "Oh, Susannah", with Gale Storm.

Tony Romano has spent the past year writing American folk songs with Paul Frees, who does 75 percent of voice commercials. Three of his songs will be recorded by Capitol Records by Frankie Laine.

The songs are "A Girl"; "I'll Never Pass This Way Again", and "All But One".

Romano also just wrote two songs with Frankie Laine. One of the songs was written for Al Martino. The songs include "My Lonely Heart", and "Quick Silver Woman".

He also wrote a Bossa Nova song and Sammy Kahn is writing the lyrics.

Tony first met Frances Langford when she joined the Bob Hope Show on the shows first trip to the Aleutian Islands.

He became a part of the famous show which traveled more than a million airmiles to present the Bob Hope Show to every fighting front. The shows included Bob Hope, Frances, Tony, Jerry Colonna and Patty Thomas.

"There never was a performer like Fran", said Tony Romano. "She was equal to anything, anyplace".

"Her voice is better today than ever and she sings with the same excitement as when she was in active show business," he continued.

Romano said his most unforgettable experience with the Bob Hope Show happened in New Guinea.

"I was on stage and singing and heard a shot near by..I looked at the guys and said, "Call me a cab"...

I was told later that a Jap sniper was in a near by tree, a GI saw him and shot him. I told Bob that I thought he heard me singing and shot himself."

"We are so fortunate in having a star like Tony Romano come to the Outrigger", said Ed Lawrance, general manager. I tried to find him for a week.. then discovered he was poised halfway between Los Vegas and Hollywood..getting married."

There is some one else at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant who will welcome Tony and Frances..with mixed emotions.

He is Maitre' d Bob Tourelle, who has served in that capacity for three years at the Outrigger.

In the late part of 1943, he was in a quonset hut hospital on the island "Engbe", in the South Pacific.

Tourelle was a signalman in the Navy and had been assigned to the Marine Corp. in planning and charting the coastal areas prior to Guam's invasion.

He was recovering from an appendectomy and rheumatic fever in the tiny island's hospital.

And the Bob Hope Show turned up in the thick of things, with Bob, Frances Langford, Tony Romano, Jerry Colonna and Patty Thomas.

"I'll never forget Frances Langford", said Bob Tourelle. She sang "You'd Be So Nice To Come Home To".

It was a long ago dream that brought me from that meeting with her and Tony Romano to Frances Langford's home right here in Jensen Beach.

"And I'll be especially proud to be the maitre' d in Frances's Outrigger when Tony Romano makes his personal appearances.", said Bob.

Brown Drowns When Boat Overturns

Paul Brown, 68, of South Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach, drowned in the ocean south of St. Lucie Inlet when the 17-foot open outboard boat from which he was fishing was overturned by a ground swell breaking over the reef.

A companion of Brown, Marvin Ireland, 72, of the same address, was pulled from the waters between the reef and a bar, by Charles R. LeConte, 70, of Third Ave., Port Salerno, who went to his rescue after an unidentified small craft fisherman told him of the accident.

The body of Brown was found Friday afternoon by Police Patrolman, Tom Wethington, at Blowing Rocks some 15 miles south of where Brown went into the water.

The discovery was made about 22 hours after the accident. Ireland apparently clung to the boat with Brown for some time, but Brown became the victim of an apparent heart attack. Ireland then held him close to the drifting boat for a while, but tired and was forced to let the body drift away from him.

The Jensen Beach Square Club and Winodosis will hold their annual dinner at the Ride-A-Way Restaurant (formerly Dorsal's) on Route 76, Friday evening, February 26 at 6:00 sharp.

A games party follows. Reservations are closed already.

LEAVES FOR MADAME PRESIDENT--Mrs. "Mike" Hickman, president of the Fort Pierce Arts Club, poses with what will be her costume for the annual Beaux Arts Ball, set for Saturday night, February 27, at the armory in Fort Pierce. The event will start at nine p.m. and will feature the music of "Art Potteroff's Garter Snappers", according to Mrs. Hickman. Also, April Jurkowski, strolling minstrel, will be featured. Prizes for original costumes will be awarded at the BYOB party, and if the leaves pictured above are any criterion, this will be another outstanding costume fete. Miss Ft. Pierce will be selected from 10 candidates at the ball. Those not coming in costume are requested to dress semi-formal, Mrs. Hickman said.

Treasure May Be Displayed

Ray M. Cooke, president of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce said that part of the state's share of salvaged treasure may soon be on display at one of the local museums.

Cooke said that he had requested Robert C. Parker, director of the Internal Improvement Fund to allow the Martin County Historical Society to have such a display.

In reply, Cooke was told that at the present time the trustees were in the process of formulating a new policy

humanity's link with GOD

This is the link which can never be broken. Human progress depends on it. Sometimes, it's only a whisper in thought--but it grows gradually into a deeper wisdom, an awareness of the presence and love of God. Many have seen its tangible evidence in the form of Christian healing. Hear this public lecture, "Humanity's Link With God" by - GEITH A PLIMMER, of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Vol. 5 No. 9 | Jensen Beach, Florida 33457 | March 4, 1965

THRILL THRONGS---A crowd estimated at between 3,000 and 5,000 cheering enthusiasts jammed the south side of the Jensen Beach causeway Sunday to witness a series of outboard races, the first ever sponsored here by the American Power Boat Association. Shown here are a tiny portion of the crowd and some of the fleet craft that entertained them.

Seek Bids On New Jensen Post Office

The Post Office Department is seeking competitive bids to build and lease the new post office at Jensen Beach, Flocida 33457, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski announced.

The purpose of competitive bidding, Mr. Gronouski said, is to encourage the most attractive and economical offer to the Government in line with President Johnson's economy program to achieve the best possible postal service at the least possible cost.

Under the Department's Lease Construction program, the site selected at the Southeast corner of Ricou Road and Palmetto Avenue, will be assigned to the successful bidder, who will purchase the property, construct the building according to departmental specifications and lease it to the Post Office Department for a basic period of ten years, with four 5-year renewal options.

The Department's capital investment will be limited substantially to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

Bidding documents may be obtained from Mr. Edward Leven, Real Estate Officer, P.O. Box 751, Biscayne Annex, Room 201, Miami, Florida, 33152. The Real Estate Officer will supply bidding forms, building specifications, lease provisions and other information. Bids must be submitted to the Real Estate Officer by March 2? 1965.

United Fund Board Allocates '65 Funds

The Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund Assoc.'s executive board met at its president, Dick Campbell's home and allocated nearly $7,500 to participating agencies.

The 1965 goal of $7,500 was met in one week's drive. There are funds and anticipated amounts still uncollected. The balance will go in the community emergency account.

"An amount of $500 was set aside for the Friendly Hearts Club of Mars Hill, which group is in the process of organizing a Mars Hill Civic Club. The object of that club is to construct a community center in Mars Hill.

Although no amount was named, the JB-R UF will look into the feasibility of organizing a Visiting Nurses Association for the Jensen Beach-Rio area.

Named as chairman was Zola Swarthout. Committee members are Marion Tschischeck, Martin Wahl and Mardee St. Clair.

If such an association and services of a visiting nurse proves feasible, the United Fund will partially support such service.

The possible organization of a nursing service is in line with United Fund's policies. The organizers of JB-Rio United Fund started the Martin County Association for Mental Health.

For the first time, since the United Fund was started here in 1958, all agencies receiving funds are required to sign affidavits which prohibits soliciting funds or advertising by person or letter to any person or business or organization in the Jensen Beach-Rio area for one year.

Two agencies, which participates in the United Fund, solicited for ads. This is contrary to the association's by-laws.

Agencies and amounts allocated include the Samaritans, (Free ambulance), $1,000; Jensen Beach Community Center, $1,400. An extra $200 was given to paint the center.

American Red Cross, $1,000; Mental Health, $800; Girl Scouts, $500; Retarded Children, $510; Animal Rescue League, $500; Crippled Children & Adults, $450; Langford Park Association, $400.

Local Scouting groups, $100; Boy Scouts (to be held until a troop is formed) $300; Mars Hill Community Center, (to be held until one is started), $500.

First Federal Installs Massive Mural Designed By Jim Hutchinson

Seven paintings, comprising a massive artistic portrayal of Martin County, will be installed as one mural at First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County this weekend. The display, over forty feet in length and ten feet tall, will be shown for the first time on Monday morning, according to James A. Garvey, Executive Vice President of First Federal.

The mural is the work of noted Martin County artist, Jim Hutchinson. Hutchinson is well known for his paintings of Seminole Indians, and has had many local and state wide art shows.

"I certainly appreciated the freedom to choose and design the mural," said Hutchinson. "When I was commissioned to do the paintings, and this is the largest creative mural I have done, the officers of First Federal told me to give them a complete feeling of Martin County's beauty."

Hutchinson went on to say that the effort was further increased by the cooperation of Harry H. Hoke, First Vice President and Director of First Federal of Martin County, and a one-man committee in the programming of the mural.

In the first panel, 8' by 10' the burgeoning citrus industry of Martin County is handled straightforwardly, with one large citrus tree, with oranges, grapefruit, lemons, limes, and tangerines in clusters thereon.

The second panel, 3 1/2 by 8', touches on the historical signif-

School Board Awaits Word From Washington

Mrs. Ed Dassori, general school supervisor, said Monday that any implementation of the anti-Poverty bill education facilities must await word from Washington that the county school board's civil rights program for de-segregation of schools has been accepted.

The county school department had hoped, through its adult education department, to be ready for the establishment of courses and qualifiers under the president's program as early as March 1.

Mrs. Dassori said, "We have heard nothing about the de-segregation program."

"We have no committment for federal funds for the anti-poverty program, so we will have to wait until we hear from Washington," she added.

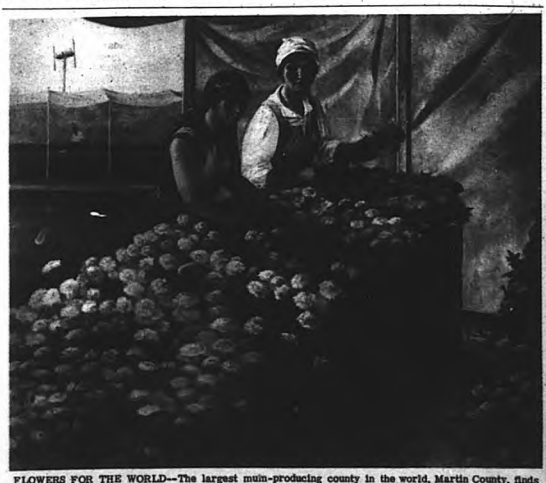
Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle E. Conner is to be the principal speaker.

Each day of the fair has been designated in the following manner; Monday is STUART DAY, Tuesday, HOBE SOUND DAY, Wednesday, PORT SALERNO and PALM CITY DAY, Thursday, JENSEN BEACH-RIO-SEWALLS POINT-OCEAN BREEZE PARK DAY, Friday, INDIANTOWN DAY and Saturday, MARTIN COUNTY DAY.

Admission is 50¢ for adults, and 25¢ for children over 12. Children under 12 are admitted free. Wednesday, however, is Kids Day and all children are admitted free on that day, with two bikes being given away at that time.



FLOWERS FOR THE WORLD--The largest mum-producing county in the world, Martin County, finds its flowers featured in Hutchinson's mural of a flower farm. The small details of the industry, overlooked by the average, are included in this "in-depth" mural, where Hutchinson captured the chrysanthemums in full bloom, being selected by flower-farm workers, as, in the background, a worker tends a cloth covered planting. The exhibit will be installed this week-end at First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County.

CPA To Study Records

The Martin County Taxpayers Assn. directors have retained a certified public accountant to make a study of the public records of Martin County and the hospital indigent patient accounts of Martin Memorial Hospital according to E. C. Wareheim, president of the association.

Wareheim said this action was taken to get at the bottom of the argument going on between the hospital and the county commission over county payments for indigents and the hospital's claim it needs more monies to pay for those accounts it services.

Evans Crary, Jr., President of the hospital board, told directors of the taxpayers association the hospital suffered a $23,823.36 loss last year in unpaid indigent accounts for which the county should have been responsible.

Crary said the hospital board would seek permissive legislation under which the entire hospital would be turned over to a publicly supported, tax district, hospital with an appointed board.

He will ask Sen. Irlo Bronson and Rep. William E. Owens to introduce such a bill when they hold public legislative hearings here March 12.

Wareheim said the taxpayers board is entirely opposed to the taxing district move and will fight it.

Crary told the association board that the hospital would open any record requested for the special audit and that he saw no reason why the county's public records shouldn't be opened without question.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE MARTIN COUNTY TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATION, INC.
February 20, 1965

It is, perhaps, unfortunate that many of the decisions pertaining to county government must be made during the hot, summer months when many of the electorate and tax-paying public are absent from the area.

However, as the result of the administrative structure of the Taxpayers' Association, many of your resident directors and officers, and, especially, our executive secretary, are always available to carry on the program of the Taxpayers' Association and during the past year they have been as active as ever in your behalf.

We are pleased to advise that the results of the summer's work with public officials, who have been most cooperative, have been productive, and we trust that you were quite satisfied when you received the 1964-65 tax bills.

You will undoubtedly recall, in a similar report made last year, the Association had to concede a substantial jump in millage levy as the result of the extraordinary construction problem that faced the School Board, resulting in a substantial raise in the School Board levy. We are happy to advise that this year will be somewhat of a "breather" for taxpayers as a result of the County Commissioners holding the line, and the reduction of millage by the School Board.

The overall county-wide general tax levy, including everything within the jurisdiction of the County Commissioners, plus the St. Lucie Inlet Authority, the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, and the Local Health Board unit totals 9.4 mills, a decrease of .265 mills from last year's county-wide general tax levy. Most of the special taxing districts remained at about the same levy as last year, and those showing any increase were very minor.

The School Board, in keeping with its commitment made last year, decreased its levy by 4 mills, resulting in a reduction from 11.85 mills to 7.85 mills for the 1964-65 taxable year, which reduction was within .7 of a mill of the total increase last year. We are reluctant to advise that this year's millage may not prevail during the next year or two, although your directors and officer staff will continue their vigilance on all tax levy categories.

We feel it in order to advise you that the Florida Supreme Court handed down a very important decision providing for assessments to be established at 100% of true value, however that may be interpreted. For instance, the Supreme Court directed Dade County to move its assessment rolls from, approximately, 50% of value to 100% of true value and to do it forthwith. Dade County apparently did this overnight. Martin County is now assessed on approximately 75% of value.

We feel that we should advise the taxpayers of the possible affect of the re-apportionment situation regarding which the U. S. Supreme Court issued a directive to re-apportion the Florida House of Representatives and the Florida Senate membership on the basis of population. However, there is no information available as yet as to how the matter will be dealt with. It is possible, however, that if the U. S. Supreme Court's directive were literally adopted that smaller counties may suffer at the hands of a legislature dominated by the larger counties of the state, with possibly larger representation, which is, of course, purely conjectural.

We regret to report the sudden passing of John E. Friday who served the Martin County Taxpayers Association as Director and President for many years, and during such time made an outstanding contribution to the organization. The association has lost a staunch friend and the County an able citizen.

You may be assured that your directors and officers will continue to represent your interests in all directions affecting your tax dollar.

Sincerely,
MARTIN COUNTY TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

SLASHING SAILS- The excitement of fishing in Martin County, the "land of waters", is typified in this mural of a sailfish jumping as a charter boat enthusiast experiences the thrill of fishing in the Atlantic Ocean's Gulf Stream. The sail, most exciting of game fish, is used as a symbol of the outstanding fishing in the county by Jim Hutchinson, who created this mural as one of seven that will be on display Monday at First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County. The seven paintings will form one large mural designed to cover every phase of life in Martin County, with industry, recreation and agriculture represented.

REFUGE AND CULTURE--The museum system of perpetuating the historical artifacts of the past and the present, unrivaled in any comparable community area, receives special treatment in this mural by Jim Hutchinson, part of a seven painting collection being installed in a massive 50 foot display in First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County's building on U. S. #1 in Stuart. Pictured is the House of Refuge Museum, the last of its kind on the east coast of the United States, kept in repair as a museum by the Martin County Historical Society, operating a special study of marine life laboratory.

LUSH GRAZING LAND--The well established dairy and cattle industries of Martin County are represented in the panorama of Jim Hutchinson's murals at First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County. In the painting pictured above, the dairy cows mingle with brahma and beef cattle. Beautiful cattle-egrets bring balance to this scene of the lush plains of western Martin County.

Rogers Amends Drug Bill

Congressman Paul Rogers has amended legislation to impose stronger controls on the sale of "pep pills" and other stimulant or depressant drugs.

Rogers' amendments were adopted by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, of which he is a member. The amendments were incorporated in a bill which has just been approved by the Committee, and will be acted on by the House of Representatives soon.

"The illicit use of barbiturate and amphetamine drugs, sometimes referred to as pep pills or goof balls, are linked to rising crime rates, juvenile delinquency, traffic accidents, and even suicides. Illegal sales of these drugs have grown to the point where stronger controls are needed." Congressman Rogers said.

Congressman Rogers put forward 3 amendments. The first would require drug wholesalers to post registration numbers assigned by the Food and Drug Administration on all orders for "pep pills" placed with manufacturers. The second Rogers amendment would raise penalties for first offenses in the sale of drugs to minors from $2000 fine or 2 years imprisonment, or both, to $5,000 fine or 2 years, or both. The third amendment offered by the Congressman would require that no prescription for these drugs can be refilled more than 5 times or after six months without the approval of the prescribing doctor.

Fla Dairy Institute Promotes Milk

People in many walks of life in South Florida are drinking milk these days, and people are beginning to know about it!

In fact, they could hardly miss. There are 132 billboards in the area which confirm it.

All different, they say, for instance, Bill Britton of Jensen Beach, Charles Bachelier, Anchobo warden of Port Salerno, and Ed Glucklar, owner of Martin County News Service, Stuart, drink milk.

It's a promotion of the Southeast Florida Dairy Institute.

Mr. & Mrs. G. M. Robinson and Mr. & Mrs. Ted Sanders, all of Rio, recently enjoyed a holiday in the Tampa area.

SUNDAY DRIVERS---They are Mrs. Rick Carroll and son, Keith, sitting in a 1909 Thomas Flyer at the Elliott Museum. Rick Carroll was host of the Vintage Auto Club Of Palm Beach which was recently here in Martin County.

Your Social Security

By. R. C. Gehrken, Jr.
District Manager
West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. If I am receiving rehabilitation training services, can I still get my social security disability benefits?

A. Yes. You may continue to receive disability payments as long as you are not working, whether you are being rehabilitated or not. If, as a result of rehabilitation, you are able to do some new kind of work, then you will receive benefits during a nine-months "trial work period" to which can be added a further "grace" period of three months.

Q. During 1964, I left one job and took on another. Each employer paid me more than $4800, and each withheld the full social security tax from my pay. Should they have done that?

A. Yes. Each employer is required by law to withhold the correct amount of social security tax based on your wages, and to report the wages paid. However, you are required to contribute only the tax due on wages up to $4800. You may recover any excess payment of tax by claiming a refund on your income tax return.

DON'T BE A PEOPLE--That is the attitude of this jackass, peeping with great intelligence from his stall at the Martin County Fair. The fair, the most outstanding in the history of the Martin County event, has drawn many visitors and should break all records in attendance. We advise all to see it....it's great.

Bronson And Owens Will Hear Requests For Legislation Friday

Senator Irlo Bronson and Rep. William Owens will hear requests for local and state legislation at a meeting, open to the public on Friday, March 12 at the Martin County Courthouse.

Owens and Bronson will meet with county, city and citizens groups to hear requests that will form the basis for a legislative program for the coming legislative session in Tallahassee.

Martin County commissioners plan to ask Sen. Irlo Bronson and Rep. William E. Owens to seek passage of the entire legislative program adopted by the Florida Association of County Commissioners at its February conference at Cocoa, according to Frank A. Wacha, chairman of the board.

Wacha said Thursday the board had not readied any requests for local legislation as yet.

The board will meet with the two legislators March 12 at 2 p.m. At 10 a.m. the same day, the legislators will meet with representatives of the county's municipalities.

The state-wide commission program to be asked by the local commission includes two bills considered critical.

One is the bill which would send the seventh cent of gas tax directly to the counties for their own use in maintaining and constructing secondary roads.

The second would distribute the three cents of cigarette tax collected on sales outside the boundaries of municipalities to the counties.

Others bills to be sought are as follows:

A bill which would provide a plan of systematic compilation of a series of laws presently in effect in counties under special laws to eliminate local legislation, to be called "county services act."

A bill to amend the present public defender legislation to permit handling of capital cases, eliminate county costs, and to provide for funds to be appropriated by the legislature, instead.

A bill to re-vitalize the fire ant bill.

The above bills were those called "sponsored" by the association.

The following bills are considered as "endorsed" by the association and recommended by the Martin County Commission.

Concerning mosquito control, make it mandatory for the state to provide funds on a 50 per cent basis instead of a basis of "eligibility for 50 per cent."

Make 50 per cent participation in hospital indigent program mandatory on part of the state, not permissive, under Section 401.06.

Turn over monies collected from fines, penalties and forfeitures in enforcing conservation laws to county fine and forfeiture funds instead of to the state.

Repeal section of state statutes which requires appointment of attorneys in defense of capital cases if public defenders are given the jobs.

Make it mandatory to provide 25 per cent of county budget for free libraries if county provides minimum of $20,000.

Eliminate requirement that counties pay for care of indigent patients that state tuberculosis

Sailing Races To Be Sunday On Causeway

The Intercoastal waterway Sailing Association will hold sailboat races on Sunday, March 14 on the Jensen Beach Causeway. Clyde Coutant, commodore, and Hans Lukat, assistant commodore, are in charge.

The races will be run under the Florida State Racing Association rules. The first race will be at 10 a.m. and races will be held all day.

The sailing club, with headquarters in Fort Pierce, was originally formed by the Jensen Beach-area Chamber of Commerce, when polynesian regattas were being held in Jensen Beach. The sailors then formed a separate organization to get in state sanctioned races and have been active in sailing ever since.

The sight of the sails on the river is one that should please any resident or tourist.

Mrs. Peter Gooley has returned home from Pontiac, Mich. after a six weeks visit with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Greenlee.

Wacha To Ask 707 Drainage

The Martin County Commission will soon ask for primary road funds to be spent to take care of the drainage problem on Highway 707-A1A through Jensen Beach, according to Frank A. Wacha, chairman of the commission.

The State Road Department, which is responsible for the maintainence of the road, has told the commission that the only alternative to a drainage of the low area, which becomes a deep water hole during rainstorms, is to take the drainage down the road to a public right of way beside the S&D Delicatessen.

The county had tried for years to get property owners along the route to donate rights of way to allow an easement to provide covered drainage to the river. Owners refused access due to the amount of land that would be necessary.

Wacha told the Mirror that the item was too large for the county to expend money out of "maintainence funds" to do the job, and that primary funds would be needed, according to the SRD.

County officials will ask that the expenditure be included in the 1966 budget of the SRD.

Redistricting Plan

County Commission Chairman Frank Wacha said that redistricting of Martin County would come "later in the year" when asked about changes possible in odd numbered years.

Several polling places will be changed; namely the polling place now at the golf club will be moved to the county fair building according to J.H. Bruner and the Precinct 3 polling place formerly at the Odd Fellows Hall will be moved to Stuart Tackle & Marine according to Commissioner Ed Miller.

Jack Saunderson asked for a new precinct for voters living in subdivisions along the south county line. He said Palm Beach County has agreed to permit use of its welcome station, which is in Martin County as a polling place.

Three Voted Life Legion Membership

Members of Jensen Beach Post 126 of the American Legion Monday evening voted unanimously to award Life Memberships to Wm. C. St. Clair, William Middleton and Jack Smouse.

All three of these legionnaires have been members of the local post for 20 continuous years and have devoted most of their spare time and energy helping to promote American Legion programs on a local, state and national level. All three have been members of the 40 and 8, an exclusive part of the American Legion membership, reserved for tried and true legionnaires.

At the meeting, the post voted a monitary donation to the Pioneer Occupational Center at Port Salerno.

Members of the Legion and Auxiliary traveled to the Lantana Tubercular Hospital on February 25th to entertain the patients with a games night.

The next meeting of the post will be March 22 at which time they will join the auxiliary in celebrating the 46th birthday of the American Legion with a dinner and entertainment.

Frances Langford Joins Old Friends

by Zola Swasthout

JENSEN BEACH--There will be a big reunion this Friday night at Miami's Fontainebleau at the "Gold Coast Capers of 1965" for Dade County's March of Dimes.

Four stars of stage, screen, TV and radio will be together and make a personal appearance, the first for a long time.

They are Miss Frances Langford, Mr. Bob Hope, Mr. Tony Romano, and Mr. Jerry Colonna.

The four traveled more than a million air miles and played before more than five million servicemen, prior to and during World War II.

Miss Langford, now the wife of Ralph Evinrude, has her own Polynesian restaurant, villas and marina. Her accompanist, a composer and pal, Tony Romano, is now appearing at Frances Langford's Outrigger restaurant, nightly except Mondays.

This week, however, Tony will be in Miami with Miss Langford for the Friday night show. He will return to his "Polynesian Pod-ium" on Saturday.

It is quite fitting that Tony rejoins his old gang for the March of Dimes. He, with his pastner, Johnny Bradford, wrote the script and songs for the March of Dimes TV Shows in 1963 and 1964.

Currently, the 1964 TV show, "The Big Little Show", features a song written by Romano and Bradford, "I'm Going Ape Over You."

The Evinrudes will leave Wednesday on their yacht, "The Chanticleer" for Miami. Guests aboard will be Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lawrence, and Mrs. Lawrence's sister, Mrs. Mildred Rio of Beverly Hills, a vocalist and actress, and Mrs. Jerry Wible, of the Wible Language Institute of Allentown, Pa.

The Romanos will join the yacht on Friday. They will return in time for Romano's appearances at the Outrigger on Saturday

Following the Friday night show at the Fontainbleau, the Chanticleer and her guests will go to the Bahamas for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, who are co-chairmen of the March of Dimes show, will also be aboard for the Bahama trip.

MR. & MRS. RALPH EVINRUDE

Johnny Shaw, a school teacher, took second prize with a sculpture made of terraz and cement and entitled "Running Boy".

Aura Jones was third with a finger-painting called "Sunrise Under Water", using subtle colors.

Frances King won a blue ribbon in the conservative group for her "Banyan Tree", and Marcia Baker was second with "Bromeliad", an oil done in such free-style it was difficult to classify, according to the judges.

Dr. A. G. L. Moritz took third ribbon for a small oil entitled "Holland Village".

Members of the Fair art-planning committee were Lehnore Bohner, Justina Pettit, C. A. Spencer and Dorothy Stafford, none of whom entered their work for competition.

The exhibit which is housed in the auditorium of the main county agricultural Building, was declared outstanding by judges and local artists.

Engineer Bell Attends Conference

Specifically, Mr. Wacha was interested in the development of potential parks and recreational facilities in the Savannas in the north end of Martin County and the Long Island project south of the St. Lucie Inlet, according to the county engineer's office.

Your Social Security

By R. C. Gehrken, Jr.
District Manager
West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. I work as a chambermaid in a hotel. I receive my board and lodging, as well as cash wages, for my work. I notice that my Tax Withholding Slip (W-2) for last year shows only the total cash I received. Doesn't the board and room also count as wages on my social security record?

A. Board and room are considered "wages" for social security purposes in most employment except domestic work done in private home of the employer and work done on a farm. To straighten this out, ask at your social security district office for Form 7004. After you fill this out and mail it, you will receive a statement of your earnings from social security in Baltimore as they have been reported by your employer. If the statement shows that the value of board and room has not been reported, your district office will assist you in correcting the situation. You should take this action immediately, since the records cannot be changed after three years have elapsed.

NOTICE OF INTENDED LEGISLATION OF TOWN OF SEWALL'S POINT, FLORIDA

NOTICE is hereby given that application will be made to the regular session of the 1965 Legislature of the State of Florida for the passage of a Special or Local Law which will, in effect, amend Section 1, Article V, of the Charter of the Town of Sewall's Point dealing with time that is necessary to elapse between the first reading of an ordinance and the second reading in that the time between the two readings shall be at least 20 days, and to further amend said Charter by providing that if the Town uses the valuations of property for tax assessment purposes as determined by the County Tax Assessor, it will not be necessary for the Town Commission to hold equalization meetings.

Commission And Hospital Discuss Indigent Care

Three members of the Martin County Board of Commissioners met Thursday with nine members of the Martin Memorial Hospital Board of Directors.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss the county's responsibility for paying the hospital costs of the medically indigent.

Discussion revolved about the criteria to be used in determining who were truly indigent and how much of the hospital cost of charity care would be assumed by the County.

Martin Memorial Hospital provided $61,000 worth of care for the county's indigent. Of this amount some $37,000 was paid by various State, Federal and County programs, about $1,400 from insurance, leaving the hospital to absorb $24,000 worth of hospital care which was paid for by no one.

Frank Wacha, Chairman of the County Commissioners, said the County had provided $11,000 annually for the past four years, and increased the amount to $15,000.

The commissioners agreed with the hospital Board upon the necessity of setting up a 7-member indigent review board, with three from the county, three from the hospital Board and one member from the general public, to determine what patients would be accepted as indigent for payment.

Hospital Board Chairman, Evans Crary, Jr., pointed out that every emergency patient is accepted and treated by the hospital without regard to ability to pay and that some source of revenue must be found to meet the cost. He reiterated his belief the hospital should request permissive legislation which would allow the establishment of a tax district if another means is found of paying the hospital's unreimbursed costs.

Committees Named

Guy N. Cromwell, the new president of the Martin County Mental Health Association has named committees for the new year.

The Rev. Donald Schroeder was named chairman of the ways and means committee, to serve with Martin Wahl and Mrs. Margaret Bond.

Named to the nominating committee were John W. Keller, Mrs. Zola Swarthout and Miss Marion Tschischeck.

The professional advisory committee is composed of Dr. Neil Miller, director of the three-county public health unit and Dr. Walter R. Stokes, retired psychiatrist.

The Rev. Allan Stuart was named program chairman and Mrs. Ralph W. Hartman, Sr. was named to handle public relations.

A resolution was adopted asking the State Legislature to establish centers for psychotic children.

Dr. Stokes said that childhood treatment could well prevent trouble in adulthood and he said he could think of no way in which tax monies could be better spent.

A budget of $3,400 was adopted with $1,500 going to the Indian River Mental Health Clinic, $600 to psychiatric rooms in the hospital and $300 to assist indigent patients in the South Florida mental hospital.

Mrs. Zola Swarthout reported that the Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund has given the association $4,544.50 since the UF began.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER-- Lovely Brenda Brooks has a good reason for looking especially beautiful for she has just been named Miss Flamingo of Sunken Gardens in St. Petersburg, Florida. The shapely blonde says that flamingos, pictured in the background, have always been her favorite birds because of their stately manners and magnificent coloring. Brenda explained that they get their bright pink color from a special carrot supplement added to their regular di

Windmill Regatta Is This Weekend

The Southern Windmill Championship Regatta will be held on the St. Lucie River at the St. Lucie Country Club March 20-21.

Up to 50 windmill class sailboats from all states south of the Mason-Dixon line and east of the Mississippi River are expected to enter the two-day Regatta.

The races are sanctioned by the FSA and Windmill Class Associations and sponsored by the Intra-Coastal Sailing Club and Windmill Fleet 36.

The winners will be determined on a point basis for five heats--two Saturday and three Sunday. Trophies will be presented to the first five finishers.

Among skippers expected are Roger Bauer, Clearwater, Fla., national windmill champion; Dr. Pat Hamilton, Miami, president of the Windmill Class Association and winner of the southern regatta at Miami last year; Dave Posey, St. Petersburg, the mid-winter windmill champion in 1964; and some 20 windmill skippers from the immediate area.

The St. Lucie Country Club is located on Florida's east coast between Fort Pierce and Stuart.

Barring Gremlins Mail-Away Edition Will Come Next

The third annual mail away edition of the Jensen Beach Mirror will hit the streets next week. Barring all press breakdowns and gremlin sabotage which has plagued the preparation of the edition, the prize winning newspaper will set new records in circulation in the county.

Copy price is 20 cents, and mailing is free if a list is brought to the Mirror office.

Special mail-away forms will be given to persons who wish to mail the edition themselves, and will be sold after the first week, when the mailing will end.

The mail-away edition set a record last year with 12,500 copies sold and 82 pages in the newspaper, packed with complete coverage of Martin County.

Replacing Aged Palm City Bridge Assured By SRD

The replacement of the badly damaged, old and worn Palm City Bridge was virtually assured last Tuesday when a Martin County conference with the State Road Board in Fort Lauderdale placed the bridge on top of the primary road program in Martin County.

The bridge, a part of the feeder primary road linking the Sunshine State Parkway with Stuart, got a boost toward replacement when District 4 road board member Chalsie J. Senerchia and road board chairman Floyd B. Bowen agreed that the bridge was in bad shape, having both been over it.

Bowen also thought turnpike assistance might be possible in building the new bridge.

County engineer Fred Bell, also at the meeting, said he was optimistic that primary funds would be allocated for Allapatta Road, from Indian town to the north county line.

Baseball Registration Is March 27

Junior League Baseball registration will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday, March 27th at five different locations.

The various places are as follows; Hobe Sound Ball Park, Jensen Beach Ball Park, Palm City Elementary School, Stuart Sailfish Park and Port Salerno Elementary School.

All boys, between the ages of 8 through 15, who are interested in Peanut League, Little League or Pony League are urged to register.

There will be a registration fee of $2.00 per boy. The advance fee is due to the increase in equipment and operating costs. This fee includes insurance coverage.

FEC Loses Appeal In Supreme Court

The Florida Supreme Court denied a petition by the Florida East Coast Railway seeking a re-hearing of the case of Alice Avenue, Rio, grade crossing. In its action Tuesday, the court upheld Martin County attorney Dean Tooker's legal battle with the FEC which has been fought through the courts to the highest court in Florida, and ended three years of battle.

Tooker received word of the denial Tuesday. One paragraph signed by Sid J. White, clerk of the supreme court, and dated Monday, did the job.

In an opinion January 20, the court ruled for Martin County against the railroad, and upheld the contention of Circuit Court Judge C. Pfeiffer Trowbridge that the county could take land by eminent domain needed for a grade crossing. The court also upheld his ruling that the cost of warning signals must be paid by the railroad.

Only one justice of the supreme court dissented, saying the court had no jurisdiction.

The next move is up to the FEC. The Chief Counsel for the railroad, John B. L'Engle, once said that the FEC would fight the case right up to the U.S. Supreme Court. He has since retired.

Tooker, elated over the victory, said that he had no specific ruling that the county had to wait until the suit was ended before he could move to open the Alice Avenue crossing.

He added that the FEC would have about 90 days to appeal to a Federal court. He did not know if the FEC would go through the U.S. Court of Appeals or directly to the U.S. Supreme Court. The railroad has said that the loss of the case would open all railroads in the nation to direction from municipalities and counties in the location of grade crossings and the levying of the cost of safety signals.

The entire battle, which can be of national significance, is over a little 50-foot piece of land containing .114 acre. The land is valued at about $50. The grade crossing was a private crossing to radio station WSTU. The FEC closed the crossing by putting up posts to bar access.

This forced the county to build a one mile extension to Alice Avenue from Rio, and a bridge across Haney Creek.

High School Chorus Will Hold Hootnanny

The Martin County Senior High School will present a "Hootnanny" in the high school gym Friday, March 26 at 8 p.m.

Gotta Car - Get Tag Saturday

Saturday is the last day to get automobile license plates for 1965, according to county tax collector Alvin Andrews. After that date a penalty will be levied on those without the bright red tags.

Andrews has announced that his office will be open to the public for late comers on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., thus allowing the tardy auto owners to buy plates at the last minute.

The history of license tag sales has recorded long lines on the closing days. Andrews urges all Florida residents to get their licenses to avoid penalty.

The Jensen Beach Mirror has purchased the assets of the Mar-County Sun, it was announced this week by Mirror publisher Richard E. Campbell.

Campbell, who has been listed as co-publisher of the Sun through a printing agreement, purchased the stock of Mr. and Mrs. Cain in the Sun corporation. The office of the Sun in Stuart will be closed.

Fire Permit Is A Must

All fire departments throughout the county are now in full swing towards enforcing the State Fire Prevention Code. All residents are put on notice that in order to burn trash or kindle bonfires of any kind, they must procure a permit from their local fire department. Most residents will have to provide an approved trash burner in order to obtain their permit, unless they have sufficient land area as prescribed by the code. Residents are also asked to pay special attention to lots that have heavy brush growth and as such constitute a fire hazard to nearby structures, lots of this nature must be cleared and all residents or property owners are required to do so by the code.

Drainage Problem

At a session with Martin County Commissioners on Friday afternoon, Clarence Davidson, District 4 SRD engineer called the correction of a drainage problem on SR 707 in Jensen Beach, "a must project under primary road funds."

Davidson also said SR 708 had to be designated as a primary road before a five-mile resurfacing and widening project could be undertaken. The commission agreed to adopt a resolution asking the change.

Owens To Introduce Hospital Bill

Rep. William E. Owens said he would introduce a bill which would provide a means for the county to increase its support of the Martin Memorial Hospital, presently a privately owned, non-profit hospital.

Rep. Owens said a bill introduced in 1939 by Evans Crary, Sr. when he was a representative probably would be the basis for the bill he plans to introduce.

The bill would set up a hospitalization fund to provide for the levy of a tax of not less than one-quarter mill and not more than four mills to be used for indigent patient hospitalization.

Riptide Players Perform With "My Three Angels"

According to Mrs. Harrers Britton, the Riptide Players of Martin County have finally managed to get another show-on-the-road. Much to their regret, this will be the only show this season, and unless they receive the support of the public they will be forced to disband. They had hoped to do at least one summer play, but a small membership and smaller funds have left them in dire straits. If they can count on the public to fill the house both nights of their performance, there is still a chance for legitimate theatre to stay alive in Martin County.

So, if you like to laugh....enjoy a good comedy....appreciate live theatre,...then make a date to see "My Three Angels" at the Stuart Jr. High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. either Friday, March 26, or Saturday, March 27, when ten hand-picked "characters" take to the stage. Recently seen on TV the Riptide Players hope to prove that live theatre can beat TV ANY TIME. So, if you're tired watching the "idiot box", get your tickets from any Riptide member, Valentine's Book and Record Shop or Frank's TV. This comedy is about 3 convicts who wear a very special kind of halo and is guaranteed to make you forget your own cares of the day!

About Your Social Security

April 15, 1965, is an important deadline for many people receiving social security payments. Anyone who received any social security payments in 1964, and who earned more than $1200.00 in 1964, must file an annual report by April 15, 1965. Only earned income from wages or self-employment are required to be reported for this purpose. Persons who were 72 years of age before 1964 are not required to file an annual report for 1964.

R. C. Gehrken, Jr., District Manager of the West Palm Beach Social Security Office, advises that anyone required to file an annual report do so promptly. This report must be filed in addition to any income tax return which may be required. Gehrken suggests that anyone needing an annual report form or further information contact his office at 715 S. Dixie Hwy., West Palm Beach.

Your Social Security

Q. The social security number on my 1964 withholding tax form, W-2, does not agree with the one I have always used. I took this up with the payroll clerk, and she said she made a mistake on the W-2 form, but my wages were properly reported under my correct number to social security. How can I make sure?

A. All your 1964 earnings should be credited to your social security account by July 1, 1965. At that time, get a post card from your social security office. Mail the completed form, and you will receive a statement of the earnings credited to your account. If there is an error, your social security office will help you get it corrected.

Q. A cleaning lady works in my home once a week. She gets at least $5 a week, sometimes more when she does extra work. She told me I could report her for social security, or I could just forget it, she really didn't care. What should I do?

A. You must report her cash wages for social security purposes. Under the law, if you employ someone to do household work in your home, the work must be reported if within a calendar quarter you pay that person $50 or more in cash.

Martin County Offers "Wonderful Place To Live"

HOME IS THE SAILOR- -"Docking" after a day of pleasure afloat is one of the joys of life for hundreds of Jensen Beach and Martin County residents and visitors. If it is boating you want, motor, sailing or man-propelled, the waters of this area beckon. The mile-wide Indian and St. Lucie Rivers are Paradise for boatsmen and fishermen and the broad expanses of the Atlantic are at the doorstep.

True Enjoyment For Everyone Here In This Land Of Sunshine

Martin County daily is proving to the thousands of its permanent residents and an even greater number of winter guests, tourists and casual visitors that it is, indeed, "A Wonderful Place to Live."

Perhaps nowhere in the Sunshine State can be found a wider choice of terrain-- sunswept beaches, rolling tree-dotted hills, majestic rivers and the calm beauty of the savannas. Spanned by modern motor thoroughfares, such as the Sunshine Turnpike and U. S. 1, it also boasts shaded, curving roads over which one can travel in leisurely comfort while feasting on the beauties of the countryside and at a pace nearly forgotten in this hectic space-age world. No area in Florida possesses a more beautiful and picturesque route than Indian River Drive.

Winter visitors from the snow-bound north expect--and enjoy--the blue skies and mild temperatures that characterize Martin County, along with all of southeast Florida. They are amazed to learn, however, that delightful weather is not confined to the cold months- that seldom, if ever,---does the mercury rise above the low 90's when the so-called "cool" north is sweltering in 100 degree heat. But it is true. This area has been blessed by one of nature's phenomena- -the Gulf Stream- - which provides warm temperatures in the winter and cooling breezes in the torrid summer months.

Martin County, state statistics reveal, is one of the fastest growing in all of Florida. It is a Mecca to the retired because of its beauty, its pleasant climate, its strategic location and its leisurely-paced living. But it also has its attractions for the giants in the world of commerce such as Pratt-Whitney, a firm linked closely to the nation's space program. So desirable are its natural attributes, that the Minute Maid Corporation has purchased--and planted--thousands of acres of citrus trees.

Combined with these other desirable features are its people--friendly, courteous and cooperative as neighbors. Those who serve the public in stores, shops, in home-building and he hundred and one facets that go to make up every-day living, do so with friendliness and eagerness to please.

Here is a place that everyone can enjoy, millionaire or person of modest income, a fact that is obvious from the wide range of homes that dot the area---mansions to homey cottages. Its recreational advantages are unexcelled no matter where your tastes may lie---boating, swimming, fishing, golfing, riding or just socializing with congenial people.

Those who crave more placid living, away from the frantic pace of metropolitan existence, can find it in Martin County. If occasionally they seek the excitement of night life, internationally famous restaurants and shops and the lure of "big name" entertainers, they are but a few hours drive from Miami or Palm Beach. For variety, within easy driving distance are such attractions as Cypress Gardens, Bok Tower, Silver Springs and the famous Daytona Beach speedway.

Martin County is so rich in history and legend that there is neither time nor space to do them justice. But this edition of the Mirror is not designed to regale the reader with the wonders of the past. Rather, its goal is to paint a picture of today and the future.

Desirable sites are available for the "home you have dreamed about", the builders are ready, Jensen Beach and Martin County merchants are friendly and eager to serve visitors and newcomers. Civic and fraternal organizations extend a welcoming hand. All the things that people dream about when they think of Florida-- the beaches, the climate, the beauty, the leisure---are here waiting. All that is needed to complete the picture is YOU.

Martin County's Remarkable "Boom"

Built On Permanent , Lasting Values

It now seems obvious that the long-awaited "boom" has come to Martin County- -and Jensen Beach. If the word "boom" has unpleasant connotations to some, they need have no fears, for this is not that kind of boom.

Rather it is a healthy expansion in all phases of county and community life. Vast areas of palmetto scrub have been cleared to make way for the scores upon scores of attractive new homes- -in all price ranges---that have sprung up. The coming of these hundreds of new families, who have found this area "their land of dreams come true", has meant that stores have been enlarged and their personnel increased.

Public utilities, such as Florida Power & Light and Southern Bell, have responded to the demand of these new customers with rapid expansion of their facilities. Visited only infrequently by light frosts over the years, Martin County has been chosen by such nationally known concerns as Minute Maid Corporation as the location for vast new citrus orchard plantings.

Consequently, with millions of dollars of new income pouring into the area annually, the county's economy has greatly benefited.

Because of the careful planning of the county commissioners and their ever-alert attention to the welfare of the people they represent, this has been no hurried, haphazard growth; no sprawling together of shoddy, jerry-built homes that in a few years will develop into a slum area. Instead it has produced a community-- or series of communities---in which the residents may all take pride.

The four-laning of Highway 1 through Stuart is characteristic of the changes that have come about. Now visitors, leaving or entering that city at the north are treated to a breath-taking vista of the blue St. Lucie. Wide roadways---lighted at night by mercury lamps---attractively landscaped with palm trees, shrubs and flowers make travel a pleasure. Their exits are carefully and plainly marked for the convenience of the motoring public adds just that much more to the visitors' enjoyment. The completing of a second bascule bridge over the St. Lucie has done much to speed up traffic and lessens the possibility of potential traffic accidents.

With all these improvements has come the removal of many old and some unsightly buildings, the erection of new places of business such as service stations and the resultant almost unobstructed view of the river.

And there have been innumerable other changes in recent years. Two new high schools have been constructed and new elementary schools have met the educational needs of the area.

The parks have emerged from their embryonic stages and are now places of beauty, offering their bounty to nature lovers and campers.

Fresh water has at last been piped from the mainland to picturesque Hutchinson's Island. This fact and the impending completion of the new bascule bridge on the causeway from Jensen Beach to the island---a sister structure to that already in existence at Sewall's Point---is bound to result in rapid development. Clubs, resort motels and hotels and high-rise apartments are some of the improvements seen likely. A fresh water system for Sewall's Point and territory between the Point and Jensen Beach, for a considerable distance, is also bound to have healthy repercussions.

In the last few years almost countless tourist attractions of outstanding quality have been developed---attractions, however, which have not only lured visitors to this area but which have provided permanent residents with enjoyment.

Martin County is, and always has been, a haven for fishing and boating enthusiasts. This situation has not changed except that more and finer craft, of all sizes and types, now make the marinas here their home ports. As for fishing, the reputation of this area as the "Sail Fishing Capital of the World" has brought more and more enthusiasts here- -not only for sail fish--but for the innumerable other species, both salt water and fresh, with which the surrounding waters abound.

Martin County is still small population wise but is one of the fastest growing in the state. It is, in fact, one of only 12 in all Florida that more than doubled in the number of its citizens between 1950 and 1960. Experts have projected that by 1970-- or 1975 at the latest- the 1960 population will have again registered a 100 per cent increase. That it is growing by leaps and bounds there can be no doubt. But size is not everything. It is the quality of people, businesses and industries that have selected this area as their home- -plus the unexcelled attributes with which nature endowed it---that gives assurance that Martin County is--and will continue to be--a "wonderful place to live."

HOW'RE THEY BITIN'?---Martin County is known as the "Sailfish Capital of the World" and it lives up to its reputation. But the "Sail" is only one of many species---both salt and fresh water---found nearby in abundance. Daily the fishing piers, the bridges and causeways are thronged with anglers and surf and deep sea fishing, have literally, thousands of adherents.

Governor Sends Message To Readers Of The Mirror

Gov. Haydon Burns

Governor Haydon Burns, Florida's newly-elected Chief Executive, has expressed pleasure over the opportunity to extend greetings to The Jensen Beach Mirror's readers in this newspaper's third annual mail-away edition.

"To those who reside outside Florida who have the opportunity to read this edition," he declared, "I want to extend a warm invitation to visit our State. If you have not visited Florida before, you can look forward to a most enjoyable experience. You will find a tremendous variety of entertainment opportunities, in addition to magnificent beaches and scenery.

"For those who have been privileged to welcome in the past, I want to assure you that Florida is better than ever. There are more things to see and do, more and better accommodations and a vastly improved highway network to help you get from one part of the State to another with convenience and safety.

"To Jensen Beach residents who will read this newspaper, I want to report that you have every reason to feel proud of the great progress our State is making.

"In education, we are forging ahead at all levels from the kindergarten to the graduate school. New schools are being built in virtually every Florida community and the construction program in progress at our institutions of higher learning is unparalleled in our State's history.

"Our public health program is steadily moving forward. The same thing can be said of the institutions we have for the mentally ill and for the custody and rehabilitation of those who have broken the laws of society.

"The economy of our State is sound and is expanding on all fronts. We are in the middle of our greatest tourist season and there is every indication that this year we will be able to attract more new manufacturing payrolls than in any previous twelve-month period in Florida's history."

To Richard E. Campbell, Mirror Editor and owner, and his staff, he wrote: "I extend congratulations on the hard work I know has been necessary to make this mail-away edition possible. You have performed a real service to your area and to the whole State of Florida."

Guard Rails For M.C. Canals

Guard rails and other safety barriers may be constructed at the most dangerous roadside canals in Martin County, as a result of a State Road Board decision last week.

According to County Engineer Fred L. Bell, up to 11 miles could be installed along the south side of the St. Lucie Canal. The canal and SR 76 are only a few feet apart in many of the 11 miles.

The Road Board, because of alarm at the death of 42 motorists and injuries to 892 others in the past 21 months in 10 South Florida counties, moved to earmark $3.2 million for use in the next year to make the danger spots safer.

County Signals For X-ing

Following the conclusion of the F.E.C. Railway's lost appeal to the State Supreme Court, Martin County Commissioners did not wait long in asking the railroad to install a grade crossing and safety signal at Alice Ave., Rio.

At the Tuesday commission meeting, it was voted to send a resolution to W.L. Thornton, operations officer of the railroad, asking for installation of the crossing within 30 days. The board voted to take the action, assuming the railroad would not appeal the case to Federal courts. Also included in the resolution was word that the county would do the work and bill the railroad if the railroad delayed action.

The guarded crossing would be in the same location as the unguarded crossing closed by the F.E.C. over three years ago. That act started the legal action which led the Supreme Court decision against the road.

NEARLY CENTURY OLD AND STILL A BEACON ... Once a haven for ship-wrecked sailors, this picturesque structure on Hutchinson's Island still is a place well worth visiting. Filled with displays linked to its own romantic history as well as those covering the life cycle of the sea turtle, this Museum annually attracts thousands of visitors. Here it is shown, the tranquil waters of the Indian River.

Frances Langford Reminisces Of The War Years

By Zola Swarthout

She was called the "Elsie Janis of World War II", "Queen of the Aleutians", Sweetheart of the Fighting Fronts", "Veterans of Foreign Wars Pinup Girl", and was honored by receiving the Disabled War Veterans Gold Medal of Honor, was made Honorary 1st Lt. Sheppard Field, Texas, and Honorary Sgt. Major in Alaska.

She is Florida's Song Bird, Miss Frances Langford.

Miss Langford owns and operates Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant, Langford Marina and Villas and the Langford citrus groves here in Jensen Beach.

She and her husband, Ralph Evinrude, are residents and spend most of their time here when not cruising on their yacht, "The Chanticleer", or in Milwaukee, Evinrude's home base for the Outboard Marine Corporation (he is chairman of the OBM Corp.)

Before and after World War II, Frances Langford flew a million air miles and sang before more than five million servicemen.

In 1943 she was named one of the 10 most outstanding women of the world.

She met and knew the great and the humble. She was loved by the "brass" and the GI alike.

With all her honors, citations and decorations, only one is kept in her home. That one is an autographed photo of General Dwight Eisenhower.

The autograph reads, "To Miss Frances Langford, with appreciation for a grand job in North Africa."

When Frances met Gen. Eisenhower during World War II during her North African tour, he said to her, "I hear you have been through a few bombings". She agreed, stating that she hadn't been able to sleep for several nights.

"Well," he said, "you'll get a good nights sleep tonight, as we haven't had a raid for three months".

Frances crawled into her tent. About an hour later the siren sounded. German planes were black in the sky. The raid lasted two hours and 20 minutes, the longest and worst raid they had had in Algiers.

By 1943 Miss Langford was the only feminine star to entertain on six fighting fronts...the Aleutians, North Africa, Sicily, England, Ireland, and the South Pacific.

Her thousands of visits to base hospitals, singing to the maimed and fatally injured soldiers literally broke her heart.

She told of visits in hospitals when she was in Africa, Sicily and England.

"The thing that made the deepest impression on me was the boys' wards. We would see boys practically burned to death. They had no reason to smile. In fact Bob Hope would say something and no one would move. Then Bob would nudge me and say, "You sing something, Fran."

My songs would seem to relax them and put them in a mood to hear Bob's stories."

"I remember one so well...I was standing next to a boy whose face was swathed in bandages. Only his mouth showed. I held his hand while I sang...and through his bandaged hand I felt him pressing harder and harder. There was a lump in my throat as big as a house...but that is one thing we were never allowed to show...how we felt. As soon as I finished, I rushed from the ward and gave way to my emotions."

Miss Langford also treasures another souvenir, a piece of German tank which served as an impromptu stage for the show. It was sent to her by General George S. Patton, Jr., and bears his inscription and signature.

"One of my greatest thrills was meeting Prime Minister Winston Churchill", said Frances Langford.

"He was so great and human throughout our meeting which was arranged by Lord Beaverbrook. The night before I had lost a hat box containing all my hats. I told Mr. Churchill about it. He gave me one of his famous homburgs. I later auctioned it off at one of our shows.

Frances continues to reminisce...

"There was a heavy Nazi raid. A friendly Yank got us in his car to get away from the heavily populated area. He got befuddled in the dark and drove us right into anti-aircraft battery."

"I felt like a sissy because I thought I was the first to leap out of the car...but when I hit the bottom of the slit trench, my fall was cushioned by Bob Hope...I fell on his foot and gave him a charley horse."

In August of 1941 Frances, Bob Hope, Tony Romano, Jerry Colonna, and Patty Thomas went on the South Pacific tour. The plane was enroute from Brisbane to Sydney. It crashed in the Camden Haven River. They were stranded on a sand sprit. Frances had many brushes with death.

Her trip to the Aleutians and the events there gives an idea of her courage and determination, and why Bob Hope called her, "The Iron Horse".

The army bomber in which she, Hope and Romano were flying had difficulty getting over the Alaskan mountains. As the ship started to descend it hit a draft which carried it up to 13,000 feet with terrific force.

The radio failed and the crew chief went to Frances and started to help her put on a life preserver.

She waved him aside, smiled and said,

"Where the hell am I going to get strength to pull the ripcord". Her quip...calm courage and confidence spurred the crew to a safe landing instead of a suicidal bailout.

Frances was the first white woman to set foot on Umnak Island.

General John E. Copeland, USA, Fort Glenn, Alaska, in thanking Frances and the Bob Hope crew members, said, "My men now call Miss Langford, "Virginia Dare Langford".

Her memories are many and poignant.

Tears stream when she talks about "her boys".

And, they remember her...so many...everywhere she goes... "I'll never forget you when you came to ...." and there would be named some remote island where she brought a bit of America.

She was the GI's wife, mother and sister, and through her songs and courage, represented the eternal hope of all.

Women's Association Among Area's Most Active Groups

One of the most active, interesting and public-spirited organizations in the area is the Jensen Beach Women's Association. Founded in 1950 through the efforts of Zola Swarthout and others, the organization has grown rapidly and continuously because it has accomplished what it set out to do at the time of its inception---provide a place for scheduled entertainment for the members, the winter visitors and their guests.

Bazaars, suppers, shows and parties provided the necessary funds to buy the clubhouse on Highway 707 north of the Jensen Beach Arch, where capacity crowds now attend a steady program of events held by this ac-

Plans are now under way to build a new clubhouse as the Association has far outgrown its present facilities.

Regular meetings are held on the first and third Monday of every month, followed by refreshments and cards. Numerous other luncheons and card parties are held both at the clubhouse and at famous neighboring restaurants. Visitors and winter residents are always welcome to attend these events.

The club supports many community drives and projects and has a special project of its own: sewing for the patients at the Sunland Hospital for Retarded Children to which they have contributed hundreds of garments and toys for the past several years.

Each year many new members join the ranks of the club whose expansion is consistent with the

New officers are elected yearly with all members serving on committees for the various events. The most recent election was held March 8, at which time Mrs. Marie V. Miller was renamed as president. Others chosen were: Vice President, Mrs. Dorothy Mercer; Secretary, Mrs. Thelma Watson; Treasurer, Mrs. Hazel Heritage; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Bertha Seewald, and Director, Mrs. Amelia Miller.

Honorary President of the organization is Frances Langford, singing star of stage and screen who, with her husband Ralph Evinrude, have their estate, marina and famous Outrigger Restaurant in Jensen Beach.

Highlight of the season and perhaps the most successful event in the association's history was a Fashion Show sponsored by the organization at the magnificent Evinrude estate.

Postponed from Feb. 21 to Feb. 28 because of rain, this event attracted between 1,500 and 2,000 people---the proceeds going to the Association's clubhouse fund and to buy equipment for the Martin County Retarded Children's Association's new rehabilitation center at Port Salerno.

Guests were permitted to stroll about the grounds at will and several cars were on hand to provide transportation for those who wished to ride.

An eye-catching fashion show was staged at the pool, in which stunning beach and casual fashions from Miss Frances Langford's Outrigger Gift Shop were displayed to advantage by professional models. The commentary was provided by "Sunny" Young, nationally known in that role and perhaps best known for her commentary at the Miss America Pageant.

Awarding of prizes, including a trip for two to Freeport in the Bahamas and a "pin money" purse of $25.00, two colorful oil paintings and a handcrafted log cabin quilt, also featured the event. An auction, with Mr. Ed Menninger, Jr., as auctioneer, music by a youthful Jensen Beach folk-singing group, the Outriggers, and refreshments at The Hut were other features.

The presence of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude (Miss Frances Langford), added greatly to the success of this venture and Miss Langford provided the frosting on the cake by autographing photographs of herself for the throngs of Langford fans who attended the event.

FUN IS WHERE YOU FIND IT----Strolling the byways of Manhattan or lolling in the shade at some swank hotel may be enjoyable for some, but for this sturdy exponent of the art of Izaak Walton, what he is doing tops anything else. Surf fishing from a coral-studded shore into the racing waters of the Atlantic appears to be his idea of heaven. Maybe he's right!

MRS. MARIE MILLER

RAPT ATTENTION---Hundreds of interested guests---both women and men---gathered at the poolside on the Evinrude estate Feb. 28, to witness the Fashion Show which was part of the Polynesian Festival and Tour sponsored by the Jensen Beach Women's Association. Professional models displayed a wide selection of beach and casual fashions before this attentive audience while "Sunny" Young, nationally known style commentator, (with back to camera) described the intriguing features of the garments shown.

MOON OVER FLORIDA---- On such a night as this did Leander swim the Hellespont. Perhaps, but that is no Leander emerging from the sea. Instead it clearly appears to be a pulchritudinous maiden enjoying one of the enchanted evenings that are the special trademark of the Sunshine State, be it winter or summer.

Jensen's School Proud Of Community Role

The Jensen Beach Elementary School, geographically located on the west bank of the serene and beautiful Indian River, is proud of the part it plays in the community life of Jensen Beach.

Our enrollment steadily increases year after year, indicative of the continuous growth of the area.

We are happy when visitors from Jensen Beach and from outside our state come to visit us at various times during the year. Many up to date teaching facilities assist us in doing the best possible job of teaching our youth. We have these aids due to the fact that our Board of Public Instruction is aware of and sensitive to our needs. In addition to this, we are fortunate in have a P.T.A. and community interested in doing whatever is necessary to help us have the best school program possible. We are also fortunate in having a well trained and highly qualified staff of teachers including Miss Joyce Moton, first grade; Mrs. Phyllis Bevis, first and second grade; Mrs. Billy A. Cruse, second grade; Mrs. Mary Thomas third grade; Mrs. Jane Anthony, fourth grade; Mrs. Lucille Chicky fifth grade; and Mr. Ernest L. Varril sixth grade and Principal, as well. The curriculum is varied and well represented with visiting teachers for Spanish, Mrs. Dorothy Fritz; Music, Mrs. Becky Keller; Speech Therapy, Miss Sally Curry; P.E. for girls, Mrs. Dorothy Teter; Librarian, Mrs. Mary Smith, and Library assistant, Mrs. Jo Glass. Our Health program is supplemented with visits by Public Health Nurse Marion E. Tschischeck. The non-instructional personnel includes Mrs. Emma McCue, Cafeteria Manager, under whose direction well-balanced and prepared lunches are served daily; Mrs. Constance Bruzdoski, and Mrs. Georgiana Kranitz, assistants; Anne Berdge, secretary; Mrs. Clara Gideon, bus driver; and Carl Green, custodian.

Time and space will not permit at present the enumeration of all science, music , math, library and other equipment and materials added this schoolyear. Knowing that our people are interested and concerned enough to visit us, offer assistance, and jointly feel proud of our school, assures us that we can count on even better things for the children of Jensen Beach in the days that are ahead.

St. Joseph College, Novitiate Form Academic, Spiritual Training Center

Nestled in a setting of subtropical beauty on the picturesque west bank of the Indian River, a short distance south of Jensen Beach, stand the buildings that comprise St. Joseph College and Novitiate.

Of contemporary architecture, adapted to the south Florida climate, they are characterized by a simple, quiet, cloistered beauty ideally suited to the purposes for which they were designed. Approached from the Sewall's Point road by a winding road lined by majestic royal palms, the buildings present an eye-catching--but deceptive--picture. Deceptive because, from the front, the visitor does not realize the true size of the structures.

Originally the Novitiate was housed in the former Leach home atop a scenic hill north of the main buildings. Now that home serves as the residence of the faculty members, for in 1957 the present buildings were erected containing classrooms, library, study hall, chapel, dormitories, a dining hall and kitchen. Already these structures are proving too small and an expansion program is now being launched which will include a new chapel, additional classrooms, assembly hall and greatly increased library facilities.

St. Joseph College and Novitiate has for its primary purpose the Catholic higher education of the members of the congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph of St. Augustine, Florida. The college offers the Sister-student a two-year program of liberal education in which theology acts as a unifying principle in the "formation of her total person, and as a foundation for her professional preparation." In the words of Sister M. Jerome, Sister Superior of the Novitiate and Dean of the college, "It is a center for the spiritual and academic training of young women who wish to dedicate their lives to God as members of the order of Sisters of St. Joseph."

The Sisters of St. Joseph of St. Augustine, whose Motherhouse is in St. Augustine, staff the Novitiate, which is also a two-year liberal arts college, which provides academic training during a three-year period of spiritual training.

Founded in 1650 in Le Puy, France, the Sisterhood came to the United States in 1865, at the close of the Civil War, at the request of Bishop Verot, to educate the colored children who had just been freed. Such a school was opened in St. Augustine in 1870--the first school for the colored in the State of Florida and probably the first of its kind in this country. Originally the basic purpose of the Sisterhood was teaching but over the years its functions have been widely expanded. Now they include the operation of hospitals, homes for the aged, schools for physically handicapped children and the religious training--in the field--of the children of Puerto Rican migrants in the south Florida area. They operate Mercy Hospital in Miami, St. Cloud Hospital south of Orlando and will also be in charge of Mercy Medical Center now nearing completion at Orlando. They still, however, have 22 schools in Florida at the grade and high school level and two in Puerto Rico. For many, many years the Sisters operated the college at St. Augustine until it was moved here in 1957, the college opening in 1954.

Admission to the Novitiate and College is not an easy matter. Young ladies must make their application here, must undergo a searching interview and then wait while their backgrounds are studied.

If they are accepted, the Postulants, during their first year, in addition to their religious training also study the academic subjects of a freshman student. At the conclusion of that period, if found qualified, they receive the habit of the order. Then follows a canonical year of spiritual training during which they are called Novices. In the third year, they receive their sophmore training in academic subjects terminating in an Associate of Arts degree. At the same time, they are completing their three-year period of spiritual training in depth, which terminates with the Sister making her vows.

SISTER MARY JEROME, S.S.J.

In addition to the college and Novitiate, the Sisters conducted St. Joseph Academy until last June, when it was decided to close this boarding and day school because the building was needed for the college faculty. They have, however, continued to operate the kindergarten.

Sister Mary Jerome, Superior, who heads the Novitiate and college resident staff of 12 came here Aug. 11, 1964, after completing her doctorate at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. She succeeds Sister Eugenia, who had completed her six-year term and was, this, subject to transfer.

St Joseph Kindergarten Fills Important Need In Community

Although St. Joseph Academy, operated by the Sisters successfully for many years in conjunction with the Novitiate and college, was closed last June, a kindergarten has been--and will continue to be---a feature of this interesting training center.

In preparing these 5-year-olds for entrance into the elementary grades, a modified Montessori method is employed, which means that the youngsters are given individual attention and guidance.

This kindergarten, Sister Jerome Superior emphasizes, is not a nursery school because these miniature citizens are given a full program of study appropriate to their years. This program includes reading, art, printing, numbers and field trips about the spacious campus. The entire attention of two Sisters is devoted to their small charges.

That the kindergarten fills an important need in this area is indicated by the fact that the 25 boys and girls---they are about equally divided in numbers---come not only from Jensen Beach and Stuart but as far south as Jupiter and Hobe Sound and as far north as Fort Pierce. Admission to the school which, of course, is on a tuition basis, is not limited to youngsters of the Roman Catholic faith---the present enrollment including an equal number of Catholics and non-Catholics.

The Sisters take especial pride in the fact that, following a recent inspection by the Martin County Health Department, it received a rating of "excellence" both as to facilities and program. Exceptionally fine training in delightful surroundings with modern facilities under the careful tutelage of skilled teachers. That is the goal of St. Joseph Kindergarten--a goal which, obviously, is being achieved.

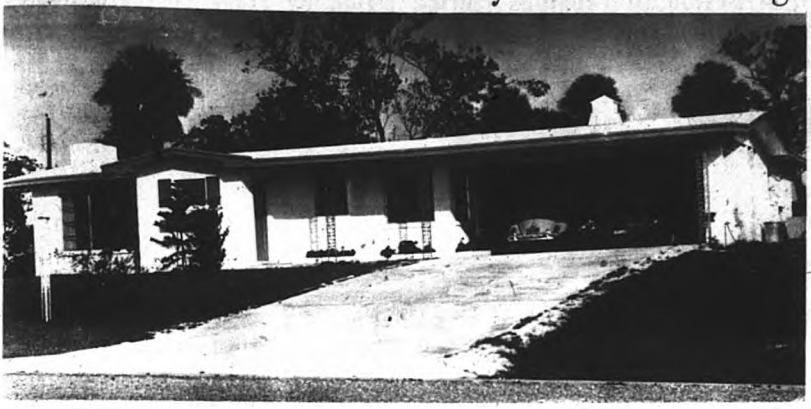
Sewall's Point Ideal For Truly Gracious Living



Quiet Comfort And Charm Feature New Wilson Home

It would be a fairly safe bet to say that most metropolitan newspapermen---though they are forever infected with the virus of rush, hurry and excitement of their profession---in their calmer moments and in the secret recesses of their minds, long for a home where peace and quiet reigns, far from the demands of it need not be Buckingham Palace but it should be a place of beauty, comfort and utility with large airy rooms, plenty of bookshelves and, preferably, with a wood-burning fireplace before which one may ruminate and, on occasion, perhaps even sip a satisfying drink. In short, it should be a spot designed for what today is known as "gracious living".

That, apparently, was the goal of Lyle B. Wilson, internationally known newspaper executive and writer, when---working in cooperation with Frank Forzberg, his architect-contractor---he had his spacious home constructed on Sewalls Point, overlooking the Built around a commodious patio at the rear, the home is constructed in the form of a "U". From the front loggia, entrance to the living room is through a hall, a feature of which is a large closet, for convenient disposal of wraps. The 20 by 26 foot living room is highlighted by a large picture window that presents an eye-catching vista of the St. Lucie River, and an attractive raised-hearth fireplace built around an air-circulating unit, that assures both warmth and free burning.

The mantel is topped by a large mirror and on either side of the fireplace are bookshelves. From the living room at the left side of the patio is a long hall which leads to the large master bedroom at the rear, this room being separated from the living room by a beautifully appointed bath and a large walk-in cedar closet.

The patio side of the hall is of glass and there is a door through which one may gain entrance to this colorful lounging area. Access to the patio is also possible from the living room, the dining room and the guest room, which is in the other wing of the house. Immediately to the right of the living room is the kitchen-breakfast room and the dining room, separated from the living room by glass doors. The guest room wing also contains a separate bath and a large utility room, which can also be utilized as a studio. At the front of the house and to the right of the kitchen and dining room is a large, two-car garage.

The house is so designed that the patio may be entered from any room without passing through another and so that the bedrooms are assured of peace and quiet.

An unusually interesting feature of the home is the roomy patio, completely screened, half of which is covered by translucent while fiberglass supported by wooden beams in shadow-box effect, the beams of forest green contrasting pleasantly with the white. The floor is colorful, textured masonry.

The entire house is heated and cooled by a reverse cycle, central air conditioning system.

The interior walls of the home are in soft colors of muted champagne, the accoustical ceilings are flecked with mica glitter and the rooms are illuminated by a cleverly designed indirect lighting system.

The floor of the living room is covered by a huge Persian rug in deep red tones and the furnishings are a pleasant combination of modern and Early American. On the walls are some delightful landscapes in oil but of especial interest are numerous framed photographs of famous world figures as well as original cartoons, including some by Martin County's own Zack Mosely.

The beautifully landscaped site of the home is in itself delightful, situated as it is overlooking the placid St. Lucie. The entire picture, inside and out, is a home of roomy, airy comfort especially designed for the quiet, gracious living that is part of life in Martin County.

Mr. Wilson, who with Mr. Wilson came to Sewalls Point late in 1964, is, as all newspaper men and an appreciable segment of the reading public are aware, a leader in his chosen profession. His byline for years has been found in newspapers served by the United Press---now United Press International. He has served both at home and abroad is director of the National Press Building Corporation, is a vice president of UPI and, since 1943, has been general manager of United Press International at PLEASANT RETREAT FOR HARRIED NEWSMAN--- Designed with an eye to commodious beauty and comfort, far from the roar and bustle of metropolitan journalism, this attractive home of Lyle B. Wilson, internationally known newspaper executive and writer, gazes serenely down on the quiet waters of the St. Lucie River at Sewalls Point.

FOR LUXURIOUS LEISURE--- One of the most delightful spots for lounging on a lazy Florida day is the roomy patio around which the Wilson home is built. Its colorful textured masonry floor, flecked with dancing shadows from the translucent fiberglass roof, its view of sub-tropical landscape and its casual furnishings afford a combination of beauty and comfort.

County Golf, Country Club Boon To Residents, Visitors

DR. WILLIAM ROBSON

Except for beach activities, bathing, fishing and boating, no form of recreation attracts more interest than golfing. This is as true in the Jensen Beach area as throughout the nation and it applies not only to tourists but permanent residents as well.

Happily we are well supplied with golf courses-- not just places where a ball may be whacked but top-notch, championship-type courses---in the Martin County Golf and Country Club and the two at the Port St. Lucie Country Club.

The area boasts many attractions and, certainly, not the least of these is the sporty, par 70, 18-hole course of the Martin County Golf and Country Club.

Owned by the county and operated by a board of directors consisting of 12 local men---four of which are elected each year-- the club this year is headed by Dr. William Robson, local dentist.

Growth of the club and physical improvements are little short of amazing. From a few members and a primitive nine-hole course only a few short years ago, the change has been little short of phenomenal. Today the club has 250 family memberships and more than 5,000 daily greens fees are handled annually.

As for the course, two years ago it was completely redesigned by Ernest Smith, prominent golf course architect, into a modern 18-hole championship layout.

With a full-time Professional Golf Association pro in attendance for instruction, the club boasts putting and chipping greens and a practice range with rental balls.

Locker rooms and shower facilities for both men and women complete a setup of which communities much larger--and more affluent--than Martin County could well be proud.

Although this is a public course, open seven days a week, the club attempts to maintain a friendly private club atmosphere. Designed primarily for use by and the enjoyment of permanent Martin County residents, the course is a favorite attraction for winter visitors and large numbers of guests from practically every state in the union frequent it during the season.

THIS IS THE WAY TO DO IT- --Miss Rose Leighton demonstrates the proper technique for this particular golf shot during a practice round on the Martin County Golf and Country Club course. Three companions beam with approval.

FAST ON HER FEET...AND PRETTY TOO-- This attractive racquet-wielder obviously knows what to do with the weapon she holds in her right hand. Tennis is only one of the many sports enjoyed by recreation lovers -- resident and tourist -- in Martin County's land of sunshine.

St. Lucie Offers Two 18 Hole Golf Courses

Meeting the recreational demands of the thousands of visitors who are entertained annually at the Port St. Lucie Country Club---as well as other guests and permanent residents as well-- are the club's two excellent courses.

Designed for PGA competition the holes on these two courses are beautifully landscaped to afford the view of controlled natural environment as golfers pass lakes and the vast St. Lucie River in the quest for low scores. These two courses bear the names Saints and Sinners, one being designed for low handicap and pro-type play and the other for the average golfer.

Complete golf services are available at both including pro shops well stocked with clubs, balls, clothing and the other paraphernalia followers of the sport expect and demand.

Lessons by competent pros are also available and there are driving ranges and putting greens so that the golfer can feel completely at ease when he or she strides to No. 1 tee.

Regular tournaments are staged which are both exciting and interesting, using handicaps whenever possible so that the duffer does not feel discouraged and outclassed. One of the outstanding sports events at the St. Lucie Club is the annual Perry Como "Turkey Shoot" golf tourney held at Thanksgiving and which includes almost a week of social events as well.

The half million dollar clubhouse during such events is the center of the area's social life and, with its swimming pool, shuffle board courts, archery layout and the like, affords year round entertainment for St. Lucie and Jensen Beach area residents.

THERE THEY GO! -- Roaring over the blue waters of the Indian River in the outboard regatta staged Sunday Feb. 25, these speedy craft were among the many that thrilled and excited the throngs lining the south side of the Jensen Beach causeway.

WHO CAN RESIST A PRETTY GIRL?---Jill Rambert, Miss Martin County, proves that she is not only pretty but a top saleswoman as well as she raffles off tickets on an Evinrude motor at the outboard races staged on the Indian River Sunday Feb. 25.

Jensen "Fire Eaters" Asset To Community

Village Volunteer Unit Rates Among Area's Finest

WHERE THE BOYS ARE---Headquarters for Jensen Beach's Volunteer Fire Department on Palmetto Drive, where the village's five trucks are housed. At the left can be seen the siren which is sounded to alert the department members when a call is received.

Jensen Beach has a fire department. There's nothing unusual about that; most communities have 'em. And it is made up of volunteers. That, too, is true of most Florida towns and villages. What distinguishes the Jensen Beach department from the others is its equipment and efficiency. So well equipped is the department, in fact, and so proficient are its personnel in using it that it is classed among the best. This is reflected in a lower fire insurance rate on all properties within a three-mile radius of the fire station as a result of the findings of the Florida Inspection and Rating Bureau.

This means money in the pocket of every property owner whose buildings are insured and, in addition, it instills in the people of the community a feeling of confidence, knowing as they do that, in case of a fire, the department will respond instantly---and the men know what to do when the equipment arrives.

The history of the department makes an interesting story. It began 17 years ago with an old, used truck obtained from the county---and no fire station to house it. The latter problem was solved when a tiny fire house was built at the foot of Commercial Street on Indian River Drive.

In 1956 a new Howe truck was purchased for $7,500, half of the cost being defrayed by the county and the remainder by contributions from the general public. Later the original truck was sold and three more were purchased one from the Pompano department.

About 1962, the department moved into new and more spacious quarters on Palmetto Drive---the present station. Again the county paid half, and half of the cost came from generous and appreciative citizens.

Now the department has five trucks: No. 1, equipped with a 350 gallon tank is used mainly for fighting wood fires. No. 2, besides various types of extinguishers, has a 500 gallon tank, 1,200 feet of 2-1/2 inch hose. 300 feet of 1-1/2 inch and 100 feet of booster hose for small fires. No. 3 with 375 gallon capacity also carries hose bridges---ramps that protect the hoses when they must be stretched across a road or highway. No. 4 has a 1,600 gallon tank and is used especially for big fires and wood fires. Mounted on its side is a pump with a 350 gallon per minute capacity. No. 5 is a utility truck with suction hoses, 400 feet of 1-1/2 inch hose, 400 feet of 2-1/2 inch hose and a Hale pump of 350 gallons per minute capacity. It is frequently used to refill the other trucks. Two other trucks also have portable pumps which can be used when a lake, pond or stream is available to provide water for the hoses, and all trucks are equipped with suction strainers and 30 feet of 2-1/2 inch hose for pond use. Likewise they boast inch, 1-1/2 and 2-1/2 inch fog nozzles which can literally blow fires out. Too, they have smoke and oxygen masks, the latter fed by portable tanks. Each truck has a first aid kit and, if the occasion demands, the Civil Defense trained fire fighters know how to use it.

A siren summons the men in case of fire and when the rigs are out, M. W. Murphy of the department remains behind to man the two-way radio at the station. Through this medium the trucks can communicate with the fire station or Murphy can notify them should another fire break out.

At present all members are volunteers who receive the princely pay of $1.00 an hour---while on duty. There is but one "full-time" member, Chief R. B. Spinney, who is at the station from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and who, in addition to his duties as Chief, also serves as maintenance man for the trucks and equipment---although major mechanical repairs are done by garages. This setup will soon be changed, however, because the county has already authorized employment of three Present personnel of the department, in addition to Chief Spinney, includes: V. V. Wortham, first assistant chief; Al Willeke, second assistant; Capt. Eugene Poux; three lieutenants---E. H. Rowe, Billy Banks and Ed Sprague, and 15 firemen: S. Bodoh, R. Tum, M. Brown, R. Pelosi, A. Smith, C. Smith, S. Banks, M. Profitt, J. Gentry, J. L. Banks, J. Hall, J. Addy, E. Wilkes, G. Poux, J. Rice and M. W. Murphy, the radio man. County Commissioner Frank Wacha and Robert Weisenberger are deputy commissioners.

As a protection to the men, the department is incorporated. Jack Addy is president, Ed Sprague is vice president, Meryl Profitt is second vice president, Morgan Brown is secretary and Eugene Pons is treasurer. There is also a board of directors consisting of the officers and three members of the department.

HERE'S HOW IT'S DONE---Believing that the best way to fight and prevent fires is to have a cooperative, informed public, members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department are willing and eager to demonstrate equipment and fire-fighting techniques when the opportunity arises. Here a member of the department shows an interested youngster how to hold and use a hose.

According to Chief Spinney, about 40 per cent of the men answer calls on work days---some employers permitting their men to respond without loss of pay---and 95 per cent on Sundays, holidays and at night. Each department member carries his rubber coat and hat in his personal car at all times, these cars being equipped with flashing red lights which, under the law, gives them right of way. All department members train twice a month, usually on the causeway, and every man is expected to know how to operate every truck and piece of

The department, as an extra service, has an old truck which it uses in summer for mosquito spraying, and Chief Spinney is also responsible for issuing burn-fire permits, such fires being banned unless a permit is issued. Even then, should the fire spread and damage the property of others, the fire builder is financially responsible for the damage done.

Because the bylaws of the department prohibit the use of any contributions for recreation, a welfare fund has been created, which enables the members to enjoy a barbecue or other social event from time to time. Money for this fund comes from selling and recharging fire extinguishers. As a morale builder, a recreational building---about 35 by 40 feet---is to be erected near the station on Palmetto Drive, which will have a kitchen and large recreation room for use by the firemen and outside groups on request. The contract has already been awarded to William Urillo and the building is to be ready for use by fall.

Another morale builder is the existence of a Ladies Auxiliary, which includes about 18 members and meets once a month at the fire station. Its members carry food and coffee to the firemen when they are battling fires and also assist at picnics. The officers are: Mrs. Langley Robertson, president; Mrs. Frank Wacha, vice president; Mrs. Eugene Poux, secretary; and Mrs. Vincent Bocchino, treasurer.

The department answers 8 to 10 calls a month on the average, mostly forest or brush fires, but occasionally is called on to battle a major blaze---even during a hurricane, as was true last summer. Should a fire assume such proportions that the local department cannot handle it, departments at Rio, Palm City, Salerno, Indiantown and the county department at Stuart can be called on for assistance---just as this department responds to a call for aid.

GOTTA HAV E FUN TOO---To maintain high department morale--and sometimes as a means of raising money for the welfare fund--barbecues, picnics and similar events are staged at intervals by the department, assisted by its Ladies' Auxiliary. At left, M. L. Brown smears a piece of chicken to see that it is properly cooked. At right, sporting a colorful chef's apron is V. V. Wortham, who, in addition to being first assistant chief, has won fame as a "fabulous cook".

Indian River Junior College Educational Boon To All Ages

Education has always been important but today in this space age---in this era of almost unbelievable accomplishments in electronics, absemistry, physics and the other sciences---it is a "must" for the young man or woman who does not want to become a human discard. Time was when a youth could drop out of college, or even high school, and with sufficient initiative, ingenuity or physical brawn, could make a comfortable living. Perhaps he could even acquire wealth and position if he possessed these qualities in sufficient amount. If he didn't he could learn a trade and still do well. Lacking knowledge or skill he could take menial jobs.

But with the advance of automation the picture has changed. Industries that required thousands of men can now--or will get along with hundreds while offering a record of greater productivity. Even migrant field workers are being crowded out by giant machines which, manned by a few, can accomplish in hours jobs that required days for large numbers of laborers to perform.

So, especially to the youth of modest means, the existence of the Indian River Junior College---now in its fifth year--at Fort Pierce should come like manna to the Israelites in the wilderness. Here is a fully-accredited educational institution, operated by St. Lucie, Indian River, Martin and Okeechobee Counties, which offers to the young man and women of the area two years of training culminating in Associate of Arts, Associate of Science or Associate of Nursing degrees. To those who wish to complete their education, the credits thus acquired qualify them for admission---for their junior and senior years- to the University of Florida, Florida State at Tallahassee, the University of South Florida at Tampa or any of the other institutions of higher learning in Florida or elsewhere.

Located on a 65-acre campus on Virginia Avenue, Fort Pierce, Indian River Junior College has a faculty and administrative staff counting 30, headed by its President, Dr. Maxwell C. King, a native of Fort Pierce, and a famous football star in his day who was also selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as the "Man of the Year" and also one of the 10 outstanding young men in the entire nation. Because this is a young college, its building program is still under way. In 1964 classes were conducted in the Administration and Science buildings, the two major structures on the campus. The 1964-65 building program calls for construction of a Student Center, Fine Arts and Library building---now in the process of construction. The library, now grown to 15,000 volumes, this year moved into its fourth and permanent home. The new and badly needed facilities have become a reality through community support and the passage of the College Building Amendment in November, 1963.

Other accomplishments of the building program were completion of the softball field the week of Feb. 15---the fill being provided by Fort Pierce with Martin County trucks aiding in the movement of the dirt---and the completion, Feb. 18, of a paved parking lot for around 200 cars in front of the Administration and Science buildings. Another unpaved temporary parking lot west of the new Student Center takes care of the overflow.

Education is aimed at developing a well-rounded young manor woman, so the usual social life found on other college campuses is enjoyed here along with a program of intramural sports---archery, bowling, golf, volleyball, basketball and softball. Extramurals began in 1964 and intercollegiate sports in 1964-65.

The college now has an overall enrollment of around 780, of whom 480 are full-time students. Others are taking less than 12 credit hours. That, in fact, is one of the important and interesting features of this college because many people---young and old---are taking courses, some at night, while still gainfully employed. Teachers and others are thus given an opportunity to win additional college credits while retaining their jobs.

Approximately 90 Martin County students are enrolled, this county having the third largest enrollment---almost tied with Indian River which is second only to St. Lucie---with Okeechobee fourth..

HIGHER EDUCATION FOR YOUNG AND OLD---This administration building is the center of activities in the comparatively youthful but thriving Indian River Junior College at Fort Pierce. With the student body growing by leaps and bounds and new buildings being added on the campus, this institution for higher learning fills an important niche in the area's educational picture.

Schools Of Martin County Expanding In Size, Quality

MRS. LILLIAN DASSORI

The enrollment in Martin County Schools reached an all-time high when the fifth month of the 1964-65 term ended on March 8, 1965. And what was that total? 4,437. This was exactly 272 more than last year at this same time. Jensen Beach School followed the county pattern in reaching its all-time high enrollment too! 822!

Yes, Martin County is growing and so are its schools. The new Martin County High School, completed in 1962, was built to accommodate all the Martin County students in grades 10-12. Already there are 552 students. This school is completely air conditioned and in addition to the administrative suite, lounge, library, gymnatorium, snack bar, there is the fine arts department, English and language arts department, science and math division, business education, social studies suites, physical education locker and dressing rooms, industrial arts shop along with mechanical drawing and DCT, thus presenting one of the finest buildings and finest curricula found anywhere.

The teaching staff is made up of 11 teachers with masters' degrees and 19 with bachelors' degrees; a guidance counselor and principal. All teachers are well trained and fully certified by the state in the area in which they teach. James C. Woodall is principal of Martin County High.

The Murray High School, with Ernest W. Edwards as principal, includes grades 7-12 and is located in Port Salerno. It too, is in a new air-conditioned plant, housing 317 students. The curriculum is approximately the same as at Martin County High School except for the vocational agriculture and vocational home economics departments. Driver training is taught at both schools.

Other schools in the County and their enrollments are as follows: Hobe Sound Elementary, 225 students, 8 teachers; Dunbar School (Hobe Sound), 180 students and 6 teachers; Julian D. Parker Elementary, 846 students and 20 teachers; East Stuart Elementary School, 427 students and 19 teachers; Palm City School with 227 students and 7 teachers; Port Salerno Elementary School, 228 students and 10 teachers; Warfield School (Indiantown), 440 students and 17 teachers; Warfield Annex, 1 teacher and 52 chuuren of migrant parents; Booker Park (Indiantown), 194 students and 6 teachers.

At the present time contracts have been awarded and construction has started for additional classrooms at Warfield School, Dunbar School, Port Salerno School and Booker Park School, to cost approximately $190,000.

In addition to school centers, teachers and students, there is a maintenance department, transportation department with a fleet of approximately 30 buses that travel about 7,500 miles per week; a staff of custodians, secretaries and school lunch workers.

And, who manages the school business? Thomas L. Crook is Superintendent and the board consists of five members; Frank DeStefano, chairman; Mrs. T. R. Chambers, vice chairman; Henry Gunn, Mrs. Jeanette Odom and Joseph Greenlees. Mrs. Lillian Dassori is the general supervisor, John C. Gray, supervisor of secondary schools and Jack Smouse, general coordinator. The finance department manages the "money" affairs involving a two million dollar budget. Schools....."Big Business"..... But all for the best education possible for the boys and girls in Martin County.

AS THE TWIG IS BENT---This modern educational complex, the Murray High School at Port Salerno, is the second of two new high schools constructed in the last year. This aerial photo shows the large area needed in the erection of schools as they are now created in accordance with the latest ideas in school construction and design. This new school with its counterpart on the Indiantown Road, should be adequate to meet Martin County needs for some years to come.

KEEPING PACE WITH PROGRESS---That Martin County people, public officials and private citizens alike, are not forgetting the importance of education and the role it plays today---and will continue to play in coming years---is indicated by the rapid expansion of its school facilities. Shown here is the new Martin County High School situated on the Indiantown Road. One of two high schools built in the last year it was erected to meet the demands of an expanding population.

1965 Being Recognized As The Year Of New Stuart

By Ray Cooke
Chamber of Commerce Pres.

Ray Cooke

This is the year of the "new Stuart". It is a great pleasure to serve the people of the Stuart area at this time when everyone can easily identify Stuart as a true beauty spot--even the casual traveler passing through enjoys a modern highway with tropical trees, foliage, green grass and local flowers, plus "white way" lighting. In the past, unless they stopped, or turned off the thoroughfare, many hurried through remembering Stuart as a somewhat ugly bottleneck, if at all.

The highway change has brought many new places of business into our city--service stations, eating places and shopping facilities. Others have announced intentions and assuredly more will follow.

Meanwhile, commercial buildings and plants have been congregating just south of the city along the railroad to form an industrial park type of arrangement. Here are printing, aircraft, storage, concrete supplies, bulk distributors grouped in a three-mile area.

The Stuart Chamber of Commerce believes that tourism is big industry in itself and devotes much of its program toward encouraging people to visit Stuart--and enjoy it, by receiving and assisting them upon arrival. We have an ideal location acquired by the City in 1952, bordered by U. S. Highway 1, waters off the St. Lucie River, and Sheppard Park. Here in our modern building, well windowed on the park side, we register tourists and new residents, help them find a place to stay and eat, things to do here and on side trips and generally give directions and information. Identical questions are answered by mail. Requests come from around the world for our free famous fishing guide booklet, now much copied all along Florida's East Coast, but originated right here by Ernie Lyons over 30 years ago.

This winter each Chamber of Commerce visitor is given a fresh orange, courtesy of State Representative William E. Owens from his Indiantown grove. Visitors seem surprised and very much pleased by this extra touch of hospitality. New city street maps, with outlying areas outlined are much in demand since their printing.

From our offices too, Stuart Sailfish Club carries on its citation awards program. Chamber staffers issue these in recognition of outstanding catches of 36 varieties of fish in local waters. Four types of membership buttons are available also for Sailfish catches, the most attractive going for release of the Sail so that it can live, reproduce and thus continue the sport for the future. Fishermen prize the beautiful citations and hang them on walls of homes and offices in all the states of the union, in remembrance of thrilling deep-sea trips. The Sailfish Club, an organization which emphasizes conservation and good sportsmanship, does the outstanding job of promotion in Martin County with this continuing program, plus regular winter and summer tournaments and two special ones.

During the past year east coast Chambers of Commerce have been meeting jointly to find ways to encourage travelers to use U. S. Highway 1 now that it is four-laned the length of the Florida mainland. It is hoped also to promote Highway A-1-A as a scenic route. Certainly the ocean is second only to the weather as an attraction of the state. Public space-age attractions in the Cocoa-Melbourne area are expected to lure more and more traffic eastward, while on the other hand the new fast central Florida route tends to decrease it.

With our highway route modernized, our next big development will be the availability of water at our ocean beachfront on Hutchinson Island. Many land owners are ready with resort plans when this project is completed. The City of Stuart will improve its property there for better public usage. Our increase of golf facilities has meant a lot to our visitors--the increase to 18 holes here and the nearby location of Port St. Lucie. Golf ranks high in what tourists (and residents) look for and appreciate.

Stuart and Martin County enjoy a varied economy. The flower growing provides beauty in the fields, bouquets in the homes--and money in circulation. Our section has been found highly desirable for citrus. Other lands hold ranches which produce cattle and dairy products--and a nationally known annual rodeo. Industrial economic development is in the capable hands of a county-wide Committee of 100 which intends to keep it compatible with our present assets. At present new retail establishments are almost constantly under construction.

Stuart's superb natural assets of climate and waterways and its geographic location insure its place in the development of Florida. We are proud to be a part of this and welcome inquiries from prospective vacationers, new residents and business investors and will do our best to help with their plans.

ROYAL PALMS--The beauty of the famed royal palms of Florida show off the entrance to St. Joseph College in Jensen Beach.

Recreation Of Every Variety And Form, You Name It! It's Here

Jensen Beach boasts---and rightly so---that it is a wonderful place to live". Metropolitan sophisticates may be inclined to look down their noses at the small communities but actually, here in Jensen Beach and Martin County, one can find--although on a smaller and lesser scale-practically any form of entertainment and recreation enjoyed by urbanites--- and many of which they have never heard.

True there are no Broadway shows but "during the season" a 40-mile drive to West Palm Beach or Palm Beach will afford theater lovers an evening or afternoon with stars of the theatrical world. If it's nightclub life you want, Miami---a couple of hours away- will provide that in abundance.

But even in the world of the theater such junkets are unnecessary for the Ripcide Players, Martin County's little theater group at Stuart, each year offer a wide variety of excellently staged productions. In addition, variety shows, sponsored by numerous worthy causes, provide outstanding entertainment.

There are art shows at the Museum and elsewhere, fashion shows for feminine contingent, illustrated lectures on a wide variety of subjects. Contract bridge lovers in all categories---highly skilled or run-of-the mill- can get their fill as members of innumerable clubs. Of course there are social clubs of all types---for women, men, veterans, fishermen. No matter where your preferences may lead you, you can find people of like tastes.

For the outdoor enthusiasts, the Jensen Beach area is little short of Paradise. Fishing and boating are perhaps the most popular. If it is fishing, you want you can try your hand at the deep sea variety, river fishing in boats or from the bridges and causeways, surf fishing on Hutchinson's Island and some of the finest bass anywhere can be landed in the savannahs.

Boating of all types---sailing or motor- provides entertainment for hundreds whether the craft be a tiny outboard, a luxurious yacht or a sailing vessel. Casual boating is a daily thing but there are also organized races for the various type of craft.

It goes without saying that bathing-- river, ocean and pool--plays a major role in the daily life of Martin County residents. A cool plunge in the beautiful Indian River off the Jensen Beach causeway or a refreshing swim in the ocean at the Jensen Beach, Stuart or private beaches on Hutchinson's Island are attractions to people of all ages both winter and summer, and the same is true of the many pools at private homes and resort motels that dot the area.

Tennis enthusiasts can try their skill on the municipal courts at Stuart while others find those at the Sunrise Inn to their liking.

Of course there is baseball, for all ages, young and old; little leagues, pony leagues, American Legion. Be it softball or hardball, there is always plenty of action. All forms of organized athletics in Martin County High School---football, basketball and the like offer entertainment not only for the participants but for the hundreds of fans, teen-agers and adults, who follow their teams' activities with interest and enthusiasm.

For those who like competition but prefer less strenuous sports there is shuffleboard with teams of outstanding skill being developed in the area.

With the advent of air-conditioning, bowling has become a year-round sport, often for the entire family. Back in the gas-light era---and even later--bowling for the most part was confined to saloons. Today comfortable, even luxurious, bowling centers not only offer a spot for healthful recreation but frequently are social centers as well with well-appointed restaurants, cocktail lounges and social rooms. Casual bowling and organized leagues are yearly growing in popularity in Jensen Beach as is true throughout the nation.

No recreational picture would be complete without golf and Jensen Beach area residents can test their skill on three excellent courses; two at the Port St. Lucie Country Club and the snorty, Martin County Country Club.

Horseback riding is popular, especially among the youngsters who, as members of the Tail Twisters Club, stage frequent competitions at the Jack James Ranch.

CLOSE TO THE WIND---With a spanking breeze blowing, the two-man crew of this fleet craft beats along on a tack, prior to coming about. Silhouetted in the background against the blue Florida sky, the darker waters and Hutchinson's Island are the white sails of craft competing in one of the many regattas.

ADMIRING ROYALTY- -This piscatorial beauty which the gentleman on the left is gazing at with such avid interest is a king mackerel--69 inches long and a catch to make any fisherman's chest swell with pride.

LAST ONE IN'S A ROTTEN EGG--Boys today, in this sophisticated age, are little different than they were 75 years or a century ago. Then the ol' swimmin' hole was a pool in the back pasture or a deep spot in the creek. In this instance, it is the beautiful Indian River but the youngsters get the same thrill as did their dads or grandfathers.

THE PLACE WE CALL HOME---To residents of this community, unless you have seen Jensen Beach you haven't seen America. So that the casual tourist may be made aware, Jensen Beach has erected this eye-catching arch over Highway 707 south of the village, announcing to all that this is the "Gateway to the Atlantic".

Community Church Here Has History Of Expansion

Perhaps the largest and certainly possessing the newest, most modern and most extensive physical properties of any congregation in the area, the Jensen Beach Community Church edifice looks serenely down from its picturesque setting on Skyline Drive. At night its illuminated white cross glowing against the dark subtropical sky is a beacon that can be seen for miles.

Thought of as far back as 1894, organized by the Baptist State Board of Missions and the Rev. E. Woodson in 1905 and completed as the Union Church in 1912, this congregation is one with a record of almost continuous expansion. Originally located as a Sunday School in the Al Franco Hotel, it moved to the Town Hall (site of the present Community Center) and thence to a new home on Church Street.

It was officially organized as the Jensen Beach Community Church by the Rev. H. H. Jones in 1913. He served as pastor for 21 years and was succeeded in 1950 by the Rev. Roy Sampley. The Rev. Foster Holt followed him in 1958 and he in turn was succeeded in 1962 by the present pastor, the Rev. Newton Tweedy.

Other improvements were made to the old church but eventually it was decided even more space was needed and the beautiful new structures were erected on Skyline Drive. A Sunday School building, Fellowship Hall and Bell Tower and huge parking lot were first constructed on the eight-acre site and late 1964 and this year has seen the completion of the church proper. The first service in the beautiful new sanctuary was held Jan. 3 of this year, attended by 674.

Indicative of the church's growth in recent years is the fact the membership of 75 in 1958 has grown to 328 and the physical assets have mounted during the same period from $33,000 to $348,142.

The Rev. Mr. Tweedy, 47, a native of Luck, Wis., grew up in Minnesota and was graduated from the University of Minnesota and Colgate Rochester Divinity School. Mrs. Tweedy studied at the Lutheran Bible Institute of Minneapolis. They have seven children: David, 14; Joy, 13; Gay, 11; Warren, 9; Bonnie, 5; Dayton, 4; and Dana Jensen, 2.

Church Of Christ Now Jensen Beach's Youngest

Newest in Jensen Beach's family of churches is the Gethsemane Church of Christ, also known as the Christian Church, which since February 1964 has owned and occupied the building on Church Street which was the former home of the Community Church.

Begun as a mission project of the South Side Church of Christ (Christian) at Fort Pierce, the first meeting and service was held Feb. 23, last year. The charter of the church, opened for one month, had a total of 16 members. During the ensuing year, 35 active members have been received into the fellowship with an average attendance of 40 to 50 persons.

The Christian Churches of southeast Florida have an organization known as Church Planters. Nine of the members of the Fort Pierce South Side Church invested $18,000 to purchase the building from the Community Church through this organization, so that this infant congregation already owns its own place of worship.

Since the service, Mr. Leon L. Baker, Jr., minister of the South Side Church, has also served the congregation here, holding Bible School from 9:50 to 9:30 and worship from 9:30 to 10:30 each Sunday morning as well as Bible study each Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

As of the first Sunday in March, the Jensen Beach Church will have its own full-time ordained minister in the person of Mr. Robert Greenwood, who will come here from Glenwood, Ind., where he served as minister of that community's Christian Church. Twenty-four years of age, Mr. Greenwood is married and has one child. Temporarily, at least, they will reside in the parsonage next to the church.

Mr. Baker, who has been serving both churches, was honored Feb. 13 by his congregation on the occasion of his fifth anniversary as Fort Pierce pastor by a gift of matched luggage. He came to Fort Pierce from Richmond, Va., where he also served five years after graduating from Cincinnati Bible Seminary. Married, he is the father of three daughters: Bonnie Jean, 18, who next fall will enter the Cincinnati Seminary from which her father graduated; Beverly Joanne, 9, and Belinda Joyce, 4.

Mr. Baker has resigned his post as minister of the South Side Church in Fort Pierce effective the first Sunday in June and, with Mrs. Baker and their two younger children, will go to Jamaica to serve at least two years in the mission field.

Preparatory to ending his part-time ministry here, he voiced his personal thanks to the pastor and members of Jensen Beach Community Church for their kindness and generosity in allowing his congregation to use their hymnals until they could obtain their own.

GETHSEMANE CHURCH OF CHRIST---Jensen Beach Community Church, now houses the congregation of Gethsemane Church of Christ, also known as the Christian Church. Served since its inception by Mr. Leon L. Baker Jr., of Fort Pierce on a part-time basis, it will - starting March 7 - have its own full-time ordained minister in the person of Mr. Robert Greenwood, who has been occupying a pulpit in Glenwood, Ind.

New Anchorage Yacht Club Proving Recreation Mecca

By Ed Rich
Publicity Director

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE ANCHORAGE YACHT CLUB

The New Anchorage Yacht Club is unequalled in its facilities for boating, motel and club accommodations in the Martin County area. The Marina is convenient to the yachting traffic north and south bound on the Indian River waterways and the east and west yachting traffic on the St. Lucie River waterway. The Marina operations are a franchised PHILLIP "66" approved facility, having complete services for the local and visiting yachtsmen.

The motel accommodations are but a few minutes drive to the Jensen and Stuart public beaches and many other points of interest in Martin County. These accommodations, too, are in great demand by visiting yachtsmen, boat-a-cade parties and winter visitors who enjoy the beautiful room accommodations, luxurious club facilities, a fresh-water swimming pool, shuffle-board court and recreational activities at reasonable rates for rooms, food and bar services, including Marina services.

The NEW CLUB facilities, recently expanded to provide for the fast growing membership, has a dining room done in a New Orleans motif and a gorgeous view overlooking the wide St. Lucie River. There is a small private clubroom just the right size for entertaining family or small civic groups. The dance floor provides room for all to dance in comfort to the live music of a popular local dance combo, the Horseshoe Shaped Bar, with a full windowed area and tables, permits an excellent view of the St. Lucie River and its lovely sunsets. There is ample parking space provided by the new and improved parking arrangements.

The club has excellent leadership through our Commodore and his Board of Directors, who plan and schedule the NEW ANCHORAGE YACHT CLUB social activities in such a manner as to meet the needs of our large membership.

We are proud of our capable staff who work hard to see that members, guests and yachtsmen, are given the best of services. A sample of the NEW ANCHORAGE YACHT CLUB social activities for the year of 1964 will give a good idea of why the club has gained so enviable a reputation.

In February, to celebrate a big shipment of prime western beef, Western Night was a successful costume party with prizes to the best costumes, a door prize and a dinner of prime western charcoal broiled strip steaks. The "Big Heart" costume party on Valentines Day had prizes for the best costumes and a dinner of either seafood imperial or potato pancakes and sausage. St. Patrick's Day was celebrated with a "Top Of The Morning Party" featuring wearing of the green for a prize, group singing and a special corned beef and cabbage dinner.

In April, we celebrated our "9th Anniversary Party" with the traditional nautical style dress and piped all members and their guests aboard to compete for our lucky "9" prizes and served a prime western steak dinner. In April, the Anchorage Yacht Club was host to the Vero Beach Yacht Club Boat-a-cade and enjoyed a weekend filled with fun for all. A family-styled picnic for the membership was held on the Yacht Club grounds May 24 and the children were treated to free boat rides, soda and game prizes, while the adults enjoyed free beer and swimming before the buffet picnic dinner was served.

We were hosts to the Delray Beach Power Boat Squadron May 30, June found our Club Yachtsmen on a Boat-a-cade to the Vero Beach Yacht Club; we also were hosts to the Fort Pierce Power Boat Squadron; and a large group of our members attended the opening of the "Pirates Den Lounge" in the Buccaneer Yacht Club at Riviera Beach, where Mrs. Edna Wolf had a part in the WEAT TV feature program, "Night Life on the Gold Coast".

June also featured a Father's Day Buffet Luncheon on the club grounds.

In July we held a Teenage social, called "The Buoys and Bell's Hop". The teenager response was terrific and they had a real ball as did the adult members attending. The August Boat-a-cade of the Anchorage Yacht Club to the Buccaneer Yacht Club was a huge success. September was highlighted by a "Roaring Twenties Party" with pretzels, popcorn, draft beer and a buffet dinner.

The October Halloween Party, the "Bats Ball", featured all manner of unusual costumes with the best getting a prize. The November Club plans included a Boat-a-cade to the Indiantown Marina via the Inland Waterway and through the St. Lucie River Locks.

The management of the Anchorage Yacht Club held open house on Christmas Eve, with all mixed drinks at a reduced rate and a free buffet dinner.

The big event of the year, looked forward to by all, was our move from our old club into our new and luxurious club on New Year's Eve. This gala event closed out a successful year of social activities.

In addition to the above mentioned social activities, our Club members and their guests enjoy many congenial evenings having cocktails, dinner and chatting with other members and their guests. There are no strangers here. As this article goes to press, we are still in the process of enlarging our facilities, and daily progress can be observed from the newly completed club rooms overlooking the Marina and Motel areas of our grounds.

The Marina is being enlarged, new bulkheads are scheduled for construction, new boat slips are still under construction, the entrance channel will be widened and provide a greater depth of water, channel entrance markers are to be renewed and many other items are being considered for the convenience of the yachtsmen. Motel units are to be renovated and new units are scheduled for construction.

Minute Maid Groves Corporation's Plantings Will Add Millions To Florida Citrus Economy

When the 8,100-acre Cliff Hodgson Grove at Indiantown was dedicated in March, 1963, it marked the advent of Florida as one of the nation's leading lemon producing areas. Now, two years later, the grove is on its way to realizing its full potential.

The 8,100 acres includes 4,300 acres planted with some 440,000 Lisbon lemon trees and 3,800 acres planted with approximately 290,000 orange trees.

When the lemon trees come into full production some seven years hence, they will yield an estimated 1.2 million boxes of top quality fruit. At the time the lemon tract was planted, it exceeded the combined acreage of lemon groves in Florida by some 800 acres.

Sunshine State citrus currently includes some 3,500 acres of lemon groves yielding about 250,000 boxes of fruit. By comparison, California growers harvest some 13 million boxes and Arizona 1 million, although both states use a 70-pound box as compared with Florida's standard 90-pound box.

Each year a large volume of lemons is shipped to Florida from California and Arizona to meet fresh fruit demands. It was with an eye towards filling needs from Florida sources that Minute Maid Groves Corporation began its research in 1955.

On a 20-acre tract in its Alpine Grove near Avon Park, Minute Maid Groves Corporation horticulturists grew and tested 41 varieties of lemons before recommending the Lisbon.

At the same time that the lemon research was being conducted, company agronomists were studying various locations for the ultimate plantings. As a result of the findings at Alpine and with a knowledge of the sensitivity of lemons to low temperatures, Minute Maid Groves Corporation officials selected the Indian River area as the most suitable for the Hodgson Grove.

Planting of the orange trees was completed in 1963 and lemon plantings were started in Fall, 1963, and completed by Spring, 1964.

Upon maturity of the 730,000 trees in the Hodgson Grove, it is estimated that a minimum of $10 million will be added to the state's citrus economy. The total contribution of the Hodgson Grove and the Holman B. Cloud Grove at Ft. Pierce to Florida's economy is expected to exceed $20 million.

Including the 6,500 acre Cloud Grove, which is second in size in the world only to the Hodgson Grove, Minute Maid Groves Corporation holdings in the lush south Indian River citrus area total nearly 16,000 acres.

Gala ceremonies were held March 13, 1963, in the G. C. Troup Rodeo Bowl to conduct the traditional tree-planting ceremony marking the official dedication of the grove named in honor of Minute Maid Groves Corporation President C. W. Hodgson.

On hand, in addition to local, state and citrus industry leaders, were then-Governor Farris Bryant, Commissioner of Agriculture, Doyle Conner, Minute Maid Company President Benjamin H. Oehlert, Jr., and Martin County State Representative William Owens.

Hodgson, who was elected President of Minute Maid Groves Corporation in 1962, spent the previous 36 years with The Coca-Cola Company. He has served as Vice President and Manager of The Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Utah; President of all subsidiary Parent Bottling organizations; and Vice President in Charge of the Technical Services Division of The Coca-Cola Company.

In addition to his duties as President of Minute Maid Groves Corporation, he is currently Chairman of the Minute Maid Company Executive Committee and of the Packaging and Sales Equipment Committee.

Hodgson was born in Athens, Georgia, and is an alumnus of the University of Georgia and Georgia Institute of Technology.

He now makes his home in Maitland, Florida, with his wife, the former Roberta Parham of Greenville, Georgia. They have three daughters: Mrs. Henry S. Johnson, Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. Edward Strickland, Maitland, Florida; and Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale, Chicago, Illinois.

In the background, laborers and equipment are busy tending the new lemon trees planted on some 4,300 acres of the 8,100-acre grove.

STATE LEADERS MADE HONORARY CHIEFS- Two political leaders and two citrus industry leaders were made honorary Indian chiefs during the March, 1963 dedication by Minute Maid Groves Corporation of its 8,100-acre Cliff Hodgson Grove near Indiantown, Florida. William Owens, State Representative for Martin County, presented hand-made ceremonial headdresses to, from left, Benjamin H. Oehlert, Jr., President of Minute Maid Company; Doyle Conner, Florida Commissioner of Agriculture; Farris Bryant, then-Governor of Florida; and C. W. Hodgson, President of Minute Maid Groves Corporation, in whose honor the grove was named.

STEEPED IN HISTORY

Long before the days of old Seminole Chief Billy Bowlegs, the Tequesta Indians lived for generations here on the ocean, at the natural Jupiter Inlet. They settled along these very banks of the Loxahatchee (Big Turtle) River, gathering oysters, hunting in the deep pine woods, catching giant sea turtles, and the great manatee. All these abundant gifts of nature made their lives full and held them to this tranquil scene.

Volumes have been written about the historic Jupiter Lighthouse, the Barefoot Mailman who started his long beach trek here, the old Jupiter Fort, and Jonathan Dickinson's shipwreck off Jupiter Island. The Celestial Railroad to Mars and Juno had its origin at Jupiter and predates Palm Beach. Fishing the Loxahatchee River has been a favorite subject for sportswriters over the years.

Thriving Indiantown Offers Much To Industry, Business, And Visitors

Unlike so many small communities that have simply sprawled out in their growth, Indiantown, in west central Martin County, knows where it wants to go, what it wants to be and has laid careful plans for its future.

Situated as it is on Florida's industrial highway between West Palm Beach and Orlando, it is an ideal center for a wide variety of enterprises. Close to all major south Florida cities it lies in a huge dairy cattle and citrus growing area. The Pratt & Whitney Research and Development Center and the Air Products plant, both pioneers in space products, are near by and the high terrain and fertile soil have attracted other such industrial giants as the Minute Maid Corporation.

One of the forward-looking steps taken by the developers of Indiantown has been the creation of an Industrial park- fully equipped for immediate occupancy. Consisting of 135 acres of land, the park has paved roads and complete water and sewerage systems. Railroad sidings (boasting space for more than 100 cars) connect with the main life of the Seaboard Railroad, which follows the park boundary line.

The park has access to deep water ports by way of the St. Lucie Canal a major avenue of barge traffic and the only existing cross-state waterway. In addition to its railroad and waterway facilities, Indiantown is serviced by Greyhound Bus and major freight carriers, situated as it is on State Route 710 (North-South) and State Route 76 (East-West) with an interchange for the Sunshine State Parkway only 17 miles away.

Indiantown boasts a private airport with a 7,000-foot runway and is only 45 minutes driving time from Palm Beach International Airport, served by National, Eastern, Delta, United and Mackey Airlines. The Stuart Municipal Airport is but 25 minutes away.

A community of approximately 3,500 people, it is situated on high, well-drained ground and is favored by practically frost-free weather.

Because Florida tends to attract skilled labor and an abundance of unskilled labor is always available, retail businesses and industry have found Indiantown to their liking. One of the major business firms is Indiantown Printing, Inc., one of the largest and finest-equipped printing plants in the state which offers overnight service to the entire eastern seaboard.

Modern medical facilities include a new medical center in the heart of the community, with an ambulance on 24-hour call. Nearby are the Martin Memorial Hospital at Stuart and the new Okeechobee Hospital.

To provide education for the area's youth, there are the Warfield Elementary School and Warfield Junior High with school bus service to Martin County High School.

Most of the religious denominations are represented among Indiantown churches and for the fraternally-minded there are such organizations as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Kiwanis, Business & Professional Women's Club, Civic Club, Boy Scouts, Teen Club and PTA.

As an added incentive to new industries and residents, Indiantown people point out that there are no city taxes, no state taxes on real property, no state or local income taxes--individual or corporate--and county taxes are low after a $5,000 homestead exemption.

COMFORTABLE LIVING--Indiantown is a community of attractive, modern homes nestled in pleasing surroundings. A well-thought-out housing design with uniform set-back lines plus appropriate landscaping make the area a pleasant place in which to live.

Life in Indiantown is informal and relaxed. It is distinguished by some of the world's best fishing, boating, hunting and outdoor living.

Indiantown is a community of friendly "hometown" people who desire neither the traffic, noise, night life, politics, nor taxes of city dwelling...yet it is only 30 minutes from the ocean beaches and Metropolitan shopping centers.

SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE...The Indiantown area offers the outdoorsman the best in hunting as well as fishing and boating.

Indiantown Area Thriving, Up-To-Date But Steeped In Colorful Lore Of Florida

Casual visitors---perhaps even some of the community's residents---do not know it but the entire Indiantown area is steeped in interesting, colorful history.

On Christmas Day, 1837, American forces, moving southward along Lake Okeechobee engaged the Seminoles just 14 miles northwest of the present site of Indiantown. That engagement was to be the last pitched battle of the Florida War and the last Indian engagement east of the Mississippi, according to historians. The troops were commanded by Col. Zachary Taylor, who was to become the 12th President of the United States. The Seminoles, led by their chiefs Wilcat, Alligator and Sam Jones, retreated into the Everglades to split up under their different leaders---never again to fight against the whites as a unit. Soon afterwards, Osceola, legendary head of the Seminoles, was captured.

A fort was built near Indiantown to protect the "old wire road", the north-south military trail, so named for the telegraph line that connected Fort Drum and Jupiter. Called Fort Van Swearigan, its name honored the memory of an infantry captain slain in that final battle.

The war over, the land drifted back into the hands of the Seminoles, except for an occasional venturous hunter, until the 1890's when Francis Marion Platt and his family arrived in search of grazing land for their cattle. Not content with cattle alone, Platt's sons hauled orange trees by ox car from Arcadia, a six-day journey, and started four groves in the rich soil.

Joe Bowers came at about the same time, built a trading post and with his brother's aid, planted and, with his brother's aid, planted citrus groves still known today as "The Famous Bowers Groves". Visitors to these lovely groves can see some of the same trees- still bearing luscious fruits.

During World War I, the Army returned to Indiantown, this time to dig the St. Lucie Canal as part of the Everglades drainage system. The early 20's saw construction gangs push ribbons of steel into Indiantown, carving out a railroad from Coleman to West Palm Beach. Indiantown became headquarters for the railroad's southern division and S. Davies Warfield, Seaboard president, ordered plans drawn for a model community and erected the picturesque Seminole Inn. Unfortunately Mr. Warfield died financial troubles plagued the railroad and the project was abandoned.

In 1923 the Canal was deepened and widened, creating a waterway for larger craft and linking the Atlantic with the Gulf, a foresighted move that permitted oil barges and freighters to ply the canal during World War II, free from the torpedoes of German subs.

Now Indiantown is an attractive, thriving community, a Mecca for boaters and hunters---and even the lovers of the Wild West when the Great Circle T Rodeo is staged each year. This is a far cry from the Indiantown that was but even today---perhaps at dusk when the fragrance of wood smoke fills the air---the romantic-minded can hear the echoes of the Seminole war cries or imagine that the pungent smoke comes from their long-dead council fires.

The annual Circle T Rodeo is a highlight of Indiantown's year.

PICTURESQUE BEAUTY TO DELIGHT THE EYE- A wooden dock, its timbers and deck painted soft gray by nature, a small fleet of boats at anchor, hungry pelicans in search of a meal. Where could one find a view more seductive to lazy dreaming? In the background can be seen the piling of the new Jensen Beach bascule bridge, now under construction, along with the giant derricks that make the structure possible, as well as a tempting glimpse of Hutchinson's Island.

Chamber President Continues Dedicated Leaders List

By JACK MACE

The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, since its origin, has been fortunate in its choice of presidents. This is important for without able and dedicated leaders such organizations are inclined to founder on the shoals of apathy. That true leadership has not been lacking in this community is indicated by the ever-widening scope and success of its programs.

During the past year this leadership has been provided by Richard E. "Dick" Campbell who, in his dual role as Chamber President and editor-owner of the Jensen Beach Mirror, has demonstrated two outstanding and highly desirable qualities. First that he is able and untiring in his efforts to make Jensen Beach "a wonderful place to live" and second, that as an editor-owner he is dedicated to the philosophy that a newspaper can be a constructive--not negative---force for community betterment.

His success as President of the Chamber can best be understood by knowing something about this man who in less than four years---since September 14, 1961, when the first copy of the Mirror rolled off the press---has gulfed his newspaper to its present status in the field of Florida weekly journalism.

Coming to Jensen Beach in 1961 after two years of service with the Stuart News, he established this newspaper against odds that might well have discouraged a less vigorous, determined, imaginative and dedicated man. Outside of a surprisingly-swiftly growing circulation, his first rewards came in 1963 when the Mirror captured two honorable mention awards for excellence for "typography" and "best offset newspaper" from the Florida Press Association's better newspaper contest.

But those awards only foreshadowed greater things to come, because in 1964 in the same statewide competition, the Mirror carried off first place awards for "best promotion" and "best use of color" and also two second place awards for "best feature" and "best advertising promotion". Those were achievements of the newspaper under his guidance. The frosting on the cake came in a more personal way when Outstanding Young Men of America notified him that he had been selected to appear in its 1965 edition as one of the nation's outstanding young men.

Campbell majored in journalism at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and not long after earned his stripes as a newspaper man as managing editor of the Juneau (Alaska) Independent. In that role he battled for statehood---the Independent being the only newspaper in southeast Alaska to favor such a move. His editorials were reprinted in the Congressional Record and are credited with helping to turn the tide in the statehood referendum.

Newspapering is his life's blood. In fact he counts three newspapermen, including the Independent's Ernest Gruening---Alaska's former Governor and new Senator---as the strongest influences in his life. The second is Prof. James McClure of Washington University, where he was an editor on the twice-weekly student newspaper and acted as associate editor of the campus humor magazine. The third is Ernie Lyons, of the Stuart News, seen by him as "one of the nation's greatest writers and philosophers and the one person who taught me that newspapering is as much a religion of life as a profession."

Campbell's newspaper philosophy is that he, while publishing a well-rounded weekly, would rather print a picture of a Boy Scout court of honor than one of an auto wreck. He believes, too, that more can be accomplished for his community by constructive approach than by nasty, critical editorials.

There is an old adage that behind the successful man there is usually a woman who leads inspiration and provides a sympathetic ear when troubles and problems pile up. It's true in Dick's case, too, in the person of his wife, Ora, whom he married in Juneau, Alaska, February 25,1956. Ora not only provides the inspiration and sympathetic ear but toils in the vineyards as well, for it is she, as office manager, who handles the page makeup and ad layouts. They have one son, Richard E, Campbell, Jr., 8, who prefers to be known as "Ricky" and, not surprisingly, is held in high esteem by his proud parents.

In addition to his newspaper tasks, and his responsibilities as Chamber President, Dick is president of The United Fund, a director in the Florida Press Association, a sports enthusiast, is co-publisher of the Martin County Sun and the Jupiter Courier-Highlights, a member of the American Federation of Musicians, composes music, and played professionally (now as a hobby, drums and trumpet).

The man who wrote the title "What Makes Sammy Run?" might well have substituted the name Dick!

ROADWAY TO BEAUTY---Indian River Drive, looking south in Jensen Beach, is a bit of what is considered by many--visitors and residents alike--as perhaps the most attractive and colorful drive in Florida. Skirting the river which gives it its name, this winding, picturesque road offers a panorama of sub-tropical beauty. Both to the north and south of Jensen Beach, nature's bounty is augmented by scores of attractive--- many luxurious---homes that make this area so pleasant a place in which to live.

Jensen Beach Chamber Vigorous Organization With Community Betterment As Its Target

By Jack Mace

Jensen Beach is a friendly, thriving community which over the last decade has been a part of the all-out phenomenal expansion and development that has characterized south Florida. But growth and expansion in a community does not come about by accident. It is the result of a unifying force that originates and develops ideas and projects of area-wide benefit—that gets things done. In Jensen, as in many other communities, that unifying force is the Chamber of Commerce.

Jensen Beach, on the surface, is a placid community but the activity, the accomplishments—and the effort involved—might amaze the visitor; might even astonish some of its full-time residents.

Tourism, in the opinion of Reg Walker, executive secretary of the Chamber and the other officers as well, is playing, and will continue to play, an ever-increasing role in the economy of Jensen Beach and all of south Florida. For that reason, special stress is placed on encouraging tourists to visit this area, to see that they are accommodated comfortably, treated courteously and efficiently and provided adequate entertainment so that they are encouraged to return---and bring their friends with them.

During the last year 26,944 copies of an attractively illustrated Resort and Fishing guide were mailed out or distributed to visitors. Data for this brochure were collected by the Chamber which also shouldered the cost of its printing and distribution. More than 16,000 copies were sent to American Automobile Association clubs, travel agencies and Chambers of Commerce throughout the United States. Nearly 5,000 copies were sent to the six Florida State Welcome Stations.

The copies sent to the AAA, travel agencies and Chambers of Commerce went to 35 different states and Canada; our northern neighbor receiving nearly 1,000. Enclosed with each consignment of Fishing Guides were return post cards with the result that scores of requests were received for additional copies. In addition to the Fishing Guides, the Chamber distributed to visitors 4,725 maps and brochures. Walker's records reveal that 2,349 inquiries were received--mostly concerning accommodations and other related data---and 2,520 letters and cards were sent out. As a result, nearly 2,000 visitors were registered at the Chamber office.

Among its many activities, the Chamber maintains a register of all residents and visitors so they may be easily located for the delivery of telegrams, for contacting by relatives and for truck deliveries. A file is also maintained of all inquiries concerning the buying of homes, land, rental of hotel or motel accommodations for the convenience of Chamber members. The Chamber, as a service to residents and visitors, always has on hand a supply of informative material from every Florida community or resort that issues a brochure.

In 1963 the Chamber took upon itself---with the assistance of the Florida Development Commission--- the assigning of street numbers to facilitate the delivery of telegrams, mail, truck deliveries. Last year, as was true immediately following the launching of the project, this proved of inestimable value in the delivery of Christmas gift packages bearing only Post Office box numbers. Since the Post Office Department and the Express Company have no connection, those packages might never have been delivered had it not been for the Chamber files.

While the encouragement of tourism is vitally important, it is but one facet of an ever-expanding Chamber of Commerce program. Here are some of the other activities that marked a busy 1964:

ANNUAL BOAT-A-CADE via the Okeechobee Waterway May 15, which last year originated at Fort Meyers and ended at Jensen Beach, with the Outrigger Restaurant serving as headquarters and scene of the boat-a-cade dinner.

PRAMS. The Chamber obtained six Prams (small sailboats) for use by Jensen Beach school children with, during the summer, twice daily classes in the safe operation of these craft, always under the supervision of a Chamber member or a representative of the schools.

FOURTH OF JULY ACTIVITIES. These included the annual Soap Box races with the Chamber providing the prizes and making kits available for purchase by sponsoring businessmen. The Chamber program featured an elaborate fireworks display put on by the local Volunteer Fire Department on the causeway, sponsored a series of Pram races, a barbeque which the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department put on and a giant community picnic addressed by Rep. William Cwens, County Commissioner Frank Wachs, Chamber President Richard Campbell and Philip Baker, a Chamber director.

MAILING LIST. The Chamber originated a mailing list sent out each Wednesday to participating members, detailing all inquiries concerning accomodations, real estate, etc.

LABOR DAY. As a thrilling feature of the late summer season, the Chamber sponsored a series of outboard motorboat races in the Indian River. These races were witnessed by a throng, estimated at 2,500 people. Trophies for these races were donated by Ralph Evinrude.

IMPROVEMENT DRIVE. As one of its major projects the Chamber sponsored and developed a Cleanup-Fixup-Paintup campaign, November 10 through December 31. So enthusiastically was this idea received that it was expanded to include the entire county, with the county authorities extending wholehearted cooperation in the cleaning up of lots and the hauling of debris.

Other 1964 projects included the issuance of new street maps and brochures, purchase of a speaker system for special Chamber events, a pig roast on the causeway in which the Volunteer Fire Department cooperated, establishment of a gallery of pictures of past Chamber presidents, cooperation in the holding of the Florida Press Association meeting, entering attractively decorated floats in the Stuart Fourth of July and Christmas parades, the first of which captured third prize, and donation of funds for the purchase of apples for the Christmas party held by Jensen Beach colored residents.

Walker pointed out that all businessmen in the Jensen Beach-Rio-Sewall's Point area benefit from the activities of the Chamber but that not all are members. If the ever-expanding program of the Chamber is to continue, it is said, it deserves the wholehearted support of all business establishments.

Officers who guided the Chamber during an especially successful and active year were; President, Richard E. Campbell; Vice-President, E. W. Lawrence; Secretary, Mrs. Ruth Bowman; Treasurer, Robert B. Smith; Executive Secretary, Reg Walker; Directors; E. E. Sandifer, Charles N. Brinsley, J. Ernest Baker, A. E. Palmer, Donald Wilkie, Charles Hall, Martin O. Wahl, Harry Lentz, Sr., W. B. Tilton, William Yerillo, Fred Escott, Robert Weisenberger, Don Johnson and Frank Forsberg.

Establishment Of Grumman Aircraft Corp. Plant Is Great Leap Forward For County's Economy

With the world in ferment and crises popping up almost daily in all parts of the globe, a strong, speedy and highly mobile defense - and offense - is essential if this nation is to retain its world leadership.

Now, with the establishment of Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., plant at Witham Field south of Stuart, Martin County has become an integral and vital part of the nation's military complex.

War may be -- and is -- abhorent to thinking people but if the nation and the free world are to remain strong as a deterrent to the spread and menace of Communism, research, experimentation and development of modern weaponry are essential.

And it is here that Martin County and the newest member of its expanding industrial family enter the picture. As revealed by E.Clinton Towl, corporation president, Brig. Gen. John M. Wright Jr., deputy commanding general of the 11th Air Assault Division at Fort Benning, Ga., and other speakers at the plant's January dedication, the army is pioneering a new concept of movement and weaponry. Its purpose is to determine "how far and how fast we can substitute air vehicles and air systems for ground vehicles for weapons".

E. Clinton Towl

Grumman and the army are cooperating in developing such aircraft, including the Mohawk, an important aircraft in this new scheme, and one which is being developed and tested here.

Grumman had found both the Martin County field and the tropical climate ideal for winter experimental and test operations. Grumman Corporation is also particularly proud of the Stuart plant at Witham Field; President Towl told the dedication day crowd, because of its excellent cost and production record. So proud and happy is the company, he said, that "so long as Grumman is in operation, Stuart will get its share of the work".

Although Grumman has been operating and maintaining Witham Field for Martin County but the establishment of its assembly plant has come within the last year. What this latest step means to Martin County is readily apparent. There are now approximately 130 highly skilled and trained production workers at the assembly facility. That means that from the standpoint of wages and salaries alone the county's income and buying power has been boosted by hundreds of thousands -- if not millions -- annually. But it means more than that; the county's population has been increased and the increase is made up of the type of person, the intelligent and skilled, so desirable as citizens.

That the people of Martin County welcome the new plant, are interested and fully cognizant of its importance to the county's economy was revealed on the day of the plant's dedication, January 17. Despite cold weather, an estimated 2,500 individuals toured the company's facilities and listened with avid interest to the words of the various speakers. The guests were also given a glimpse of the interior of the hangar, inspected planes on the ground, including the Mohawks, and were treated to a spectacular air show by a Gulfstream and a Mohawk.

In addition to President Towl and Brig. Gen. Wright other important personages at the event were: George F. Titterton, Grumman's senior vice president; Jack Rettaliata, vice president; Robert Benito, program manager for the Mohawk; Thomas Rizzi, director of security for the corporation; Edward Claxton, USN RET; Chuck Hall, mayor of Dade Metro; County Commissioner Frank Wacha; County Commissioner Jack Saunderson, J.H. Bruner, Mayor William P. Todt of Stuart and Zack Mosley, famed cartoonist.

GLIMPSE INTO ANOTHER WORLD- -Thousands of interested guests throng the hangar at Witham Field south of Stuart as part of the Grumman Corporation assembly plant dedication and open house.

M.C. School Band Rates Superior

Members of the Martin County Senior High band performed 19 events before Stefan Jones, Allapattah Junior High School, Miami, who judged performances at the high school last Wednesday. According to Lemoyne Roll, band director, sixteen of the 19 events resulted in "superior" ratings and three "excellent".

Roll said there are 59 members in the band, and 28 entered, playsolo or in an ensemble. Ten students played solos. In addition, a quartet of sophomore girls played a clarinet number; a trombone quartet and a brass sextet contested.

Students who received the superior rating will play in the state contest at Miami MA state contest at Miami May 7 and 8.

Tuesday, March 23, the whole band was judged in the district contest held at MCHS. The band played before the student body, while the judges evaluated the performance of three prepared numbers and the band's ability to read music from sight. The band also entered the marching competition last fall and was rated superior in that division.

Those who participated in last week's competition were:

Solos - Raymond Kling, bass; Ann Christensen, bassoon; Dean Cason, trombone; Danny Shaw, French horn; Susan Sipos, flute; David Hartlet, saxaphone; Pam Luce, French horn; Randy Scantag, trumpet; Paul Kanarek, alto saxaphone; Becky Greenlees, flute.

Q. I am 66 years old and have earned wages of $2000 per year for many years. My earnings are over $100 every month of the year. Is there any chance that I could collect social security benefits even though I am continuing to work?

A. There certainly is. You may be eligible to receive over $350 a year in social security benefits even if you continue to work at your present rate. Stop by your local social security office for full details.

Q. I am not working and want to apply for my social security when I am 62, four months from now. Can I apply now so that everything will be ready then?

A. No, the earliest that you can apply is three months before the month you are 62. However, it is not too soon to begin getting together the few items you will need when you do apply. Visit or write your local social security office to learn what you will need. It is advisable to apply a couple of months before you are 62 to be sure that your first check will arrive on time.

New Post Office

For The Want Of Eight Bucks P.O. Bid Was Lost Locally

Tilton, Inc., only local bidder, was $8 a year higher than the low bidder for the 10 year contract to build and lease a new post office at Jensen Beach.

Competitive bids were sought by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski under the post office department's lease-construction program. The building will be built at the corner of Ricou Rd. and Palmetto Ave. Bids were announced Monday after an opening March 25.

The Tilton bid was $7,680 per year for 10 years, and for four five-year renewal periods, which also could be negotiated at later dates.

Low bidder was Taylor Industries, Inc. of Tice, near Fort Myers, at $7,672 for the first 10 years, $7,600 for each of the four five-year renewal terms.

Manuel Builders of Orlando bid at $8,592 for 10 years; $8,760 for the first five-year term; $8,928 for the next; $9,096 for the third five and $9,276 for the fourth five-year renewal term.

George Hill, Memphis, Tenn., bid $9,140 for the first 10 years; the same for the first five-year renewal; $8,740 for the second $8,340 for the third and $7,940 for the fourth.

Local businessmen contacted D. J. Lovett, Real Estate Division director at the Atlanta area office of the post office department to ask that consideration be ment to ask that consideration of the local bidder be weighed before the successful bidder is announced.

Contacted by telephone, Lovett told the Mirror that the bid of Taylor Industries, Inc. would have to be accepted due to the wording of the specifications. He added that the only "if" was that the firm be found sound and able to complete the job according to a "lease bid analysis report" being prepared by Edward Leven of Miami, real estate representative of the post office.

Lovett said that many post office bids were won or lost by as low as one dollar, and that the post office has a section to cover the bids if necessary.

The Mirror asked if the fact that a local landlord might give better service to the building, and was told that the landlord had to provide a list of local suppliers and repairmen to the post office before the building could be accepted, since maintenance was a thing uppermost in the mind of the tenant.

Rep. Paul Rogers, contacted in Washington D.C., told the Mirror that the government is trying to hold cost to a minimum, and that the selection of the bidder who was low was the affair of the real estate office of the Post Office in Atlanta.

Dean Tooker Wins For Martin Co.

County Attorney Dean Tooker represented Martin County before a Legislative Council hearing on railroad grade crossings and safety devices Monday at Tallahassee.

County Commission Chairman Frank A. Wachs said the county would oppose a bill under which counties would pay 50 per cent of the cost of such projects.

Martin County, with Tooker representing it, won the precedent setting Alice Ave., Rio case against the Florida East Coast Railway which was told by the courts it was responsible for full costs of safety devices at grade crossings. No appeal from the state supreme court has yet been filed. The county has asked the railroad to install the Alice Ave. crossing post haste.

Wachs pointed out that there was little need to seek any different determination since the state's own courts had settled the questions involved.

Inlet Dredged To Project Depth

George R. Coslow, resident engineer of the Miami Beach office of the U.S.Corps of Engineers, and his assistant, Ernest McGill, checked St. Lucie Inlet with a fathometer at or just after high tide last Tuesday. The inlet was dredged to project depth, according to Coslow.

They worked from the Corps survey boat, the Canaveral.

An early inspection of the inlet had been indicated at the county commission earlier in the day, when Chairman Frank A. Wachs said County Engineer Fred L. Bell had received a call from Maj. George L. Harman, deputy district engineer at the Jacksonville District, U.S. Corps of Engineers. Maj. Harman told Bell that Coslow would be in Stuart at an early date, but set no particular day.

Shortly after Wachs announced the call, U. S. Rep. Paul G. Rogers called from Washington. Rep. Rogers told Wachs that an early inspection would be made to determine whether the dredging project had been done as agreed.

Wachs said, "The next thing I heard was my wife calling to tell me that Coslow was in my office and that he had made an inspection trip on the boat."

Coslow said he had received orders to check the inlet at about 4 p.m. Monday and had been able to get the Canaveral because of rough water off shore. He said his boss, A. L. McKnight, chief of operations at the district office asked him to make the trip.

A second trip was made on Wednesday, when County Commissioner Jack Saunderson and representatives of the charter boat and commercial fishing interests will make the inspection.

Mayor William P. Todt, one of the charter boat men who complained of the condition at the inlet, was at a special meeting of commissioners, the press, Coslow and McGill. Todt said he ran the center line of the inlet several times and that his fathometer continued to show less than project depth. He will not be on the Canaveral when the than project depth. He was not on the Canaveral when the inspection was made because of a charter party. The Canaveral made its investigation between 12 noon and 1 p.m. Tide was high on Tuesday at 11:54 a.m., according to tide tables. A strong southeast wind may have changed the exact hour of ebb, however, and could have accounted for deeper water.

Coslow said the USCGC Buoy Tender Hammer had made five attempts to lay new buoys to mark the inlet, none of them successful, because of rough water. On one trip, he revealed, the Hammer got outside the reef and couldn't get back in again because of high seas and had to travel 18 miles north to Fort Pierce Inlet to get back inside again. Coslow said, however, that the old buoys mark the new channel fairly well.

McGill revealed that the project, initially supposed to cost about $35,000 actually did cost $51,000.

Faced with a possible impasse, with Todt claiming lack of depth and the engineers claiming satisfactory completion of the project, Wachs supplied an out.

"If the project doesn't accomplish what it's supposed to, supposing we find it is done as guaranteed, then we'll have to seek a new feasibility study to see what must be done to make it a fairly safe inlet," he said. There were indications, however, the argument might be over who had the most accurate fathometer. Todt said his had been checked with bamboo poles and that it cost $700. Coslow made no estimate of the cost of that used by the Corps boat Canaveral, but noted it was of a type used by the U.S. Navy.

The Magic Appeal Of Florida Is FPL Theme Of Report

The story of Florida's magic appeal and amazing progress will be carried to every state in the Union and many foreign countries by a colorful new publication just off the press.

Florida Power & Light Company's 1964 Annual Report -- sporting a cover that invites the reader to "Explore Florida" -- is in the mail this week to more than 40,000 people all across the land who own shares in the electric utility.

Keyed to FP&L's year-round program of boosting Florida, the 14-page publication helps "sell" the state wherever it goes. It is illustrated with brilliant color photos of Floridians at work and play, and looks more like a popular picture magazine than a corporation report. The presentation is designed to dramatize Florida's appeal and phenomenal growth.

"In 1964, Florida's amazing vitality set the pace for new gains in all layers of the state's prospering three-ply economy," said FP&L Board Chairman McGregor Smith in his message to stockholders. "Tourism was at an all-time high, industry chalked up rapid expansion and agriculture harvested its biggest total cash income in history. In fact, by most any measure you might choose, our state's progress and economic strength are strikingly apparent."

In the leading feature headlined "Florida -- Its Magic Appeal Nourishes a Thriving Economy," the state's growth story is detailed. Industry, agriculture and Florida's wealth of natural and man-made attractions are portrayed with a splash of color photos.

Other companies play up their products in their annual reports, but Florida is the "product" FP&L is promoting.

The Report is being mailed out magazine-style without an envelope to attract increased attention. This is not uncommon today, but FP&L pioneered the technique a number of years back when it was standard procedure to mail annual reports in envelopes.

The report presents an informal format and an easy-to-read typographical presentation. It should prove as appealing to the average reader as to the analyst checking statistics and business activity.

With FP&L serving prime growth areas of the state, the Report notes that Florida's progress is vividly reflected by the expansion of Florida Power

Indicative of the state's growth are figures showing that FP&L last year added new customers last year added new customers at the rate of 3,600 per month. At the same time, the Company's generating capability was increased to 2,963,000 kilowatts -- a jump of 300 per cent since 1954. Electricity sales were up 12 per cent, an increase of 320 per cent during the past decade.

With a $90.7 million expansion budget -- the biggest in the Company's history -- FP&L put into service a new 425,000 kilowatt generating unit at the Port Everglades while pushing construction of four other units. The record-breaking budget boosted to $648.9 million the sum spent for construction during the past 10 years alone.

Stockholders were informed that the Company is planning for future installation of two nuclear units at Turkey Point, a new plant site in South Dade County. Combined with proposed conventional units, capacity of the Turkey Point Plant eventually will total 4,000,000 kilowatts.

The report also points out that more efficient operating methods and lower income tax rates made it possible to reduce rates by almost $14 million during the past 12 months. It explains that the amount per kilowatt paid by residential customers is now almost a third less than eight years ago, and half of what it was 25 years

Funeral services were held in Johns Funeral Home Chapel Wednesday, March 24, at 2 p.m. with Reverend Forrest Watkins of First Baptist Church of Stuart officiating. Burial was in All Saints Cemetery, Jensen Beach.

Kiwanians Vote On Measures To Legislate

An opinion poll of the membership of Stuart Kiwanians last Thursday showed that they were opposed to a proposed wage increase of $100 a month for county commissioners with a vote of 42-24 with one abstaining and were also opposed to boosting the school board members salaries $50 a month with a vote of 35-26 with six abstaining.

The Kiwanians favored a "hospital fund" with a fractional millage and a special board to operate it by the margin of 42-16 with nine "no opinions."

The proposed creation of a hospital taxing district met with opposition with a vote of 40-19 with eight not voting.

A proposed alternate of raising the school board when total pupil enrollment reaches 5,000 from the present 4,400 carried 27 to 22, with 18 not voting.

Increasing the registrar's salary from the present $3,000 to $5,000 met with opposition 36 to 28 with 3 abstaining.

The proposal to change the Stuart city commission voting from open voting to seat voting was favored 53 to 11, with three not voting.

The suggestion that Florida have a law permitting a wage earner's salary to be garnisheed was endorsed 56 to 9 with two "no opinions". The suggestion to make some cuts in state welfare expenditures to eliminate "obvious absurdity and fallacy in the present laws," was approved 54-6 with seven not voting. A proposal that estates of deceased recipients of public welfare be turned over to the state was favored 48-15 with four not voting.

Members objected to any changes in the state sales tax law either or boost it to four per cent or to leave it at three per cent, but across the board.

Boosting it was beaten 42-18 with seven abstaining while extending it lost 28-25 with 14 abstaining.

The suggestion that the $10,000 wage ceiling on the school superintendent's salary be lifted was approved 40-22 with five abstaining, but the idea of making the office appointive instead of elective was opposed 36 to 28 with three not voting.

The proposal that all motor vehicle operators be subjected to re-examination both written and driving every five to 10 years was favored 41 to 25 with one man abstaining.

The group favored a plan to create an office of lieutenant governor of Florida by 42 to 21 with four no opinions. A request that cash be allocated to the Florida Library Assn. was favored 31 to 23 with 13 not voting.

The results of the poll were forwarded to Rep. William E. Owens in response to his request for opinions on the matters stated. Owens had spoken to the club on March 18.

High School PTA Meeting Thursday

The Martin County High School will hold the last meeting of this year Thursday evening, April 8, in the Science Lecture room of the High School. This will be the last of four meetings held this year, a trial year for the continuation of High School PTA. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m., according to Mrs. William Britton, President.

At the last meeting advance plans for raising money for a college scholarship were formulated and will be discussed at this meeting.

The Evaluation Committee's Report Meeting on Wednesday will be the basis upon which the meeting will be conducted. Mrs. T. R. Chambers, School Board member, and Mr. J. C. Woodall, Principal, will be present to help answer questions.

Books suitable for a school library are needed at Appalachia. Reference books are especially desired. The local Bi-County Council is heading a drive to gather these books, and any which are brought to the meeting will be added to the PTA's collection.

Treasure Search Started By Expeditions Unlimited

Norman Scott, vice president of Expeditions Unlimited, holders of a contract with Martin County Historical Society to recover treasure and artifacts from the society's four-mile lease area, said Tuesday he hoped for "lucky results" in the first 10 days of the underwater search.

The treasure group started work near Rand's Pier, south of the House of Refuge. Scott said divers in the crew had placed buoys and had started making test holes. He said the area where the crew is working is considered the prime one of two considered able to produce one of two wrecks of the 1715 Spanish plate fleet.

Expeditions Unlimited is using two boats at present — a 40-foot all-steel craft, the Robin Ellen, and a 30-foot wooden hulled craft, the Pisces II. The expedition is being housed at the former James Rand estate now owned by the Florida Oceanographic Society.

Working on the project are Joe Campbell, Washington, D.C.; Capt. Gordon Patton of Ocean City, Md.; Tex Aschr, Fort Lauderdale; Tim Alsop, Washington, D.C.; Leo Morris, Greensburg, Pa.; and Mike Freeman, Washington, D.C.

Scott said a new ferrous-nonferrous metal detector was to be used in the local project. It is supposed to detect any metal in six or seven feet of sand, he stated. Also used, when needed, is a magnatometer to find metal, and hydrolifts in underwater excavations.

"We hope to be able to come up with something in a week to 10 days," Scott said.

Brownies Celebrate Birthday

Twenty-three Brownies of the Jensen-Rio Troop 126 celebrated their first year as a troop on Tuesday afternoon, April 6, at the Community Church.

According to Mrs. Bea Tranowski, leader of the troop, the girls were presented with World Association pins and one-year membership pins. Mrs. Eileen Pauly, assistant leader, made and decorated the birthday cake and Mrs. Tally Penick brought cookies which the girls enjoyed with popsicles and orangeade.

Mrs. Myrna Parson, who has been learning about scouting from the leaders of Troop 126, preparatory to becoming a leader next year, will be leaving this area soon and will be missed.

Mrs. Tranowski would like to express appreciation to the United Fund for a donation which has enabled the troop to buy Girl Scout records, award pins, to have a storage cabinet made for supplies etc. etc. She says they couldn't have done these things without the donation.

Teen Age Dance

A Teen Age Dance will be held this Saturday night, April 10, from 8 to 11 at the Jensen Beach Community Center, according to Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bowman. There will be a 25¢ admission charge and all are encouraged to bring records.

Any parents interested in assisting may call the Bowmans at 287-4502.

South Bridge Repairs Rush A1A Completion On Island

by Dick Campbell

The trip down Hutchinson Island is worth it, but for an emergency only. We took the trip last Monday afternoon, Zola Swarthout, her marooned automobile, and me.

An excellent grade is being put up by the State Road Department through Gorham Construction and the Hendry Corporation, contractors. They were not quite ready for traffic ... in fact they had not opened any part of the road yet.

But the South Bridge in Fort Pierce, much like the ill-fated Jensen Beach Bridge of olden days, was destined to have them change their minds. At least, a barge had it in mind, and by smashing a 25-foot piece of the bridge and its superstructure into the Indian River, urged the road be opened to-over 100 automobiles stranded on the island.

Zola Swarthout was one of those stranded on Fort Pierce's South Beach. Being a very active civic-citizen; and one of the founders of the women's association in Jensen Beach, the Jensen-Rio United Fund, the Mental Health Association and a bunch of others, she is quite aware of the responsibilities of the volunteer groups in our area. Also, having been the local writer for the News Tribune, the Miami Herald and a regular contributor to the Mirror, she knows the responsibilities of local emergency groups. She had nothing good to say about either in St. Lucie County.

"Nothing," she fumed. "They did nothing."

"For three hours we were out there. Children, old folks, and everybody wandering about asking what they should do. You can be sure that if it happened in Martin County, Roy Baker would have had his patrol boat over there, and the ambulance would have been there, and the Civil Defense would have had the thing in hand in an hour."

The wrecked bridge was hit about 4 p.m. Sunday afternoon. It was 9 p.m. before a temporary walk was erected across the broken section to allow tired and temper-weary sun worshipers to return to the mainland.

As Zola Swarthout talked, Ann Wilder, Miami Herald writer in Fort Pierce, happened into the tirade.

"We were standing on the broken bridge, waiting for the SRD engineers to get the catwalk open to the public. They were very courteous, helping each across the 25 foot span. Only one person would pass at a time, and the lines queued back from either side.

"And you can tell your county officials that they need better emergency groups," Mrs. Swarthout continued. Mrs. Wilder nodded.

Once across the bridge we got into the car and headed south. The road was in excellent condition to the new construction, much the same as the Martin County end. The construction grade was just going in and the gravel on the first portion was hard and smooth.

Virgin lands, never passed before by bulldozers pushed and grunted graded across flat bottomland and through swamps, were still as nature created them along the sides of the new roadway. It was breathtaking. It almost seemed a shame that progress had become to this magnificent piece of wonderland.

At "bootlegger's pass", a place where the old time smugglers brought rum from the Bahamas into Jensen Beach, the short strips of beach had given way to a bridge and more fill.

It was a trip filled with excitement, for the SRD trucks standing by in case of bogged down autos, and the construction crews were working full tilt, trying to avoid looking at the seemingly endless procession of automobiles disrupting their handiwork.

Temporary grades were packed for the passing of the automobiles, and the construction firms should receive every credit for their effort in making the road as passable as possible under the circumstances of emergency.

Just one rough stretch, about a mile long, was encountered, and an SRD truck waited at either end as an engineer directed the single file traffic through the rutted road. "Just stay in the ruts, and don't get out of them!" was his directive.

When the sand and gravel of the construction roadbed gave way to the singing hum of Martin County's paved road we began to appreciate the work being done, and what it would mean to our area when completed. The long time the Fort Pierce bridge will be out will probably hurry the completion of the road from Fort Pierce to Jensen Beach on Hutchinson Island.

Progress will again take its toll, but with the progress will come more beauty ... the Nation's drivers can see the wonders of natural beauty ... South Florida's last preserve of oceanfront, Hutchinson Island.

Crary Guest Speaker At Auxiliary Installation

Evans Crary, Jr., immediate past chairman of the board of Martin Memorial Hospital, as guest speaker at the installation luncheon for the Hospital Auxiliary at Sunrise Inn Monday, thanked members for the 14,354 volunteer hours they had served and also for a $1,000 check given to the building fund.

He discussed the financial problems of the hospital, told of the new indigent board and of the bill Rep. William E. Owens would introduce in the legislature making it mandatory to provide funds for indigent care.

Mrs. Marion L. Block of Vero Beach, who was recently named by Gov. Haydon Burns to the State Hospital Advisory Committee of the Florida Development Commission, who is also legislative chairman of the Association of Florida Hospital Auxiliaries, installed new officers.

The new officers are: Mrs. Karl Stoneburner, president; Mrs. Toley Engebretsen, vice president; Mrs. Walter J. Bauman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clifton Perry, recording secretary and Mrs. T.A. Barnard, treasurer.

Owens Outlines Plan

Rep. William E. Owens held an hour long press conference at the Martin County Courthouse Thursday morning and outlined the ideas, hopes and plans for the 1965 Legislative sessions which opened Tuesday.

In his second term, Rep. Owens is expected to be a key member of the House in the session and probably will draw an unusually large number of important committee assignments.

A member of the Legislative Investigation Committee which created an uproar with its investigation of homosexuality in Florida, Rep. Owens said the committee would come up with recommendations for several bills including a new Sexual Behavior Act which would revise the statutes rape, child molestation, prostitution, other similar crimes.

The committee also will seek legislation on academic freedom and a move to make it easier to remove reds and pinks from college campuses. The third bill would require fingerprinting of all state employees.

Rep. Owens said he expected the post-session reapportionment session, in June, to be one of the most bitter sessions in history.

"Legislators who will work together and be friendly in April and May will become bitter enemies in June," he said, adding that he doubted any reapportionment legislation would come up in the regular session.

He was not optimistic the state would be reapportioned in the special session.

Of the $100,000,000 pay hike for teachers, Rep. Owens said:

"It's a question of where does the money come from. I'm not opposed to increasing teachers' salaries, I think they should be raised. But for every $10 a year increase in a teacher's salary, the state has to come up with $10 million.

Rep. Owens said he continued in favor an across the board decision of all items, including groceries and prescription drugs in the present three per cent sales tax structure. He said addition of groceries alone would bring in $65 million.

He called a all-inclusive sales tax "fair", but said he did not believe it would be adopted, nor would, he said, an increase in per centages of collection.

Asked about the party loyalty oath, he commented, "It sure makes liars out of many people."

He said the interim committee would recommend placing Florida Inland Navigation District under the Waterways Division of the State Dept. of Conservation, the present members of the district board to serve out their terms, future members to be appointed by the governor, at large in the counties.

Of the move to return the seventh cent of gasoline tax monies collected, he said he still had not decided, although he leaned toward the stand taken by the State Ass'n. of County Commissioners, which seeks to return the monies collected in each county for use by the counties.

He said he favored returning to the counties, the three cent cigarette tax monies collected outside the municipalities.

On local legislation, Rep. Owens said he would introduce bills to increase the salaries of the county commissioners $100 a month; the school board, $50 a month; set a new ceiling on the superintendent of schools' salary at $12,500 with the school board to be responsible for granting increases up to it.

He said he would increase the salary of the supervisor of registration to $4,200 from $3,000.

He said he had revised, in minor areas, the new local hospital indigent care fund bill to limit it to a one-quarter mill minimum and a two mill maximum, with a maximum balance of $50,000 in the fund at any time, and that the indigent review board would include five members, not seven, with two from the county commission, two from the hospital board, and one at large chosen by the other four.

Rep. Owens said he would introduce legislation to name the St. Lucie Canal bridge at Indiantown for John Monahan, former state Road Board member at the request of the county commission, which had adopted the resolution last year.

He also said he would introduce a local bill providing for recovery of welfare expenses from estates of recipients who were able to pay but didn't.

Of the small claims court bill, which would increase the limits of jurisdiction from $600 to $1,000, he said he had received no request for the bill, that he had heard some members of the bar association wanted it.

He said bills sponsored by the county commission should have been prepared by the county attorney, but added that he had not received them as yet, including the welfare and bridge bills.

Rep. Owens said his family would not be at Tallahassee with him during the regular session but probably would be during the June special session.

Hively To Present Palm Sun. Concert

Next Sunday should prove a memorable day in the cultural life of the community, for on that day All Saints Episcopal Church will present Mr. Wells Hively, church organist, in a Palm Sunday concert, the numbers being appropriate to the Passiontide.

The concert, which will begin at 4 o'clock, will open with four selections by Bach: "Little Prelude and Fugue in F Major", "Air from Suite in D Major", "Sheep May Safely Graze" (aria from Cantata No. 208), and "Rejoice, Beloved Christians".

The Bach number will be followed by "Ave Verum" by Mozart, "The Palms" by Faure, "The Last Invocation" a composition by Mr. Hively, himself, and will conclude with "Toccata" (from the Fifth Symphony for Organ) by Widor.

Mr. Hively, with the varied aspects of a musical career--composer, pianist, accompanist, teacher---has blended also that of organist. As a youth, in the last days of the silent films, he played at Grauman's Chinese theater in Hollywood for Charles Chaplin in "The Circus". A decade later he was in New York accompanying Ruth St. Denis and her dancers of the Society of Religious Arts in "The Masque of Mary" and serving as organist of the Riverside, Park Avenue Presbyterian, Rutgers and St. Mark's-on-the-Bowrie Churches.

For a period, he broadcast organ improvisations as a background for "Moorish Tales" and "Old Traveler's Tales", programs based on stories of Washington Irving for NBC in New York. Now, after serving as head of the music department of the Graham-Eskes Schools in Palm Beach from 1940 to 1952, and pianist in concert with Metropolitan Opera star Lily Pons, from 1954 to 1960, Mr. Hively once again finds himself at the keyboard of an organ---at All Saints Episcopal Church in Jensen Beach. He has served All Saints as organist since last fall after purchasing a Jensen Beach home on Indian River Drive where, in semi-retirement, he is devoting himself to writing and music composition.

To permit Mr. Hively fuller expression of his musical knowledge and skill, a special Allen Electronic organ has been temporarily installed at All Saints.

So that the parishioners of All Saints---and the general public as well---may not only thrill to his music but get to know him better, Mr. Hively will be honored at an informal reception in the Parish Hall immediately following the concert.

"The Crucifixion" To Be Sung At St. Mary's Palm Sunday Eve

On Palm Sunday evening, at 7:30 p.m., the senior choir of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Stuart, with singers from the Jensen Community Church, will present Sir John Stainer's "The Crucifixion".

Anyone interested in hearing this beautiful music is urged to attend.

U.S. Corps Of Engineers Reports Inlet Shoaling

Maj. George L. Harman, deputy district engineer, Jacksonville District, U.S. Corps of Engineers, reported to County Commission Chairman Frank A. Wachs by mail that he believed the shoal that crosses the outer, easterly, limits of the St. Lucie Inlet dredging project now was formed after the mid-winter operation was concluded.

Wachs asked for log information from charter boat skippers who used the inlet between Dec. 15 and Jan. 26, to try to determine the weather at that time, and also whether or not the dredge moved into the area in question.

Paul Rogers Assigned New Office In Washington

Congressman Paul Rogers moved into new quarters in Room 2417 in the Rayburn Building last week, leaving Room 111 of the Cannon Building which he has occupied since first coming to the Congress over ten years ago.

The Sixth District of Florida has grown from a population of some 320,000 people in 11 counties to a current official Census Bureau estimate of 808,000, in 9 counties. It is the largest District in Florida and among the 12 largest in the Nation.

"The larger quarters and more efficient use of office space will enable us to better serve the people of the 6th District and the many visitors from Florida who come to Washington each year," Congressman Rogers said about the move.

The new address for Congressman Rogers can be written either Room 2417, Rayburn Building, or Room 2417, House of Representatives. The Zip Code is 20515. The telephone number remains the same, Area Code 202, 225-3001.

Hector Mystery Shopper Here

Mrs. William Klim was $5 richer last week when she offered good service to a shopper. The customer turned out to be the "mystery shopper" of the Hector fertilizer company.

The shopper came in to Palmer's Variety Store in South Jensen Beach and asked if they had fertilizer. Mrs. Klim said they had the various kinds of fertilizer, mentioning the Hector brand with each one. That is when the "mystery shopper" brought out a checkbook and wrote a check for $5 to Mrs. Klim.

Big Land Sale Here

Over eight square miles in Martin County and about nine square miles in Palm Beach County were sold in a $2 million land deal, according to a deed recorded in the Martin County Courthouse last Wednesday.

Seller was the Atlantic National Bank of West Palm Beach, together with Thomas M. Chastain and Edgar W. Jackson, all as executors of the estate of the late Robert Lee Chastain.

The buyer was George P. Caulkins, Jr., of Denver, Col.

Also recorded was a mortgage note for $1,845,068.50 which referred to the total price of the land in the two counties as $2,077,462.50.

One of the provisions included in the mortgage is that 1,000 acres of the land purchased must be planted with citrus by July 1, 1971.

The purchase is the third by Caulkins in the old Chastain Ranch area.

Legion Aux. Elects Officers

Election of officers, appointing delegates to the 12th District Constitutional Conference, making plans for the State Convention in Tampa, and the arrival of the Auxiliary caps for members, were highlights of the Jensen Beach Legion Auxiliary meeting held Monday, April 12.

Officers elected for 1965-66 were: Mrs. Eugene Grimm, president; Mrs. Herbert Comba, 1st vice president; Mrs. Jack Lucas, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Emma McCue, recording secretary; Mrs. Earl Rose, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Middleton, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Rauwald, chaplain; Mrs. Pete Robertson, historian; Mrs. Frank Speir, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. H. Dettmer, assistant sergeant-at-arms; and elected to the Executive Board were Mrs. Jane Livermore, Mrs. Fadina Price and Miss Laura Atmar.

Merchants Begin Rumble As SRD Plans Parallel For Commercial Street

The merchants along Commercial Street are beginning to rumble. Word has been received that the State Road Department is planning to reline Commercial Street for parallel parking.

The move would cut drastically the parking area available to local stores.

Leonard Smith, owner of Helen and Maxine Dress Shop, was outspoken in his opposition to the move. "This will cut the amount of traffic to downtown Jensen Beach in half," he said. "It is hard enough to do business now, without making it harder for people to get parking spaces near our stores.

Fred Bell, county engineer, said that the SRD had indicated that the amount of space available for automobiles made it mandatory, from a safety angle, to make the street parallel parking. "A high rate of accidents from people backing out of a parking space into traffic is forcing the move. In addition to that, the lack of right of way to further widen the street puts the SRD on the spot," he said.

Ransom R. Tilton, of Tilton Insurance, said that he had had one claim in his office this year from an accident on Commercial Street caused by someone backing out of a parking space. He scored the action of the SRD, and said that the street was wide enough to allow the angle parking enough to allow the angle parking now and still provide two lanes of traffic.

The street is a very busy street, especially in the winter time when the heaviest influx of tourists hits the streets in Jensen Beach. The location of the post office on this busy thoroughfare adds to the congestion.

Bell said that the SRD had not yet indicated when the realignment is planned.

Rick Carroll, of Rick Carroll Insurance, told the Mirror that he had had five or six claims in the past year, "one for more than $200", he said. Carroll said, "Something has to be done about that mess of traffic congestion. There must be some other way to do it."

Kiwanians Hear Dr. Korn Speak On UN

Dr. Harold Korn of New York spoke to the Stuart Kiwanians at their weekly luncheon meeting last Thursday, his subject being the United Nations and the good accomplished by the existence of the organization.

Avout four-fifths of the world-wide efforts of almost 100 agencies in the United Nations are unheralded but successful operations for public welfare which don't get the publicity in news media as does the one-fifth work in politics, Korn said.

He added that because so much is being accomplished for so many without fanfare, the UN as such must be accredited as worthy of its existence and costs, in spite of recurrent derogatory remarks about it.

Dissolution of the UN would lead only to efforts to create another similar organization and meanwhile "we are fortunate that it exists and apparently will continue.

Dissolution of the UN would lead only to efforts to create another similar organization and meanwhile "we are fortunate that it exists and apparently will continue to operate despite its flaws and deficiencies," Dr. Korn concluded.

FDA To Publish Book

The book, "Grades and Standards for Nursery Plants, Parts II, Palms and Trees," was written by Charles S. Bush, plant supervisitic inspector with the Division of Plant Industry and supervisor of the state's grades and standards program.

Copies will be made available to all registered ornamental nurseries and stock dealers in Florida. Residents of the state also may obtain a copy free of charge by writing to the Florida Department of Agriculture, Division of Plant Industry, P. O. Drawer 1269, Gainesville, Fla. 32601.

Company Leases Land

Oil leases on 18,343.07 acres of land for a yearly rental of $5,885.48 were filed Thursday in the county clerk's office by Humble Oil and Refining Co., giving a Mississippi address.

People who leased land included J. Stewart Mathews and John M. Jones, and the land is located in western Martin County.

At one time, vast areas of Martin County were under lease to nearly all the major oil companies and many wildcatters. In the past decade, many of the leases were allowed to lapse. The revival of interest was believed at the court house to have been due to the strikes south of Lake Okeechobee in late 1964.

Master Plan Is Set By Zoning Group For Jensen Beach Area

The Martin County Zoning Board voted to hold hearings on changing Jensen Beach zoning to conform with the county wide zoning code at a meeting held last Thursday night.

Jensen Beach zoning has been an area proposition not connected with the county plan. Frank Forsberg, chairman of the county board, said efforts of the board to put all of Martin County on a uniform basis would be served by including Jensen Beach, and County Engineer Fred L. Bell pointed out that residential designations in Jensen Beach do not concur with those in other parts of the county.

A plan to build a new Presbyterian Church within the next few years was revealed at the meeting also.

The plans were brought out in a request for a zoning change on a five-acre plot of Oceanway, near Steele Point at the intersection of St. Lucie Blvd.

The zoning board agreed to set up a hearing on the change which would upgrade the plot.

The change was requested by Attorney William R. Scott on behalf of the Trustees of the Presbytery of East Florida, part of the United Presbyterian Church of United States of America and would change the present zoning from HC-1 to R-3, which would permit multiple dwelling buildings as well as a church.

Owner of the tract, Bessemer Properties, Inc., sold the five acres subject to the zoning change.

In other transactions, the board approved rezoning property in Cleveland Addition subdivision from HR 2 to R-2 and in Palm City Amended Plat from HR 2 to R-3. A change from HR 2 to R-2-B for Section 1, St. Lucie Shores was also agreed upon.

A request by William Gifford for a change from R-2 to R-1-A in St. Lucie Farms was tabled because no one appeared to speak for it.

Jensen P.T.A. Panel Discussion Held

A panel discussion was held by the Jensen Beach PTA following their regular meeting last Tuesday evening.

The theme of the discussion was the "Responsibilities in the church, school and home." Representing the church was the Rev. Stuart, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Stuart; representing the school was Mrs. J. M. Bevis and representing the home was Mrs. Allen Pitchford.

The library is open two nights a week. A 10 a.m. story hour is held for elementary school age children Saturdays.

Dr. Williams said the library wants to increase its services to the public but needs further livered a small per centage of appropriation granted in the 1963 legislature.

Two Damage Suits Filed In Accident

An accident that happened on US 1 during its four-laning on January 25, 1964 resulted in the filing of two law suits.

One suit was filed here and the other was filed at Sarasota. However, the Sarasota case was transferred to the jurisdiction of the circuit court here Monday.

Mrs. Adrianna D. Parker, 48, of Sarasota, seeks $100,000 in damages on two counts against Mrs. Frankie Dean Smith, 24, of this city, an L.P.N. at Martin Memorial Hospital.

In the second suit, Mrs. Mary K. Blair, 43, also of Sarasota, is seeking damages from Mrs. Smith and Dickerson, Inc., the firm which built the four-laned portion of US 1. No figure is named in this suit, which was filed initially in the local court.

Three accidents happened in the same place in two hours when a car driven by Owen R. Hataway, 25, of Indiantown went into a ditch on the new-construction portion of the highway, closed to traffic at the time.

Before Hataway's car could be removed, a car driven by Mrs. Parker, with Mrs. Blair as a passenger, went into the same ditch, beside the Hataway car. As it was being hauled out by a wrecker, the two women stood beside the highway watching developments, when a car driven by Mrs. Smith also ditched, striking the two women. The three women were hospitalized.

The Parker car was owned by Moseley Collins, Martin County's engineer at the time, who is now a private engineer living at Fort St. Lucie.

Non-Segregation Is Policy Of Hospital

Martin Memorial Hospital directors reaffirmed Friday a policy of non-segregation in response to a letter from the Florida State Board of Health.

New Cultural Development For Martin County

An art society - the Okeechobee Guild of Artists - is in the process of being organized. This will be a non-partisan, non-profit organization dedicated to the advancement of the arts for the benefit of Martin County and the enhancement of the people of this and neighboring counties.

The ultimate aim of the guild will be to raise sufficient funds for the eventual construction of a cultural center to be located in Stuart - a school and workshop for art instruction to beginners and advanced students by professional artists, and a suitable gallery (non-existent at present) to exhibit the creations of its members and invited one-man and group shows.

All artists - painters, sculptors, and etchers - are invited to join regardless of their race, color, or creed, and without partiality toward anyone or prejudice to any style, technique, or school of expression whether the work be realistic, impressionistic, non-objective, or abstract.

The artists who wish to join in this endeavor should indicate their intention by sending their names and addresses to Artists Guild, P. O. Box 273, Jensen Beach.

Well-Stocked Library Is Important County Asset

Time is relative. In some circumstances, 10 years is a long, moment. In any event, a decade ago, Martin County was completely without a public library. Today, through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kiplinger, who contributed the site, and gifts to the Martin County Library Association which financed the erection and equipping of the building on East Ocean Boulevard in Stuart, the county boasts a library of which its residents may well be proud.

Staffed by trained, courteous and helpful personnel, this reading center contains a carefully-selected collection of books for all age groups --- kindergarden tots, elementary school children, teen-agers, parents and grandparents. There is, of course, an abundance of good fiction, plus interesting books on travel, biographies and volumes dealing with a variety of subjects to help in the home, school or job.

Because of special effort, the staff believes that the library now offers an excellent collection of reference books --- many for general circulation and others for reading in the library. It includes books on science, history, travel, biography and a host of other fields. There are general encyclopedias and encyclopedias dealing with special fields including, in addition to the categories mentioned, such subjects as the Bible, various other religions, social problems and the like.

Because of the wide selection of reference books --- including almanacs and yearbooks, the library is offering a service of which staff members believe the general public is unaware and which they hope will come into more general use. That service includes providing factual data--answering questions asked by people who visit the library.

The library now owns 25,221 books and that the people of Martin County find its volumes a continuous source of entertainment and information is indicated by the fact that the circulation for 1962 totaled 101,833. Each month the circulation averages between 7,500 and 6,000 in addition to the 3,000 borrowed from the traveling Bookmobile. In addition to the books, the library offers 52 periodicals, not just the general type but also those dealing with specific fields such as scient, parents, fashions and health as well as the better-known news magazines. Only two newspapers of national distribution are offered by the library, the daily Christian Science Monitor and the Sunday New York Times but copies of all local papers are on file.

The Bookmobile by itself is a service which is daily proving its value, especially among those living a considerable distance from the library and whose means of transportation are limited. Staffed by only one man, who not only drives but checks the books in and out, the Bookmobile, nevertheless, is a valuable adjunct to the main library.

The library's service does not stop with providing books and magazines. Each year a series of travel films is presented, sponsored by the Martin County Library Association and this year the Association offered to the public three evenings of "Exploring Books". Many books are reviewed each year with active and interested participation by the public.

For the youngsters, two vacation reading programs are conducted along with a weekly story-hour, and story hours are also held during the winter each Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Some collections of books are of particular interest to the people of this area: gardening, conservation and the State of Florida.

Members of the staff take special pride in their willingness---even eagerness---to help readers find specific books. If the book is not in, they urge, ask the librarian to reserve it for you. If the library does not have it, every effort will be made to borrow it from the State Library at Tallahassee. What is true of the staff's desire to help in locating books is likewise true, as has been explained, of their eagerness to answer questions on almost any subject.

The staff now includes the librarian, Miss Elizabeth Thalman; the children's librarian, Mrs. Byron Harris; two assistants, one part-time clerical worker, two part-time pages and the Bookmobile's assistant, Sal Masullo.

Miss Thalman, who became associated with this library last April, is well-qualified for the post she occupies. Immediately prior to coming to Stuart, she served as reference librarian at the Portsmouth, Va., Public Library after serving for a considerable period as librarian at Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y. She received her training at the Columbia University Library School.

Mrs. Harris, also skilled in her field, came to the Martin County Library last September from Henrico County, Va., where she was librarian at the Lakeside School. Her library training was acquired at the Richmond (Va.) Professional School.

Members of the staff remind readers that the library is designed to provide books for the enjoyment, entertainment and education of all Martin County residents. It is open daily from "The library's doors are open", staff members declare. "It is free, so come and use it. You will always be welcome.

Condominium Zoning Refused For Bessey Point

The City Advisory Planning Board Wednesday night refused to take any action on a request for a zoning change to permit construction of a condominium apartment on Bessey Point.

The request had been turned over to the board by the city commission for a recommendation, after Gordon W. Sterling of Middletown, N. Y., wrote to the commission asking a change from R-1-A to R-2 to permit such construction. The board refused to act because no one provided additional information.

The board asked, for the second time, to have heavy trucking taken off Palm City Road, which is SR 714. The vote was to ask City Manager Joe N. Crowder what, if anything, the State Road Dept. had said to the earlier request.

SRD Refuses Turnpike To Stuart Signs

Mrs. Rosaleen Murray, manager of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce said last week the latest request of the Chamber to have directional signs indicating the route into Stuart from the turnpike, has been denied by the State Road Department.

The SRD said these signs are referred to as "destination signs" and are not used on a continuous route. And it was pointed out to the Chamber that standard turn signs and route markers with an arrow are now in place to mark SR 714.

Efforts have been made several times to improve the markings, when people enroute to Stuart became lost after leaving the turnpike, and Mrs. Murray suggested at a recent Tourist Council meeting that the problem be taken up by the State Chamber inasmuch as the problem exists in other places as well.

Signs will be made and placed along the route. Mike Greene, Herman Reitz and Ray Cooke are on the committee to have it done.

Mrs. Murray said a committee to make plans and recommendations for the 1966 Stuart Fishing & Resort Guide has been named, including Robert F. McRoberts, Jr., Joe Finley and Ronny Nelson.

Residents Of Martin County Justifiably Proud Of Outstanding Elliott, House Of Refuge Museums

No matter where you come from, you will leave your mark. It doesn't matter if you preserve it or not ... There is an Historical Society that will. It may be difficult and you may be a hard character to collect but you will be preserved for future generations, who will benefit from your mistakes and from the advances you have made.

The Martin County Historical Society is just one of the thousands of such organizations in this country whose job it is to collect and preserve the past and sometimes even make history.

Your Historical Society is ready to collect and preserve all kinds of articles and information.

We are often asked ..."How old does it have to be to be in the Museum?"

This is an endless and often repeated misconception of what goes in the collections of any Museum. The name of "Historical Society" implies age... Ancient age of everything! This includes us, building, employees, programs, general outlook and financial support.

However, this is not the case with the Martin County Historical Society and its very active Museum.

We have two fine museums in the Stuart area, with wonderful collections and interesting programs for everyone.

You should make it a point to visit your Museums and bring your friends.

Take pride in your Museums and the Historical Society.... We do not have just "any old Museum", we have two of the finest in the country. People come from all over the country to visit our Museums. They drive miles out of their way to see both Museums. They stay overnight, they eat in our area and they look us over and many times they return and why? Because of the progressive look of Martin County and because of the progressive looks are its Museums! People compare us with other such situations.

The Elliott Museum and The House of Refuge Museum are both located on Hutchinson Island, east Jensen Beach and Stuart, Florida. Both are open every day.

These Museums are different, for example, when you arrive on Hutchinson Island, over the three historic bridges or by boat, you will be surprised by the most complete Museum exhibits.

First you will reach The Elliott Museum....fully air-conditioned.

The Elliott Museum, on Hutchinson Island, was built in 1959 and formally dedicated as a public Museum in November, 1961. The building and collection of antique horse-drawn and automotive vehicles and Americana shops was donated to the Martin County Historical Society by Harmon P. Elliott of Stuart, in memory of his father, Sterling Elliott.

Both father and son held patents on many automotive devices and Harmon Elliott invented the Elliott addressing machine and other office equipment. Their pictures and many patents may be seen in the entrance foyer.

Primarily The Elliott Museum was designed to show the evolution of wheeled vehicles. Of prime interest is the exhibit of the quadricycle. This vehicle, which is displayed at the main entrance, was invented by Sterling Elliott in 1896 and although it was operated by pedals, it contains many features including the non-turning front axle, the unequal turning of the front wheels, a differential rear axle, independent vertical action of all four wheels and

Other outstanding exhibits in the long vehicular wing include a 12-passenger rally-no "the first Cadillac, a 1902 Stanley Steamer, 1908 Thomas Flyer and a Ford Model T fire engine pumper truck. The collection is unique in that many of the automobiles are featured without bodies so the viewer may see the inner mechanism of the chassis. Murals around the wall depict famous inventors and their automobiles in candid photographs.

Step back in time about 75 years and go window shopping by the Americana shops. Typical business establishments of the turn of the century are displayed in the south wing of the Museum, complete with costumed mannequins. These include a blacksmith's foundry, a tobacconist, old-time soda parlor, tea store, business office, doll and toy shops, an apothecary and a tonsorial parlor (Teeth pulled on Fridays only!). Also on exhibit are a parlor and kitchen furnished with items typically found in a Florida pioneer's home in Visitors are welcome to browse around the general store located in the center of the building. Here displays are counters laden with merchandise of grandfather's days from corsets to mousetraps, gunpowder to spices, hats, brooms, hardware, soap and penny candy. The old pot-bellied stove and Post Office complete the picture of a store that had everything!

The North wing of the Museum is devoted to Florida history, under the theme "Exploring Florida." In this exhibit the visitor may trace the development of the state from the earliest inhabitants, through pioneering efforts, to present day achievements. A valuable collection of 1890 Seminole Indian costumes is spectacularly exhibited in a model Seminole Chickee (thatched hut) which was constructed especially for the Museum by the Seminole Indians of Florida.

COLORFUL ADJUNCT TO MARTIN COUNTY CULTURE----This impressive structure houses the Elliott Museum, one of the most interesting of its kind in southeast Florida. Dedicated in 1961, its exhibits include not only one of the finest collections of Americana but, as was originally intended, a display of "The Evolution of Wheeled Vehicles".

Bring your camera, its a photographer's paradise. There are several early "Juke Boxes" that you can play while you are there.

Now hop in your car or boat and go about a mile south to our other Museum, known as the House of Refuge Museum.

In 1875 The House of Refuge was established on Florida's east coast by the United States Life-Saving Service, a forerunner of the U. S. Coast Guard. This house was under the jurisdiction of a keeper and was designed to give aid, food and shelter to shipwrecked sailors. In later years more houses were added, but today only the Gilbert's Bar Station (on the St. Lucie rocks) on Hutchinson Island, off Stuart, Florida, remains----a standing monument to the heroic efforts given to ships in distress, at a time when no other assistance was available in the area.

The station served its country continuously until 1945 when it was decommissioned by the Coast Guard. Martin County then took over the buildings and grounds and in 1955 it was leased to The Martin County Historical Society, to be developed into a public Museum.

Now under a joint sponsorship, The Historical Society and the county, maintain the three buildings and turtle aquarium and a Research Laboratory on Spiney Lobsters, open to the public six

The original building now houses permanent and special exhibitions of nautical history with special attention given to the House of Refuge's own romantic history. Early wreck reports and relics recovered from the sea are on prominent display, along with boat models and early boat-making tools. The first ship-to-shore radio set, signal flags, early navigation instruments, brass lanterns and ship's bells, set the theme of its maritime history.

The old boat house is a combination work-shop and storage area and at times U. S. Navy and Coast Guard exhibits are presented here.

The newest of the buildings, the Coast Guard's addition of the skipper's quarters, is now a Marine Biology hall. It houses exhibits featuring the life cycle of the sea turtle and the conservation efforts of the Museum to protect them from extinction; a shell and sea bean exhibit, the story of sharks and other fish commonly found along our coasts.

Outside the Marine Hall are four tanks, where baby sea turtles grow and develop for a period of about one year. These turtles have been hatched from eggs gathered on the beaches in an effort to restock their diminishing numbers. Special attention is given to the conservation of the green turtle, which is known for its delicious meat.

SHE'S REALLY STEAMIN'----There may be more exciting sports than driving a high-powered outboard motor---but not many. Here this boatman pilots his speedy craft on the choppy waters of the Indian River for a warm-up prior to racing in a recent regatta.

SHOPPING IS A PLEASURE---The managers of Publix in Stuart, Turner Booth, left, store manager, and Bob Cunningham, meat department manager, stand before the new market, set to open Thursday morning.

New Publix Super Market Opens In Stuart Thursday

Thursday, April 29th marks the grand opening of Publix Supermarket on South U.S. 1 in Stuart. Beginning at 9 a.m. the doors will open on food bargains to tempt the most discriminating housewife.

In 1960 there were only 62 Publix markets in Florida, and this opening celebrates the beginning of the 109th, almost double in number in five years. Dollar gross in 1960 was $141,000,000 and that figure has jumped to $235,000,000 to-date, according to George W. Jenkins, president and founder of the chain, whose headquarters is in Lakeland, Fla.

The new building is fronted with a more than ample parking lot, with easy access to U.S. 1 to alleviate any traffic problems. 21,000 cubic feet of floor space will house the departments of groceries, meat counters and produce division.

Employing between 55 and 60 employees, this economic shot in the arm for Stuart is another step forward of progress in the shopping selection of the county.

Named as managers of Publix are Turner Booth, store manager and Bob Cunningham, meat department manager.

NEW COMMODORE INSTALLED...Walter Bowman (left) is shown installing David Gale as the new Commodore at the Anchorage Yacht Club last Saturday night. See story inside.

Seven Fire Trucks Used At Rt. 76 Blaze

A brush and weeds blaze which had spread to both sides of SR 76 west of the Martin County High School last Tuesday was finally brought under control with seven fire trucks and their crews fighting the blaze from 11:15 a.m. until 5:25 p.m. last Tuesday.

The fire may have been of incendiary origin. An investigation was readied early last evening.

Included in the list of apparatus fighting the blaze were units from Stuart, Palm City, Port Salerno, Rio and Jensen Beach, plus ten county vehicles.

Permit To Fill May Be Renewed

The county commission Tuesday adopted a resolution in which it voted, 3-2 to recommend to the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund that it had no objection that a permit to Jupiter River Estates to fill property on the Loxahatchee River be renewed.

The IIF permit had expired in August, 1964.

Present owner of the development, now undergoing rejuvenation, is Suncoast Development Corp., a holding of John D. MacArthur, insurance executive.

The annual installation dinner of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce will feature Mr. C. G. Hays of West Palm Beach, acting as the installing officer.

Mr. Hays is a native of Hattiesburg, Mississippi where he began his career in Chamber of Commerce work more than 25 years ago. He is a graduate of Mississippi Southern College and received his certificate from the National Institute for Chamber management at Northwestern University.

Officers to be installed Thursday night are President Albert Palmer, Secretary Mrs. Willard Bowman, Vice-President Robert Weisenberger and Treasurer Robert Smith.

Directors to serve for a three year term are Dr. A.J. Wiegand, William Yurillo, Don Johnson, Frank Forsberg, William J. Bessemer and J. Fred Silvers.

For two year terms the following directors will take office: E.W. Lawrence, Kenneth Ploch, E.F. Standish, J. Ernest Baker and Philip M. Baker.

Serving as directors for one year will be Donald Wilkie, Charles T. Hall, Martin O. Wahl, Harry Lentz, Sr. and Richard F. Campbell.

Canal Opened To Salt Water Fishing

The county commission Tuesday opened C-23 canal to the lower control structure to salt water fishing, and designated all waters west of the control structure as fresh water.

The move will permit anglers to fish the waterway of the North Fork of the St. Lucie River without a fresh water fishing license.

Previously, the salt-fresh water line was at the location of the old Murphy Rd. bridge.

Bessey Creek, where it meanders off the canal south west of the West Murphy Road bridge, will continue to be considered as fresh water.

Magazine Features Mirror

The Jensen Beach Mirror was featured in a two page story in the national trade magazine "Offset Newspaper Publishing", a trade journal, in the April edition.

The story, written by Hal Allen, of New York City, was mainly concerned with the offset printing plant of the Mirror, the special promotions of the newspaper, and the conversion of the Jupiter Courier-Highlights from a shopper to a free circulation newspaper.

The article went into detail in the description of the printing plant of the Mirror unique in newspaper circles because of the small area that encloses every phase of production and compilation of the newspaper product.

Of interest to other offset newspapers in the nation also was the portion concerning the steps involved in the transition of a shopper to a newspaper format in Jupiter.

Teachers Offered Proposal

A counter-proposal was given to the representatives of the Martin County Classroom Teachers Association and the Principals' committee to their salary increase proposals at a work session of the school board Tuesday night.

Supt. of Schools Thomas L. Crook said an overall salary increase which would total $93,890 for teachers now on the payrolls would give all teachers who had satisfactory scores in state teacher examinations a minimum increase of $300 in an annual contract; $600 if on continuing contract, and from $100 to $200 if deficient in the examination scores.

Salaries totaled $1,206,000 in the present year, would have been $1,299,890 under the newly proposed schedule.

Representing the CTA at the meeting were Mrs. Amy Frary, its president; Miss Virginia Ray, chairman of the salary committee; R.R. Roberts, MCHS teacher and J.C. Williams, MCHS, representing the principals were Walter Peterson and Velton Walters.

Included in the program which will face special meeting action next Monday at 7:30 p.m. were $13,000 for two portable classrooms, one at Jensen Beach, the other at Palm City; $6,000 for converting two rooms into a library at Warfield School.

Your Social Security

A. If you have not applied for benefits, do so immediately. If you filed an application previously, you need not notify the office because checks will automatically be issued to you for the month you are 72 and over. You are, however, required to file an annual report of your earnings for the year you reach 72. The anoual report must be filed before April 16 of the following year and include all earnings received from January 1 to December 31, regardless of what month you reach 72.

Q. I draw my social security check each month. Each summer I work part time for a total salary of $900 a year. My employer still withholds social security tax from my earnings. Should he do this, since I am already drawing social security checks?

A. Yes. As long as you have earnings that are covered by the law, you must continue to pay your share of the social security tax.

Cammack Announces New Beach Regulations

Jack Cammack, the county's chief life guard, announced a new deal in beach regulations, added life guards and surfing regulations last Monday.

Cammack said he and his brother, Bob will guard the beach from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. every day but Monday at the Jensen Beach pavilion.

Richard Rice and David Duncan will have a modified schedule at Stuart Beach, where they will be on duty Saturdays, Sundays and one of them will work Wednesdays.

At the new beach pavilion south of Jensen Beach, Lanny Langsdon will be on duty Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Cammack said a dozen new trash barrels had been put to use at the beaches and life guards will have the duty of policing the beaches in the guarded areas.

"No more littered beaches," said Cammack.

At Stuart Beach, surfers will be separated from swimmers or bathers, Cammack said.

"When the wind is from the south, surfers will be told to use the northern end of the guarded area; when it's from the north, they'll be sent to the southern end of the beach, said Cammack.

"We want surfers, want them to have fun, but we don't want anyone hurt in the surf. We also want the surfers to be protected by our guards," said Cammack.

The guarded areas would be posted warning that use of the ocean beyond the extremes would be at the individual's own risk.

The same system of red, blue and white flags warning of surf conditions will be followed as set up last summer and continued thorugh the winter season.

Red surf should be avoided; blue surf is strong but OK; white is find for all users.

Lockwood had been served with a warrant obtained from County Judge Mallory L. Johnson and would appear in county court May 11th.

Hald said he warned Lockwood in March of the pending action and this was the first such warrant to be issued in many years.

New Post Office Completion Date Set November 1, 1965

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski announced that a contract has been awarded to Taylor Industries, 351 Figuera Street, Tice, Florida 33905, to build the new post office in Jensen Beach and lease it to the Post Office Department.

The new building on the Southeast corner of Ricou Road and Palmetto Ave., will represent and estimated total investment of $60,200.00 by the successful bidder. It will be leased to the Department for ten years, with four 5 year renewal options, at an annual rental of $7,672.00 for the basic term.

This represents the lowest responsive bid of four received by the Department on a competitive basis, and reflects what Departmental studies have determined to be a reasonable and economical rental for leased space in the area.

The new one story building will be air conditioned. It will have an interior space of 4,264 square feet, and an area for parking and movement of postal vehicles of 10,653 square feet.

The new post office is expected to be completed by November 1st, 1965. Present quarters will be abandoned upon completion of the new facility.

Mr. Gronouski explained that the Department's capital investment is listed substantially to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

The announcement of the award to the successful bidder advances the new building closer to the construction stage. When fully operational, the Postmaster General said, the additional space and more modern equipment will, in the long run, more than offset the extra cost involved in producing more efficient handling of the mail, in accord with President Johnson's directives.

"This project is in accordance with our policy of building new post offices only where they are urgently needed," Mr. Gronouski said. "We are constantly reassessing our construction program to determine whether present buildings can be altered or remodeled to take care of our expanding mail volume.

"We now have about 45,000 postal location throughout the country handling an anticipated volume of 72.2 billion pieces of mail for the 1964-1965 fiscal year. By 1970 it is expected to rise to 90 billion.

Trinity Choir Has Banquet

On Thursday April 29th the adult choir of Trinity Methodist Church held their annual choir banquet at Milan's Restaurant. A total of twenty-two were in attendance at the banquet.

Part of the evening's activities was the presentation of gifts to the choir's pianist, Mrs. Alys Gunn, and to the choir director, Rev. Neill M. Gunsalus. The presentation was made by Mr. H.L. Smith who is both a member of the choir and the church lay leader.

The past year has been a busy one for the choir of Trinity Methodist Church. They have sung at both regular and special services of their church and have sung in union services with other churches in Jefsen Beach.

Besides their regular duties the choir is now considering ways to make it possible to buy new choir robes. Trinity Methodist Church is justly proud of its adult choir.

GIFTS PRESENTED.....by H.L. Smith in behalf of the choir members of the Trinity Methodist Church to Rev. Gunsalus, choir director and Mrs. Alys Gunn, the choir's pianist.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Friederich of Ocean Breeze Park left Saturday to spend the summer in Marlyand.

Railroad To Appeal Court Ruling

County Attorney Dean Tooker said Thursday afternoon he had been informed by H.T. Cook, chief counsel for the Florida East Coast railway, St. Augustine general offices, that the railroad planned to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court the decision won by Martin County before the State Supreme Court January 2th.

In that case, the highest state court re-affirmed a decision made by Judge C.P. Trowbridge in Circuit Court here, that the county could take by eminent domain, land needed for a grade crossing and that the cost of warning signals must be paid by the railroad.

The case was fought for almost three years before it was won by Tooker representing the county, on the state level.

The railroad had warned at the outset of the trial here that it would "go all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court," in the event it lost the case on any level.

The county's win has national implications in that thousands of political sub-divisions could seek grade crossings denied by the many railroads.

Palmer Is Installed As Chamber President

One hundred members of the Jensen Beach Area Chamber of Commerce attended the installation banquet of new officers last Thursday night at the Outrigger Restaurant to see Albert E. Palmer, owner of Palmer's Variety Store, installed as president.

C. G. Hays, executive vice-president of the Greater West Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce, was the installing officer. Hays was a former associate of Palmer in dealings with the Fla. Restaurant Association.

Palmer, a former executive vice president of the restaurant association of Florida, former executive assistant to John Wanamaker in the Wanamaker department stores in Pennsylvania, and organizer of the downtown Orlando merchant's association, brings years of service to communities to the Chamber of Commerce position.

In other activities, Palmer is a member of the American Legion, the Jensen Beach Lions and is vice president and drive chairman of the Jensen Rio United Fund.

In a speech before the members of the Chamber, the largest turnout for an installation dinner in the history of the Chamber, Palmer pledged "I will do my best to make you proud of our Chamber of Commerce." He asked for suggestions and asked that all who have problems "do not hesitate to contact me".

Palmer outlined a program for the coming year that included a youngster's program for the summer at the Community Center, holiday activities, integration of senior citizens representatives into Chamber deliberations, continuing the clean-up campaign, solving of drainage on A-L-A, making the Jensen Beach Arch an attraction for tourists, working closer with merchants and checking into complaints of fishermen that fishing has been impaired.

Bob Welsenberger was installed as first vice president, and Bob Smith, treasurer. Mrs. Willard Bowman became secretary.

Bob Smith, Treasurer, Mrs. Willard Bowman, Secretary, Al Palmer, President, Bob Weisenburger Vice President

Entertainment of the group was offered by Frances Langford and Tony Romano, nationally known television and movie personalities.

Retiring president Dick Campbell outlined the previous year activities and pointed to executive secretary Reg Walker as an outstanding figure in the Chamber. He also singled out master of ceremonies Phil Baker, Palmer and the directors of the Chamber for special credit in the cooperation received in the past year.

Okamotos In Yokohama And Reunion With Relatives

The following letter, received recently from Dot and Bill Weiss and Bill Okamoto, tells of their experiences in touring in Japan. The letter follows:

We arrived in Yokohama and were greeted by Billies relatives. After all these years they still knew each other. The greeting took about 1 hour at the port.

We went to the new Grand Hotel - had a very nice room overlooking Yokohama Harbor where we could see the ships coming and going. Billie spent the next five hours in his room trying to fill the gap of 47 years.

Billie spent the next day visiting his parent's grave, a first in Japan. Dot, Frieda and I went shopping and sightseeing in Yokohama. There are hundreds of barges used here. A ship will pull in the harbor and the barges load and unload the ship like a spider web, as they bring materials out from the many islands. They have a crane that dips into the barge and picks up the rice, drops it like a hopper, where the men fill it into sacks.

They have many 3-wheeled vehicles here in Japan, the front wheel being used to steer. We visited the Yokohama China town with their 12 foot wide streets and of course stores on both sides of the street. Also visited the Yokohama tower, about 600 feet high where you get a good view of Yokohama harbor. The weather has been about 50 or so and a little cloudy, so it has been difficult to take clear pictures.

We left Yokohama April 4th for Miyanoshita, where we stayed at the Figia Hotel, a very old hotel. The Emperor of Japan usually stayed here. Had dinner here, exchanged a few gifts, then went back to our hotel, just a block from Billie's brother's house. Weather cold - about 45 degrees.

April 5th - Rain and snow all day. The manager of the Figia Hotel gave us a grand tour of the Hotel and Grounds. They have many gardens and a pool about 120 feet long fed by constant hot water from the springs. We also saw the Imperial suite and the Imperial cottage. We saw the different gardens that the hotel has, and the different kinds of trees for special occasions. In the afternoon it snowed a little harder and the hills look so pretty with all the snow sticking to the trees.

Dot and I took a train ride up the side of Mt. Goza, to a small village where they were preparing for the cherry festival in the snow.

April 6th - The sun is out so we took a tour to Mt. Fuci. We left the hotel about 9 a.m., passed thru many small villages and came to Lake Hakone. From this point we got our first good view of Mt. Fuci. This big mountain, standing in the background of the lake makes everything look so quiet and peaceful. From this point we went to the Big Hill and active volcano, steam shooting up all over the place. Our next stop, Fuci View Hotel for lunch. From this point we get a full view of Mt. Fuci, saw miles of rice paddies, all worked by hand.

In the evening we had another Japanese party, with 2 hours of eating. Geisha girls and all. The girls dance and entertain. Weather chilly - not many cherry blossoms yet.

April 7th - Left Hakone for Kyoto. We rode on the Japanese Limited - 125 miles per hour - supposed to be the most modern, fastest and finest in the world.

Dottie Weiss enjoying Italian night aboard the President Cleveland.

A view of Yokohama harbor, taken from the window of our hotel room

We stayed at the Kyoto Hotel in the heart of town - Kyoto is a very old city, was the capital for 1000 years before Tokyo.

April 8th - Took a tour of the city - saw how they make hand made pottery, wood block printing, silk weaving and dyeing and hand painting. Then a tea party at one of the Japanese homes.

April 9th - Tour of temples - Nisashi, Honenji, Nesi Old Imperial Palace and Golden Pavilion. Each one seemed to be prettier than the last.

On the 10th we came to Tokyo Imperial Hotel. This is one of the oldest in Japan. We are in the new wing.

On the 11th we rode the Japanese monorail 8 1/2 miles from Tokyo to the airport. Enjoyed Japanese food, dancing and singing. From the train we saw a lot of green tea plantations on the sides of hills and many pearl farms.

12th - Day of shopping in Tokyo, then a trip to Ueno Park. The cherry blossoms are now coming out, with about 3000 trees in this one park.

13th - At 1:00 a.m. we were awakened by an earthquake, the beds shook and so did the building for about 1 minute. We were informed that the quake was about 60 miles out in the ocean. It was quite an odd feeling, not knowing what to do. (No damage)

We took a tour around Tokyo,

seeing the cherry blossoms.

On the 14th we joined the 4 winds part of our trip and toured Tokyo with them, visiting the Olympic Stadium and Imperial palace. There is a revolving restaurant on the 17th floor giving a wonderful view of the city. We then went to the theater for a Japanese show. It is played by 36 girls for almost 2 hours, even depicting a burning village right there on the stage. It was hard to believe that it was only a show.

Integration Plan Is Unchanged

The Martin County School Board declined to make any alterations in the integration plan which was submitted to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare last January.

Board Chairman, Frank DeStefano outlined the board's stand as follows: "Since time is short between now and the opening of school for the 1965-66 term, and since necessary steps to put into effect the resolution prepared earlier have been taken, the board intends to continue with plans already in progress for the coming term."

"As specific areas of the present resolution in need of modification are pointed out by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the board will take necessary steps to amend its resolution to conform," was the entire statement.

NEW ADMINISTRATION BUILDING---Gene Hoke, Ocean Breeze Park, holds an architect's rendering of the proposed front of the new administration building for the park. Work has already started by B & W Construction on the front of the old ad building, beginning its conversion.

Ocean Breeze To Get House To House Post Office Mail Delivery

July 1st has been set as the date of the beginning of house to house post office delivery for the Town of Ocean Breeze Park, according to Mayor Harry Hoke.

The route delivery will begin in the summer to enable the residents of the park to get mail boxes up during the slow season. The route delivery will also simplify the handling of the mail through the local post office.

The mail service at Ocean Breeze Park has grown through the years, beginning with a small box, now on display in the offices of the park. That box gave way to a larger one, then to the substation post office boxes.

As the park grew and expanded, a heavier load was thrust upon the Ocean Breeze, staff, making it a full time job during the season to put the mail in the boxes.

Work has already begun to take the old post office boxes out. One portion of the former mail room will be made into an office. "My first office", said Mayor Harry Hoke. "The way it has been I have had to go across the street to talk privately, or take a drive in the car. Now we'll have an office."

School Board Swaps With State Parks

Final papers for a purchase-swap deal in which the school board acquired a 19.34 acre school site have been filed with the county clerk, according to Michael G. Lettman, attorney for the board.

In the deal, the school board purchased 108 lots in the Hyland Terrace subdivision from Mr and Mrs. S.B. Jamith under authorization of a vote of the board made last January for a price of $10,800.

The board purchased lots which were inside the boundaries of Jonathan Dickinson State Park. They turned these over to the state Board of Parks and Memorials, by warranty deed, and then accepted a deed for an equivalent plot outside the park boundaries.

A deed signed by the parks board and trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund and the school board deed to the state park board were recorded to wrap up the deal.

The school board expects to build an elementary school on the site in the next few years.

This is the secon such site acquired by the board in recent months. The other was a 10 acre site purchased in Tropical Farms for a future school there.

Study Plan Outlined

Plans for a $4 million privately financed project to study the Gulfstream in a 1,500 mile drift from South Florida to Newfoundland in an underwater vessel were outlined in a series of conferences Friday.

Dr. Jacques Piccard, a Swiss scientiest and developer of the mesoscaph, a medium depth under water ship, led the discussions and conferences with oceanographers in study sessions which followed the conferences.

The mesoscaph, built in Switzerland and capable of carrying up to 40 passengers, had made over 800 dives in Lake Geneva, Switzerland. It is capable of moving about five knots under power through the water, but can drift silently for two months at a time, according to Dr. Piccard.

and later forwarded a co-operatively signed resolution to the officials asking for help in maintaining the water supply in the east coast counties.

U.S. Rep. Paul G. Rogers said he had contacted the U.S. Corps of Engineers and the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District immediately upon receipt of Mrs. Hazelwood's letter and had asked FCD to transfer water to the conservation areas.

CAN CONGRESS IN GOOD CONSCIENCE REPEAL THE WORKERS' RIGHT TO WORK?

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE SAY NO

SECTION 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act reaffirmed the right of individual states to enact laws that prohibit compulsory union membership.

Many union officials have fought to deprive the worker of this precious right. They claim it takes too much of their time, effort and money to recruit members who otherwise could be blanketed into a union with or without their consent.

Soon Congress will be asked to decide whether or not this right . . . this basic choice to join or not to join a union, is to be taken away from the individual.

To determine how the American People would want their representatives in Congress to act on 14 (b) legislation, the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, New Jersey, one of America's most respected and trusted names in research, was commissioned to conduct a study of the attitudes of the American adult public on this question.

Its findings are clear and the meaning of these findings are implicit. America wants to keep its right of free choice . . . No ifs, ands or buts!

★ When asked specifically about Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act., by a better than two-to-one margin the public says 'do not repeal 14 (b)'.

★ Nearly two thirds of the adult public favor a national law making all union membership voluntary.

★ In fact, only four in ten union family members nationwide favor a law requiring workers to join a union in order to hold a job.

★ Among college educated adults, more than seven out of ten favor a national law making all union membership voluntary and by a vote of six to two, college educated adults want to retain Section 14 (b).

Every American is supposed to have the right under the Constitution to freedom of expression, freedom of thought, and freedom of association. The government has shown much concern for protection of these CIVIL RIGHTS of individuals and minority groups.

But what about the CIVIL RIGHT of man to earn a livelihood without being forced to join an organization whose principles and political activities are contrary to his beliefs?

What have other respected leaders and authorities had to say on this subject?

To quote but a few . . .

"A diligent effort has been under way for quite some time to have Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act repealed, but I have steadfastly and consistently advised all labor leaders and delegations who have come to see me about this that under no circumstances would I undertake to vote to repeal this section."

U.S. Senator Everett M. Dirksen
Republican, Illinois

"I think the Right to Work in our country is just as sacred as the right to vote and the right to jury trial. I don't believe any organization in our country should be vested with the right and the power to say to any American, 'You shall not work unless you join my organization.'"

U.S. Senator Frank Lausche
Democrat, Ohio

"If we want to preserve political freedom, we should not prohibit political expenditures by unions, but we should prevent unions from imposing membership on people who do not want to become members. The way to do that is to reinforce, rather than repeal, Section 14 (b) by passing a national Right to Work law so that no worker may be forced into a union in any state."

Professor Sylvester Petro
New York University Law School

"The repeal of Section 14 (b) would mean the loss of another individual freedom at the very time we are most concerned with the civil and human rights of all Americans. In my mind no civil right is more important than the civil right of free choice, presently guaranteed in 19 states because of the existence of 14 (b)."

Reverend Edward A. Keller, C.S.C.
Notre Dame University

As representatives of the American people, Congress should reflect their wishes through retention of Section 14 (b) thus preserving State Laws that protect freedom of choice for the individual worker. Who in good conscience can vote to repeal this freedom safeguard?

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH KLING

Klings' Celebrate 59th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kling celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary Monday, May 10th.

Married in 1908 in Sanford, Florida, Mr. Kling spent over 40 years with the railroad service, retiring in 1953. For the most part Mr. Kling worked in Florida at Florida City, Homestead, Deerfield and here in Jensen Beach. Later he was with the Seaboard Railroad in Georgia.

As a sideline, Mr. Kling raised breeder Herefords at his ranch in Wellington, Alabama. That has now been sold and they spend all their time here, raising pineapples, avocados and orange trees as a hobby.

Mrs. Ann Christy and Mrs Joe A. Kling were chaperons to the Martin County High School Band in Miami last Thursday and Friday.

Crossing Controversy Continues

The Florida East Coast railway has asked the State Supreme Court to forbid use of the Alice Avenue grade crossing until it has petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court for either a review of the State Court's refusal to re-hear its case or to take other action.

Dean Tooker, County Attorney, reported the move to obtain superceding action through the state court was made last Thursday.

The county had been through building a crossing three days before the railroad had petitioned to forbid the county the right to build or use the grade crossing.

The crossing continued in use Monday as Tooker filed a motion with the State Supreme Court asking that it deny the railroad's move.

United Fund Captains Honored At Breakfast

The Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund held a breakfast meeting May 7th at Milan's Restaurant in honor of the captains of the drive.

A drawing was held in which Anita Wacha won a nest of tables donated by Al Palmer; Mardie St. Clair won a bottle of champagne donated by Dick Campbell and Hazel Heritage won two dinners at the Outrigger.

Al Palmer thanked the workers for their cooperation and efforts and announced the total has now exceeded $8,000.

Mars Hill will be honored when they have their next meeting of the Friendly Hearts Club, according to Palmer.

CONSTRUCTION CONTINUES-- Pilings are laid and concrete forms are being put into place to prepare to pour the base of the roadway across the new Jensen Beach Bridge. The east end of the bridge is almost completed, with only "two pours" left.

Bell Confers In Washington

County Engineer Fred L. Bell expected to be in Washington last Monday and Tuesday to confer with Civil Defense officials and would also carry out several other assignments on behalf of the county commission.

Bell will confer with U.S. Rep. Paul G. Rogers on the St. Lucie Inlet project status; with U.S. Road Department officials on the status of the scenic highway project announced several months ago.

A highway between Lake Okeechobee and the northern tip of Jupiter Island was suggested as a Martin County scenic project and was included in the state plan submitted to Washington.

...avanna Highway, New School, One-Way 707 Plans Revealed By Bell At Jensen Zoning Meeting Tuesday

...oning Plan ...Discussed ...t Meetings

...wo public meetings have been ...d during the past week to air ...ws on the proposed zoning ...ges for the Jensen Beach ...Rio areas.

The first of these was held ...t Thursday night at the Rio ...ic Center. Conducting the ...eting was Frank Forsberg, ...airman of the County Planning ...Zoning Board, with Fred Bell, ...ning Director and County En...neer, George Grimm, Assis...t County Engineer, and Howard ...d, Zoning Commissioner for ...Salerno and Hobe Sound area ...attendance. The same men, ...th the exception of Reid were ...esent at the Jansen Beach ...eting this past Tuesday ...ening.

It was strongly stressed by ...rsberg that these meetings ...re merely open air discussions ...the purpose of clarification ...d no final conclusions would ...drawn from them. A formal ...blic hearing is slated for ...ursday night in the County ...mmissioners room in the ...urthouse at 7:30 p.m. At this ...e official complaints will be ...ard, and the continuance or ...option of the zoning changes ...ill be decided.

Both meetings were lightly ...ttended, and though there were ...ite a few questions concerning ...y change in the zoning as it ...ds stands, most of these were ...eared up by either Bell or ...rsberg. Main point brought ...t by Forsberg was that no ...operty was to be downgraded, ...d if any change was to be made ...would be to up-grade, thereby ...preciating the property to much ...reater value.

Further explanation was made ...y Bell and Forsberg that though ...e zoning might be changed it ...ould in no way interfere with ...isting property use, other than ...e fact that the property use ...ould not be expanded. This ...int did bring quite a few com...ents from owners of property, ...ho had planned future expansion ...uch as motel owners in Rio ...d a trailar sales place on U.S.1.

Bell pointed out quickly that, ...r the most part, there would ...e only minor changes made from ...e way the property was ...resently being used, and that ...ere was no need for alarm.

BIG CATCH--Ernest Baker, Skyline Drive, shows off his first snook, a 32 pounder, caught off the St. Lucie River Bridge last Monday night at about 8 p.m. It took 20 minutes to land the snook, 44 inches long, caught with eelskin as bait.

This new county-wide zoning proposed plan was merely a starting point for future growth of the county in a pre-planned program of organized growth.

However, if there are any persons who have a legitimate complaint, the time to make it is at the Thursday nigh meeting at the Court House, according to Forsberg. There it can be taken up in an official capacity

Expect 100' Wide Strip For Indian River Drive

by d.G. Enns

Tentative plans for widening of Indian River Drive to 100 feet, plus the possibility of a second road paralleling it, were offered at a public meeting Tuesday night at the Jensen Beach Community Center.

Also planned for the future is the construction of a school along the Savanna Road which will connect Jensen Beach Cut-Off Road with RL. 707. All other land along this area will be zoned R-2, residential, according to County interpretation of zoning.

This news was released by County Engineer and Zoning Director Fred Bell, during the discussion of zoning changes proposed for the Jensen Beach Area.

Mention was also made of the proposed scenic road coming from St. Lucie County along the west side of the savannas, making a turn and coming toward the Indian River, then going back up to Fort Pierce. Plans for this route have already been advanced by St. Lucie County and Martin, it seems, will go along with this project.

Greatest interest, however, centered around the widening of the Indian River Drive to 100 feet to adequately handle projected future traffic -- and the plans even go so far as to include a second road just west of the drive to handle traffic one way from the north and the drive used for one way to the south.

Bell advanced the theory that if the present property owners would give right of way on their existing property they would, in return, be given an additional 100 feet out into the Indian River.

This property, though, would all be zoned R-3 which would allow motels, hotels, restaurants and the like - but would exclude private homes. This brought some dissenting voices, but it was pointed out that the property would at that time be too valuable to be suited for residences.

However, this is merely a proposed plan for future expansion and not, as yet, a reality, according to Bell.

Art Show Planned

Paintings and ceramics will be displayed Sunday at 5:30 p.m. at the East Stuart Elementary School by the art department of the Martin County Adult Education program.

The public is invited to see the work done by local people, according to W. Jay Thompson and Johnny Shaw, under whose supervision the classes have been conducted.

Palm City Bridge Heads SRD Budget For County

A $1 million dollar bridge in Palm City tops the Martin County projects listed in the proposed budget and work program of the State Road Department and will come up for a hearing at Jacksonville May 27th.

The budget is for the fiscal year starting July 1st and ending June 30th, 1966 and includes $409,180,100 in state-wide projects.

Generally the inclusion of any project in the tentative budget for hearing has meant final inclusion in the road program in recent years.

In addition to the million dollar construction figure, the budget sets aside $65,000 for preliminary engineering of the .4 mile facility.

Next in total budgeting for primary roads was the $250,000 for a four mile extension of SR 714 (Martin Grade) from the intersection of SR 609 towards the east.

SR 609 is the next state designation for Allapattah Road, which is on the primary road budget. SR 714 is also on the list, but only for $20,000, the last appropriation for the project underway from SR 76-A (Loop Rd.) west 8.011 miles, nearly completed. sr 609 is included in the budget for a three mile project from SR 714 north to the county line and the new bridge over C-23 canal built with private funds this year. The project on SR 609 is in for

Electricity Production Up 8 Per Cent

The production of electric energy in Florida, a reliable measure of general growth, was up 8 per cent last year over 1963, one point better than the national average increase, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported in its Weekly Business Review released yesterday.

"The total output of electric plants in Florida, both private and public, came to 28,872,000,000 kilowatt hours last year, half as much again as in 1960.

"Residential use of electricity is the largest single consumer classification with last year's volume reaching 11,346,000,000 kilowatt-hours. A 12 per cent increase in this use over 1963 points up the expanding home use of electricity.

"Commercial establishments purchased 6.8 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity last year, up 10 percent. Manufacturing and processing plants bought 5.8 billion kilowatt-hours from electric plants and produced another 3 billion kilowatt-hours in their own establishments, with gains not reported separately.

"To produce electric energy in Florida, all companies and plants used together 1,947,000 short tons of coal (up 8 per cent), 23,884,000 barrels of oil (up 17 per cent) and 93 billion cubic feet of gas (down 3 per cent) during last year."

Commander Grimm reminded that the observance of Memorial Day in Jensen Beach should include the display of a United States flag by every home and business firm.

Col. and Mrs. Edward L. Andre and daughter, Lori, of Miami were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Tilton.

Courthouse Annex Nixed

Plans for construction of a court house annex with Civil Defense funds under the national research and development program in the next fiscal year, may have reached a temporary impasse in Washington, but hope continues, according to County Engineer Fred Bell, who returned recently from Washington, D.C.

Bell, along with County Commissioner Jack Saunderson and Civil Defense Director Al Keaton, visited James Rempke, architect-engineer for the Office of Civil Defense, seeking such funds.

The annex building was the real purpose for the trip. Earlier announcements made by Keaton had been to the effect that funds for shelter research would be sought.

According to Bell, a building to house county department which also have Civil Defense duties, was being sought. Construction would be done with principally Federal funds, it was hoped.

The veterans service officer, health department fire department, emergency operating center, civil defense and other department would be housed in the new building which would also serve as an emergency shelter.

Rempke said the county was unfortunate at the time because Congress is in process of altering policy on the program, however, he did not close the door to the possibility of future approval, according to Bell.

Bell said that a new research and development program is being set up under which eight universities will plan and do the administrative work in the project.

Mobile Home Owners Mass Meeting Thursday Evening

Plan Discussion Of Taxes Under Proposed New Laws

A meeting of mobile home owners and tenants of mobile homes will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 27 in the Ocean Breeze Community Hall, it was announced today. The meeting is open to all owners and occupants of mobile homes in Jensen Beach, Stuart and nearby communities.

The purpose of the meeting is to afford opportunity to mobile home owners to voice their opinions on the present situation in which they find themselves with respect to taxation. A recent Florida Supreme Court decision outlined a long standing ruling that mobile home owners met all tax obligations when they registered their mobile homes with the State automobile licensing authorities. The court ruling has brought about a situation in which these mobile park occupants are required to meet higher taxation, although the owners of each park are also taxed.

Most mobile home occupants are retirees compelled to live on small pensions and it is felt that some relief from the threatened present unfair taxation should be sought. Governor Burns has expressed the hope that the legislature will enact laws to relieve the situation. A number of bills have been introduced to establish the taxation that mobile home owners should be required to pay, but none of the proposals have been enacted into law.

The Tuesday meeting should result, its sponsors feel, in action to urge passage of appropriate legislation, and possible in the formation of an organization to promote the interests of mobile home owners. The sponsors of the meeting assert that no charge of admission will be made.

Clams Get County Okay

The county commission last Tuesday gave the Izaak Walton League permission to post an area between two spoil islands in the Indian River to plant an estimated 2,000 quahogs (clams) as an experimental project.

Charles A. Bachelier appeared on behalf of the chapter and told the commission the 2,000 clams might increase to 100,000 in two to three years if the experiment is a success.

Fishing and boating in the area will be prohibited and the area will be posted at the four corners.

VANDALISM--Pictured above is a table...a steel reinforced, concrete picnic table on Jensen Beach Causeway. Heavy logs were used by vandals to smash this and other items in the county park. The table lies on its side near heavy chains that were also broken in the wanton attack.

tewart Buys nderson's tore Here mes W. Stewart, son of Mr. Mrs. Vincent Stewart, has hased the Harry Anderson elry store on Commercial St., Jensen Beach. The sale was pleted last week.

derson plans to retire. He e here first in 1914..."when had to row a boat with one and push ducks out of the with the other, they were thick".

He opened the store in a lding on the corner of Highway and Commercial Street in 1950.

Anderson and his wife live at 218 South Street in Jensen Beach.

The new owner is a young man, dedicated to the art of watchmaking. He has already established a flourishing repair business in "watches", repairing watches for jewelry stores up and down the coast of Florida. He comes by his trade in breeding, being the son of the owner of Vincent's Jewelry in Stuart.

Stewart plans to close the shop for several weeks, remodel and air condition it, and open with a complete line of watches and jewelry, including the Belova and Van guard watch lines and Feature-Glo diamonds.

Stewart lives at 222 Bryan Avenue in Stuart.

Tom Snavley Wins State Essay Laurel

Tom Snavely, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Snavely of Port Sawall, has won first prize of $500 in the state Elks essay contest on Communism, according to Earl Knoll, chairman of the Stuart-Jensen Elks Americanism Committee.

Snavely will be taken to St. Augustine Friday by local Elks this weekend and will be presented his award at the State Elks Association convention Saturday.

Young Snavely expects to attend the University of Florida, Knoll said.

The court house will be closed May 31st by official vote, although some department will remain open, including the tax collector's office. The county judge announced his office would be closed and the commission office will also be closed.

Bulkhead Seminar Promotes Economic-Ecologic Advantages Here

wo local men, John L. Mc rg and Ernest Lyons, told those nding the bay fills and bulk- d lines seminar here last Fri- that "something had better be ne about shorelines, river bot- s and developments."

McQuigg, a former top flight omobile advertising executive, conservationist and an officer the Izaak Walton League, said conservationist is really against velopment, but, you can't have d fishing and the destruction We're not old fogeys, bird hers or old ladies in tennis es," he said, and went on in llars and cents to prove why w how conservationists know t they are talking about.

He added up the Florida com- rcial fishing interest at $30.7 llion, shellfish business at $21.3 llion, bait business at $5.5 mil- n, boat sales at $125 million l fuel and upkeep at $77 mil- n, tourism due to fishing only, 72 million visits by boats and sh- en, $26.8 million, fishing ckle sales at $40 million, charter at business at $23 million and y dockage at $1.8 million, a total of direct figures, conservative, of $1.25 billion a year.

"You can quarrel with the figure if you want to. Whether they are of absolute accuracy is not the point. They make the point good fishing is a fantastic economic asset for Florida."

He went on to enlarge other economic gains, in construction for new residents, in service industries, food and others.

He referred to the basic facts "There are other ways to dredge and fill to develop property. There is no other way to provide spawning and nursery grounds...once Mother Nature's works have been despoiled and altered, that change is irrevocable."

"There can never again be fruitful spawning grounds at Fort Lauderdale, or Lake Worth, or upper Biscayne Bay, or Tampa Bay or Boca Ciego.

"The South Fork of the St. Lucie River at Palm City can never again be a clean, clear, deep river, once called by the late President Hoover the finest fishing in America."

CRARY TALKS--Problems developed by bureaucratic administration of applications for bulkheading and dredge and fill permits were discussed in a case study of a Sewall's Point project by Evans Crary, Jr. at the recent seminar on bulkheads and bay fill in Jensen Beach.

Treasure Hunting Investigated

Two U.S. Customs officials revealed the Federal government is taking a long, hard look at treasure hunting in Florida.

The agents, William B. Lankford, Jacksonville, and Stephen C. Csokas, Miami, talked briefly and in general, but did reveal that they were carrying on their part of a joint investigation with the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund.

Lankford, acting spokesman for the pair, said in a court house interview, that he 'supposed it would become known sometime', and then talked of the study being made wherever there are IIF leases to search for treasure, 'and is plenty of places where there aren't leases.'

Lankford said the Bureau of Customs and U.S. Treasury Dept. officials initiated the study of treasure and customs about six months ago.

Thomas L. Crook, Supt. of Schools, turned over the study and formation of a committee to determine what if anything should be done about cooperation with the Federal Program under the Economic Opportunity Act, anti-poverty program, to the county commission at a meeting held May 20th.

The entire program was so violently criticized that a decision was made to have a study made of it before trying to set up a community action committee.

Commission Chairman Frank A. Wachs, asked Crook, Mayor William F. Todt, School Board Chairman Frank DeStefano and Attorney James Littman to serve on a preliminary study committee and asked specifically if members of the press would attend every meeting in order to keep the public informed of its action.

KIBITZERS--Every evening slow pitch softball game has its kibitzers, usually the sons of the elder-ballplayers. These were much in evidence, urging dads on to greater charlie-horses, hissing the umpires and, in general, having fun at the ball-park.

Dick Pope, Jr., of Cypress Gardens was the first recorded person to ever water ski on his bare feet.

Heisley Stops Freight Train

Deputy Sheriff Ray Heisley stopped a freight train when a railroad dispatcher said it couldn't be done, and he did it to avoid a collision between an oncoming train and a wrecked truck.

Heisley, investigating an accident in which a pickup truck failed to make the grade crossing curve on A1A and ended up with four flat tires 243 feet from the crossing astride the northbound tracks of the FEC, moved fast to avoid the collision.

First he called a wrecker, then he called the FEC to stop the train he knew was coming. When he was told it was doubtful if the latter could be done in time, Heisley used battery jumper cables to link the two rails, thus setting up the circuit which not only dropped the A1A warning gate but put a red light before the engineer of the train, stopping it three miles south of the crossing.

The wrecker pulled the car off the rails and Heisley booked the driver, Homer Keister, 23, for DWI and violation of a restricted license.

Keister was treated at Martin Memorial Hospital for a severely cut forehead.

If it's a good one, we'll feature it (during June-is-Dairy-Month) in newspapers and/or on radio... or we'll headline your name on one of our famous milk billboards. All limericks should be mailed in before Midnight, May 31, 1965 and become the property of Southeast Florida Dairy Institute. Send as many limericks as you like. Please be sure to include your name, address, occupation and approximate number of glasses of milk you drink each day. SURPRISE PARTY FOR MR. JOHNSON---a combination farwell and belated birthday party was given for Mr. John on by members of the Wranglers Club last week. Mr. Johnson, known and loved by the local children, has given much of his time to the youth of our community. He has taught many to ride horseback, advised and helped them care for their horses and was never too busy to help them fix a bridle or a saddle and for those who might not have a way home after a day at the pasture, Mr. Johnson didn't mind taking them. Pictured above with Mrs. Johnson.

Committee To Study Palm City Zoning

At a meeting on zoning sponsored by the Palm City Civic Association last Wednesday night about 100 people attended and agreed to permit appointment of a committee to make a new study of zoning change needs in all of the area south of Palmetto Avenue.

Bill W. Watts, president of the Association conducted the meeting and agreed to set up the committee after almost two hours of discussions in which County Engineer Fred L. Bell, County Zoning Board member, Donald Ward, led with suggestions of needed changes.

The county representatives agreed to supply maps and whatever help was needed by the committee.

The meeting was held as a direct result of complaints and eventual dismissal of a change the county board offered to make in zoning in the area.

Hart's Mobile Homes Sales Office Moves

Hart's Mobile Home Sales and service headquarters this week moved from their location on South Federal Highway in the Stuart Shopping Center, to 285 North Federal Highway, just north of the Roosevelt Bridge.

Hart's have been in the Stuart area since 1950, and were the builders of the Martin Trailer Park on South U.S. 1. Now in their new location, they are in a better position to offer the ultimate in sales and service on their complete line of coaches.

In the line of coaches they carry everything from 8 wide by 30 feet long to the luxurious 14 foot by 60 foot long - with special emphasis being made on custom crafted mobile homes.

At the same time they are specializing in awnings, cabana rooms, hurricane tie-downs and hurricane shutters.

Latest addition to their line of awnings and shutters is the exclusive agency for the Navaco line of translucent rigid vinyl window awnings and patio covers, equally suitable for either mobile homes or conventional homes.

These new translucent shutters sell for the same price as aluminum shutters - never need painting - and never rust. When folded down for storm protection, they allow light to pass through, keeping the inside from being in total darkness. When in the raised position, they give protection from the heat and rays of the sun, but soften the light coming in.

These new vinyl shutters come in white, green and sandalwood, or in many combinations of these colors. They conform to the Southern Building Code, so you are completely safe in installing them on your home. Originally coming for much more - volumne sales have enabled the company to offer them this year at a big reduction in original price.

Joining the Hart's this month is Owen Rogers, who has lived in the Stuart area for over a year. He will assist the Hart's in sales and office management. During the evenings he will accept appointments to inspect the mobile homes, if you are unable to come by during the daytime. He can be reached at 287-6878.

Regular office hours of Hart's are 8 to 5, Monday through Saturday, or call them at 287-0670.

All Saints Church Summer Schedule To Begin May 30

Beginning next Sunday, May 30th, All Saints Episcopal Church of Jensen Beach, will operate on its summer schedule -- two Sunday services at 7:30 and 9 a.m.- the 11 o'clock service being eliminated. There will be Holy Communion at each service weekly and, as usual, at 9 o'clock there will be a family service with skits and a sermon by the rector.

Wells Hively, concert pianist, composer, writer and organist, who has presided at the organ weekly since last October, will be gone for the summer. With his son, Wells Hively Jr., widely known Minnesota educator, and his daughter-in-law, he will spend the next month in Europe, mostly in Spain. Then, returning to the United States, he will spend a month in New York attending and participating in various musical events. During his absence, Mrs. Jane Manning of West Palm Beach will serve as organist. A talented musician, Mrs. Manning, during the winter months, serves as organist at the Episcopal Chapel on Jupiter Island, Hobe Sound.

Fr. Norman B. Feaster and his family will remain in this area most of the summer. In fact, Fr. Feaster will serve as supply rector at Holy Faith Episcopal Mission, Fort St. Lucie during the month of June, conducting one service there each Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Feaster will direct the diocesan camp for girls beginning August 8th for one week at Camp Wingman. Their son, Norman Jr., is a member of the staff at Camp Wingman.

Lutheran Church

The Redeemer Lutheran Church will celebrate the Ascension of our Lord on Thursday, May 27th with a Holy Communion Service and special music, at 7:30 p.m. The Choir will be singing at this service under the direction of Mr. LaMoyne Roll.

Friday evening at 7:30 the final meeting of the Vacation Bible School staff will take place. This is a most important meeting for all staff members to prepare for the great work of teaching the young child how to pray. The Vacation Bible School begins on June 7th at 9 a.m.

May 31st the Jr. Confirmation class meets at 3:30 p.m. at the church. In the evening the N.T. History Class meets at eight.

Tuesday evening June 1st, the choir will meet at 7:30 for the final rehearsal before the summer vacation. On Tuesday morning the pastor attends the Pastoral Conference of the Palm Beach Circuit of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, at Redeemer Lutheran Church in West Palm Beach beginning at 10 a.m.

Softball League For Girls Will Begin Saturday

The first practices of a proposed girl's softball team will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at Langford Hall Park, according to Martin Wahl.

The practice will be held to begin formation of a team of school age girls to participate in a Martin County League being formed. Teams from Palm City, Salerno, Stuart and Jensen Beach will compete.

The schedule calls for ten Sunday evening games to be played at Stuart. The first game of the season will be June 6th. Walter Dalley will coach the Jensen team, sponsored by the civic league.

Red Cross In Dominican Republic

The American Red Cross staff members are on special assignment with the U.S. Marines and paratroopers in the Dominican Republic, according to Ross Philbrick, chairman of the Martin County Chapter.

"They are there to act a liaison officers with hometown Red Cross chapters to help servicemen and their families in the event of personal or family emergencies arise during their Dominican duty," said Philbrick.

The service has been provided at the request of the U.S. Government, he said.

HO, HO, GO--County commission chairman Frank A. Wacha, on his way to Pensacola, just had time to welcome the many distinguished guests at the opening session of the bulkhead and bay fill seminar last Friday morning, tell a joke, and leave.

IT'S THIS WAY--John M. McQuigg, who spoke on the economic values of preserving the natural shoreline at the bulkhead and bay fill seminar last week in Jensen Beach, makes a point to Evans Crary, speaker on problems in application for bulkheading and bay fill.

OH YEAH?--Fred Bell, master of ceremonies for the bulkhead and bay fill seminar last weekend, and also Martin County's engineer, talked with Ben Arbogast during one of the breaks in the meeting. Arbogast was one of the persons working on the formation of the seminar.

Commission Meet Actions

A request for a change of zoning on Commercial Street here in Jensen was tabled pending the switch to the county zoning code in the area. June 10th has been set for the next hearing.

A public hearing on the closing of Leighton Avenue from St. Lucie Avenue to 12th Street in Golden Gate has been set for June 22nd.

Samuel Rhodes, Jr., submitted a plat of Section 2, Legion Heights which was accepted and approved subject to the providing of a maintenance bond.

The various department heads were ordered to turn in their budget requests not later than June 15th.

A bid by Dickerson, Inc., to build a sidewalk on County Line Road which was submitted at an earlier meeting, was rejected on a recommendation by County Engineer Fred L. Bell.

The project will be re-advertised.

Bessemer Properties, Inc., has asked for a reversion in zoning classification on a 250 foot frontage on Ocean Blvd. west of the Lutheran Church from HC- to R-3 and will be heard June 22nd.

Elmer Goebel was named to replace Capt. W.R. Laughon, who has resigned, on the Museum Commission.

The county's inclusion of an advertisement in the Jensen Beach fishing guide was approved.

A health and safety hazard investigation at Coral Gardens as requested in public by Mrs. Samuel Hover has been agreed to by Commissioner Jack Saunderson and Fred Bell. Mrs. Hover said rats, snakes, tincans, and rubbish infest lots in her neighborhood and she has been unable to get county cooperation in a cleanup.

PTA Pours Tea For Scholarship

The Martin County High School PTA hopes to swell it's $65 scholarship fund with donations made to their "Dollars for Scholars Campaign" to take place over much of Martin County this Friday and Saturday.

The PTA, with a very small membership, hopes in this way to fulfill their obligation for a scholarship to a Martin County Senior. In past years as much as $200 has been awarded. This has been considered the PTA's "most worthy project". Last year Scott Feaster, was the recipient of this scholarship.

The Dollars for Scholars Teas and Coffees will take place in private homes from 9 til 11 and 2 till 4 p.m. The homes will be open to the public and anyone and everyone who wishes may stop by for tea or coffee. Each home will be marked with a Red Dollar Sign conspicuously placed near the home.

Persons who would like more information about this project may contact Mrs. H. McCormick at 287-4152 or Mrs. C. Hall at 287-2661.

Bulkhead

He said Martin County had both ecologically good and alogmeis and some "atrocities, too."

Ernest Lyons, editor of the Stuart News, said the people would solve the "development vs the conservation" complex problem at the ballot box.

He called on the government to begin a massive planned program of dedication of its rivers, bays, lakes and seafront beyong the high tide mark as "public parks-recreation use lands," and predicted that if such were not done, and soon, "There is going to be an overwhelming, irresistable demand from the people that every inch of underwater lands, bays, rivers and seafront held in trust for them at Tallahassee be turned over to them, irrevocable and without reservation."

"People don't look to the scientists or any of the other experts to solve their problems. They look to politicians. Their problem will either be solved by those in power now, or a politician vacuum will be filled by the people with someone who will solve it," he added.

He applauded Gov. Haydon Burns for the decisions to make certain lands on the Loxahatchee River park lands.

In his speech, Dr. Per Bruun, research professor and head of the coastal engineering laboratory at the University of Florida, said that this area has become a pioneer area in work for all of Florida and the United States through the use of revetment walls, the removal or recovery of sand from the sea, and through offshore experiments in searching for sand banks suitable to pump shoreward.

He showed slides of the revetment walls build by Dickerson, Inc, through its Stuart office, on Jupiter Island and described the reasons why they not only look like ocean's Sunday punch and barely groaned, but also trapped eroding sand in the process.

He referred to the experiment financed by the Town of Jupiter Island and done by Dickerson, Inc., in hauling sand from an offshore bank to the waterline in a big bucket, and said by coating 28 different kinds of sand, counting the grains and in so doing it, and determining where it came from, as well as where it went.

He referred to U.S. beach marks a "completely wrong in Florida", but explained the fact by pointing out that the sea level is rising.

"From 1930 to 1950, the sea rose a quarter of an inch a year. Since then, it has slowed a little bit, but he added, "if we don't replace eroded land, we shall see an increase in the sea level in growing measures."

He also pointed to the St. Lucie Inlet as an example of an inlet with too much flow, and to Jupiter Inlet as one with too little flow.

Robert Parker, administrator of the Internal Improvement Fund, admitted that the "rights of the private owner are sometimes minimized," in bay and river bottom problems.

"But," he added later, "trustees are not unaware of what is going on in the bottomland sales, and they try to evaluate complaints, balance things out in the public interest."

"God Children Pray" is the theme of the two-week course, which is open to all children in the area from three to fourteen years of age. This year a registration fee of fifty cents is being charged all children. This, plus the daily offering to be taken, will partially cover the cost of operating the school.

All children of the Stuart-Jensen Beach area are cordially invited to attend. The school will begin each morning at 9 and end promptly at 11:45. A special closing program on Friday evening, June 18, is being planned. At this program all the children will display their various art and craft materials made during the school as well as take part in presenting portions of the program to show the parents what has been learned in the two weeks of the school.

In The Mirror

----And Away We Go

This week marks a new step in the growth of the Mirror. It is an important one, and is one we have thought out carefully.

The Mirror is full size, moving from the tabloid size to the full newspaper size. There are many reasons for the move....most of them directly related to the all-consuming job of making our readers more and more informed on the happenings in Martin County.

The former tabloid page size was five columns by 16 1/2 inches. This made a total of 82 1/2 inches on each page. The new size, called a full size page, is eight columns by 21 1/2 inches. It is more than double the size of the tabloid pages. There would be 168 column inches in two tabloid pages. There are 172 inches in a full size page.

This means more room for more news of Martin County.

It means a greater value for the dollar to Mirror customers.

The new size also makes it possible for the Mirror to give greater display to the news and advertising in the newspaper. The newspaper size is in keeping with the standard size sense of most newspapers in the country.

While we change the format to keep up with the growth of the Mirror, we will never change the principles for which we fight. Nor will we change the effort we put forward to give the people of Martin County the best newspaper we possibly can.

As the American people watch the Nation blast off on the greatest adventure man has known, the exploration of space, here in Martin County the Mirror is blasting off in its own adventure into more space....more news, more features and more newspaper for our readers.

We hope our readers like the new look of the Mirror.

INSTALLED---The new year of Stuart's Soroptomist Club got under way last week with the installation of officers. They included, Claire Fulton, President; Ellen Chase, Vice President; Charlotte Henderson, Recording Secretary; Margaret Binder, Corresponding Secretary; Elaine Cohee, Treasurer; and Directors Gene Carlsen, Juanita Schreckengost, Eloise Caster,and Hattie Bussert.

Next Capitol, Yeehaw Junction

Action by the House Judiciary Committee to establish a state appellate court at Yeehaw Junction has met with furious comments by some members of the legislature. One said it was a "frivolous gesture". Another said, "they were derilict in their duties".

The reason for the fury is that the committee left it up to the House to decide the location of the court, Vero Beach, Fort Pierce and West Palm Beach are competing for the site.

Yeehaw Junction is a crossroads just west of Vero Beach. It is twenty miles from nowhere, but it is a place where, for example, the Mirror has one subscriber. It is a very important town.

We are shocked that the capitol reporters would call Yeehaw Junction a "whistle stop town", a "dot on the map".

We will defend our subscriber's town to the limit of our ability.

Yeehaw Junction is a town with people living there. Not very many, true, but people anyway. There are five filling stations and a couple other things, too.

The beauty of it all is that Yeehaw Junction could become another Brasilia, where architects were able to build the city of the future from a wilderness to be the capitol of Brazil. Yeehaw Junction has all the requirements of a wilderness.

We are proud of our Legislature, and of its sense of humor. We are proud of our Yeehaw Junction subscriber, and of his town.

We urge the Florida Legislature to think about building the state capitol of the future at Yeehaw Junction. There is not a pine tree in sight there.

Palm City Bridge Location Should Be To Stuart's Heart

While the State Road Department is thinking about where to put the Palm City Bridge, it looks like local people are doing very little talking and are taking very little action to see that it is located in the right place.

Perhaps the City of Stuart is of the opinion that the location of the bridge means little to them. If the city officials have ever taken the exit off the Sunshine Turnpike, they would see what it means.

The location of the turnpike entrance, and the winding roads and narrow access makes the Stuart Interchange one of the most unattractive exits and entrances on the turnpike.

Most of the people in Martin County, when heading north or south on the turnpike, go north to Fort Pierce or south to Jupiter to get on the Sunshine Parkway. It is easier and takes a few cents less, and they do not have to fight that winding road.

If the new Palm City Bridge is placed to the south of the present bridge site, we fear that the Fort Pierce and Jupiter interchanges will continue to get a land office business on Stuart's interchange suffers from the lack of it.

It is time to bring the access road and the new bridge to the point where it belongs. It should be located off Lighthouse Point, or in that vicinity, to bring traffic to the heart of Stuart.

In order to bring the bridge to the point where it should be, the City of Stuart and the residents of the area involved should begin getting rights of way for the State Road Department. A gift of the land, in the proper location, would certainly weigh heavily in favor of the location.

The time to act is now. It is time to think of Martin County's future.

Who Will Miss Boxing?

We remember when we looked up to the world's heavyweight champion with awe. In the days of Louis, Dempsey and Tunney, we found a greatness in the champion.

All that is gone now, swamped in a morass of hooliganism, gangsterism and the black cloak of public doubt.

Was the Clay-Liston fight fixed. Really, not too many people seem to give a rap as it was or not. The bout was the death knell of professional boxing. The idiot(?) that ended the fight was the knockout blow of boxing.

Gene Tunney said that the fight was the worst, most offensive debasement of boxing he had ever seen. He called it a "really arranged knockout."

We do not urge federal investigation of boxing. We feel that boxing has become the farce that is wrestling. Soon we can all see it in carnivals with the freak shows.

Boxing has killed itself. No one mourns.

Roger Vail Tells Of Shipwreck On Yucatan Peninsula

Roger Vail, 38 year old artist, described his shipwreck on the Yucatan Peninsula as the night when the 12 foot waves pounded our 30 foot boat against a reef, the dinghy floated off in the darkness and the wreckage floated only because we had put polyethylene foam blocks in parts of the hull.

Vail, with four others, but two as previously reported from Panama, made their way ashore from the wrecked craft onto a jungle beach on the mainland of Yucatan Peninsula and walked the beach for an entire day before they came upon a native fisherman who took them back to the wreckage of their boat and thence to his home, a small copra plantation in an area so remote they shot deer for meat.

On May 13th, Vail and the four men, left Belize, British Honduras under sail bound for Miami.

With Vail were Jack Giese, a Canadian national, who since has gone to Merida, Yucatan Province, to rest up; Oliver (Curly) Beaupre, 63, an American of French Canadian extraction, who also is now in Merida.

Also, Anthony Straw, 21, a British national, who has returned now to Belize and David Matthews, 21, another Canadian, who is now at Chetamul, on the Yucatan Peninsula, near where the craft was wrecked.

"When the rudder came off in a northeast storm," said Vail, "we headed towards the open sea. We had been losing metal fastenings quite regularly, and we were replacing them with wooden pegs as best we could.

"We heard a noise like a big bump, found that the starboard pontoon had separated from the main hull, and from then on, we broke up like a cardboard box."

He said, "the main mast and the rigging held us together, but you could poke a finger through the interior type plywood which the boat builder in Belize had used instead of marine plywood."

He said the plywood was made in Surinam (Dutch Guiana) and had a poor reputation in Central America.

"We found what we thought was an opening in the barrier reef, and by maneuvering with the jib, we got into a position from which we could drift down wind into it.

"We found the opening was not as good as we'd hoped, and the 12 to 14 foot waves pounded us across a 50 foot wide part of the rocks, smashing us as we went.

"The foam kept us afloat, and once over the reef, we drifted ashore, exhausted. I lost my foot, but fortunately I had a spare," he added.

They salvaged what they could from the craft, and eventually, Vail sold the $1,000 boat to Straw, for $100.

After making their way southward on the wild jungle shore, they came across Tomas Fernandez, the plantation owner and fisherman, who took them back to the trimaran and later to his home, a wood-frame building with a straw roof at the edge of the jungle.

They were wrecked on May 16th Vail said, and remained at the Fernandez home for five days, then the fisherman took them to Escalak, a village of 200 people, where they remained for two more days.

Fernandez presented each with a bill for 250 pesos, about $20 American money, for the rescue service and board bill. The Mexican government reclaimed the trimaran wreck, but later gave it back when they found out the facts.

That is when Vail sold it to Straw. He had no money, he said, but used the $100 to pay off Fernandez most of the balance for a bus ride to Merida from Escalak and a plane ticket to Miami, where he arrived Wednesday.

"I'm through with boats," said Vail, obviously meaning what he had said.

Right To Work And Civil Rights

The fourth in a series of articles on Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act and The Right To Work

The American people are convinced that the Right to Work is right. They know that the Right to Work is a worker's right, a state right and an individual right. And, as a matter of fact, many feel that no civil right is more important than the civil right of free choice—presently guaranteed in 19 states by Right to Work laws.

The demand by some political leaders to repeal Section 14(b)—the section of The Taft-Hartley Act which allows states to enact Right To Work laws—is strangely inconsistent with their avowed concern for the civil and human rights of all Americans.

Early in his State of the Union message, President Johnson declared that the nation is "dedicated to freedom from arbitrary power, not merely for all Americans, but for all." Moments later, he called for changes in the Taft-Hartley Act, including Section 14(b)—changes that would mean a return to nationwide compulsory union membership!

Another paradox is Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz. He said, in a Detroit address in 1963 during a Michigan celebration of the 100th Anniversary of Emancipation Proclamation: "The large edifice of civil rights is dependent on equality of employment opportunity . . . if men are to be truly free in accord with the tenents of democracy, then they must be free to seek a livelihood without prejudice."

It is unfortunate that Secretary Wirtz seems to be speaking out for all men when in reality he appears to mean only some men. For as an outspoken opponent of the right to work he certainly is not including those who do not choose to unionize.

A really strange outlook on human rights is presented by Walter Reuther, the boss of the United Auto Workers. He said recently in Selma, "When you deny freedom to any person, you are destroying your own freedom." Perhaps we should remind Mr. Reuther of the fact that organized labor is today denying freedom to millions of individuals making up our "minority" groups. An excellent example of this is provided by three men in Evansville, Indiana, who face dismissal from their jobs because they contend that their religious beliefs (they are members of the Christadelphian faith) forbid them to join a union. Is Mr. Reuther concerned with the individual rights of these three men? Hardly!

Is there "equality of employment opportunity" for the man who seeks work but cannot obtain it because of his refusal to join an organization against his will? Is the non-union worker who applies for a job in a compulsory union atmosphere "free to seek a livelihood without prejudice?"

Regarding the Negro drive to obtain fair treatment in the job market, countless cases have emerged where Negro and other minority groups workers were denied admittance to a trade due to the exclusionary practices of many closed shop unions. Because of the compulsory union situation, these excluded minority group workers were thwarted in their pursuit of the basic American right to seek employment in one's chosen field.

Thus the civil and human rights of all American workers stand in real and/or potential danger due to the bane of compulsory unionism.

How To Read This Thing

One of my friends told me, "Don't change the size of the newspaper...It is the only one I can read in the subway."

Course, there aren't too many subways in this area, but I can see the many friends who have grown up with the Mirror looking aghast at the new big size of the newspaper. They (and I) liked the tabloid format.

Well, things change, and we must keep up with the changes. Just as we no longer ride a horse to town, so we no longer want read the Mirror like we read a tabloid. We must get used to the big page.

For this reason, I have made up a primer for full-size newspaper reading, which I hope will be helpful to our readers. They, I know, have never read a full size newspaper, and so they need the proper training to do so.

When you get your newspaper, the first thing to do is take it home. Then, telling the kids to keep their hands off the comics until you are through with the paper, you sit in an easy chair. Read one story on the front page, then one story on page two, then one on page three and so forth until you get to the end of the newspaper.

When you finish you go back and do it all over again. This habit has been becoming too soft. We all need exercise, and we need it badly. This morning back and forth of the arms will develop your shoulders and your biceps. Your back muscles will be helped, and if you keep standing up and sitting down whenever you turn the pages you will soon see that bulging tummy go away.

Little did you know that reading the Mirror might be a great exercise. It is.

For those of you who read the newspaper in the office, we might suggest a little less vigorous exercise. In this one you lay the paper on the desk and turn with just one arm. It takes twice as long, but think of the day it will take up...and the information is great for local discussion parties.

If you do not want to exercise, the "subway reader" effort is for you. Just fold the newspaper in half, the long way. Then read one half of the front page. Turn the thing over and read the other half.

From then on you just read as you go, one half of a page at a time. Don't be tempted to read over the half page until you have finished the entire half you are reading...for who hasn't heard the old adage...that a page is better than one.

With time and training, all our readers will be adept at reading the full size sheet. Remember, don't try to learn all this at once. Take it a little at a time.

THE PROGRAM--Legion Commander Gene Grimm, left, Rev. A. Sidney Lawrie, center, and Frank A. Wacha, county commission chairman, were the program of Memorial Day at All Saints Cemetery Sunday.

Bessey Project Hearing June 6th

July 6th at 2 p.m. has been set by the city commission for a hearing on the proposed $135,684.11 street paving, sewer and drainage project in the Bessey Addition.

The project, which was rejected two years ago by taxpayers, has been revived through a petition of the area residents.

The project will be under the assessment plan wherein by the owners will pay an estimated two thirds of the cost.

The plan covers the St. Lucie Crescent from US 1 to Indianola; all of Cleveland, Bryant, Pine and Riverdale and Indianola from St. Lucie Crescent to the River.

Included in the overall plan for street surfacing only are two streets in Pine Manor, Pine Drive and Manor drive from Palm City Road to Tract A.

The estimated total cost of paving was set at $55,586. 60 and for sewer mains $80, 297.51.

The estimated costs were set at $2.80 a running foot for paving and drainage, and $3.20 for sewers.

Payment may be made a third at a time for three years with interest at 6 per cent.

The commission agreed to order an appraisal of property adjoining the Paul D. Combs property of A1A when he urged the city to sell him a plot long under negotiation.

The appraisal has been ordered for the next meeting.

George R. Barnes complained that pipes and dirt were dumped in Krueger Creek by workman employed by the contractor running East Ocean Blvd. for the sewer and he asked they be removed.

Summer Fishing Tournament Started At PSL

Sports fishermen will start competing for top prizes Tuesday in the annual summer fishing tournament staged by the St. Lucie County Club in the St. Lucie river and nearby waters.

Spinning reels and certificates of angling merit will be awarded each week throughout the summer and five grand prizes of Ted Williams rods and reels will be presented at the end of the summer tournament on Labor Day, Sept. 6th.

Both weekly and grand prizes will be awarded for the biggest fish by weight in five categories: tarpons, snook, spotted sea trout, jack crevalle and largemouthed bass.

Contestants may use any type of tackle as long as it is hook and line, and make their catch from shore or boat in any waters within 25 miles of St. Lucie Country Club and Villas.

There is no age minimum, but in order to be eligible contestants must be guests of St. Lucie Country Club and Villas for a least two nights during the tournament.

The National Outdoor Writers' Assoc. will hold its national convention at the club and fish its waters next year.

The St. Lucie River, one of Florida's most beautiful tropical waterways, provides some of the East Coast's finest tarpon fishing. Tarpon in excess of 150 pounds have been caught on light tackle in the river off the St. Lucie Country Club.

Snook fishing is particularly good in the area. Fish of 20 to 30 pounds lurk under the mangrove banks. Big bass, too, are to be had where the salt water mixes with the fresh.

In the estuary, where St. Lucie's north and south forks join to merge with the Indian River before emptying into the Atlantic, the fishing buff with spinning tackle will find spotted sea trout, pompano, bluefish, snapper, Spanish mackerel, ladyfish and crevalle. Off shore in the Gulf Stream of Stuart is found some of the finest sail fishing along the Fla. coast.

The St. Lucie Country Club and Villas, with its $600,000 clubhouse and 250 fully-furnished villas for guests, is located in the midst of this 'fisherman's paradise.' It has been host to more than 50,000 guests since opening in 1961, and its two championship 18-hole golf courses have been the scene of practically every top tournament held in Florida.

Throughout the summer, each week's fishing contest will begin on Monday at 12:01 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. Saturday. Highest weights will be posted at the club's marina as they are achieved during the week and prizes will be awarded at dinner Saturday nights. Winners do not have to be present. Prizes and certificates of merit can be mailed.

Winners of the weekly tournaments will be automatically eligible for the grand prize awards. Best weights for the grand prizes will also be posted at the club's marina as they are achieved. In addition to the Ted Williams 410 rod and reel, each grand prize winner will be awarded a personal wall plaque.

Scotch Golf Tourney Winners

A field of more than 25 couples played in a mixed Scotch Two-Ball Foursome tourney Sunday at the Indian Hills Golf and Country Club in Fort Pierce.

Leading the winners with a total of 65 were Bob Hess and Jean Baker. Second place honors went to Vern Gosney and Jackie Koehler with a score of 69.

Commander Smith said the squadron, an associate organization of the U.S. Power Squadrons, takes three cruises a year.

A field of 108 women golfers, members of the Upper East Coast Women's Golf Association met Friday at the St. Lucie Country Club for their monthly tournament.

Cities represented in this association include Stuart, Ft. Pierce, Vero, Melbourne and Cocoa. Each month the tournament is held in a different city, with the next meeting slated for June 25th at Vero Beach.

Mrs. George Gortner of Fort Pierce was the low putts winner for the field, with a total of 30 for the 18 hole play on the Sinners Course.

Of the 108 players, only 11 broke 100 strokes over the long links. Shooting the low gross for the day was Sharon Pallone of Melbourne who plays to a 5 handicap. Mrs. Ellie Chapman of Patrick Air Force Base had low net with a 71.

Youth Center Expansion Planned

City Manager Joe N. Crowder met with city and county officials as well as officers of the Stuart Tourist Club to wrap up details for a $5,000 addition to the Stuart Youth Center.

John B. Patterson and C. Snook, representing the club, predicted late in March next season would see 700 members seeking a place to hold covered dish supper meetings twice a month.

At the meeting they asked both city and county officials to help solve the problem of the need for a king-sized meeting hall in the area.

According to Crowder, both city and county commissioners would have to confirm plans and expenditures as outlined by the joint committee which met, but he foresaw no roadblocks.

The $60 square foot extension to be built on the south side of the main hall will be under the supervision of Paul Myers, city street superintendent and qualified mason.

The city will provide some labor and materials and the county will provide the heavy machinery necessary, including a dozer for clearing, a dragline and also labor.

The Tourist club officials have agreed to provide the chairs and tables for the addition.

Under the proposed and tentative plans, the work will be done in July and August making this one of the largest halls in the city, second only to the high school gymnasium.

Fair buildings have been deemed unsuitable for such use.

Attending the meeting to solidify the plans along with Patterson, Snook and Joe Crowder were County Commissioners Jack Sanderson and J.R. Bruner and City Commissioners Jack Hartman and Arthur Sims.

Confirming actions are expected at the next regular meeting of all those concerned.

Plans were also made for the June 14th Installation meeting.

PUBLIC NOTICE

My attorney and my insurance carrier have both advised me against permitting swimming in our lake except for invited guests. In our presence or with Terry, Jacque or Kayleen.

They have also advised that I must notify all parents, who have signed permission-to-swim slips, in the past, that these are no longer valid, and are void. We are all truly sorry, but the responsibility is too great. The situation was getting out of hand. The property must be posted as it is an attractive hazard.

hamber Protests Wild Teen Party On Causeway;

ERICAN LEGION AWARD PRESENTATION---to students of the Jensen h Elementary School were made by members of American Legion 126. Receiving awards were Peggy Olney and Phillip Christianson.

Asks County Action

Over one hundred teen-agers and young adults held a party on the Jensen Beach Causeway last Saturday night. Monday night the Chamber of Commerce of the Jensen Beach Area, in a "strongly worded letter", protested the actions of the teen-agers and asked for enforcement of a county law requiring chaperones, supervision of the parties, and compliance with reservation and closing requirements from the county commission.

Sheriff's deputies received complaints from local residents on "drag strip racing" of cars from the causeway. Teen-agers were accused of "heavy drinking". Trash barrels were filled with beer cans and whiskey bottles following the party, and the causeway was littered with beer cans, paper and whiskey bottles.

Passers-by driving by to see what was happening found their automobiles pelted with handfuls of rocks.

Newspaper stands of the Mirror, and several other newspapers, were stolen from the Lil General Store add from in front of the post office, and the Jensen Cut-off Road Sewall's Point Road, and Highway 707 through Rio were littered with opened newspapers strewn wildly about.

Local Residents claim that between 70% and 80% of the license plates on the cars owned by teen-agers involved in the drinking spree were from out of the county. "They come here because they can't get away with drinking and vandalism in their own county," said Martin Wahl, Chamber director and active youth leader in this area.

Wahl, the manager of the Jensen Beach Community Center, said that the law states that the causeway must be reserved for parties, that the law demands supervision and adult chaperones on the scene, and that all teen-age parties must end at 11:30 p.m. He said that the law was not being enforced.

Al Palmer, president of the Chamber of Commerce, deplored the event and told of wild racing of cars down narrow A-1-A and SR 707 during and following the party. Chamber vice-president Bob Welsenberger, who lives in a home at the end of the causeway, said he had to move front his front room to the rear of the house because he was afraid that the cars screeching around the 90 degree turn off the causeway might hit his home.

Wahl, who handles reservations for the causeway as temporary secretary-manager of the Chamber, said that he had called county commissioner Frank Wachs upon hearing the party in process. Wachs said he had shown nothing about a party, and had no request for one. Wachs referred Wahl to Sheriff Roy Baker.

Upon calling Baker, Wahl was told that a deputy would go out and "take a look at it". No further action was taken, but a deputy was known to have driven to the causeway, and Baker had gone out to the causeway.

In furthering his investigation, Wahl said that there was no adult supervision on the causeway for the party. He added that some of the participants in the affair were "in the 20 to 25 year-old age group, but most were teen-agers".

Sheriff Roy Baker, when contacted about the party by the Mirror, said that he had personally been on the causeway that night, had talked with some of the youngsters, and warned them about drinking. He added that he had seen no one drinking alcoholic beverages when he was out there, and said that deputy Jack Curry had reported the party "quiet" when he had checked it.

County Commission chairman Frank Wachs told the Mirror "If the party was not registered with the sheriff's office, and was not properly chaperoned, then the teen-agers attended not have been on the causeway. We will have to get out the resolution (on requirements for use of the causeway) and re-state it for clarification."

Chamber Asks Jobs For Teens

Cooperation with an "unprecedented program in the nation's youth" is requested by President Lyndon B. Johnson, was asked this week by Al Palmer, president of the Jensen Beach Area Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the program is to provide summer employment and training for boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 21. It asks local employers to hire one or two youths as extra employees for the summer to help them train for future jobs in the community.

Palmer offered the Chamber of Commerce as a clearing house for businesses that would like to add young people to their staff. The names of the businesses would be forwarded to the proper authorities for placement of local people in the jobs.

William H. Davis, Stuart resident, was sworn in to the Florida Bar Association on June 7 at the Dade County Courthouse. Mr. Davis is associated with McRoberts and Johnson, Attorneys, in Stuart.

Rain Came Down

The two-month dry spell ended Sunday as the skies opened on parched lawns and drying savannas in Martin County. Over an inch of rain fell on Sunday and Monday, and Tuesday the rain followed in heavy downpours.

Fireworks Will Be Best Ever Seen In Florida

"The fireworks for the Independence Day celebration will be the best ever seen in Florida," Jo said Bill Yurtilo, fireworks chairman of the Jensen Volunteer Fire Department, sponsors of the display.

Yurtilo made the announcement at the Sunday dedication of the new addition to the firemen's building, and added that two gigantic displays, one an American flag and the other a welcome sign, will be the climax of the fireworks display.

"All displays are being built right here in Jensen Beach," Yurtilo said. The fireworks diplay has been a highlight of the July 4th activities in Jensen Beach for several years.

Indiantown's County Commissioner, Timer Powers, reported that he has been told by District Engineer Clarence E. Davidson, State Road Dept., Fort Lauderdale, that the high level bridge over St. Lucie Canal may be completed in approximately 30 days.

It is possible that the contractor will have traffic on the new bridge before that time, as part of his contract includes removal of the swing-span.

Bradshaw Seeks Sun Parlor

A hearing has been set for 2 p.m., June 22nd, for the Charles H. Bradshaw Trust by the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund at the governor's board room office on it's application for the purchase of 4.37 acres of submerged land in the Indian River at the southwest portion of Sailfish Point.

The application was filed with the IIF trustees by Dean Tooker, not acting as county attorney, on behalf of Bradshaw, trust.

Tooker said he did not expect to appear before the IIF, he had only submitted the papers because of his familiarity with the local situation.

Tooker said the state has appraised the bottomland sought in the hearing at $20, 48 an acre. Bradshaw is relinquishing it's claim on nine acres in an easterly direction from the area sought.

The bulkhead and fill project would extend as far as 450-feet from the present shoreline in the area generally known as the Sun Parlor.

About 300 feet of that amount has been lost by erosion in recent years, much of it since the Seminole Shores marina was built on the north shore of Sailfish Point.

The Bradshaw interests have announced a $20 million yacht and country club subdivision development on the point, which will be closed to public access.

Baker set a meeting Wednesday for committee assignments, and said that the Jensen Beach activities would be held on Sunday, July 4th. Plans in Stuart call for a Monday parade and celebration, so the event will be a two-day affair, with few conflicting programs.

Bill Yurtilo, Chairman of the firemen's fireworks committee, told the Chamber meeting that the firemen plan to serve food on the Causeway, and added that a locally constructed American flag and "Welcome" sign in fireworks would be a new feature of the Sunday evening fireworks.

Don Wilkie was appointed chairman of a committee to place a float in the Stuart parade.

Jensen Firemen Dedicate New Building Addition

The Jensen Beach Volunteer Firemen dedicated their new building addition this Sunday, and several hundred local residents attended an open house held Sunday afternoon. County Commission Chairman Frank A. Wacha was the main speaker in ceremonies conducted by chief Randolph Spinney.

Wacha thanked the firemen for the "care they have taken in the community development program, and for their dedication." He said the "building is beautiful!". He also praised the firemen's auxiliary for their work and gave special praise to Jack Schommer for his efforts in the department.

Jack Saunderson, vice chairman of the commission and in charge of the county's fire fighting service, congratulated the firemen on the building, "saying that the addition of a recreation room would give the firemen more interest in their department.

Herb Bruner also heaped praise on the group, saying that he was "glad to be associated with anything this fine group does."

Bill Yurillo, contractor on the new addition, received the compliments of all present on the job done.

The recreation room was decorated with flowers, and a buffet luncheon was set up, prepared by the auxiliary members.

Your Social Security

Q. I will graduate from high school in June, and plan to start working full time in July. Must I have a social security card before I start working, or can I get one at a later date?

A. If possible, you should have your card to show to your employer when you start to work. Most employers will not hire you unless you have a social security number. If you do not have a card, you should get in touch with your nearest social security office. They will issue a card to you or give you a temporary receipt showing that you have made application for a number.

Q. When I enter college this fall I plan to work part time as a waitress for the college. Should I get a social security number?

A. No. If you are enrolled in the college and are regularly attending classes, this work is not covered by the Social Security Act.

Legislative Achievement

The 1965 Florida Legislature is sealed and becomes history. The events of the thirty day session will rest in two places, bound in the red volumes of history that gather dust on shelves in the offices of lawyers and in the hearts of the dedicated servants of the public who served in that august body.

Accomplishments were many as the legislators buckled down to one of the hardest working sessions in history. The session was not without its humor, but will be best known for outstanding programs completed with a minimum of the traditional infighting.

The effect of Governor Hayden Burns on the legislature was shown in the completion of his programs, for the Florida Legislature gave the governor everything he asked for, and more. The excellence of the Burns program brought praise from all legislators interested in the growth of Florida.

Practical politics dictate that the governor is putting only the prize projects into the legislative mill, for as the loyal opposition puts it, "he is running for office in 1966". For this reason, the cloud of politics as usual has hung over the legislature. The fact the legislature did an outstanding job is reasoned that "reapportionment will make them be good and not pass anything controversial".

We do not believe that such is the case. The fact that we did get an excellent session might be partially due to reapportionment and the re-election of the governor, but it was a excellent session, and Florida will grow greater because of it. This is important.

The $200 million bond program for the four-laning of 1,200 miles of Florida highways may not be the best way to finance the roads, but it is one way, and the roads will be completed. The expansion of educational facilities, broadening the junior college and vocational school programs, was not coupled with salary increases for teachers, but the school program will be more in line with the educational needs of the state.

Many omissions are evident in the legislative program, but the budget will be balanced and there are no new taxes, to the relief of many taxpayers.

The small counties were able to gain many points in this, the last legislature they will be able to control. The whip hand now goes to the ward politicians of the big cities.

We believe that the small county legislators will still retain control of the house and senate. Big city representatives and senators will come and go like the tide. Their seats by will seldom build to gain the committee posts necessary under even the most stringent of reapportionment. For this reason, we feel that the legislature will be an honest a group as it has been in the past, and you can take your tongue out of your cheek.

The legislature has a fine record. Florida has been becoming one of the leaders in the nation in many aspects of state government. It will continue to do so.

Honors For Fla. Power & Light

In February, 1965 the Freedoms Foundation presented the top national award - the George Washington Honor Medal - to Florida Power and Light Company for its "Helping Keep America Powerful" series of advertisements which ran during 1964 in newspapers of Florida.

This campaign was conceived to create greater appreciation of our cherished freedoms .... to salute the American businesses, industries and professions that have contributed so much to preserve our treasured heritage ... and to encourage the trend in America today which proposes more freedom for private enterprise, so that business and industry may serve our country even more efficiently tomorrow.

As the advertising agency for Florida Power & Light, Bishopric, Green and Fielden is to be commended for portraying these freedoms so vividly - and Florida Power & Light deserves praise for the courage and foresight to present these messages. For so long as we shall have these freedoms, we shall have an America.

Let's Re-evaluate Civil Defense

Martin County has every right to be proud of its Civil Defense organization it has. The job being done in Martin County is better that the civil defense organizations in many larger counties in Florida.

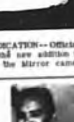
This year the coordinator will be looking to keep taxes down, even to the point of no increase. One place to look is at Civil Defense. We can maintain a minimum program to the benefit of the county, while maintaining the excellent services of director Al Keaton, and cut back on the many extensions of the program into non-essential areas.

But as budget time comes around again, the Martin County Commission should look again to the program that has become a major item in the county budget. An organization in the county that became too large, with too much administrative help, and a too-far-reaching program.

Being against Civil Defense, is like being against Motherhood in America. The Mirror is not against it, nor is it advocating its abolishment. The Mirror is asking for a re-evaluation of the program here. We feel that the excellent job being done by the CD is becoming too large and too far reaching.

Even the Congress of the United States has begun the cutback on Civil Defense. The collapse of the civilian nuclear bomb shelter program has been predicted with the slashing of shelters from the appropriation bill and the reduction of the appropriation for CD to less than half that asked by the administration. Less than $100 million has been earmarked for CD.

The problem is that even the largest and most complex shelters can only accommodate the smallest group of people in the event of a disaster.



LIVE.....and love it

by DICK CAMPBELL

It's Great To Be Beautiful

I wish it was possible to change the newspaper every week so that we will be able to get the praise that was heaped on the Mirror in the past week all of the time. It's great to be beautiful.

Those close to the Mirror know that we had a pretty rough time getting the change into being, for we had to do it in a short week, and with a small change to column sizes we were forced to remake just about everything in the newspaper.

The word "beautiful" was the one most used by our readers in their comments on the newspaper last week. Of course, we could see all the glaring errors we had, we soon found out about the stories that got lost in the shuffle of change, and we kept seeing places where the newspaper could be improved.

But our loyal readers didn't think that. They liked the change, several said they didn't think they would like it, but when it hit the street they changed their minds. It was beautiful, they said.

The greatest praise in this business comes from what we call the working newspaper man, and the advertising people. When they accept the newspaper as good, we blush and murmur, "Thank you".

I had the opportunity to be in Fort Lauderdale for a day last Friday on business, and talked with Geneblanzette, advertising director of Publix Markets for the southern part of Florida, and Sandy Hirsch, a newspaper publisher in Broward County, both had high praise for the change in the Mirror.

I must admit that their praise, on top of the fine comments of all our people around here, made me feel that we had done a good job at the Mirror. I repeat, it was hard work to get it done, but then it was worth every hour after midnight that week.

More changes are in prospect for the future. We know that we cannot sit down on laurels, no matter how small or large. We hope to departmentalize the news more, and to expand the news and picture features in the editions.

We have a long way to go in building a newspaper, how many of our readers remember when we had just a dream. I do. Also, remember when the pictures were so bad we played games with identifying who was to each picture. I spent many a nervous moment of embarrassment when one good friend referred each week to the photos as "tink blobs".

We seem to have outlived that (knock on wood), just as we will some day outlive the fact that the story on the fireman's ball never last week got lost somewhere. (What a boo-boo.)

Looking at the overall picture, which I try very hard to do, we came through the change with a bigguy public. That feels good. This week we go back to work, knowing we won't be beautiful any more....will just be required to maintain and improve our standards.

But, for a week, it was great to be beautiful.

Bids Submitted For School Project

RayLeh Construction Co. of Fort Pierce was low bidder of two firms offering to undertake an elaborate project at East Stuart Elementary School.

A special meeting of the School Board was held Friday morning at which time the bids were opened. However, an award will not be made until the next regular board meeting on June 14.

George Apostolopoulos Construction Co., was the other bidder with $18,735. RayLeh's bid was $18,431.

The project will provide a new cafeteria for the school by altering the original agricultural state one-classroom. The job was to be completed by Aug. 9, but the delay in awarding the contract will delay it until Aug. 16, according to Richard Fryer, Architect.

This delay was necessary, according to the Board, because only $12,000 had been budgeted for the job and a transfer must be made. Also the Board wanted the attorney, superintendent and architect to study both bids.

It was pointed out that no bids on food service equipment were needed for the project, which would delay the project even longer.

Inn Pends Release

According to County Engineer Fred L. Bell, the release of Murphy Act Deed restrictions from land owned by Arnold Dever, probably would take place at the State Road Board meeting on June 18th. This is the land which is owned by a Holiday Inn developer from Hot Springs, Ark.

County and City Commissions have adopted resolutions asking for the deed restriction releases.

Bell and City Manager Joe N. Crowder went to Tallahassee to expedite matters for Arthur Quinn who will build the motel at the intersection of U.S.1 and SR-5A.

Free Rider Charge False

The fifth in a series of articles on Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act and The Right To Work

One of the arguments most often waged by those who want 14(b) repealed is the so-called "free rider" charge. A "free rider" is defined as one who reaps benefits without paying union dues.

This argument assumes that the only reason an employee would either refrain from joining or withdraw from a union is to avoid payment of union dues.

Many people desire to stay out of a union for religious reasons, or because they oppose the union leadership on moral grounds. For example, LaRue Berfield, of Drifwood, Pennsylvania, was fired from his job he held for 19 years with Sylvania Electric Company because he objected to joining a communist-dominated union.

And many don't want their dues money spent for causes to which they object. For example. John Mossberger was expelled from his union, and eventually lost his job, because he wrote a letter to the editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer supporting a political candidate other than the one supported by his union.

Let us face one fact which is evident to all Americans, union and non-union alike. Only a portion—often a very small portion—of the monies collected by unions from their members are spent for collective bargaining purposes as such.

Unions spend the funds they collect from union members on many other activities, such as political campaigns, organizing drives, social and economic propaganda, strike benefits to other unions, private benefits to union officers and legal fees.

Despite Federal legislation and a Supreme Court decision, a major portion of the compulsory dues collected by the unions of this country are used for political purposes.

It is apparent that as much as 50 percent of the $923 million in annual dues income actually goes for political purposes. In an election campaign, such as that of 1964, when union resources are applied primarily to political activity the most conservative estimate of staff time spent on politics place the cost at more than $50 million. And this does not include any estimate of the cost of staff travel, printing and "other disbursements." Realistic estimates of the union role in the 1964 campaign place the figure at a minimum of $100 million!

Rather than benefit the individual, in some cases these expenditures may actually be detrimental to his interests; They may be used to work for causes opposite to his beliefs.

And so under these circumstances, which are not remote but are rather typical of countless cases, the worker is anything but a so-called "free rider." He is rather a "captive passenger" beholden to the wishes and whims of his labor boss masters.

It should be pointed out that unions fought a bitter, free spending campaign at Congress to win the exclusive bargaining rights."—The right to speak and bargain not only for their own members, but for all others in a bargaining unit. This obligation was established in the Wagner Act and the Taft-Hartley Amendments.

Thus under existing law the union boss who would improve his position rather than the individual worker who would maintain his freedom of choice enjoys a marked advantage.

You Gotta Have A License

Florida sportsmen may kill several birds with one stone when they purchase their 1965 - 66 fishing licenses, which goes on sale June 15. For the first time sportsmen may obtain fishing license, hunting license, and public hunt permits with one trip to the license office.

Something new in the way of licenses, a combination hunting and fishing license, is available for the first time this year. The combination license, should be an added convenience for the sportsman as it will allow statewide hunting and fishing with one license.

When obtaining licenses a public hunt permits, sportsmen may also pick up copies of the 1965--66 hunting and fishing regulations as well as copies of wildlife management area regulations and hunt maps. This is the first time hunting and wildlife management area regulations have been available prior to September.

All hunting and fishing licenses are sold by the various County Judges on their authorized license agents. The new licenses are valid from July 1 through June 30th of the following year.

Hunting and fishing license and public hunt permit fees are as follows:

Resident statewide combination hunting and fishing, $10.50; resident statewide fishing, 3.00; resident statewide hunting, 7.50; resident county hunting, 3.00; resident hunting other than home county, 4.50; public hunt permit, 5.00; public hunt permit for children under 15, 2.50; hunting on licensed hunting preserves only, 5.50; non-resident annual hunting, 26.50; non-resident annual fishing, 8.00; non resident 14 day fishing, 3.25 and non-resident 5 day fishing, 2.25.

Girls Baseball League Gets Under Way

The Martin County Girls Baseball League opened Sunday evening with Henry Crane, winning coach of last season, throwing out the first ball. Teams composed of girls from Salerno, Stuart, Palm City and Jensen Beach will be playing games at the Little League ball park in Stuart on a ten-week schedule. The Salerno team was the winning team on opening night as they beat the Stuart team 14 to 13.

The Jensen Beach team was the winner against the Palm City team, 26 to 7, with Diane Cooper, Jensen's third baseman, getting a home run, two triples and a single. More than 200 spectators watched the games, and the League President, Earl Meadows, is hoping the public gives its support by attending these games. This activity is a means of giving the girls some recreation, as the boys are well organized with their Pony, Little, and Peanut Leagues, plus the American Legion team.

Game time for the girls games are 6 and 7:45 P.M.

Countywide Effort To Urge Title To Langford-Hall Park

The Langford Hall Park Association has begun a county-wide effort to urge Jon Hall, co-donor of Langford Hall Park to Jensen Beach, to give the Association clear title to the land in the Park.

Under the lease donating the Park to the Association, it was provided that the Park should be improved to work of labor by $5,000 per year. The Association has more than kept the terms of the lease, and now seeks to gain clear title to the land so that efforts a gain a community center could be made.

Several donors have indicated that they could not donate money to a community center unless there was a clear title in the land, according to a spokesman for the organization.

In a meeting last Friday night, the Langford Hall Park Association decided to contact all civic clubs in the county to write a letter to Jon Hall, now residing in California, to ask that he donate the land to the Association so that a clear title can be obtained. Immediate efforts to contact the eight proved an overwhelming interest in seeing that the land was cleared for future use by the Association.

Most civic clubs use the land for picnics, ball games and special events. Little league, pencil league and pony league games are played there, as well as the slow pitch games and fast pitch games of local softball teams.

Also, Langford Hall Park has been used in carnivals of the Lions Club and the Association for "Kid's Day" events, sponsored by these organizations.

A shuffleboard league has been started in the past two years at the Park, and many local shuffle rs take part in the games at the courts, lighted for night play, and in excellent condition from the work of the local shuffler association.

Tennis courts and other facilities have been planned for the Park by the Association as money become available.

IRJC Plans Nurses

The Indian River Junior College is pleased to announce that 32 students have been accepted into the nursing program for the coming fall term. Admissions are now closed to the nursing program until Fall, 1966; however, applications are still being accepted for the general college program.

The student cap and uniform have been selected from designs submitted by the students themselves and from other interested parties. These uniforms will be especially designed for our student nurses to wear during their period of education and training. The cap will be worn both as a student and later as a graduate nurse of this program.

New Jail Wing Is Planned County Sets Second Story

The County Commission, at a special session Tuesday morning, voted to advertise for bids on a new county jail wing, comprised of a two-story addition to which to house four adult women, four juvenile girls and eight juvenile boys.

The project, which would be built with funds from the 1964-65 and 1965-66 budgets of the general fund, was estimated to cost about $25,000 most of which would be for cells and equipment.

Floor space would total 960 square feet, including half on each of the two floors. The present laundry structure would temporarily be moved, then reattached to the new portion of the building. The addition would be on the southeast, rear portion of the present male building.

County Commissioner J. H. Bryner, County Engineer Fred L. Bell and Sheriff Roy C. Baker conferred with Richard Pryor, architect, who drew the plans and will supervise construction.

Beach Adds Guard

The new life guard at the Stuart Beach, to be on duty Saturdays and Sundays, will be David Hershberger, 22, of Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach, according to Jack Cammack, Head Life Guard. Hershberger will work with Richard Rice, who is also on duty at the Stuart Beach on Wednesdays.

Cammack has asked for the cooperation of the beachers in staying within the flags at the three public beaches on Hutchinson Island and in not swimming in areas which have been designated for surfing. According to Cammack, surfers are not supposed to ride the waves within the swimming areas.

The meanings of the flags flown at the three beaches are: white, excellent swimming and surf conditions; blue, good swimming with a slight chop to the surf; red flag mean danger, use caution; the surf is rough and there is an undertow.

The gold flag is the surfing flag which is flown at each end of the swimming area to designate the surfing area. The lack of a flag means no life guard on duty or unsafe swimming conditions.

Public Island Shelter Built Near Here

Jay Sample, Indian River Drive in Jensen, at his own expense, has build a public shelter on one of the spoil islands in the Indian River.

The shelter, a small one-room house on stilts with a partially closed-in patio wing, cost Sample about $300 for materials plus an unestimated amount for labor.

The island is located just half way between Fort Pierce and Jensen Beach on the Intracoastal Waterway and has a sign which calls attention to the fact the pier, rest room facilities and shelter are for public recreation use at no cost to anyone but Sample, in recent weeks it has been visited and enjoyed by boatsmen from a wide area, Sample indicated.

According to Sample, boatsman looking for a place to rest, picnic, get in out of a shower, sunbathe or fish are cordially invited to use the island at any time.

It is hoped, however, that no vandalism will take place which would spoil a delightful facility.

The Jensen Beach School children wrote the following stories recently.

Marjorie Ruth Hurley, 1st grade, told about a parrot.

Once upon a time there was a parrot. This parrot did not like to be touched. This parrot did not like to be seen. This parrot did not like to be heard. But how this parrot loved to fly. She flew and she flew. One day she had babys. The babys played and played. One day the mother parrot said "It is time you learn to fly."

The birds will fly in spring. The egg will open in spring. The babbys will fly too in spring too. The birds fly soth. They will come back next spring. The leavs will come back in spring.

Another first grader, Bruce Tooker wrote about a pig.

Once upon a time there were a pig. He was fat. He ate some corn and He ate corn. He took a walk. He met a hen. He saw six eggs. The hen sat on it. Two keep it warm. One of the egg crack. A little baby hen came out. The pig saw it. Glad Ofck said The pig.

In The Mirror

This Is Free Enterprise?

At the last meeting of the legislature, a bill was introduced which would provide for the closing on Sunday (or Saturday) of NON-ESSENTIAL businesses. Originator of this bill was Senator Haverfield, who feels that the passage of this bill would bring sanity and order into the retail merchandising field.

Senator Haverfield further asserts that the bill is being opposed by some merchants who have completely selfish reasons for wishing to remain open, and he is enlisting the support of those merchants who do not choose to do so.

Strange, indeed, is it to be elected to the legislature through a system of freedom of choice of the voters - then reverse that policy to suppress the freedom of free enterprise to, open and close as they desire. There is no law stating that a merchant must open on any given day of the week, nor at any given hour, or to close at any given hour.

How, then, can we legislate the opening or closing of stores on Sunday? Is it not for the man himself to choose his days of operation? Are we to return to the ultra-puritanical Blue Laws of Boston? Are we to have our freedoms dictated to us by the government - or is the government here to protect our freedoms, for us by allowing us to choose?

The basic foundation of free enterprise is the freedom of choice, just as the customer has that choice on when and where to buy, so does the merchant have the choice to open or close as he chooses.

Just To Hear Frogs Sing.

The rains came to Martin County, and with the rain the smiles of the people were joined with the happy laughter of all the woodlands creatures. Heavy rains, called gully-washers, filled the small ponds and ditches with much needed moisture for man and beast.

Lawns became brighter, and fields burned brown by the scorching sun took on a glow of green. The drought in South Florida ended with a downpour from skies heavy-laden with clouds.

Birds sang in excitement, and dusty animals washed their coats with the water from the heavens. The fields took on a new surge of growth and the water coursed through the savannas.

Driving down the roadways of Martin County, past every pond, the frogs sang their crackling belch, mixing with the clicking of crickets to fill the air with a din of music long forgotten.

It was good to hear the frogs again.

Has The Negro Been Brainwashed?

The white man has told the Negro for years and years that he (the white man) was a better person than the Negro. He has told the Negro that whatever the white man said was right. He has told us that we can never equal the white man, because we do not have the brain. We have been told that kind of thing for so long until it seems as if some of us believe it to be true.

This writer does not believe that any one race has the monopoly on all the brains. We think that God pretty well distributed brains among all races. The white race has some smart people, and there are some smart people in the Negro race. By the same token, there are some dumb ones in each race. There are some good ones and some bad ones in each race.

We are concerned because some of our group are saying to the white man that "they believe the Negro is inferior to the white man." Before you get upset and call this writer a liar, just take a few minutes and think of what some of us are doing. We are attempting to worship in white churches. Why? because you are saying that the white man's God is better than the Negro's God. There is another section a Negro joining a white church if he feels that he can't serve God in the church which he has been a member of for the past 15 or 20 years. Or, he may be in a community where there are no Negro churches. He surely should join some church. Some of us are saying "that the white school teacher is better than the Negro teacher." Because we can give no reason at all for wanting our children to attend the school across the track, except it is a white school.

We will readily admit that the all-Negro schools have been far behind the all-white schools in buildings, equipments and supplies. However, we believe that if Negro teachers are given comparable schools with the white teacher, the Negro teacher still do just as good a job as the white teacher.

We go so far as to say that the white man's food tastes better than the Negro's. In many cases Negroes do the cooking of the food in the white places. Still, we say that he can't cook food as well in a Negro place.

Most of us see red when a white man says that he is better than we are. Still, we inflict ourselves when we attempt to make every effort we can, to get into the white man's show. Every Negro we spend our money with the white man when we could just as well spend it with Negroes, we weaken our position. We are making the other man rich and making us poorer. No matter how much integration we have, we need that eighth dollar. Without it, we are no where.

If we get all of the Negro teachers kicked out of our schools, take all of our business to white lawyers and doctors, give all our insurance business to white companies, and stop patronizing Negro business, what can we look for?

You pay your share of the taxes for the services rendered by the national, state, county and city governments. Surely, they should be integrated. Lets continue to fight until every single service which we pay for, is integrated.

By the same token, lets be proud of our racial heritage. Lets be as proud of ours as any other ethnic group.

The Fearless Mirror News

Radio stations may not have all the news, but what they give out is certainly theirs. They say so, over and over again. We bring you the WSTC news (or the WGBS or WOKF news or whatever). Not, be it understood, merely the news.

This sense of proprietorship over events extends even to the weather reports, which offer eager listeners the tidings that "we now have 82 WBUF degrees".

Sometimes we get to dreaming how it would be if the Mirror would take all the credit for the news, the entire front page all white, except for an enormous headline announcing:

"Here comes THE FEARLESS MIRROR'S Award-Winning NEWS!"

On the inside of the newspaper all the stories would be interlaced with reminders that the lucky reader was getting nothing but the FEARLESS MIRROR news. One would discover that the high for the week was 82 FEARLESS MIRROR degrees. Then on the back page would be the final blast: This Has Been The FEARLESS MIRROR'S Award-Winning News."

One of these days we are tempted to try it, when we have the space.

Too Good To Be Just For Milk

The power of advertising has been shown in its most exciting light in the past year in South Florida. An advertising campaign, properly designed and executed, has changed the habits of thousands of Floridians and brought health into their lives.

The product: milk. The advertising slogan: It's too good to be just for the young.

In 1953 the dairy industry was a totally demoralized business in the ten southeast Florida counties that comprize the South Florida Dairy Institute. Losses to the dairies were in the millions. Milk was not the staple of yesterday, and the picture looked black.

The Institute looked into the situation, had an economic survey, and then embarked upon a vigorous public relations program.

With a heavy accent upon public service, the Institute began to lead, rather than follow, the industry. Today it is a model for other areas of the United States, its success being the revitalization of the dairy industry.

Milk sponsors free baseball games for youngsters, a safety campaign for children, salutes twelve meritorious youngsters in ten counties each week and provides schools with educational materials on health and nutrition.

With the extensive advertising and public relations program, you would think that the cost of milk must have gone up. Not so, says the advertising agency which has done the fantastic job of promoting the industry. Venn, Cole and Associates, Inc., of Miami says that the increased sales volume of the free enterprise system has kept the milk price to a low 27-1/4 cents per quart. Milk has increased in price only 3/4 cents per quart in the past ten years while other foods have skyrocketed.

A lot of the credit for the promotion of milk goes to the "brains duo" of Venn, Cole and Associates. They have proven again that any good product needs advertising. To take as simple a product as milk, and increase the per capita milk consumption in southeast Florida 3% in a little over a year is an indication of the power of advertising.

As we say, advertising is too good to be just for milk.

SEA HARES INVADE--The beach has been filled with sea hares; small liver-like animals squirting a purple color when touched by animals called people. Here, three local beachcombers are pictured with the sand pool they made to collect their catches from Jensen's surf. The water of the pool was a bright purple from the many sea hares.

HAPPY MOTORING--on their new motor bikes, Shirley Wetzel and Diane Coffman seem to have licked the rising cost of transportation.

The Gutless Wonder

"How would you like to take on a real crusade?" the man said to me. I asked, "what is it?", He replied, "Do something about those two cops who shot that negro in Little Dixie."

"I wouldn't touch that with a ten foot pole." said I, "Yes, I know." said the man, "You're the gutless wonder".

The more I think about that the more I feel an explanation is in order. I just wonder how many people feel that way...the gutless wonder.

There are many kinds of news stories. There are many ways to handle them. There are many decisions in the handling of news stories that lead to how and where they are printed, if they are printed at all.

The Mirror did not handle the story of the grand jury investigation of two policemen who were involved in shooting a person who was resisting arrest at the time he was shot. All the way up to the grand jury, the Mirror did not handle the details of three marches by the negro population of Little Dixie on City Hall in Stuart, nor the details of the charges brought by the leaders of the negroes. We did not handle the threats of the people who would have the policemen discharged.

We did not play up the fact that the policemen were experienced in their jobs, nor did we have news stories on the many times the man had been arrested, the fact that he was a known "trouble-baiter", nor any of the other parts of the story.

To ignore the killing of a negro in Little Dixie took guts. I am sure we would sell a lots of newspapers carrying all the sordid details of the death and the aftermath. Marches and threats and grand jury action....that makes good copy.

But all this mess of civil rights and such can be properly handled by the big daily newspapers that need the circulation.

I believe that all the mass hysteria concerning the entire civil rights movement has been created by the radio & press. I also believe that relations between the negro and white in Martin County have been excellent.

I believe that we need no mass marches until all legal efforts have been exhausted. I believe that, as we have in the school integration situation, we can resolve any problem by sitting down and talking, without running little kids out in the streets and marching their asses off for a "fun-type parade" when they don't have any idea why they are parading.

I may be wrong in my thinking. I know that the "blood and guts" boys would like to see every dirty aspect of the news take precedence over the other types of news. The perfect example might be this: I used the space that we might have used for the story on the killing of a negro last week to tell the story of the efforts of white and colored in Jensen Beach to get land and a building for the residents of Mars Hill to have a community center.

If that be "gutless", make the most of it.

I suggest that you read the guest editorial from The Chronicle of Fort Pierce in the Mirror this week.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor,

Congratulations on the new format of The Mirror. It is crisp and clean and will, I am sure, win more than its share of typography awards.

And it is good to know that somebody is aware of the importance of the location of the new bridge across the South Fork of the St. Lucie. There seems to be little concern in Stuart or in the entire area. Yet to move the bridge farther south would act as a roadblock to the expanding economy in Stuart, Jensen Beach and the surrounding area. The traffic coming off and going to the Sunshine Turnpike via the Stuart exit would bypass Stuart and Jensen Beach entirely.

You're a "voice in the wilderness", but perhaps one of our civic groups will hear you and take up the cudgels, so please keep fighting.

Sincerely,
Todd "K. Wright

Why It Must Be Saved

The last in a series of articles on Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act and The Right To Work.

The Right to Work principle is one of the most important questions facing the American people. Yet, ironically, it remains one of the least understood. We would therefore like to present, in a factual nutshell, the true picture as to just what Right to Work is and what it means to America.

First, let us clear up one widely spread misconception. The Right to Work is morally right. The right of a worker to choose for himself, to work on terms acceptable to himself should be a fundamental right of our free American citizenship.

Second, no citizen should be forced to join or pay money to any private organization in order to get or hold a job. No private organization except unions has or seeks compulsory membership. When, for example, state legislatures act to require membership in a bar association (resulting in the so-called integrated bar) they are making the bar association an arm of the state government and not a private organization.

Third, the repeal of 14(b), which now guarantees the Right to Work in 19 of our states, would mean the loss of another freedom. Many people believe that no civil right is more important than the right of free choice. The Portland Oregon Oregonian said recently: "We see little difference in the area of human rights between denying a person employment because of color, religion, race or sex and denying a person employmenq because he will not join a union."

Fourth, the one effective control on the political and financial abuses practiced on the rank and file workers by so many labor bosses is voluntary union membership—the Right to Work. When a person is forced to join, forced to pay dues, then what effective checkrein is there on a union officer? What effective means does the captive worker have of keeping his union bosses on the straight and narrow? The answer is none.

Fifth, the American people are in favor of voluntary union membership. National polls by Opinion Research, Lou Harris, etc. show that two out of three Americans believe that a man should not have to belong to a union to hold a job. This disproves the propaganda line that a few "fat cats" back Right to Work for their own selfish interests. It proves, rather, that the chief Right to Work supporters are millions and millions of individual Americans in all walks of life—including union members themselves.

The Right to Work position has not and cannot be refuted on a logical, intellectual honest basis. That is because the Right to Work is a basic American right. It is a worker's right, a state right and an individual right. To deny this right would be to humble the very essence of our liberty.

IT'S TOO GOOD TO BE JUST FOR THE YOUNG

Treasure Find Told By Group

The first treasurer find of the season off the Florida East Coast might well be in the making, according to Joe S. Earman, Jr. who is connected with the Salvage Research Corp. of Vero Beach, a sub-contractor who is doing the actual work. "We think we've got something off shore from Jupiter Island. We got some good readings with the instruments, but it had been so rough we haven't been able to get our divers out there", said Earman. He did not pinpoint the location but it is in the lease area held by the Perdido Corporation, made up of Fort Pierce and Vero Beach men.

Ed Link, of Link trainer and underseas equipment fame, is also associated with Salvage Research, according to Earman.

The Sea Diver, which was used as background in the Jacques Piccard movie recently, is in the Bahamas, where it is weathered in. As soon as it can make the crossing to this area, it will go to work in the area of the find, Earman said.

Link had developed underwater salvage gear bordering on the fantastic, including an inflatable igloo in which men have lived undereas for several days. He also has one of the Perry Submarines, which could be used in the local operation if it is in deep water.

The Perdido leased area, which was granted in December, 1964, by the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund for one year of exploratory work, lies south of St. Lucie Inlet to a point offshore from Peck's Lake, a wide-area in the Intra-coastal Waterway north of the Town of Jupiter Island.

The discovery report was revealed when two small cruisers rigged for underwater exploration tied up at the Pisnol here, on Manatee Pocket.

Investigation revealed that personnell on them planned to work in this area because the boats have been having difficulty running Sebastian Inlet, of which Perdido Corp. has another treasure lease area.

Judge Charles E. Smith of Vero Beach is associated with Perdido, as are two Indian River Junior College instructors.

Stiff southeasterly winds all spring have delayed both Perdido and another treasure outfit, Expeditions Unlimited, Corp. in the off-shore searches.

The latter firm, of Pompano Beach, has a research lease with the Martin County Historical Society, has not, so far, reported any findings.

Illegal Hunting Penalty Raised

The cost of illegal taking and possession of deer and wild turkey during closed season or by illegal methods is going up. A bill enacted by the Legislature provides a new penalty for taking or attempting to take deer or wild turkey by use of gun and light or out of season.

According to O. E. Frye, Executive Director, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, the new penalty bill provides that whoever takes or attempts to take deer or wild turkey by the use of gun and light or out of season, shall upon conviction be fined not less than two hundred dollars nor more than one year. The bill also provides that any vehicle, vessel, animal, gun, light or other hunting device used in such violation shall be seized by the arresting officer, and upon conviction of the violator the property shall be forfeited to the state.

Girls Win Twice

Before a crowd of several hundred baseball fans, the Jensen softball team won its second straight victory, and with the capable pitching of Jackie Wortham they defeated the Port Salerno team 21 to 14.

The Stuart team beat Palm City 22 to 8 last Sunday. Walter Dailey and Harry Lentz are the teams coaches. With a late start and having only a few practice sessions the girls are going all out to put Jensen on top, hoping to be right up there at the end of the season which ends after 10 weeks of Sunday evening play.

Games are held every Sunday evening, the first game at 6 P. M. and the second game at 7:45 P. M. All games are being played at little league park in Stuart.

Sailfish Entries

Recent entries in the Sailfish Tournament are as follows: channel bass, 8 lb, 8 oz, caught by David Gale of Indiantown; a bonita, 22 lbs, 8 oz, caught by Mrs. Howard Miller of Titusville, Fla. on board the "Horse" with Capt. Laughon.

Lyle Cone of Palm City caught a 9 ll lb, 4 oz, sea trout which was entered in the tournament.

Tourney Set This Weekend

Members of the Metropolitan Amateur Golf Association of Miami will hold a tournament at the Saint Lucie Country Club this coming week-end, it was announced today by Frank Strafacie, executive director of the association.

Between 125 and 175 golfers are expected to arrive at the club on Friday, June 18th and play a practice round prior to the start of the 36-hole medal play tourney. Actual play in the competition will begin Saturday, June 19th, with 18 holes that day, and the final 18 on Sunday, June 20th.

Concurrent with the tournament will be a special sweepstake match, a driving contest and a special event for the ladies in the association. On Saturday evening there will be a cocktail party and banquet in the Great Hall of the Club, and the awards will be presented Sunday afternoon at the completion of the final round.

Snook In The Rivers

The Indian River as well as both forks of the St. Lucie River abound with Snook, with night fishing seeming to be better.

Whiting are plentiful in the surf with some snook, ladyfish, channel bass and pompano.

Offshore, dolphin are in evidence along with false albacore and kings.

All in all, fishing is rather good locally.

According to Johnny Crawford of the Snook Nook, this week's catch of trout and snook was fair. A channel bass was picked up dead in the surf.

Millard Grubb caught a 58 lb. jewfish; Fred Reynolds, 60 croakers; Steve Stevens and Monroe Schuchi, 15 channel bass, 3 snook, 10 sheepshead, one 10 lb. trout; Bob Robinson, 10 trout; Walter Adrean, 3 snook; Harry Clark, 3 trout; Al Krol, 2 snook, 2 jacks; Mr. & Mrs. Clint Webb, 15 trout; Mr. & Mrs. Joe Attalbach, 15 drum, 3 croakers; Cal Wilbur, 3 trout; Harlow Sutter, 3 snook; Ed Kendall, 3 trout.

Port St. Lucie News

Safe Boating Week will begin July 5, according to the U. S. Coast Guard. All boat owners in the area are urged to have their boats inspected by qualified members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, led by Commander Arno Kunz of Port St. Lucie Flotilla 55. Decals will be given for the boats which pass inspection and the Coast Guard Patrol will not board this safe boat unless they see a violation. The inspectors will not keep reports and will not board a boat unless requested. The qualified inspectors are: Arno Kunz, Jim Weiss, Fred Helmer, Everett Alger, Danny Madaluno, Ed Staehling and Col. Sharp.

The Marina was the setting for five tables of bridge last Friday afternoon. Winners were: Esther Fellows, 2nd, G. McLeod, 3rd was Helen Warnaar, 4th place went to Elizabeth Hogan, and Marian Ernshaw was 5th. Card night will be held again next Monday at 7:30 P.M.

Recreation Director Dave Gessner, life guard and instructor Les Hargrove, and coaches were well satisfied with Saturday's Novice Swim Meet which took place at the Port St. Lucie pool. There were 20 events for the girls and 20 for boys of different age groups.

Another novice meet will be held this Saturday at Melbourne.

Ribbons were awarded to the following: Laura Condy, Cynthia Hammons, Sharon Shepard, Karen Cooper, Suzanne Gessner, Sally Bane, Debbie Perkins and Gale Cooper were the girls.

Winning boys were: Danny Hall, David Mittler, Gordon Caraway, Neil Condy, David Gessner, Ray Webb, Bruce Condy, Bryant Hildcott and Ross Campbell.

According to Recreation Director Dave Gessner, the archery class will begin this week, June 16. Classes will be held at the Marina for boys and girls nine years and older, with no charge for instruction. A tournament will climax the weekly sessions, according to John Clarke, instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. James Weiss are entertaining their two grandsons from Indialantic while their mother and sister visit in Elon, Ohio, and their father, Ed Weiss, is fishing with friends in the Keys.

Port St. Lucie Shopping Center will be the scene for a bakesale this Saturday for the benefit of Holy Faith Episcopal Church. Goodies and home-baked goods will be sold.

Jim Weiss was a spectator at the Novice Swim Meet last Saturday and was reminded of the time when all three of his sons were city champions in New York schools. Later they were life guards at Jones Beach during the summers, and were champion swimmers in college, Ed at Yale, Bob at Buffalo and Dick at Ohio State. Now their sons, in turn, show great aptitude and hope to follow in their fathers' footsteps.

Stuart Splits With Melborne

You Gotta Have A License

Remember the 30th of June. All licenses and permits issued by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission expire on June 30 of each year.

Hunting dogs and boy scouts have one thing in common; they both may have "tenderfeet". A period for training hunting dogs, prior to the hunting season, and without the use of guns, is provided by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Tourist and non-resident fishermen who possess valid fishing licenses are permitted to transport out of the State as personal baggage [illegible] days' bag limit of fresh water fish.

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission cautions that rules are not made to be broken, especially the one which requires a life saving device for each person in a boat.

By: R. C. Gehrken, Jr., District Manager, West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. I am 15 years old, and I plan to work at a country club as a caddy. Should I have a social security card, and are my earnings taxable for social security purposes?

A. Yes. Most caddies at country clubs are considered to be self-employed. You should keep a record of all income and expenses. If, during any year you make a profit of at least $400, you must file a Federal Income Tax Return and report your self-employment income on Schedule C, Self-employed persons are required to pay their own social security tax.

Q. This summer I will be working for my father and uncle who own a store in partnership. Will my work be covered by social security?

A. Yes. Services performed by a child under age 21 in the employ of a partnership is covered if it is not a partnership composed of both parents, or a natural parent and a step-parent. You will need a social security card when you go to work, regardless of your age.

Fort Pierce Claims First Ocean Space Port

Over 100 Fort Pierce civic leaders were present Sunday when the city laid claim to the title of First Ocean Space port in the U.S.

Sheffield T. Abood, chairman of the Area Development Council announced the formation of an Ocean Space Commission.

Mayor W.H. Dannahower announced that the city commission in a work session on Saturday agreed to develop 700 feet of waterfront as a "Diving Board" from which the city would provide the port facilities necessary to support an Ocean Space project.

According to the mayor, two to five acres of waterfront land from the Indian River Art Center south to the city yacht basin would be devoted to the project.

The estimated cost of dredging the facility was between $25,000 and $40,000.

Dr. Jacques Piccard, holder of the record in ocean diving, joined with John H. Perry, of Perry Submarine Builders, Inc., Lantana, in announcing that the first trips would be made in a 65-ton mesoseaph named the PX-15, now in the planning stage.

Dr. Piccard said several trips with three or four scientists aboard were planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith and daughter Helen Kay left last week for Columbus, Ohio for the summer.

Mrs. Smith is the owner of Helen's and Maxine's.

A commercial fish dealers license, in addition to regular fishing license, is needed to take non-game fish by trot lines with more than 25 hooks.

Dutch Student Speaks At Kiwanis

Rogier Donker, a Dutch student at Indian River Junior College, was the guest speaker at the Stuart Kiwanis Club meeting held last Thursday.

Donker told of features and conditions in he native country and described the cities, agriculture, his queen and her family, the schools and how about 85 per cent of the landscape lies below sea level.

He termed the nation as quite self-sufficient, but dependent in many respects on the few overseas colonies which it still holds.

The next three meetings of the Stuart Kiwanis will be held at the Manatee Yacht Club in Port Salerno.

Vacation Reading Program Is Set

Two clubs for vacation readers are planned by the staff at Martin County Public Library.

There will be a Smokey Bear Club and the American Heritage Club for all boys and girls. Enrollment is open to June 25th.

The younger children will be in the Smokey Bear Club, in which those who read 10 or more books in the six weeks the club runs, will receive certificates. Reading material is about the out-of-doors.

American Heritage Club readers will cover the country's heritage and will be awarded pins, bookmarks and reading records.

Registration may be made at the library or at the bookmobile.

All fresh water fishing licenses are sold by County Judges or their authorized license agents. A resident fishing license costs three dollars and allows the license holder to fish anywhere in the state, twenty-four hours a day and three hundred and sixty-five days a year.

Boat Ramp Planned

Early construction of three boat launching ramps at three locations in the face of a warning that Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, which had promised to do the work at its own cost, would terminate the program July 1, was initiated Tuesday by the County Commission.

$1,000 of Tax District C funds went to buy a culvert which the county road department will install on a road leading from SR 71 (Martin Grade) north to C-23 Canal.

The boat ramp would assist in opening some 20 miles of canal to fresh water fishing.

It was also pointed out that the FCD has not fulfilled its promise to construct a ramp at the Turnpike bridge over the St. Lucie Canal, below the locks.

The third ramp, at Charles Leighton Park in Palm City came up when County Engineer Fred Bell suggested $500 from District C funds be used for its construction.

Newsletter From Tom Adams

Secretary of State Tom Adams today called public attention to a new law which raises the fee for notary public commissions in Florida from $5.00 to $10.00.

The increase, said Adams, is required under an act passed by the 1965 Legislature. The act became law on June 4th.

Florida has some 75,000 notaries public, each of whom is commissioned for a four-year term, Adams emphasized that the fee increase will not effect these notaries until they come up for commission renewals during the next four years.

Dutch Student Speaks At Kiwanis

Rogier Donker, a Dutch student at Indian River Junior College, was the guest speaker at the Stuart Kiwanis Club meeting held last Thursday.

Donker told of features and conditions in he native country and described the cities, agriculture, his queen and her family, the schools and how about 85 per cent of the landscape lies below sea level.

Vacation Reading Program Is Set

Two clubs for vacation readers are planned by the staff at Martin County Public Library.

There will be a Smokey Bear Club and the American Heritage Club for all boys and girls. Enrollment is open to June 25th.

The younger children will be in the Smokey Bear Club, in which those who read 10 or more books in the six weeks the club runs, will receive certificates. Reading material is about the out-of-doors.

American Heritage Club readers will cover the country's heritage and will be awarded pins, bookmarks and reading records.

Registration may be made at the library or at the bookmobile.

All fresh water fishing licenses are sold by County Judges or their authorized license agents. A resident fishing license costs three dollars and allows the license holder to fish anywhere in the state, twenty-four hours a day and three hundred and sixty-five days a year.

Boat Ramp Planned

Early construction of three boat launching ramps at three locations in the face of a warning that Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, which had promised to do the work at its own cost, would terminate the program July 1, was initiated Tuesday by the County Commission.

$1,000 of Tax District C funds went to buy a culvert which the county road department will install on a road leading from SR 71 (Martin Grade) north to C-23 Canal.

The boat ramp would assist in opening some 20 miles of canal to fresh water fishing.

It was also pointed out that the FCD has not fulfilled its promise to construct a ramp at the Turnpike bridge over the St. Lucie Canal, below the locks.

The third ramp, at Charles Leighton Park in Palm City came up when County Engineer Fred Bell suggested $500 from District C funds be used for its construction.

He termed the nation as quite self-sufficient, but dependent in many respects on the few overseas colonies which it still holds.

The next three meetings of the Stuart Kiwanis will be held at the Manatee Yacht Club in Port Salerno.

Newsletter From Tom Adams

Secretary of State Tom Adams today called public attention to a new law which raises the fee for notary public commissions in Florida from $5.00 to $10.00.

The increase, said Adams, is required under an act passed by the 1965 Legislature. The act became law on June 4th.

Florida has some 75,000 notaries public, each of whom is commissioned for a four-year term. Adams emphasized that the fee increase will not affect these notaries until they come up for commission renewals during the next four years.

Asks Zone Board Halt

The Martin County Planning and Zoning Board has been requested by a Palm City committee of local residents to delay any plan to set up new commercial zones in the area until the location of the proposed million dollar bridge across the South Fork of the St. Lucie River is determined.

William Watts is chairman of the committee.

County Attorney Dean Tucker announced Tuesday that Martin County has received notice that the Florida East Coast Railway wants to fight it to the U. S. Supreme Court, according to a letter from a New York law firm. The Wall Street law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell has been retained by the Railway to represent it before the high court in the Allen Ave. crossing action, so far won in every court in Florida by Martin County.

Representatives David W. Peck and Roy H. Steyer, of the New York firm, notified Tucker that they had been given until July 9 to file a writ of certiorari, which is a writ from a superior court to call up for review records of actions in inferior courts. Full briefs will be filed by both parties if the petition is granted, Tucker will prepare a shorter brief asking the Court to deny the writ.

Justice Hugo Black gave the railroad the extension of time in which to file the writ which had been limited to a June date.

Leave On Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Pollard and three children of Jensen Beach traveled to Fort Lauderdale with a group of boats from Jacksonville which is making an around-south Florida two-week cruise.

Those making the trip included Jack Stevenson, who started making the trip many years ago as a "lone" and gradually drew others into the idea, which resulted in the eight-boat group this summer.

YOUNG CHAMPION--Kelly Childs of Stuart was the winner of the junior championship award of Martin County Country Club, coming in with a low 80 for the 18 hole tourney. He is presented a medal by MCGCC pro Matt Moore. Childs was the number one golfer on Martin County High School's golf team last year.

Firemen Will Serve July Fourth

The Jensen Beach Firemen, assisted by the Auxiliary, will serve a dinner at the causeway on Sunday, July 4 starting at noon and continuing throughout the day.

The menu will consist of deep fried chicken, french fried potatoes, baked beans, coleslaw, coffee, hot dogs and hamburgers.

The proceeds will go towards the expenses of next year's fireworks as well as to the firemen's welfare fund.

A fireworks display will take place in the evening.

County Assessment Jump Next Year

County Tax Assessor A.C. Courson said Thursday his office would make the jump to 100 per cent of full value assessments next year, but would make only adjustments to bring certain properties in line with others, this year.

Since the Florida Supreme Court ruled that just valuation and fair market value mean the same thing when assessing property for tax purposes, Courson's word on the course to be taken in the county has been awaited.

"We will make adjustments this year," Courson said, indicating he felt the court decision had come too late in the year to permit full changeover.

The decision, which upheld Judge William Durdem of the Duval County Circuit Court, said that tax assessors must assess property at 100 per cent of value, regardless of what term is used.

Shortly after the announcement was made, City Manager Joe N. Crowder said the City of Stuart would make no assessment changes because it was already assessing at close to 100 per cent of full value and at least 10 per cent higher than the county in most instances.

MEANWHILE

The county commission will sit as an equalization board July 6 at 9:30 a.m., at which time, the results of adjustments or additions to the rolls will be announced by Courson.

Commission Meeting Was Highlighted By Zoning

Zoning matters were the highlight of the county commission meeting on Tuesday in which the board agreed upon some previously advertised changes while setting hearings for others.

The property located on Oceanway which is to be the site of the Presbyterian Church was re-zoned from RC-1 to R-3 to permit construction with no opposition.

Flood Money

Frank A. Wacha, County Commission Chairman received a telegram on Tuesday from Congressman Paul G. Rogers regarding Martin County's request for $14,000 of appropriations for a Martin County Flood Control Study.

Congressman Rogers advised that the House had just passed a bill which appropriated the requested $14,000 for the study.

Commissioners J. H. Bruner and Timer Powers, along with County Attorney Dean Tooker were appointed by Chairman Frank Wacha to confer with Architect Richard Pryor on the county jail contract.

In other business, the board approved increases in payments to the Florida Merit System for three Civil Defense workers from $60 each last year to $100 each in the coming year. Tooker explained that this step was necessary in order to receive Federal matching funds for CD projects.

County Attorney Tooker reported that the claim for losses to the county in April 1964 involving the Indiantown ambulance was settled, He said Watson Lawrence had agreed to accept $1,447.82. The commission agreed to accept it also.

Dickerson, Inc. was awarded a contract to construct .7 mile of sidewalk on County Line Rd, at a bid of $2,500.

Fred L. Bell, County Engineer, received permission to advertise for bids on a project to widen the Indian Ave. bridge in Port Sewall.

Benjamin Gambee, Port Sewall was given permission to obtain a pier permit. The board also had no objection to the sale of submerged lands off the Town of Sewalls Point as asked of the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund in February, 1964 by Richard L. Bohner, Bess-ner-Properties, Inc. and George Offutt, III.

HE GOT HIS FISH--Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nelson of River Park caught their fish last weekend. Nelson, a former FBI agent, landed a ten pound, 12 ounce bluefish, using a Mirrolure, and the Mrs. landed her 28 pound snook using cut ribbonfish. Both were fishing off the seawall on the Indian River side of Seminole Shores.

County Boosts Appeal Court

The county commission voted Tuesday to ask the District Appeals Court at Tallahassee to hasten its decision in the Florida East Coast Railway's tax case in an attempt to get some tax money from the F.E.C.

St. Lucie County had previously made a similar move to get tax money from the railroad.

At Tuesday's meeting, Alvin N. Andrews, County Tax Collector, said another $38,114.18 was owed by the railroad to the county. The railroad, as of April 1, owed the county $136,472.49 as follows:

Taxes in 1962, $36,850.98 plus $8,844.24 interest; in 1963, $47,020.62 plus interest of $5,642.47 and the $38,114.18 for 1964.

Andrews' report on errors and insolvencies included a $64,681.04 discount in real estate taxes, a $3,230.59 discount in railroad and utility taxes plus the railroad's unpaid tax of $38,114.18.

It also included $3,156.96 on errors and insolvencies on personal property taxes, for a total of $109,382.77.

Intangible rolls showed a discount of $3,703.15 and an adjustment of $619.57 for a total of $4,322.72.

The $64,681.04 discount in real estate taxes was accounted for chiefly in November payments by tax payers, according to Andrews.

County commission chairman Frank Wacha said budget requests in the general fund, fine and forfeiture and mosquito control accounts totaled about $150,00 which does not include appropriations for the golf course or the committee of 100.

Wacha said the value of a mill would be about $5,000 over the value of the mill in the past year. He said he felt this would cover normal increases in expenditures without increasing the millage levy.

A. C. Courson, Tax Assessor, said he would not increase values to the 100 per cent of true value required under the recent state supreme court decision but would make the move next year.

New Indiantown Bridge Opens This Week

According to County Commissioner Timer Powers, the new high level bridge will be opened to traffic one day this week.

Dickerson, Inc., of Stuart, was contractor on the approach and pavement portion of the contract, was finishing its part of the job with completion Monday.

Cleary Brothers Construction Co., of West Palm Beach, has completed the bridge work. The firm was the prime contractor on the project.

A spokesman for Cleary Brothers said Monday work on removal of the old, single lane, swing bridge will start the day after the high level bridge is opened to traffic.

The new bridge, to be named for John Monahan, the District 4 member of the State Road Board when the project was started, will not be dedicated until Aug. 7th, at which time the State Road Department will conduct the ceremonies.

The reason for the delay between time of putting the bridge into use and the dedication is that Monahan is on two- month tour of the United States and Canada and cannot attend earlier ceremonies.

The bridge, which at once removes a pair of curves from SR 710 and provides a high level crossing over the St. Lucie Canal, was started late in May 1964.

It was awarded to Cleary Brothers on a low bid of $969,835 and spans the canal at 80 feet and links in a straight line SR 710, 1.4 miles.

The bridge portion is 1,951 feet long.

Bridge Prime Topic

The best location for the proposed Palm City Bridge seems to be the topic of discussion in Martin County.

A committee is being formed in Palm City and the City of Stuart has asked the State Road Department in Fort Lauderdale to hold a public meeting in Stuart to discuss the matter.

City Manager Joe N. Crowder expressed his desire to have a meeting here headed by Cheisie J. Senerchia, District 4 board member; Clarence Davidson, SRD engineer; city and county officials and the public.

The one million dollar project has been given top priority.

Suggestions received as to location are as follows:

(1) Its present location

(2) Approximately one mile south at Twelfth Street, where it would be a straight extension of State Road 714, the Turnpike feeder road.

(3) An extension of McCord Avenue on the west side of the St. Lucie to the north, bringing the bridge

Talmo Named Bank Of Stuart President

Banker Roy W. Talmo who recently acquired a large interest in Bank of Stuart, has been elected president and a director of the bank. This now places the substantial portion of the bank's stock in the hands of local Floridian interests.

Talmo is presently chairman of the board and president of Commerce National Bank of Lake Worth, Fla., but will spend much of his time in the active management of the Bank of Stuart, working closely with the executive vice president and cashier, Donald L. Bowden. By substantially enhancing deposits, increasing earnings and strengthening capital, Talmo announced he plans to expand present bank services and provide new ones, for the convenience of the community.

Talmo stated he was pleased that well known merchant Robert E. Greene was recently made chairman of the board of the bank. Greene is a former mayor of Stuart, past president of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce and active in Kiwanis and on the board of the First Methodist Church. Mr. Greene operates a chain of department stores.

Two new directors were recently elected to the bank's board. Arnold M. Bauer, retired hardware merchant with extensive county wide real estate holdings, and Robert V. Johnson, real estate and insurance business man who is president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County.

At the time Talmo was named director of the bank, Leonard G. Miller, former president and director of the Bank of Stuart resigned. Mr. Miller is board chairman of Dania Bank, Dania, Fla.

With Commerce National Bank's resources of nearly

ROY W. TALMO

15 million dollars Talmo is optimistic the two banks can assist each other in the extension of credits, greater efficiency and economies in operations, adding strength to both banks.

Talmo's rapid rise in Florida banking circles reads like a documented Horatio Alger story. Graduated with a master's degree in business administration from the University of Minnesota in 1955, he joined Continental Illinois' National Bank & Trust Co., In 1959 he began his Florida banking career at First National Bank of St. Petersburg, came to Miami in 1962 joining Curtiss National Bank where he served as board chairman and president during 1964.

Resigning in 1964 he moved to his present position as chairman of the board and president of Commerce National Bank, Lake Worth. Talmo has since been honored with his election as a director of Americana Life Insurance Company, a six million dollar Jacksonville based enterprise.

Talmo's formula for making banks profitable to its shareholders and attractive to its clients is "service". "A successful bank", Talmo stated, "takes a long hard look at the community it serves and then tailors its services to the needs of that community offering the kind of services that make banking easy, pleasant, efficient and enjoyable".

Rogers Urges Establishment Of National Oceanography Commission

Congressman Paul G. Rogers in a speech on the floor of the House of Representatives proposed that the President establish a National Oceanography Commission. In introducing his bill to set up such a body, the Florida Congressman said, "It is with the hope of securing an evaluation of our present position and recommendation of our future posture that I have submitted this legislation. Nowhere on our earth are the challenges available to man more formidable than at the depths of the ocean - yet nowhere on our earth is there less direction and more confusion than that which exists in our many and varied programs of oceanography."

The Rogers Bill does not set up any new government agencies or create any super-agency committees; rather, it simply authorizes the President to appoint a fifteen man commission which will investigate the current status of United States efforts in the field of oceanography and recommend a future course of action. Rogers stressed that, "This Commission provides a suitable means of securing an adequate review and comprehensive study without creating another new agency to add to the already proliferated list of government agencies".

The Commission will be composed of five members from the field of industry; five from the Universities and Laboratories participating in oceanographic work and five from government. It will have a duration of two years, upon the expiration of which it must submit its report to the President and Congress. One year from the passage of the bill, it must make an interim report to those same branches of government.

Rogers pointed out that, "Over $44.7 million is being expended by the Federal government in support of oceanographic research, yet this program is a splintered effort being handled by 18 government Departments and Agencies.

Boats Must Be Registered

Alvin E. Andrews, county tax collector, has issued a warning to boat owners who plan to be using their craft July 1st and after would have to have the new sticker and registration on or before that date.

So far only about 75 of the county's estimated 1175 boats have been pre-registered. Many owners who have boats for the summer months while they travel or go to Northern homes, do not register their boats until they return in the fall.

Fees range from $1.50 for boats up to 12 feet to $50.50 for those over 40 feet. Boats between 12 and 16 feet cost $5.50 and those from 16 to 26 feet are $10.50. Boats from 26 to 40 feet are $30.50.

The Poor, Mistreated Majority

The big counties and the middle-sized counties have formed a coalition in the Florida Legislature. By the time this is published, they might, through their power, have passed a reapportionment bill that is acceptable to all. We doubt it.

Way back, in olden days, when the small county "pork-choppers" controlled the Florida Senate, the big city senators wailed to the big city press..."the pork-choppers' are doing all they can to defeat the will of a majority of the voters. They are trying to hold on to power they do not deserve. We deserve the power, but we are in the minority."

Last week, the small county bloc, lighting for some semblance of reason in the apportionment battle, stymied the coalition group of senators with parliamentary procedures. The proposed apportionment plan of the big counties was shelved for awhile as the senators talked.

The big county senators immediately cried to the big county press, "We are now the majority, and they are still outmaneuvering us."

The big city senators (yeaaaaa) held on to their 58 senator plan as the pork-chop senators (boooooo) held on to their 39 ...lator plan. The footwork was exciting to see.

We cannot understand why these country boys can deter the big city politicians from their goal of absolute domination of the Florida government.

Could it be that they know a little bit more about it?

The Right To Quit

Labor unions are going too far, it seems to us, in their current effort to make it illegal for an employer to go out of business without first obtaining the consent of the union or unions which represent his employes. A test case, based on a ruling by the National Labor Relations Board, is on its way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

One of the greatest virtues of a free enterprise system as contrasted with other systems is the freedom it gives the individual and groups of individuals to start a business. True, it is becoming more and more difficult to do this for a number of reasons, not the least of which are the restrictive practices of many unions. But it is still theoretically possible for any person to start any legitimate business if he is financially and otherwise qualified. And when that is not true, we will not have a free enterprise system.

But surely the corollary of the freedom to start a business is the freedom to stop it, provided one meets whatever contractual and other obligations may involved in the suspension. Yet this freedom is what some unions are hoping to circumscribe.

In the test case, a federal district court has held that the employer in question had an "absolute prerogative" to go out of business or to discontinue any part of the business at any time he chose, without consulting the union in question. Hopefully, the Supreme Court will sustain this decision, but if it doesn't, Congress should certainly make the law clear.

What Is An Editorial?

An editorial is the statement of a considered opinion. There is no effort to please everybody, only to make every body think.

Sometimes an editorial draws blood. It frequently makes one friend and forty-nine enemies, who storm in, yelling, "Just cancel my subscription."

Call attention to the bugs in a system, and those men who have sworn to uphold the system are understandably annoyed. They are hapless victims. The rules must be carried out...unless somebody gets ahead of the rules with a subterfuge.

Laws can be changed, systems improved.

The "Little People" are usually inarticulate. But they think long deep thoughts, and they phone The Mirror.

Unless a newspaper is to become a rubber stamp, it will occasionally publish an editorial which will bring down upon it the wrath of the citizenry.

People do not like to be shaken out of their safe little cocoons of accustomed thought. They do not want to stretch their mental horizons, nor abandon preconceived ideas.

Reminded that the area could use a little progress, and that there are many things yet to be done to make it into the best of all places in which to live, they shrug it off. The facilities were good enough for Grandpop, so why does the younger generation want to go forward, keeping step with the last half of the Twentieth Century?

We have heard the die-hards, while polishing up the fenders and inspecting the tires of a modern family car, wonder why education is becoming so cost a sizeable chunk of municipal taxes.

There are half a dozen sure-fire guaranteed sale, subjects for editorials which will bring tears to the eyes of the readers:

Home and Mother.
Memorial Day.
Christmas.
Crippled children, unwanted children, retarded children. It is a pleasant thought that it can be safely left to George. George will do it. Do what? Well...

The Blood-Bank gets a vote of confidence, but not one hundred per cent. There are people who take no stock in transfusions...until they need one themselves after a highway accident.

The United Fund, the Heart Drive, and the Muscular Dystrophy Drive, and the Mothers March of Dimes, are all perfectly safe subjects.

The Fire Fund Drive, though not one hundred per cent per cent effective, because a great many people think they will never need the fire apparatus, (so why bother to contribute?) is a safe subject.

So, bring on the rubber stamp.

Having your head handed to you on a platter becomes monotonous.

Why bother to crusade?

PTA news, church news, school news, correspondents' news about the man who came to dinner...all entirely innocuous... And it fills up the paper something noble, without one ounce of brains expended on the part of the staff.

Is that the kind of newspaper this area wants?

It deserves something better. Something which takes for granted that readers have brains, and are willing to use them.

We're Losing!

Much is being said these days about what we are losing to Russia in the production of some item or another. Of course, we must of necessity, remain alert to any unfriendly power concerning the future, but let's not forget the facts. According to Willis H. Edmund of Goodyear, we are NOT in second place. In order to be equal to Russia today, we in the United States would have to:

1. Abandon three-fifths of our steel capacity.
2. Abandon two-thirds of our petroleum capacity.
3. Scrap two out of every three of our hydroelectric plants.
4. Forget over 90% of our natural gas.
5. Eliminate 95% of our electric motor output.
6. Rip up 14 of every 15 miles of our paved highways.
7. Destroy 2 of every 3 miles of our railroad system.
8. Sink eight of every nine of our ocean going ships.
9. Slash all paychecks by three-fourths.
10. Wash all paychecks by three-fourths.
11. Transfer 60,000,000 Americans back to the farms.
12. Tear down seven of every ten houses that now stand.
13. Rip out nine of every ten telephones.
14. Close every church door in the United States.

Crime News Spotlights Press Responsibility

Should the press have a free hand in reporting crime news? Despite nearly 200 years of apparent success, the relative freedom allowed in American pretrial news coverage has come under heightening criticism since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Is the attack justified? Is the more restrictive British system of pretrial reporting preferable? More particularly, are innocent persons being sent to jail because jurors have been infected with prejudice through press reports? Or does an accused person obtain a fair trial despite occasional excesses of reporting detail?

These issues make up a current debate holding the attention of newsmen, lawyers and judges all across the nation. From it may come a new understanding of the relative roles of the press and the courts in the American judicial process. Or the nation could be on the verge of a crime news blackout without precedent in U. S. history.

At the moment independent studies of the so-called "free press versus fair trial" issue are being conducted by such prestigious organizations as the American Bar Association, the Brookings Institution, the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the National Conference of State Trial Judges and the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Parallel studies are under way on a joint press-bench-bar basis within at least a dozen states.

Nor is it all talk. Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach in April ordered U.S. Justice Department personnel to limit pretrial disclosures to the basic facts of a case, withholding, in particular, confessions and other incriminating statements of persons arrested. The Philadelphia Bar Association issued stringent guidelines for pretrial publicity by its members, then pulled the rules back for further study. The New Jersey Supreme Court has advised law enforcement officers and prosecutors in that state to limit release of information to the press in advance of criminal trials.

Much of the new interest in press coverage of crime news stems from publicity surrounding Lee Harvey Oswald prior to his death, and Jack Ruby whose shooting of Oswald before television cameras stunned the nation. News media representatives, however, insist a presidential assassination is comparable to no other news event, and must be reported fully and promptly, in the interests of national security. Newsmen challenge the use of this case as a basis for study of pretrial coverage problems.

The news media, while assuring the judges and attorneys of a willingness to discuss the issue, complain that it has been "blown out of proportion." They point out that reporting is more professional and responsible than in any previous period in American history. One group, the Newspaper Public Information Committee, has developed statistics showing that of an estimated 40,000 U.S. jury trials involving major crimes during 1963 and 1964, only three convictions were actually reversed on the grounds that prejudicial pretrial publicity deprived the defendant of his right to a fair trial. Newsmen have asked the legal profession to cite any cases in which innocent persons have been imprisoned due to prejudicial pretrial news coverage.

NPIC notes that only about seven percent of all arrests result in jury trials. Of these cases, most have been reported routinely in the press and no question of prejudice to prospective jurors arises. In some cases, pretrial reports actually bring forth witnesses or information which aid in solving the crime.

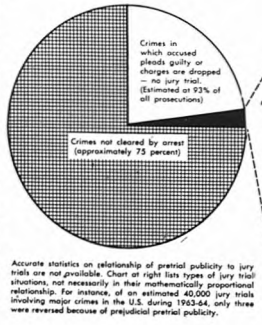
Not infrequently press publicity helps the accused, the press argues. An inmate of Southern Michigan Prison, learning of the proposed clampdown on crime news, wrote recently to the prison newspaper that press coverage actually protects accused persons.

"As distasteful as the adverse publicity is, it might be better to be spot-lighted momentarily than to be abused in darkness." The writer was alluding to third degree tactics which might be used by police if defendants had no access to the public through the press.

NPIC emphasizes that the public, too, has a stake in crime news coverage.

"It is this day to day crime reporting that keeps law enforcement officials law enforcement officials honest and on their toes. A continual flow of news informs the public of threats to life and property, and reassures the citizen when a particular threat ends through arrest."

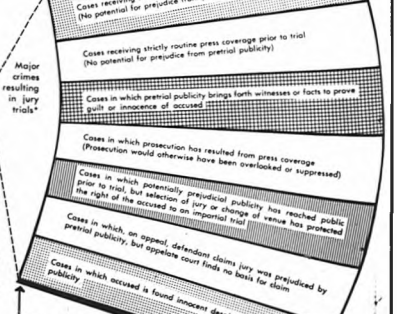
Several jurists and law enforcement officials have been quoted in recent months as saying the public needs more, not less, information about crime if lawlessness is to be controlled.



Crimes in which accused pleads guilty or charges are dropped — no jury trial. (Estimated at 93% of all prosecutions)
Crimes not cleared by arrest (approximately 75 percent)
Major crimes resulting in jury trials*

Accurate statistics on relationship of pretrial publicity to jury trials are not available. Chart at right lists types of jury trial situations, not necessarily in their mathematically proportional relationship. For instance, of an estimated 40,000 jury trials involving major crimes in the U.S. during 1963-64, only three were reversed because of prejudicial pretrial publicity.

Major Crime In The U.S.



Cases receiving no press coverage prior to trial (No potential for prejudice from pretrial publicity)
Cases receiving strictly routine press coverage prior to trial (No potential for prejudice from pretrial publicity)
Cases in which pretrial publicity brings forth witnesses or facts to prove guilt or innocence of accused
Cases in which prosecution has resulted from press coverage (Prosecution would otherwise have been overlooked or suppressed)
Cases in which potentially prejudicial publicity has reached public prior to trial, but selection of jury or change of venue has protected the right of the accused in an impartial trial
Cases in which, on appeal, defendant claims jury was prejudiced by pretrial publicity, but appellate court finds no basis for claim
Cases in which accused is found innocent despite prejudicial pretrial publicity
Cases in which convictions are reversed on appeal due to pretrial publicity

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

Kindly enter one year subscription to "The Mirror", for Mr. R.S. Darlington, 321 Edgmont Av., Media, Pa. and mail him an invoice covering same.

Mr. Darlington has been a guest of Mr. Geo. Read in your city of Trailers once on occasions. He is also known by Sam'l. N. Rhodes, Jr. and my son Phil. Sadly is a fisherman - retired and I believe you have a prospect for a Jensenite. I have sold your paper - now go to work and sell Jensen.

Yours very truly,
A. H. Baker

To The Editor:

Jensen Beach is a community which I understand prides itself as being one which offers relaxation in a restful atmosphere. Let's keep it that way - and let's tell the world about it, eh Free!

In my opinion this can be accomplished by having all businesses in the community observe a seven period— by closing their doors to customers between 12 noon and 2 p.m. daily, the year around!

Thus, Jensen Beach, Florida, would become the ONLY "Siesta" community in the entire United States!!!

What a story that would make!

The "Madison Avenue Boys" would probably jump at the chance to publicize this area free of charge, and the radio and television networks would send their mikes and cameras here to tell the story first hand.

And what'll it cost us? Only two hours of free time a day.

Many countries in other parts of the world close up shop for as long as four hours daily, and they've existed many centuries longer than we have.

Why not give it a try?

Yours very truly,
Rex Henshaw

To The Editor:

The Jensen Beach School would like to take this opportunity to thank The Mirror for the fine coverage of our various school activities during the past year.

We appreciate your cooperation in helping to make the functions at the school successful through publicity.

Very truly yours,
Ernest Varvil,

County Acts Against Junk

County Engineer Fred L. Bell as county zoning director, has brought criminal action against Carl L. Ramey of Palm City for an alleged violation of the county's zoning laws.

Ramey is named in a warrant obtained by Bell for permitting the accumulation of junk at the property he leases from John N. Mann, owner of the property.

The Ramey operation has been a source of constant complaints, including at least one petition to the county commission in the past year to 18 months for permitting the accumulation of junk and junk automobiles on the property he leases at the intersection of Palmetto and Murphy Roads in Palm City.

Mann, who also owns property on the same road, was served with a warrant on similar charges at the same location and he appeared before the county commission about six months ago and agreed to urge his tenant to clean up the existing conditions.

Both the Ramey and Mann complaints filed by County Attorney Tooker for Bell will be heard by Judge Mallory L. Johnson Tuesday. Maximum penalty for a finding of guilty on the violation would be $200 or 90 days, according to Judge Johnson.

Rogers Claims Rebels Overrated

Congressman Paul Rogers told the House recently that the strength of rebels in the Dominican Republic has been grossly overrated.

The rebels claim they have wide popular support despite the fact they have refused to agree to the proposal that free elections be supervised by the Organization of American States.

The Florida Congressman is a longtime advocate of stiffer U.S. action in the Caribbean.

The Egg And People

The waitress came to the table with two plates. On one of the plates, two eggs, sunny-side up, looked out at the crowd. Along side the eggs were hash-browned potatoes, with melted butter lying in rivulets, and beside that several pieces of ham.

On the other plate was two other eggs, but it was impossible to tell where one began and another started. The eggs were scrambled.

There was no ham on that plate. The hash-browned potatoes had the same bright yellow butter adding color to the eggs.

"I just can't see how you can possibly eat eggs like that", said the woman.

"I can eat eggs like this all day long", said the man. They make me fit to look at them", said the woman.

The waitress returned to the table, carrying two more plates.

There were two poached eggs on one, with bacon and hash browned potatoes. The other plate had two eggs, turned over and cooked well done.

"How can you eat those?", said the man. "They are cooked hard as a rock."

The woman picked up the salt and pepper and began the ritual of seasoning the eggs to taste.

"I like my eggs this way, and I wouldn't eat them any other way." she said.

Eggs, poached, fried hard, fried soft, and scrambled. Each one different, yet each alike.

Attitudes of people, and people, are similar. They must think of all things in relation to themselves, their likes and dislikes. They must dislike as forcefully as they like. They must distrust as forcefully as they trust.

People are seasoned to taste...to their own taste, and too often, if they like eggs scrambled soft, they cannot understand why all people do not eat them the same way.

Tolerance in the world is something that must be in keeping with the times. The people of today must find the way to eating their eggs as they like them, and must find, at the same time, that other people's likes are just as important...if not more important.

The preference of people for eggs might be likened to religion. The Catholic, Jew, Methodist, or Buddhist, or whatever else, thinks that his religion is the only one, and often looks down on the other. There is certainly nothing wrong with thinking that a religion is the best, or the only religion, but it is there that it should end.

To deprecate another is to sin in the eyes of anyone's God.

It is the same in any other phase of life, be it in race or color. Even in eggs.

A great poet, Mary Trifenbach, once stood on the bank of the Mississippi River in St. Louis. The levee was high above the water, and we had to look down to see the stream, lazily drifting past the Eads Bridge, in a mile-wide path of brown.

"What true beauty," said the poet. Then he thoughtfully added, "and many just see the brown of the water as dirt, the boats as polluters of the waters, and the bridge as only a way to cross."

So many spend so much of their time worrying about what they do not believe, and so much more time criticizing what they cannot understand, with all the things we do not have time for in this very short life, one would think that people would be more prudent with time.

Eggs scrambled, poached or fried, People are like eggs, poached or fried.

You takes your choice... and the potatoes come with it.

Postmasters Conference

Clyde T. Howard, Director Transportation Division, Post Office Department, Atlanta Region, held conference with area Postmasters in the Civil Service Room of the Main Post Office in West Palm Beach on Wednesday, June 23rd.

His subject dealt with the Transportation System and make up of mails for handling through the West the West Palm Beach sectional center facility. This is a new concept designed to give next day delivery throughout Florida.

Scooter Skids, Strikes Pole

Tommy Wyatt, 15, son of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Tom Wyatt of Jensen Beach, escaped serious injury when the motor scooter which he was riding north of Salerno skidded on wet pavement and struck a pole.

Deputy Sheriff Slater Grose investigated the accident.

Bait Bucket Aids Rescue

An early morning tragedy was averted last weekend when Deputy Sheriff Morgan Sprott, summoned from his Sprott tossed a bait bucket to Frank Roberts, 72, of Jensen Trailer Park, after he had jumped from the Frank A. Wacha Bridge over the Indian River, now under construction.

Roberts, 72, had stabbed his wife in the arm and hit her on the head with a hammer earlier in the morning.

Deputy Sheriff James Mills had taken Mrs. Roberts to Martin Memorial Hospital when Sprott was called from his home to rescue a man who was said to be climbing high on the bridge structure.

Sprott tried to persuade Roberts not to jump but he proceeded to jump from a height of about 40 feet.

Deputy Sprott saw a bait bucket floating in the water with a rope attached to it and threw it to Roberts who grabbed it and was pulled ashore.

Roberts was jailed on investigation charges pending examination. His wife was released from the hospital after treatment.

Your Social Security

By: H. C. Gehrken, Jr.
District Manager, West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. I am 65 and still working full time. Is there any advantage in applying for my social security benefits now?

A. Yes. It would be a good idea to file an application for benefits in order to establish your benefit rate. Then, if there is any month in which you earn $100 or less or do not render substantial services in self-employment, you could qualify for a check for that month. (Establishing your benefit rate now does not mean that you cannot have your benefit refigured at some later date to include additional earnings which might increase your benefit.) In addition, if there are any questions to be resolved regarding your earnings or any proofs which you need to submit, this can all be taken care of before you actually retire and have immediate need for your benefits.

Head Start Over Quota

Supt. of Schools Thomas L. Crook said at a Monday night meeting of the school board that 235 youngsters had registered for Operation Head Start and there would be more added to the lists by Tuesday. He said he did not know what financial arrangements would be made to take care of the number of registrants over the 210 approved by the federal authorities.

Fairyland Clinic Makes Play Of Therapy

Contradicting the old adage of the old woman who lived in a shoe, and had so many children that she didn't know what to do are Martin County's Owen K. Murphy, owner of Niagara Therapy Corporation, and his associate, Dr. Edward Conner, of Meadville, Pa. Teaming up to use the therapeutic value of Niagara Cyclo-massage and the medical knowledge and research of Dr. Conner, the two have made a fairyland come true for handicapped children.

The Meadville Center for Handicapped Children was founded in 1954, and was designed to make the therapy of recovery more attractive to the handicapped youngsters through the use of actual fairyland scenes.

The clinic receives children afflicted with polio myelitis, cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis and other crippling diseases. The atmosphere is one of play, diversion from the mind's idea of handicap, with activity in a clinic filled with gay mobiles hanging from the ceiling, and animated movie and cartoon characters on the walls.

The attention of the young patient is diverted from the therapeutic aspects of the clinic, enabling them to participate in games, and to play with toys to which an unhampered child responds.

Massage equipment is built into the toy boats and airplanes and does its therapeutic work as the child lives and plays in a make-believe world.

A perfect example is the game of manipulating a tiger with strings attached to its limbs. The child sits in a chair equipped with Niagara massage and gets training in use of hands as his body is massaged. In another, children stand at a table where the floor is equipped with the massage units, and operate mechanical toys. This helps them to learn to stand.

A playpen is designed to give little ones an opportunity to learn to stand and has a massage unit concealed beneath the pad, adding massage to the therapy of standing on weakened legs.

The Meadville Center for Handicapped Children has treated over 400 children in the 11 years it has been in operation. The center is the pride of the Niagara Therapy Corporation, according to Herb Haltmeyer, head of Niagara's SE United States district.

Squall Brings Tragedy

The local weather reporting station reported wind in gusts to 40 miles per hour, but boatsmen said the blow reached closer to 60 miles an hour in the North Fork of the St. Lucie and in the Indian River when the first line of squalls went through.

A 12 year-old boy was killed a 3:40 p.m. Friday when high winds accompanying a severe squall front blew over a concrete block section of wall at his father's fish house.

Craig Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Black of Salerno Shores, was dead on arrival at Martin Memorial Hospital where he was rushed after the wall section landed on him.

The wall was a section of a new building in a $4,000 construction project at Independent Fisheries, Inc., on the southeast shore of Manatee Pocket.

The boy's father is chief owner in the commercial fishing business.

The gigantic squall sweep from north to south through Martin County Friday causing damage and injuring many people.

First signs of the bad weather appeared at about 3:15 p.m. with darkening skies north as well as east of the county.

By 3:30 p.m., two boats had been reported in distress in the North Fork of the St. Lucie River and a half dozen small waterspouts were reported by witnesses in the Indian River off Jensen Beach.

A small plane just west the squall line into Witham Field, landing beneath a lowering sky.

At Stuart Beach, a small crowd dissipated almost instantly, but several children had to take shelter to await the arrival of a parent with a car.

The boats made it to shore in the North Fork. One had been towing skiers, who were taxied from the water in a hurry. Another, containing two Michigan men and a young boy, beached at Harbr Ridge Homes display on U.S. 1 north of Roosevelt Bridge.

The temperature dropped from 90 degrees to 72 degrees within ten minutes, according to the public reporting device on East Ocean Blvd.

Jensen Visitor Renowned Athlete

A recent writeup in a Knoxville newspaper brought information on the brother of Mrs. Blanche Baker of Skyline Drive in Jensen Beach, Bill Britton, a frequent visitor to this town. In a writeup on the sports page of the Knoxville newspaper, Britton was listed as one of the "Three Musketeers" who made football history at West Point the year after former president Eisenhower graduated, in 1915.

The subject said that Britton had at that time more letters in athletics than any other cadet. He had honors in football, baseball, basketball and track.

Poor Bob's Restaurant Robbed

Poor Bob's Restaurant in Jensen Beach was broken into this past weekend, according to Sheriff Roy C. Baker.

Several juke boxes were broken at the rear of the restaurant to gain entrance and two cigarette machines were smashed to gain access to the money boxes.

The sheriff said an inventory would have to be taken to determine any further loss.

The Sheriff's department is investigating.

Mann Violates Zoning

The erection of an unlicensed sign on property owned by John N. Mann at the intersection of Palmetto and Murphy Roads in Palm City is in violation of zoning ordinances, according to County Engineer Fred L. Bell.

According to Bell, a permit is required to erect such a sign under the county code. Thepermit must be applied for in writing with a fee of between $2.50 and $3.00 a year. He said the sign had no proper supports and that it was not painted on the reverse side as it should be and that it was supposed to be clear of any debris or vegetation.

The sign bars county attorneys, county engineers and photographers from the premises.

Glen Rogers Is Appointed As Hart's Sales Manager

Glen Rogers

Glen Rogers, of Stuart, has recently been appointed sales manager for Hart's Mobile Home Sales at their new location at 205 North Federal Highway, just north of Roosevelt Bridge in Stuart.

Hart's Sales carries a complete line of Crossland and other double-wide Mobile Home Charters, 10 custom built to your particular needs, whether it be for a retired couple, or a young growing, family that needs room to grow in. This feature, Rogers stressed, makes the choosing of your first or new mobile home a unique experience, in that such a variety of floor plans can be yours. The location of the kitchen, for instance, or can be extended position to the extreme front of the coach, or if you like, the dinette area can be in the front with the kitchen adjoining. This is only one of the many varieties of floor plans from which to choose.

Rogers also pointed out that your particular taste in furniture and decor can be had, with such choices as Early American, French Provencial, or the new ultra modern. In short, you list your preferences and Hart's will deliver.

To further complete your mobile home living, Hart's also carry a complete line of cabana rooms, awnings in varying lengths, and most recently features the rigid vinyl translucent window awnings. Strong in design yet colorful and opaque they protect from storms, sun's rays and rain, yet allow light to come into the coach. How many times have you had to turn on the lights during the daylight hours because of dark awnings? Take a look at this new concept - and you'll agree, there can be no others.

Last - yet equally important - Hart's can now handle all your insurance needs. Before your present policy expires, check all the features of Hart's insurance - all the important extras - and you'll renew your policy with Hart's - the one-stop sales office for all your mobile home living.

Whether you're now in the market for a mobile home, or just browsing, drop by and meet Glenn. He'll be glad to show you the many models on display - and help you plan your home for the future.

Celebrate Independence Day

Throughout the Nation, people are going to celebrate this week-end. They will celebrate the independence of our Nation.

In these times of world conflict it is cold to be free, and to have the right to celebrate such a day. This is what we will celebrate.

In Martin County the people will celebrate. There will be parades, and fireworks, and picnics and swimming, and soap box races, and more picnics.

It was on July 4th, 1776 that the people of the New World proclaimed themselves free from the domination of oppressive England. They did so, knowing that a great struggle lay ahead, a fight for the right to be free.

There were no picnics and no soap box races, and no swimming. The only fireworks were the real thing...bullets and cannon fire between the British and the American troops.

The right to be free was won with lives of Americans. The right to be free was sealed with the blood of American patriots.

We celebrate Independence Day with the feeling that we will fight for our independence at any time.

We must temper that celebration with the thought that as long as any man is enslaved we must fight for his freedom.

Independence Day, 1965. The fight for freedom is still going on throughout the world. It is our fight to continue.

Palm City Span Expands

The Mirror editorial on the location of the Palm City bridge several weeks ago has brought immediate response from various areas of the county. The drive to get indications of the location of the bridge, and possible action by the State Road Department, has resulted in a meeting being set up with our state road board member.

We were pleased to see the Stuart News join forces with The Mirror to bring about the proper location of the bridge, north of its present site, to the heart of Stuart, where it will do the most good.

The bridge in its present location would only stifle the growth of Palm City, decrease the use of the Stuart turnpike exit, hinder the development of the west side of the St. Lucie River, and make downtown Stuart a place "where you can't get there from here".

The bridge located south of the present location would make a farce of reason, being located there only to make a road from the turnpike exit straight.

The proper site, we repeat, is near Lighthouse Point, or in that vicinity, where the shortest crossing is necessary. One can wade half way across the river at an extension of Murphy Road.

Costs for the bridge would be lower if the site is used. Stuart would, as the natural commercial center of the county, be strengthened by the location of the bridge at that point. Palm City would benefit.

We sincerely hope that the Stuart city commission, the Martin County commission and all civic groups band together to urge the bridge site that will be in the best interests of Martin County. That site could only be the extension of Murphy Road into the heart of Stuart.

Now, A National Award

The National Editorial Association has awarded an honorable mention award to the Jensen Beach Mirror for its special mail-away edition of 1964.

The question, "what does this mean?", can be answered simply.

The efforts of the staff of The Mirror to produce the best possible newspaper for the people of Martin County have been rewarded. The award means that we have taken a step in the right direction.

Of importance is the fact that only four newspapers in Florida won recognition through awards by the N.E.A. Those newspapers are the St. Petersburg Times, The Boca Raton News, The Wauchula Herald-Advocate and The Mirror. Also, that there were 2,606 entries in the better newspapers contest shows that the competition for the awards was rough.

The Mirror was the smallest newspaper in the state to be honored.

The entire staff of the Mirror is proud of the award. It gives the many who work added pride in their efforts, and the award will spur those who produce the weekly Mirror on to greater heights of excellence in giving the public a newspaper of which we can all be proud.

We hope the people of Martin County take as much pride in this award as we do. After all, The Mirror belongs to the people, and is dedicated to them.

All Hail, Committee Of 100

The Martin County Committee of 100 shook the county last week. When the budget was called up yonder, the Committee of 100 asked only that the county have membership in the committee, and no put up $10,000, or any amount of money. The committee has enough to operate for the coming year.

No, this is not a fairy tale...it is the real thing. The Committee of 100 leads the way, though none will follow.

Once on the budget of the Martin County Commission, agencies usually look for ways to increase services so that budget demands can be increased. Very few say they have enough money.

The Committee of 100 has done the county a service in it's research of the area, it's continuous promotion of the county to tourists and industry, and it's cooperation with county promotional agencies.

We salute the Committee of 100, and all its members, and wish this pioneering organization all the success it can handle on a limited and very well respected budget.

HERE IT COMES-- A new sign graces the land where the new post office will be built in Jensen Beach. Located on Ricou and Palmetto, the new post office is slated for completion by December.

Conservation Camp Schedule Is Changed

A change in the summer camping schedule at the Youth Conservation Camp located in the Ocala National Forest will allow boys age ten through fourteen to attend one week camping sessions beginning July 4 through 10, and July 11 through 17.

The camping period July 4 through 17 as originally planned as a two week session but numerous requests for one week camping has resulted in a change of the previous schedule.

Campers may attend either of the one week sessions or both weeks. Campers attending both weeks will receive an advanced camping program during the second week.

Camping fees for the one week session is thirty dollars per week and fee for the two week program is sixty dollars.

Other camping sessions are: One two week period for boys July 18 through 31 and two one week sessions for girls, August 1 through 14. Girls may attend for one or both weeks.

Information and camp applications may be obtained by writing the Youth Conservation Camp, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, Ocala, Florida.

Freedom Is A Responsibility

Happy July 4th. It is a big day in the Nation, and should be remembered. It is not a day for a holiday. It is not a time to "take off" because it is a National holiday. It is the day of Independence.

Many people think of our National holidays as days to get away from work, or to get out of the house and celebrate. Very seldom do they actually appreciate the reason they have a holiday. This is very important. It is the day of Independence. It is the day we became a Nation.

Many will say that we wave the flag too much. It is not true. No one can wave the flag too much, for there is so little flag waving now. It is against the law. In the present state of the Nation, I wonder if a little praying now and then wouldn't help. I also wonder what God did to make those mortal men on the Supreme Court feel more "supreme" than Him, or get them so angry at Him. I reckon it is about time that He gets another ark ready or something.

But this is Independence Day, a day for all of us to begin to look at the advantages of being a citizen in the greatest country in the world. We are Free. We have the right to be happy or be sad. We can gripe about our government, or we can praise it. No one stands at our doors and arrests us for what we say or think. We have many rights and many Freedoms. The Freedoms can be a little weighty, though.

Too many people think that a "freedom" is a right of man. It is not. A "freedom" is a responsibility that must be accepted and exercized. We must work at Freedom to make it work. That goes for every level of Government. . . every level of Society. . . every level of Religion. . . every level of Life itself.

We are now overloaded with people who bend the law to their will, and when the very freedoms they bend strike back; they cry "Foul." They use the courts of the Nation to demand rights to conspire to overthrow that very Nation. They demand the "equal rights" of Americans without accepting the responsibilities of those rights.

We need more Americanism. We need more people who are not afraid to be proud to be Americans. We need more feeling in the Pledge of Allegiance and the Star Spangled Banner, and less mouthing of the words. It is great to be an American. The pride it gives is a pride that knows no shame. It is wonderful to be able to say, "I am a Free Man."

Americans by nature are braggarts. They like to tell big stories of their last. They like to dream that they are the best of all. But they hold their pride in the Nation inside, for fear of being called a fool, or sentimental.

It is the 4th of July. It is the Day of Independence. Be proud of it.

To The Editor:

Amen to your "Live and Love It" dated June 24th.

Too often we rationalize ourselves a God that is too little to fill the real universal meaning of the father-hood of God for every man, and therefore, also, extend brotherhood to each individual.

Most sincerely,

Flag Raised For Head Start

In a flag raising ceremony on Wednesday, Stuart celebrated Head Start Day at the court house at 9 a.m.

President Lyndon B. Johnson designated the day, Mrs. Johnson participated in a White House ceremony which had its counterpart in 2,300 communities throughout the country which were participating in the Operation Head Start pre-school training program.

Locally, county and city officials participated in the flag raising ceremonies.

A check in the amount of $20,020., representing about 60 per cent of the Federal funds for Operation Head Start was received by the Martin County school department.

The pay schedule under which Head Start teachers are being paid was outlined by Supt. of Schools Thomas L. Crook.

Crook said teachers with masters' degrees are being paid $700 for the six-week program while teachers with bachelors' degrees are being paid $600 for the same period. Aides are being paid $1.25 per hour.

Lorenz Wins

In a case filed in Leon County questioning the right of the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund to grant leases to treasure hunters, Ray Lorenz of Jensen Beach won a round.

The counsel for the TIIF had requested that the case be dismissed but Judge Hugh Taylor, in Leon County Circuit Court, denied the motion.

ANOTHER BIG ONE---Tony Rynski of Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach, proudly displays his 30-pound snook which he caught from the Ten Cent Bridge, using eel-skin.

Girls' Softball Game Set For Wednesday

A girls' softball school will be held Wednesday, July 7, and Friday, July 9, for girls who want to learn how to play softball. Instruction will also be given on two days the following week if there is sufficient interest, said Jack Smouse, co-ordinator of the school summer program. The school will be for girls whose ages are 6 to 18 years.

A boys' baseball school, which ends Thursday, July 1, had a turnout of 65 on June 22 and 76 on June 24.

Three Charged

Two Year Road Program

The Martin County Commissioners are pondering a proposed two-year county road program submitted to the board by County Engineer Fred L. Bell.

The program would take no increase in the county's road and bridge budget in the up coming fiscal year, according to Bell. A program was also submitted by Bell for the last four months of the present fiscal year, which will end September 30.

The priority projects on the boards for work this summer are the following:

Sewall's Point Road, .2 mile, $1,400; Indian Ave., Bridge, widen existing bridge (set for advertising of bids) $12,000; Fifth St., Golden Gate, .5 mile, $5,000 county forces; Eighth St., Hobe Sound, .5 mile, $4,800, county forces; Alhambra, Stuart, .2 mile, $2,000 county forces; Locks Road, .5 mile, $3,000 county forces; C-23 access, 3.0 miles, grade and culverts, $1,000 county forces(reach 1000's)

In the above category, outside contract work was estimated at $16,400 and county forces' work, $15,800.

In the special taxing districts, a total outside bid work of $15,500 was listed as follows:

District A, Elizabeth, .2 mile, $3,300; Wilda, .2 mile, $2,000.

District C, C-23 access, culverts, $1,000 which should be added to same project listed in county-wide project list.

District D, A-1-A three projects listed either have been done or are in course of work, including projects on Williams and Eubin on Rocky Point, and Fifth St., Port Salerno, total, $4,700.

Top priority projects for 1965-66 fiscal year, which starts Oct. 1 were suggested as follows:

District A, Jensen Beach parking lot and drive, $5,000.

District C, Second Street, Palm City, .2 mile, $1,000.

District D, Cypress St., Hibiscus Park, .4 mile, $5,000; First Street, Coral Gardens, .2 mile, $2,000.

District E, Mars Street, Hobe Sound, .3, $4,700; Duncan Blvd., Hobe Sound, .2 mile, $1,200.

All these projects were listed as outside contract work.

Lower priority work, to be financed through the county-wide road and bridge fund included the following with county forces:

West Farm Rd., Indiantown, replace bridge with culvert, $3,900; Sunset Trail Palm City, rebuild wooden bridge, $7,000; Sixth 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th Streets, Port Salerno, a total of 1/4 mile a at a total estimated cost of $11,260; Palm Lake Park, .15 miles, $3,000; Feree St., Palm City, .1 mile, $700.

Also, Sunset Trail, from end of pavement to turnpike, .3 mile, $2,500; Fourth St., Hobe Sound, .4 mile, $4,000; West Murphy Road, 2.0 miles, $7,900; Phipps Park Blvd., .5 mile, $4,000; Locks Road, $5,000 for a total of $46,300 in county-forces work.

To be let for contract if done were the following:

First Street, Hobe Sound, Bridge Rd., north, 1.3 miles, $6,000; Skyline Drive, Jensen Bch., 1.5 miles, $11,000; Cornell Street, Palm City, .5 mile, $3,500; Palmetto Dr., Palm City, .2 mile, $1,500.

Also, East Cocoanut, Hobe Sound, .2 mi., $3,100; Adams Street, Indiantown, .2 mile, $1,200; Hercules, Hobe Sound, .2, $3,000; Sunset Trail, McCord to bridge, Palm City, .9 mile, $4,000; North Carolina Drive, at Stuart line, .2 mile, $700; Fourth St., Port Salerno, .1 mile, $700; Fifth St., Port Salerno, .2 mile, $3,100.

And Second St., Coral Gardens, .2 mile, $1,200; Apolo, Hobe Sound, .3 mile, $4,700 and St. Lucie Blvd., Rio, .2 mile, $1,200.

Total of contract work is $49,900 if all let.

The wide variation in costs is explained by the type of work to be done, not listed here. The project s vary from asphalt mix to place to one-inch asphalt leveling and widening; one-inch leveling only; complete reworking.

The new priority list as reported here by Bell has yet to be adopted by the commissioners, who asked a couple of weeks to study the listing before adopting it.

The commission adopted a priority list system of doing county road work early this year in order to permit economical moving from one job to another, and to permit group bidding for out side contract work, as well as for other reasons, including keeping in balance the work to be done in the five main districts.

School Desegregation Plan Okayed

Official approval was given Martin County's school desegregation plan in a letter from Francis Keppell, U.S. Commissioner of Education last Friday.

The school department office made the announcement in the absence of Supt. who was attending a school conference at Tallahassee at the time.

Frank DeStefano, school board chairman, said, "The school board of course is very happy that our resolution of compliance was accepted by the office of HEW. This now is only one step of the compliance. Next is to implement the program. We are hopeful of full cooperation from students, parents and teachers and we anticipate no incidents."

Keppell wrote, "I have determined that the plan is adequate to accomplish the purposes of the Act and the regulations of the department..."

Keppell asked for data on the racial composition of the schools for the 1965 school year as a result of the pre-registration, with 1964-65 school year. He said the county's plan is subject to review periodically by the Office of Education in the HEW Department.

Keppel also said, "The plan...provides a basis for the approval of applications and for the payment of Federal financial assistance at this time."

Miss Betty Jane Stott, secretary to Crook, said she would rush to complete the data on transfers among schools as re-submitted at the close of the school year.

Under the plan approved by Koppel, new transfer data had to be asked of all parents and an earlier one dropped.

Miss Stott said she thought the number of transfers would be about the same number as the count made in April, when there were 72 transfers requested, 42 of which would place Negroes in presently all-White schools.

One pupil at a White school asked for transfer to a presently all Negro school, and three pre-school Negro children at a Gomez kindergarten asked admittance to a White school, first grade.

Among the 72 requests were 10 asking admittance from St. Joseph Parochial School, two to the Jensen Beach school and eight to Stuart Junior High school.

The approved local plan is based on the Lauderdale County, Ala., plan which HEW cited as a model. It was adopted in an amended resolution May 31 after Crook met with Prof. Richard Day of Ohio State Univ. and of the US Office of Education, at Tallahassee to iron out a few problems encountered in the first plan submitted Feb. 1.

The plan calls for integration of transportation and teaching staffs as well as classrooms and provides freedom of choice to attend any school regardless of race, color or national origin.

School Building Program Set Up

A $215,000 building program for the coming fiscal year is tentatively settled by the Martin County School Board. As soon as a contract can be awarded, a $32,000 package program will begin.

At the special meeting held Monday morning, G-A Construction Co., a Stuart firm, was low bidder by $148 at $3,832 of a five-part project.

The awarding of the contract is set to take place on Friday morning, the first meeting of the new fiscal year for the board.

Separate projects included in the job are: one new portable classroom at Palm City school; one new portable classroom at Jensen Beach school; site work and grading at Dunbar School; playing fields and courts at Murray Junior-Senior High school and renovation and wiring work, including a library project at Warfield School.

Two other bids were received but were tabled until Friday at 10 a.m.

The $125,000 figure constitutes the following projects: Booker Park, Indiantown, for library and administration combination, lunchroom without kitchen, connection to sewer main and development of playground facilities, $38,000.

In Hobe Sound Ilans include an additional building including library and administrative suite and playground development at $30,000.

A comprehensive study of the site and development of an overall plan is scheduled for Stuart Junior High School with a band and choral building, site improvement and alterations and repairs at a cost of $60,000.

Two classrooms are set for Port Salerno at $22,000, $30,000 has been set for site purchase, probably for a school between J.D. Parker and Jensen Beach, as recommended by state school survey team.

For miscellaneous, including a sidewalk at Dunbar, Hobe Sound, $3,000.

The plan is tentative and has not yet been officially adopted as part of the 1965-66 budget. If adopted, it will show an increase of up to 2.5 mills, including teacher, administrative and other employee salary increases.

Agriculture Grows In Martin County

According to A. Douglas Zant, county office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services program, Martin County has 160 farms which contain approximately 280,040 acres of land. Citrus is planted on 35,000 acres while 175,000 acres are used for pasture land, both improved and native range land.

"In 1960, there were only 11,014 acres of cropland," said Zant. "This shows the tremendous growth of agriculturally used lands in the county in slightly over four years," added Zant.

Zant reported that two farms in feed grain production had diverted 223 acres and won $5,200 in payments in the program which seeks reduction of corn and grain sorghums, in the county.

Participating in the ACP program in 1964 were 50 farms and in the years 1960 through 1964 were 88 farms, he said.

Members of the Martin ASC County committee include Dean S. Smiley, chairman; Walter Hupfel, vice-chairman; T. F. Clements, member; Albert Krueger, first alternate; Harvey Moore, second alternate and County Agent Levi M. Johnson, ex-officio member.

Ask any woman who owns an electric dishwasher. She is so proud of it — and rightly so! An electric dishwasher ends forever a drudging chore. Washes, rinses, and dries automatically (even pots 'n pans). She can join in family-fun while everything gets done ... better, cleaner, and more sanitary than ever possible by hand. Safeguards family health! Saves an hour a day ... and hands stay lovelier, too!

AN ELECTRIC FOOD WASTE DISPOSER teams up perfectly with the dishwasher for a tidier, cleaner kitchen. With electricity cheaper than ever, it's so easy to enjoy them both.

Your Social Security

By: R. C. Gehrken, Jr., District Manager, West Palm Beach Social Security Office

Q. I worked for a farmer during the months of July, August, and September, and was paid $600. Do I get credit for only one quarter of coverage, that being the quarter in which I worked?

A. You not only get credit for the quarter in which you worked, but since your farm wages amounted to more than $400, it is possible for you to receive credit for four quarters of coverage, even though you worked in only one quarter of the year.

Q. I am 70 years old and have always paid in to social security on the top amount. I do not plan on retiring for another year. Should I check with the social security office about my benefits?

A. You should inquire about your retirement benefits as soon as possible. From the information you have given us, you should file an application, since your monthly benefit would be the maximum of $127 a month. Since you have not retired and are making well over $6200 a year, it does not appear that you would be entitled to benefits at this time, but by filing an application now you may establish your benefit amount. When you do retire, all you have to do is complete a postcard form

Summer Music Program

Approximately 300 students are enrolled in the Martin County summer music program, according to Band Director Lemoyne Holl.

The students are from the junior high school and the senior high but are grouped by ability, rather than age or grade.

Holl said he was trying to give students the individual training which helps so much. Holl said, "We have two classes of two hours apiece on music theory alone and no one gets leaves to get a drink of water, so interested are the pupils."

There are no costs to pupils in the program except for an occasional charge for a study book, Holl said.

On Thursday evenings, all students in the classes, along with some high school graduates and a few interested adults, get together for a band concert.

Holl added, "Pupils don't learn much playing in concerts, but it's fun."

According to this week's fishing report from the Snook Nook, trout seem to be plentiful.

The following catches have been reported: H. Clark, 6 trout, 3 snapper, 1 channel bass; D. Carlow, 10 trout; F. Reynolds 10 trout and 40 channel bass; B. Robinson, 10 trout; C. Webb, 13 trout; S. Stevenson, 6 bass, 2 trout, 25 snapper and one snook; Boles, 10 croakers, D.Howell with 15 trout; M. Gruhn, 2 snook; F. Helm and son, 30 trout and 10 snapper and F. Morgan 2 trout, one 8 lbs. and the other 9 lbs.

With all the above reported catches, we can't help but think the prowess of all the anglers was Hula Trip Sills, 8 years old, who landed his first snook weighing in at 9 1/2 pounds.

Florida's wildlife is owned by the people of Florida. The responsibility of protecting and managing this valuable resource is vested in the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Non-game fish may be taken by trot lines but non-commercial trot lines are limited to 25 hooks per licensed fisherman.

Dipping fresh water fish from the frying pan is one thing; dipping them live and unhooked from the water is another and prohibited by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

An empty bleach bottle may be useful, but it is a poor and illegal substitute for a pole or rod and reel. Fresh water fish may not be taken by use of unattached floats.

Even if you are fast enough to catch fish with your hands, it's unlawful. Fishing regulations prohibit the taking of fresh water game fish by any method other than pole and line, rod and reel, bob,

THE TWIST is not a dance but a predicament for the heroic and hilarious mice in Walt Disney's full-length cartoon feature, "Cinderella." The idea here is similar to "drawing straws," with the loser having to face the villainous cat, Lucifer. The fun is all in Technicolor. Starts Thursday at the Lyric Theatre.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Q. Penick and children, Jacque, Kayleen and Terry, left June 15 for New York where they will attend the World's Fair. While there, Dr. Penick will attend the American Medical Association meeting.

THE CHIMPION--This is Judy, a three and one-half year old chimpanzee, who will put on a program for the public at Coral Gardens Lanes Tuesday and Wednesday. The show is free, and local bowlers might take some pointers from this 91 average bowler of national fame.

Bowling Chimp Will Appear At Gardens

Judy, billed as the world chimpion bowler, is coming to town. The bowler is a chimpion, all right...a real chimpanzee, and Judy has a bowling average of over 91.

The chimp will appear next Tuesday and Wednesday, July 6 and 7 at Coral Gardens Lanes. Two performances in which Judy will bowl each day will be at 2 p.m and 7:30 p.m.

Not quite four years old, Judy has been knocking pins down all over the nation for several years. Her highest game bowled was a 155, she has appeared on the Jack Paar TV program, on the Gary Moore show and on many other national television programs.

We have heard of people going "ape" over bowling, but this is too much.

County Tax Roll Wins Commission Nod; Value Of A Mill Is $121,288

Only one complaint was made to the county commission regarding property evaluation when it met as a board of equalization. The contination then adopted a tax roll as presented by County Tax Assessor, A. Clyde Coupson.

The new roll, which totaled $160,272,326, was an increase of $6,256,430 over the 1964 total of $151,915,896. The roll for 1963 had been $144,645,040.

Of the new roll, available for an operating mill was $127,671,311, for a discounted mill value of $121,288. The difference lay in the five per cent mandatory discount in full value of the mill. Last year's discounted mill was at $114,906, based on an operating mill valuation of $121,048,868.

The 1965 railroad and telegraph valuation was lower than 1964 as a result of the Railroad Assessor-method's holding that the County is assessed on a 63 per cent of full value rather than the 75 per cent claimed by Courson.

The new figure was $2,642,966, or $486,930 lower than the 1964 total of two railroads, the Florida East Coast and Seaboard Airline; Western Union, Fruit Growers Express and Pullman Company.

This does not include the railroad land holdings in the western part of the county.

Other figures in the new roll, and their 1964 counterparts, include the following:

Homestead exempt real estate, $20,737,240 this year, up from $19,864,170 in 1964; non exempt real estate is $109,727,810 this year, up from $109,158,060 in 1964.

Personal property was up substantially to $15,300,715 from 1964's $12,760,990.

Non-taxable rolls totaled $11,863,480 in 1965 compared to $11,005,570 in 1964.

The lone protestor was Archibald E. Voorhees, Jr. of 344 Jeanette Ave., Skyline Heights, whose valuation dropped in the new roll. He insisted he was still overassessed. The commissioners pointed out that his valuation was one-third less than last year. Chairman Frank A. Wachs requested figures for 1964, size of lot, house size and other pertinent information to explain to Mr. Voorhees that he was assessed at $12,300 for the past three years, and was being assessed at $11,600 this year which was lower than neighbors.

When Voorhees persisted, Wachs asked County Attorney Dean Tucker to explain a recourse permitted under a new state bill which became law only last week.

This Bill #270 which permits the tax assessor to advertise for sale any property about which an owner complains of an unfair assessment, was outlined by Tucker for Voorhees, who declined to take action.

Counsel stated later that the bill calls for a notice of intent on the part of the complaining taxpayer, calls for a fee of $15, a bond of 10 per cent of value, an auction by the assessor, and requires the owner to give an abstract and a good title to a buyer who pays the amount of assessment or over.

The roll was accepted by vote of the four commissioners present. The meeting adjourned at 10:08 a.m.

Meetings on the budget will commence in about two weeks, according to Wachs. He also stated that the commission hope to use the increased value of a mill to offset increases in the budget with a net result of a no-increase in levy.

Stuart Sets Rolls

A record of some type was set on Tuesday by the city board of equalization met for three minutes and adopted without comment the tax roll for 1965.

The city recovered from its 1964 losses caused by the four-laning of U.S.1 and its accompanying building, and real estate changes.

Real estate showed an increase of $44,220, going from $9,180,000 to $9,230,720 in the new roll.

Buildings showed the most gain, increasing $582,130 to $15,960,130, almost double the gain shown in 1964 over 1963.

Personal property also increased considerably with an increase to $3,623,220 from $3,182,520. The increase was almost four times that of 1964 over 1963.

The 1965 gross roll of $28,814,070 less widow and disability exemptions totaling $111,000, left a net roll of $28,703,070 for debt service, which, less $4,203,290 in homestead exemptions, numbering 889, gave a net roll for operations of $24,499,780.

The net roll increase over the 1964 net roll increase was $998,200 up from $23,501,580 last year.

In the millage levying tabulation, the operating mill will be valued at $24,499.78, the mill for debt service in the old town will be valued at $18,349.47, and the mill for debt service in the annex will be valued at $10,353.60, all net figures using gross valuation less widow and disability exemptions for old town figuring, the same for annex figuring, and the same plus homestead exemptions for operating net roll figuring.

The net result bore out a prediction made last July 6, when City Manager Joe N. Crowder said he looked for a large increase in total value in the 1965 roll because of the tremendous amount of building planned at the time.

County Fights Skeeters With Complete Program

Fred Bell, County Engineer, has announced a schedule of operations for mosquito control to begin immediately.

The personnel of the Mosquito Control Department, under the direction of Mark Perkins, will make periodic and routine checks throughout the County to determine the effectiveness of the program and to efficiently assign personnel and equipment to those areas having the heaviest population of mosquitoes.

Check stations will be located at the following points and will be checked twice weekly:

1. North county line just west of A1A.
2. Church Street, Jensen Beach.
3. Legion Heights area, Jensen Beach.
4. Vicinity of Langford Marina.
5. South end of Sewall's Point.
6. North River Shores area.
7. Hildebrad Park and St. Lucie Estates.
8. Rocky Point and Horseshoe Point.
9. Gomez area.
10. Greenfield Park, Hobe Sound.
11. South end of Town of Jupiter Island.

Fogging schedule for the coastal area of Martin County will be divided into two parts in order that each area may be covered at least twice weekly.

Area Number 1 will include the Palm City area and all of Martin County north of the St. Lucie River.

Area Number 2 will include all south of the St. Lucie River to the Palm Beach County line.

In addition to this bi-weekly fogging schedule, special fogging activities will be instituted as a result of periodic checks made at the above noted checking stations.

Mr. Witham stated that the ditch program being conducted on Hutchinson Island is nearly completed with the exception of one problem area and that this will materially reduce the salt marsh mosquito population.

PATRIOTIC--Much attention was given to the float that won top honors in the patriotic division, the float of the Junior Women's Club, as Dan Carlock reigned as a bewigged George Washington over a bevy of beautious Betsy Ross'.

Stuart Sewer Project Getting Favorable Public Reaction

According to City Manager Joe N. Crowder and Mayor Stephen P. Todt, a straw ballot which was taken at a meeting of an assessment for surfacing and sewer project in Bessey Addition and a small part of Rio Manor, appeared to be overwhelmingly in favor of the estimated $180,584.51 project.

The project was discussed pro and con by about 75 residents of the two areas who attended the meeting in the Stuart city warm city commission meeting room. Residents of the two areas in Pine Manor where construction will be appeared to be unanimous in approving the project. They would pay $2.80 per abutting property foot on both sides of the street, and they would pay $2.80 for the rare, one-third of the cost of the project.

In Bessey Addition, the residents would pay on the same basis for surfacing of the street, but would pay an additional $3.80 on each side of the street per running foot for sewer mains.

Residents will have three years to pay or could pay at once. Five per cent interest would be added if they chose to pay in the three year period.

The streets involved in Pine Manor are Manor Dr. and Dyer Ave. in Bessey Addition, streets to be included are St. Lucie Crescent, from U.S.1 to Indianola; Cleveland, Bryant, Pine, Riverdale and Indianola from St. Lucie Crescent to the River.

Estimated cost of the sewer main portion of the project is $80,297.51, and for street construction, it will be $25,586.60. A minimum charge of $200 would be levied against the smallest holders of street frontage.

Mrs. W. R. Kerndon of Miami was the happy winner of the R. F. Goodrich Foam Rubber mattress and box springs given by Rowell Furniture recently.

Mrs. Kerndon, in a generous gesture, presented the prize to her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ballner of Palm Lake Park.

Licenses Extended

Gov. Haydon Burns has extended a month to the time boat owners must obtain licenses for small craft, according to Tax Collector Alvin N. Andrews. He stated that Burns' move was made "in fairness to Florida boaters who were not familiar with the changes made by the 1965 Legislature."

New stickers must be obtained prior to August 1st.

Adults Get 10% Of Diplomas

In his annual report, E. B. Horton, coordinator of adult education in Martin County public schools, pointed out that more than 20 per cent of the high school diplomas issued in the county in the past school year were presented to adults through the adult education program.

The per centage statewide is 10 per cent. Adults received 38 diplomas, and 188 were issued to day students. The adult program included 145 people, some below the high school level.

"We initiated the adult high school for drop-outs and teen-agers who could not attend regular day school this year," he said.

Martin County had a total of six teaching units allocated to adult education with 2,400 teaching hours allocated and used.

Attendance was totaled at 83,434 student-hours for a county-wide average daily attendance of 15.45.

There were 48 instructors and counselors employed during the year.

Ten new courses were offered during the past year with 18 other courses ranging from ABC stenoscript shorthand to Spanish.

Hobe Sound Personals

By Kay Dennis

Hobe Sound Begins Tradition

Saturday, July 3, 1965, was a big day in Hobe Sound's History. It marked the beginning of two new traditions---Independence Day celebration and the selection of a "Miss Hobe Sound". The day was big and it was busy. By 2:00 p.m. the men's softball team was in the heat of a game against a Jupiter team. The result was 15-13, Jupiter's favor.

The more serious ceremony began afterwards. It opened with a flag ceremony by the Boy Scouts and was the singing of our National Anthem. After this, Admiral Richard Turgis, the Manager of Jupiter Island, delivered his speech.

The contestants for the Junior Miss and Miss Hobe Sound contest were presented following the introduction of the judges. Afterwards, a speech by William Myers, MD, was heard.

Benediction, delivered by Rev. Brooks of the Hobe Sound Baptist Mission, brought the ceremony to a close.

A bicycle racing contest brought prizes to three people: Jim Campbell won in the boys' contest; Joyce Miller won for the girls; and Leland Dubberly was the winner for the men. Other races and games, including horseshoes, pool and table tennis, ad a twist contest took up the greater part of the afternoon.

Barbeque dinners were served between the hours of 4 and 7 p.m. and cold watermelon was served in the late afternoon.

One attraction was a Myna bird which came with a good supply of wolf whistles. He was loaned for the day by Commissioner Ed Miller.

At dark, the fireworks display began, causing the county dock and surrounding area to be encumbered with cars and spectators. After the fireworks, everyone rushed back to the Community Center where the 'Big Moment' finally took place.

The beauty contestants, dressed in their Sunday best, were again presented. The judges, confronted with a hard decision, conferred once again and then gave their decision, Miss Debbie Way, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Way, was crowned Junior Miss Hobe Sound--1965. Second place was Miss Joann McGee, and third place winner in the "Miss Hobe Sound" contest was Miss Paula MacArthur. And then, Miss Sheila Schermer was crowned MISS HOBE SOUND--1965.

After things calmed down again, the people were assembled for the drawing of door prizes. Many prizes were given away, with number one being a trip for two to Nassau, won by Mr. and Mrs. George Rochester.

The rest of the evening was filled with a street dance. A great little band, The Alley Cats, provided the music.

Causeway Fun On Independence Day

Martin County had a real, down-to-earth old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration last week-end, which saw something doing most of the time.

The various communities of the county showed remarkable cooperation in staging local celebrations which did not conflict with with each other, and which provided a continuing string of activities.

The Hobe Sound fete started at noon, Saturday, July 3, and continued until midnight. The Civic Association held a beauty contest, a barbeque, fireworks at dark and a street dance followed.

On Sunday, the 4th, Indiantown dedicated its new park in an afternoon ceremony and fireworks were displayed at the marina in the evening.

Jensen Beach celebrated Independence Day on Sunday with pram races and children's races which were under the sponsorship of the Jensen Beach Lions Club. The Volunteer Firemen's Association and Auxiliary cooked and served chicken, hamburgers, hot dogs, coleslaw, beans, french fries and coffee, and Chamber of Commerce members served soft drinks.

Organ music was provided by Ed Fields, and fabulous fireworks were shown after dark by Bill Varitio and his crews.

A well-attended dance was held for teen-agers until 11 p.m., chaperoned by Will and Ruth Bowman.

Monday saw the grand finale of the week-end celebration when the longest parade held on the Fourth in the history of Stuart took place, despite a shower. The judges were Mrs. Romy Nelson, Mrs. Frank Wachs and Jack Smouse. Awards were presented at Stuart Sailfish Ball Park, followed by free watermelon for the crowd.

Fireworks by Stuart's Volunteer Firemen were displayed at Stuart Youth Center Park during the evening.

General Chairman was Jack Hampton for the sponsoring Stuart Chamber of Commerce. Parade Marshal was Air Force Major Charles E. Slocum, and Mrs. Rosaleen Murray was parade secretary.

The second division included city police, sheriff's department and highway patrol cars, the parade marshal and representatives of five branches of the armed services. There was a color guard from McCoy Air Force Base, U.S. Coast Guard personnel from Fort Pierce

Division 1, with John W. Keller as marshal, was made up of the veterans organizations and their auxiliaries.

Division 3, of which Don Bowden and Phil Sameck were marshals, were made up of the various civic organizations of the county, plus volunteer fire groups, the CD organization, and included many cars, floats and vehicles.

Division 3, with Marshal Jack Morgan, included Murray High School Band, civic and veterans groups, with floats and cars.

The Tall Twisters Saddle Club rode between Division 3 and 4.

Division 4, with Jim McMahon as marshal, included recreation and conservation groups, forest fire fighting outfits, the Stuart fire department and Martin County High School cheer leaders.

Tom Lord was in charge of decorated bicycles which formed a group.

Beauty queens formed another group, including Miss Martin County, Miss Florida Flame, Miss Stuart Junior, and Miss Hobe Sound.

Trophies were awarded for most beautiful floats, for originality, best on "Americana" theme, youth division and bicycle division.

HANDS UP, THERE--Martin County Sheriff Roy Baker has his hands up, and full of barbeque chicken in this picture from last Sunday's activities on the Causeway. Stuart was taking time out from the chore of keeping thousands of automobiles properly parked and moving from early morning to evening. Judging by the cleaned plate in front of him, the food was excellent.

SWINGING KID--Young Larry Tilman of Stuart took a swing in the park, and it was all a part of a day at Jensen Beach Causeway, where young people of all ages found an old-fashioned Independence Day fete last Sunday. Of course, Dad was there to check the swing, so Larry felt safer.

CUTIE, ALL--Watching the dancers at the teen dance on Jensen's Causeway last Sunday night, this youngster fights the sleep that will soon come on her mother's lap...complete with thumb and all.

Release Sought For Inn Site

District Engineer Clarence Davidson has approved and sent to Tallahassee the resolutions seeking release of Murphy Deed restrictions on the right-of-way on U.S. 1 at SR 5-A in the southern area of Stuart, according to Fred L. Bell, County Engineer.

The resolutions were adopted to assist Arthur Quinn of Hot Springs, Ark., in his move to construct a new Holiday Inn Motel, convention hall and restaurant on this site.

Nellie Bessemer Died Monday

Mrs. Nellie Bessemer, 66, a resident of Jensen Trailer Park, died in Akron, Ohio Monday, July 5, of a heart attack.

Burial will be in Akron. She was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church, and was the mother of Bill Bessemer of Jensen Beach. There are three other children and seven grand-children surviving. The family requests no flowers, but offerings to the heart fund.

SHE'S GONE, MAN--This young lady is doing the frug, or something, and she seems completely wrapped up in it. The Teen Dance on the causeway following the fireworks exhibit Sunday night was packed with dancers...all doing these strange steps, complete with gyrations. What happened to the poised dances of the elder generations, like the black bottom, or charleston, or bunny hug?

CHAIRMAN and MR. PRESIDENT--These smiling faces prove that men can also enjoy work. Here are Ray Hooke, President of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce, and Dick Hampton, Chairman of the Independence Day parade. They worked hard, but results were gratify.

Turtle Tours Jupiter Island

One small loggerhead turtle had five Jupiter Island lawenforcement authorities tied up with her antics for several hours while she toured the island one night last week.

Nicknamed Roaming Rosie, she first came ashore sometime around 11:30 p.m. and appeared confused when she emerged from the surf about high tide.

According to two of the watchers, Rosie traveled in circles on a dune top for about an hour before she went completely hay-wire and started for the hard top.

Marion Jarrett, Jupiter Island policeman who was on patrol duty spotted Rosie at the time she was roaming the dunes but proceeded with his patrol of the town. When he returned to her area, he was surprised to see her lumbering down the main road which she traveled for a couple of hundred yards.

By this time, other turtle watchers had found Rosie, including Conservation Agent Rolland C. (Boots) Byrd who was on regular beach patrol at the time, Sheriff Roy C. Baker and Skeetz Tyson, the radio despatcher in Baker's office.

Apparently Rosie was impressed by her growing audience and proceeded to put on a show rarely seen by turtle watchers anywhere.

Roaming Rosie tried to dig her nest in the hard top surface of Beach Road!

Her amused watchers then directed her efforts off the road, and at present, Rosie's eggs are neatly deposited in her nest between the road and the dunes.

But let's go on:

When Rosie completed this performance, it became apparent that she liked shore leave, so she took off for the shelter of the Sheriff's car. This move threatened to tie up the Sheriff's Department and the Jupiter Island Police Department.

Sheriff Baker wrestled with Rosie to keep her from crawling under his car. "We'll never get away if she stalls under there," said Baker breathlessly. He made it. But before Roaming Rosie roamed back to her ocean, all of her watchers were worn out, one-third from watching, one-third from laughing and one-third from just plain hard work.

County Asks State Aid In Erosion Problem

Martin County has made formal application for state aid funds to be allocated in the erosion problem. This application, for the record, was sent to W. T. Carlton, director of the beach and shores division, by County Engineer Fred L. Bell.

The 1965 Legislature has appropriated a half-million dollars to begin a state beach erosion program under the Board of Conservation's division of beaches and shores.

It is believed that the appropriation has low priority and probably will be used chiefly for planning and for matching Federal funds.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kuhn are spending the entire summer on Long Island, New York, after having visited with their son in Ohio.

LIBERTY--The Soroptimist float won second honors for most beautiful in the Stuart Chamber of Commerce parade last Monday, July 5th. The float featured a Statue of Liberty in a colorfully decorated convertible.

BOO AND HOO--The masks of the players was the theme of this float in the Stuart July 4th parade. The Riptide Players float brought home the idea that entertainment and the arts are still much a part of the American scene.

PARADE FUN- These Little Leaguers find it fun riding in a parade, especially in front of a float by the Elks Club sponsor of the riders.

HELLO THERE--The Rio Civic Club was much in evidence as the officers rode in a car at the Stuart July 4th Independence Day celebration.

GOING UP?--Jill Rambert grimaces as rain begins to pelt the first place float of the Stuart Jaycees, and her, as the Jaycee Astronaut looks up. The float won for originality.

OLD FAITHFUL--Antique car buff Rick Carroll, with old faithful (and still running) Jewett roadster convertible, was the Beta Sigma Phi entry in the Stuart Independence Day parade. His wife, Judy, and son, Mark, accompanied him on the sojourn.

WELL DECORATED--Many bicycles were well decorated for the Stuart July 4th parade last Monday. Winners were Karen Eggers, best patriotic, Scott Rowinsky, prettiest, and Kathy Eggers, most original.

ALL IN STEP--The Martin County High School summer band marched in the Stuart Chamber's Independence Day parade last Monday, leading the parade with martial strains and peppy pieces to give the day a parade feeling.

Seven M.C.H.S. Students Chosen For State Clinic

Martin County High School Band will send seven students to participate in the seventh All-Star Marching Band Clinic sponsored by the Florida Bandmasters Association.

Students were selected on the recommendation of the band director and on their record as solo and ensemble performers.

The group will leave here on July 23 to stay at one of the dormitories at the University of Florida through the week. They will perform for the North-South High School football game to be held July 31st.

Students who will participate are; Janice Weiss, clarinet; Randy Sonntag and Edwin Rollison, clarinet; Paul Kanarek, sax; Gary Varvil and Dean Cason, trombone, and Raymond Spiller, bass.

The director of the MCHS BAND, LeMoyne E. Roll, played in the first "clinic" when the series started in 1959, and has watched it grow in interest and numbers.

Each year, a well-known music educator is obtained to give outstanding high school students the opportunity to work with a celebrity.

58 Requests Transfer To Other Schools

Supt. of Schools Thomas L. Crrock has announced that some measure of desegregation in all-white schools in Martin County will take place according to a tally of transfer requests by the school department. These requests which comprise the second series of pupil assignments, show an increase by Negro pupils to presently all-white schools over the first count which was made in April under the first, unapproved, desegregation plan.

At that time, 42 requests for transfer to all-white schools were submitted by parents of Negro children.

In the latest tabulation, a count of requests made just prior to school closing shows that 58 Negroes have requested assignment to all-white schools.

In both tabulations, one pupil in an all-White school asked for transfer to a presently all-Negro school. Officials said in April that the transfer was of a pupil of Mexican extraction who felt he would be more content in an all-Negro school.

The make-up of the four presently all-Negro schools will remain as at present, except for the transfer from J.D.Parker to Booker Park school by the Mexican student.

There will be eight integrated schools among the presently all-White schools if requirements under the integration resolution as approved by the U.S.Office of Education are met by the parents requesting transfers for students.

If the transfers are approved, the following schools will have Negro students in the fall, as tallied in the report:

J.D. Parker, 2; Hobe Sound 18 as transfer pupils and 3as kindergarten pupils attending public schools for the first time.

Jensen Beach, 9; Palm City, 1; Stuart Junior High School, 5; Martin County High School, 7; Port Salerno, 6; Warfield, 8.

Pupils in the transfer list originated by schools as follows:

Booker Park, 7 to presently all-White schools and-0 to other presently all-Negro schools.

Dunbar, 18 to all-White; East Stuart, 2i to all-White and Murray Junior-Senior High School, 12 to all-White, all as presently constituted.

In addition, there were 33 requests from White students in presently all-White schools for transfers to other all-White schools.

Of these, Hobe Sound had 6; Jensen Beach 8; J.D.Parker 5; Warfield 6; Palm City 5; Port Salerno 3.

By the time the fall term starts, it was pointed out, there could be many changes.

Humpty-Dumpty Kindergarten in Gomez was the only private school to provide a list, although private schools must be included in the tally. No other kindergarten reported, nor were any pre-school figures included in the report.

There were 118 unknows on the list as tabulated when graduates were considered in the balance between enrollment and total forms returned.

Kids Can Fish In Pond

Chief of Police Jesse J. Taylor announced last week that Hospital Pond has been opened to children 16 years and under for fishing. This Pond, located at the corner of East Ocean Blvd. and Palm Beach Rd., was stocked with bream and black bass over a year ago and has been closed to all fishing since that time.

Chief Taylor said that the city of Stuart felt youngsters would enjoy fishing in the small pond which never goes dry.

Government Spending Up, Education Leads List

Spending in Florida by state and local governments together reached a total of $3,927,400,000, during the 1964 fiscal year, 8 per cent over the 1963 figure, a slightly faster rate, of increase than the national average, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce pointed out in its Weekly Business Review released June 28th.

"The Florida state government spent $675,900,000 of the total and $1,251,500,000 was spent by county, municipal and district governments in Florida combined.

"The total expenditure for education was well ahead of all other categories of spending and accounted last year for $972,600,000. Spent for highways, streets and bridges in the state was $540,700,000; for hospitals and health, $179,600,000; for public welfare $108,900,000 and for sewerage systems $58,900,000. Each of these categories was appreciably ahead of the 1963 spending. Costs of laying and maintaining sewers, for example, increased 43 per cent, a long-term investment in health.

"Contrasted with the above sums which showed large gains, was the cost of general government, police and fire protection which totaled $190,700,000, up only two per cent. Interest paid on bonds amounted to $64,200,000. The balance of total spending went principally for conservation of natural resources and to operate and expand publicly owned utilities.

"The funds spent by state and local governments in Florida came from three sources. Taxes, licenses and fees brought $1,619,200,000, (up 11 per cent); the federal government supplied $250,600,000 (up 35 per cent)

IRJC Nursing Program Accredited

The Florida State Board of Nursing has granted accreditation status to the Indian River Junior College associate degree nursing program which is scheduled to begin operation in August.

This action was taken in Jacksonville, Friday, June 25, at the regular monthly meeting of the board.

President Maxwell King stated that the beginning of this program culminates two years of planning by the College, a four-county citizens committee headed by Ed Minton of Fort Pierce, with representatives from the medical profession, nursing groups, as well as hospital officials and other interested citizens recommended the establishment of such a program.

The Kellogg Foundation gave the College a $6,700, grant for the planning of the two-year program.

Two instructors have been employed to work in the program; Mrs. Elaine Dohmeier and Mrs. Dorothy Davenport. Mrs. Dohmeier is Acting Director of the newly established Division of Nursing at the College.

Thirty students have been admitted to the program, which contains two years of training in nursing science and related academic courses. Upon completion of this program, the successful graduate will be eligible to take the state registered nursing exam.

Of the 48-bed capacity at Martin Memorial Hospital, six beds (three semi-private rooms) are reserved for Pediatrics.

Advance deposits may be made at the Martin Memorial Hospital Blood Donor Station for you, your family, a friend, your church, lodge or business organizations. The reserve is operated like a bank account.

Picnic Area Planned

A Stuart Beach Improvement program was announced by County Commissioners Frank A. Watts and J. H. Brunner.

Fill from a pit on the west side of A1A will be used to level off the dunes 75 feet from the beach line in order to provide an area for picnics and sight-seeing.

The project will be taken in stages as county equipment is available through County Engineer Fred L. Bell. The dune will be the entire length of the beach, a distance of 1,000 feet. A hard-surfaced parking lot will be provided below the level of the picnic area with three sets of steps. Future parking areas will be surfaced as needed, and the area will be landscaped.

Bell said work will start first on the northern half.

Funds will come from the bridge and road budget.

CD Announces Course On Fallout Shelters

The Martin County Civil Defense office has announced that a new course in Fallout Shelter Management is planned to start on July 8, 1965. Classes will be held each Thursday thereafter for eight weeks and consist of two hour sessions, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Through the cooperation of Mr. Guy Crem-well, Administrator of Martin Memorial Hospital, the course will be held in the conference room at the hospital, with Mr. Pierre Hopkins instructing.

For further information, contact the Civil Defense office, 287-1652.

Reading Class Offered To Pre-College Students

Indian River Junior College Adult Education Service will offer a class in reading for high school graduates planning to attend college next fall. The course is designed to strengthen reading skills which the student has previously acquired.

Intensive tachistoscopic training will be given to improve visual perception and promote organized retention, because listening and reading involve many of the same processes, a program of listening will parallel the reading instruction. A great deal of time will be devoted to concentrated reading in order to develop attention, concentration, faster thinking, perception, and more rapid reading. Study skill areas to be considered are: following directions, interpretation, evaluation, organization of materials, retention, and reference.

The course will be held for six weeks. Class will start July 6 and will meet daily from 9 to 11 a.m. in Room E-111 at the College.

THE SHORT WAY--This young swimmer took the short way up to get on the Jensen Causeway fishing pier, climbing up a rope. But then, at that age, who doesn't climb up ropes? Hundreds of youngsters found swimming and pier jumping a full day activity on Independence Day.

Contracts Awarded

C-A Construction Co. has been awarded a $31,233 contract for miscellaneous work at five schools. At the same time, the school board tabled a lone bid on food service equipment at another school. This contract award will be subject to budgetary and legal approval. The bid had previously been tabled to permit award to the low bidder within the new budget year which started July 1st.

Erection of two portable schools, one in Jensen Beach and one at Palm City, were included in the work which will also be done at Mirray Junior-Senior High School, Warfield, Dunbar, Palm City and Jensen Beach schools.

A bid of $7,518.62 from Krambo's Stainless Steel Fabricators of Fort Lauderdale was received for a contract estimated by the architect at $8,500. Richard Fryar, the architect, said that contractor to be used were galvanized, not stainless, and pointed out that the latter would cost several thousand dollars more. Alterations would raise the bid to a possible high of $9,328.62.

A salary schedule for non-instructional employees of the school department, including all but secretarial help, was adopted at the meeting. According to Supt. of Schools Thomas L. Crook, the adopted schedule within-means salaries of bookkeeping, clerical, maintenance, transportation and janitorial services by approximately $13,000.

Martin Memorial Hospital has purchased two "Meals-on-Wheels" (electric carts) to transport hot meals to patients.

UP GO THE SAILS—Al Milenaka, Martin County High School teacher who handles the prep classes during the summer at Jensen Causeway, raises the sail on one to get the races under way, in two heats run before the wind forced the cancellation of the remainder of the program. Richard Wesley, Wayne Sprague and Jamie Walker came in one, two and three in a 9 to 11 age race. Pam Reiner was followed by Linda Langberg and Molly Starkey in the girls event.

Judy Visited The Mirror, Winning The Hearts Of All

by Alice Hickey
and Ruth Bowman

Miss Sandra Chapman, attractive, young sportsman and trainer of Judy, the World's Only Bowling Chimp, stopped in the office of the Jensen Beach Mirror on Tuesday and brought Judy with her. Miss Chapman is the Director of Colonial Bread Educational Exhibits, which cover about two-thirds of the United States. She arranges for Judy to attend school about nine months each year with persons who hold degrees in science and who work with animals.

Miss Champ Chimp, Judy, is two and a half years old, weighs 28 pounds and has the L, Q, of a four-year-old. When she matures at around 9 years of age, she will weigh approximately 150 pounds and be about four and a half feet tall.

On her visit to the Mirror office on Tuesday, Judy wore a pale blue dress with matching panties, and displayed affection toward all. Miss Chapman told us of Judy's likes and dislikes while Judy behaved like a happy four-year-old little girl, climbing up on chairs, laps, offering her hand in friendship, and occasionally being scolded by Miss Chapman for misbehaving.

Like a little child, Judy enjoys her nightly bath; has her teeth brushed at least twice a day, although she tries to eat the bristles of the toothbrush; takes a nap during the day and sleeps well at night. She has her fingernails clipped closely, otherwise she is inclined to bite them, and at the present time she is losing her baby teeth and is getting her second set. Judy offers the palm of her hand to those she likes and extends the back of her hand to others. She has a medical checkup every six weeks and is susceptible to children's diseases.

Judy likes a pillow, just as some children have a favorite blanket; she prefers chocolate milk to white milk, but prefers a strawberry milkshake to a chocolate one. She likes apples and grapes better than bananas, doesn't like spinach, turnips or any of the cabbage family. Judy thoroughly enjoys French Fried potatoes and hamburgers, but when she is given a hot dog sandwich, she will return the hot dog and eat only the roll with catsup and the works. One of her favorites is tossed salad with Thousand Island dressing--she will eat other dressings but this is her favorite. For breakfast she will eat eggs, bacon, grits, toast and coffee, has a variety of fruit for lunch. Judy is a vegetarian, uses a fork and spoon for eating and daintily wipes her mouth with a napkin as she eats.

Judy loves to be bounced on her owner's foot and has a healthy regard for the shoe on that foot when she misbehaves. Miss Chapman has only to say "Judy" and take off her shoe, for Judy to sit down quietly with an angelic expression on her face.

Judy turns off the lights when asked, and is not afraid of the dark. For that matter, the only thing that seems to frighten her is fire. She is not afraid of any other animal and can hold her own with dogs of any size. She does not like cigarette smoke, and her owner has not and will not teach her how to smoke, as so many other chimpanzies are taught to do. Judy plays hard with adults, tumbling in their arms and doing flips, but as soon as small children gather around her, she immediately becomes quiet and careful.

Miss Chapman says Judy is wonderful company. During a short spell of homesickness, Miss Chapman had tears in her eyes, which Judy noticed. She immediately went to the bureau, took a tissue out of the box and brought it to Miss Chapman and wiped the tears away.

Judy likes company and sleeps in a bed next to her owner. When the alarm goes off in the morning, Judy opens her eyes, yawns, then slips into bed with Miss Chapman for aGood-Morning hug.

Judy practices bowling every day and bowls best when she is tired or angry. Miss Chapman does not offer lessons to Judy during the game, but after a good game is very affectionate. Judy uses a 10-pound bowling ball, can lift 100 pounds, and is surprisingly strong. The metabolism of a chimpanzie is three times that of humans; they heal quickly and feel pain for only a few minutes.

Judy wears a size 6 girls' clothing and seems to prefer yellow to any other color. She likes clothing which is comfortable and does not bind.

Miss Champ Chimp Judy can be seen for the last time tonight at the Coral Gardens Bowling Lanes.

We at the Jensen Beach Mirror just love her.

JUDY VISITS THE MIRROR--Judy, the bowling chimp champ, visited the Mirror Tuesday and as you can see above, Judy, left, won the heart of Osa Campbell, Mirror business manager. The friendly chimp was all over the place...and minded her manners well.

School Board Sets July 19 For Budget

On July 19 at 10 a.m. the Martin County School Board will consider and take action on the 1965-66 budget for the school department.

The board also will take action on advertising the budget. It will set July 30 as the hearing date for final adoption.

No final budget figures are available at the meeting when the action was taken.

The board also adopted a $2,938 budget amendment to end the past fiscal year's budget. The money was transferred from reserve and contingency accounts to fund a deficit accounts showed in the red ink.

A new schedule of salaries for clerical, clerical and transportation employees was adopted, Thomas L. Crook, superintendent of Schools, said it would add about $5,000 to the budget.

Low bidders of petroleum products included the following to whom contracts were awarded:

Sinclair Oil, on approximately 40,000 gallons of gasoline, was low at 19.19 cents per gallon on 90 octane, 20.71 cents per gallon on 100 octane. Next lowest bidder offered 20.21 cents and 21.25 cents, respectively.

Sinclair was also low on approximately 20,000 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil at 11.11 cents a gallon, below the next bidder of 11.23 cents.

Nolen Exterminators was low at $740.50 for exterminating work at all schools. The next low bid was $819.

Foreign Inc., at 11.48 cents per gallon was low on LP gas, estimated total of 16,500 gallons. Next high was at 11.9 cents.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. of West Palm Beach was apparent low bidder on all paint items at $1,994.43. The contract was not awarded pending reference and check to Carl Soe, school department purchasing agent. Next high was at $2,528.85.

Robert M. Johnson, State Farm Insurance, was low bidder at $1,509.27 for vehicle insurance. Next high was the bid recommended by the Martin County Insurance Agents Ass'n. of $2,135.

The award was made to Johnson subject to investigation by the board's attorney.

A special account for Head Start project funds as required by the state was authorized by the board. Crook said the initial $20,020 received had not been expended since the project started.

Also approved was a pay-

Mobile Home Owners Plan Tax Research

A committee to study the proportion of taxes paid by mobile home owners as compared to home owners of Florida has been announced by John Marr, president of the Florida Mobile Home Owner's Association.

Following a meeting by the board of directors of that group on Monday night, at Fishhol Mobile Home Park in Salerno, Marr announced that the committee would be named in the near future.

Marr said that the membership of "over 600" in the association includes retired accountants, tax specialists and research technicians, and that "it is the opinion of the officers and board of directors that with competent people as members, the association is in a position to prove its contention, through research, that mobile home owners pay a larger proportionate share of taxes at present than home owners."

The action was taken on motion of Miss Lillian McDonald of Whispering Creek Mobile Park, Fort Pierce, a director of the organization. Miss McDonald expressed the opinion that, in all probability, the average mobile home owner, contrary to

Christmas In July Is Local Promotion

'Do - Nothing Legislature On Reapportionment'

The Florida Congressional delegation has been criticized by Rep. William E. Owens for its lack of interest and "do-nothingness" for taking a "middle of the road" stand on the state's reapportionment problems.

At the county commission meeting in Stuart, Representative Owens spoke for about 20 minutes, mostly on legislation and the state legislative reapportionment problem.

He closed with remarks concerning the new ninth Congressional district in which U. S. Rep. Paul G. Rogers is the incumbent.

"Paul Rogers should be happy with the new district," he said, "Because of the Republicans in Broward County, he no longer wanted any part of it, so a new district was made up of Broward and North Dade, and Paul was left with Indian River, St. Lucie, Martin, Palm Beach, Okeechobee, Glades, Hendry, Lee and Charlotte Counties.

"He had the largest district, now he has but 400,000 people, like he wanted," he added.

"I don't feel Rdgers of the Florida delegation took a stand on the state reapportionment.

"They did not encourage a memorial to Congress, which asked that the Federal court action of requiring both state houses to be apportioned on a population basis, although at least 29 other states have asked for it," said Owens.

The Florida delegation has taken no stand on the Dirksen amendment, he also pointed out.

His talk was applauded by members of the commission and citizens at the meeting. He reviewed briefly all of the local legislation sought by the commission, and thanked the commissioners for their cooperation with him while at Tallahassee.

"Many counties in the state do not have such cooperation," he said. He also complimented the commission on doing an excellent job of running the county.

Speaking of the state reapportionment, he stated;

"No one will ever convince me that one man can represent another county in the manner to which it is entitled, as well as he represents his home county."

"I disagree with Governor Haydon Burns when I say I look to the Federal courts to approve this plan, I feel it fits as nearly as possible the desires of the urban counties of the state.

"It gives complete control to five big counties which have the votes to pass or kill any bill in the house," said Owens.

Requests Are Up $130,000

Frank A. Wacha, Chairman of the County Commission, reported on Tuesday that budget requests totaling over $130,000 have been received by the county.

"We hope to cut them back to fit the five per cent increase the added valuations, as adopted by the equalization, gave the county through normal growth," he said.

"The Martin County Fair Association seeks another $2,800 for another building, and I think the Association now should stand on its own," said Timer Powers.

An increase of $131,000 would mean an added levy over last year's of about 1.2 mills. Some of the increase became statutory with adoption of legislation in the recent session, but other items formerly budgeted were removed.

There was no appropriation request for the county golf club course in the new list. Last year, the county budgeted $17,000. This year, the Committee of 100 request dropped from $7,500 to $500.

Amounts were requested in the following manner:

General fund, $577,394 compared to actual last year of $497,351; fine and forfeiture, $327,039 in 1965, compared to $292,469 last year; road and bridge this year is $406,150, compared with $404,407 in 1964; mosquito control ,$54,000 this year, $40,800 last year.

"Some of this is hard to cut. We should be spending more in the road and bridge fund, to gain the improvements which would mean more tax income, but we can't, trying to offset some increases we cannot control very well, such as a $30,000 increase in the sheriff's budget," said Wacha.

"We hope FCD will stay the same or go down; the

'Sizzler Contest' Offers Cash Prizes To County Guessers

The installation of a new time and temperature sign at First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County has prompted a contest in which the winner will be awarded a $100 bill, according to James A. Garvey, executive vice-president.

Called the "Sizzler Contest", local people will be asked to guess what the temperature in Stuart will reach 96 degrees. The official recording device to be used in the contest is the electronically controlled time-temperature clock, which is designed to stop the clock and flash the temperature until the time is verified by First Federal officials.

Contestants can pick up the official post card entry blanks at First Federal, Mother Nature will set the guess of the time, day, hour and minute, that the temperature will reach 96 degrees, and mail the card to First Federal. Entries must be mailed, Garvey said, in order to satisfy any ties. In the event of a tie, the earliest postmark will be adjudged the winner.

Contestants can enter as many times as they wish, but each entry must be on a separate, official post card. The name and address of each contestant must appear on the card with the contest information. Entries can be mailed to P. O. Box 314, Stuart, Florida. Any one, any age, can enter, according to Garvey.

First prize in the contest will be $100, Second prize will be $50 and the third prize will be $25. The winners of the contest will be notified by telephone or letter the day following the end of the contest.

Coupon Clippers

People who like to clip coupons will have a ball in the Mirror this week. Specials available only with coupons are listed in the Publix Market and Super X Drug Store advertisements on pages six and seven of The Mirror.

NEW SIGN--A new time and temperature sign has been installed at the U.S.1 entrance to First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County. James A. Garvey, Executive Vice President of the Association stands before the sign. A contest to guess when the local temperature will reach 96 degrees has been started.

Wacha Blasts FIND For Illegal Levy

County Commission Chairman Frank A. Wacha said on Tuesday that Martin County would not pay a 1/10th of a mill levy adopted by FIND at Jacksonville June 25 unless it was approved by the director of the Department of Conservation, Randolph Hodges.

Wacha's study of the financial dealings of Florida Inland Navigation District led to a change in its structure by the 1965 legislature. FIND now operates under the Department of Conservation.

"FIND has erred in its levy and took illegal action in informing this county that it had to pay over $12,000 in a 1/10th mill levy," said Wacha.

He pointed out the mistakes made by FIND at Jacksonville, when a member of the Martin County board, Henry C, Beckman, made a motion to adopt the levy, and James J. Barnes, vice-chairman and representative from St. Lucie County made the second to the motion:

"The new law, Chapter 65-900 calls for an itemized budget to be submitted to the Department of Conservation prior to its adoption by FIND, Hodges tells me this was not done," said Wacha.

"It is the duty of FIND board members to ask a tax not exceed 1/10th of a mill, not that amount, which FIND correspondence indicates is mandatory," he added. "The budget was supposed to be approved by July 15, no," he said.

"Although the $12,00 sought here is fair enough, Broward County would be paying $200,000 under this levy, and I don't know how much the split is, but I understand the total exceeds $1 million in the district," said Wacha.

"When FIND wanted to impress the legislative committee, it cited a Jan. 1, 1965, budget which called for expenditures of $139,337 and

Ridgeway Loses Move On Roads

Attorney Harry Dyer has asked the county commission to eliminate one of two warranties on roads in Ridgeway Mobile Home subdivision, but was refused when County Attorney Dean Tookerman said the move would establish a dangerous precedent.

Dyer explained that both the developer and a general contractor were guaranteeing the roads for a year, whereas only one was required to do it.

Commissioner Jack Saunderson agreed to the request but negative votes by Commissioners Timer Powers and Ed Miller defeated the move. County commission chairman, Frank A. Wacha, did not vote and Commissioner J. H. Bruner was absent.

Saunderson and Oscar Bloom, Jr., president of the Poinciana Gardens Association, reported that the developer, Martin Development Corp., has placed $9,000 in escrow with a local attorney; that residents have raised $2,164 of $3,000 promised, to go with $6,000 of county funds, to do road work in the development.

The board requested Bell to start the work while the residents raised the $836 required balance.

Island Park Action

Chairman Frank A. Wacha of the county commission, and Commissioner Jack Saunderson, at the latter's request, were authorized to travel to Tallahassee to give impetus to the bogged-down program to build a state park on the north end of Long Island, south side of St. Lucie Inlet.

Action on the 1965-66 and 1966-67 county-construction road priority schedule was postponed until Commissioner Bruner returned, when Commissioner Ed Miller said he objected to portions of it. The board had agreed to Bruner's request that anything of a controversial nature be postponed until his return.

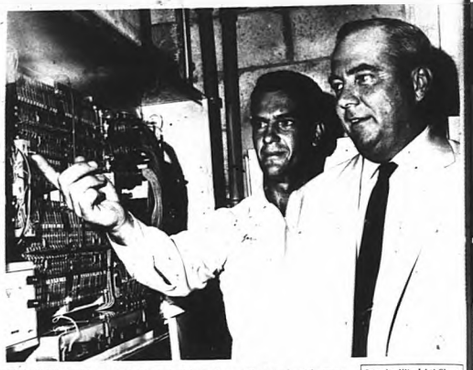
Johnny Crawford of the Snook Nook in Jensen Beach reports that many trout have been caught over the past weekend, plus snook, snappers, snook and some nice drum.

Bob Shrigley caught 3 trout; Lawrence Watson a 29 1/2 lb. snook; Mr. and Mrs. Hank Cope 127 sneakers; Mr. and Mrs. McNatt 13 trout, 3 snook and 2 channel bass; Frank Reynolds 11 lb. blue cat from the Savanna; Fred Reynolds 15 trout, 25 croakers; Reg Darvill 15 trout; Fred Helm and Fred Reln, Jr., 5 trout and 12 snappers; Harry Carr 9 lb. trout and a 3 lb. trout; Eugene Eisenharth 4 snook; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Apffelbeck 7 drum; Arthur Watson 3 snook; Bob Robinson 6 trout; and Dennis and Gordon Proctor caught 3 snook.



THE TRIGGER--In this maze of electrical wiring and connections, Joe Ouelette, Higbee Electric, points to a trigger device that will automatically shut off the time and temperature clock at First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County when the temperature reaches 96 degrees. James A. Garvey, Executive Vice President of the Association, receives the explanation that the temperature and time will flash at 96 degrees until re-set by officials of First Federal. The 96 degree temperature is part of the "Simple Contest" First Federal is holding.

Elaine Avenue Revive County Work

County Engineer Fred L. Bell has reported that work would start early next week on a half-mile stretch of road from Elaine Avenue to SR 707 in Jensen Beach. He said Florida Power & Light Co. has moved its poles at no cost to the county and that all right-of-way was donated.

It will cost the county about $4,000 to do the work, he said.
